This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at `http://books.google.com/`

PREFACE.

In this issue of the UNIVERSALIST REGISTER AND ALMANAC, the 40th of the series, we have endeavored to exhibit, as accurately and completely as possible, the present condition of our Church, and on the same comprehensive plan as heretofore. Our work is imperfect, we well know, but we trust that due allowance will be made when its intrinsic difficulties are considered. Conventions have met, ministers have died, since we began to print, and many things we intended to notice are put by for this year for want of space. To all our friends who have aided us with information and corrections, we return our hearty thanks, for, without the coöperations of many friends and brethren, our work, imperfect as it is, could not have been prepared.

As our Church grows in strength, and extends its sway, the use and importance of our Year Book become more apparent, and the labor of its preparation more arduous.

YEARS.	Societies.	Meeting-Houses.	Preachers.	Literary Institutions.
1875, ...	935	732	674	14

This comparison is only a partial one, for lack of data. In respect to churches and Sunday-schools, the value of church and school property, the gain has been vastly greater. In 1835 we had no College, nor for twenty years afterwards, and our two Academies were in their infancy, and their assets quite insignificant compared with the two and a half millions now invested in literary institutions.

With this brief statement of our progress in forty years, we commit our work to the candid judgment of our people.

Eclipses for 1875.

There will be two Eclipses this year, both of the Sun.

I. A total Eclipse of the Sun, April 6, invisible in the United States, visible in the Indian Ocean and the southern parts of Asia and Africa.

II. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, September 29, visible in Africa and the Atlantic Ocean; visible as a partial Eclipse in eastern North America. In New England, the Sun rises eclipsed, and the Eclipse ends as follows:—

Bangor, Me., 7h. 43m. A. M. Boston, Mass., 7h. 33m. A. M.
Burlington, Vt., 7h. 23m. A. M. New Haven, Conn., 7h. 23m. A. M.

PREFACE.

In this issue of the UNIVERSALIST REGISTER AND ALMANAC, the 40th of the series, we have endeavored to exhibit, as accurately and completely as possible, the present condition of our Church, and on the same comprehensive plan as heretofore. Our work is imperfect, we well know, but we trust that due allowance will be made when its intrinsic difficulties are considered. Conventions have met, ministers have died, since we began to print, and many things we intended to notice are put by for this year for want of space. To all our friends who have aided us with information and corrections, we return our hearty thanks, for, without the coöperations of many friends and brethren, our work, imperfect as it is, could not have been prepared.

As our Church grows in strength, and extends its sway, the use and importance of our Year Book become more apparent, and the labor of its preparation more arduous.

YEARS.	Societies.	Meeting-Houses.	Preachers.	Literary Institutions.
1875, ...	935	732	674	14

This comparison is only a partial one, for lack of data. In respect to churches and Sunday-schools, the value of church and school property, the gain has been vastly greater. In 1835 we had no College, nor for twenty years afterwards, and our two Academies were in their infancy, and their assets quite insignificant compared with the two and a half millions now invested in literary institutions.

With this brief statement of our progress in forty years, we commit our work to the candid judgment of our people.

Eclipses for 1875.

There will be two Eclipses this year, both of the Sun.

I. A total Eclipse of the Sun, April 6, invisible in the United States, visible in the Indian Ocean and the southern parts of Asia and Africa.

II. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, September 29, visible in Africa and the Atlantic Ocean; visible as a partial Eclipse in eastern North America. In New England, the Sun rises eclipsed, and the Eclipse ends as follows:—

Bangor, Me., 7h. 43m. A. M. Boston, Mass., 7h. 33m. A. M.
Burlington, Vt., 7h. 23m. A. M. New Haven, Conn., 7h. 23m. A. M.

MISCELLANY.

READING THE BIBLE.

The Bible, i. e., the BOOK, is well entitled to its name from its internal contents, and setting out of view entirely all external evidences of its authorship and authority. There is no other writing—i. e., Scripture—that can so move and mold the mind and heart. Its power to kindle religious feeling, to arouse the conscience, to inspire good resolutions and impel to noble deeds, is the best testimony to its divine origin and authenticity. In every age since it was given to the world, and among all classes, this evidence of the inspiration of the Holy Scriptures comes to us in emphatic statements from the foremost minds, as well as from humble, unlettered believers. The Emperor Theodosius, it is said, wrote out the whole New Testament with his own hand, on purpose to fix its words better in his memory. Another Christian emperor, who was very much occupied in business during the day, used to spend a portion of every night in not only reading, but in studying the Scriptures. Prince George, of Transylvania, read the whole Bible through twenty-seven times. One of the kings of Arragon was so interested in the study of the Scriptures, that he read them through, together with a large commentary, fourteen times. Sir Henry Wotton was very much engaged in public business, yet he kept the Bible before him, day and night, that at leisure moments he might read a verse or two; and when his public duties were over, he always spent an hour or two in studying the Bible. De Rentz, a French nobleman, used every morning to read three chapters of the Bible on his bended knees, stopping, every little while, to pray that God would help him to understand it. Rev. William Romaine never read nor studied any other book than the Bible for the last thirty years of his life. Milton, it is well known, in his blindness, commenced the day by having a portion of the Bible read to him; and John Quincy Adams made it a rule to read the Bible through once a year.

There was an Irish peasant who got possession of a copy of the Bible, and was so fond of it that he spent all his leisure in studying it. The Romish priest found him one day with the Bible in his hand, and asked him what warrant he had to read the Bible for himself. "Faith," said he, "and please yer riverence, I have a sarch warrant. For sure, and didn't the blessed Master say, Sarch the Scriptures?" So this wonderful book has attracted the great, the good, the wise and the simple to its study.

DR. THOMAS COOPER, of South Carolina.

The late Rev. S. J. McMorris says, in his autobiography: "While I was living in Columbia, S. C., Dr. Thomas Cooper was President of South Carolina College, and was a most extraordinary man for his learning and varied accomplishments. He was not, however, considered orthodox in his religious opinions, and hence there was no little prejudice and opposition manifested towards him, and various attempts were made to have him turned out of office, and some one else put in his place. This was particularly desired by the Presbyterians, who wanted one of their own denomination placed in the presidential chair. Bigotry gave him no rest, until finally he was forced to resign. There was considerable difference of opinion in regard to what his belief was, some saying one thing, and some another. I never knew what it was, until one day, on passing my office, he called me out, and asked me if I knew what were the religious sentiments of a man living up street. I told him, No, and then asked him what they were, to which he replied: 'Why, he is a Universalist, as every man of sense is,' and, whipping up his mule, away he went."

DR SPURZHEIM AND FATHER BALLOU.

In Whittemore's Life of Ballou (iii. 130), we are told that when the celebrated phrenologist, Spurzheim, was in Boston, in 1832, an appointment was made for him to attend Father Ballou's church on a certain Sunday, and Father Ballou had prepared a sermon in which he gave his opinion of phrenology; but on going into the pulpit, and not seeing his friend, Nahum Capen, in his pew (with whom Spurzheim was to come), and supposing him not present, Father Ballou laid aside his sermon prepared for the occasion, and took another subject. But Dr. Spurzheim, and Mr. Capen, and Dr. Tuckerman, a Unitarian minister, were in fact present, in another part of the house, unknown to the preacher. Mr. Capen says, in giving an account of the incident afterwards: "After service, we walked, for exercise, towards Beacon Street, and had proceeded some distance before any conversation took place in respect to Mr. Ballou's discourse, which was designed to illustrate the universality of infinite love. Dr. Spurzheim was the first to speak, and he highly commended the sermon. He said it was 'good phrenology.' Dr. Tuckerman coincided with this opinion, but feared that the preacher did not say enough about the world after death. 'Ah,' said Spurzheim, with one of those intelligent and inimitable smiles for which he was so remarkable, 'man did nothing to entitle him to existence in this beautiful world. Teach him to do his best where he is, and leave the other world to his Maker. In Him our confidence should know no limits. What the Creator prepares, man cannot alter. THE USE OF TOBACCO. — Another anecdote of Father Ruggles on the same occasion we remember. On the morning after the Association adjourned, we were all assembled at the house of Brother Gilman Noyes, preparing to start for our several homes, and engaged in singing some conference hymns, in which all took a deep interest; and one brother particularly, who was a great chewer of tobacco, seemed very much absorbed in the music, while he kept the quid rolling in his mouth, which afforded Father Ruggles a good opportunity to rally him on his devotion to the weed, and he said, "Brother P——, what makes us like anything?" Brother P—— was nonplussed at the oddity of the question, suspected Father Ruggles of having some metaphysical nut to crack, and said something about instinct, but seemed puzzled to make out what he was driving at. On the question being repeated, "What makes us like anything?" and no one answering, Father Ruggles said, "I will tell you. It is because we have got something of the same kind in us. Why are we all so delighted with these heavenly tunes? It is because we have something of the same kind in our souls; a sentiment of love, a feeling of harmony, an inward sense kindred to that of the hymns and tunes we have heard, and it is something born in us, and is a part of us. Now, brethren," added he, "no one is born with a liking or taste for tobacco, but everybody naturally loathes the nauseous stuff, and no one ever comes to indulge in the use of it, or crave it, until he has overcome this natural repugnance, and got some of the filthy stuff incorporated into his system."

Brother P——, being particularly in view, saw the point,

WISDOM DOES NOT ALWAYS SPEAK IN GREEK AND LATIN.

UNIVERSALIST AND CATHOLIC THE SAME IN GREEK.—At a soldiers' levee in St. Albans, Vt., in July, 1864, in which all sects were represented, and were actively engaged, it happened that the Universalist minister and the Catholic priest were standing near together, but were strangers to each other, when Judge A. O. Aldis, of the Supreme Court of Vermont, came along, and very politely and happily introduced the gentlemen, as follows: "Mr. S——, this is the Catholic priest; Mr. A——, this is the Universalist minister; and Catholic and Universalist are the same in Greek."

A CLERICAL HUMORIST.—A friend relates to us the following anecdote:—

"Stopping over Sunday with a brother minister in New Hampshire, who lives near the Connecticut River, and being ourself a clergyman, we were naturally invited to preach for him. Just before the sermon, he said to us it was their custom to close with the Lord's Prayer, and as he should have a notice to give he would attend to the closing of the meeting. At the conclusion of the sermon we stepped aside and the pastor entered the desk and said: 'Next Sunday I shall exchange pulpits with Brother B., of S., and, as congregatibns generally like to know something of strange ministers that they are to hear, I will say that Brother B. is called the handsomest man in the State of Vermont. Let us pray.' The oddity and ludicrousness of the remark about his Brother B. so distracted our thoughts that we could not command our attention in season to engage in the prayer that followed."

THE UNIVERSALIST REGISTER.

CONTAINING THE STATISTICS OF THE UNIVERSALIST DENOMINATION FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1, 1874.

[NOTE OF EXPLANATION.—In the statistical tables, the fractions affixed to parishes denote the proportion of Sundays they have preaching; the integers denote the number of families connected with them; oc. signifies occasional; dor., dormant, or inactive; the date prefixed to parishes, churches and Sunday schools shows the year of their organization; the date prefixed to meeting-houses shows when they were dedicated, or purchased and made ready for use. Church, in all cases, stands for a body of believers—never for a building.]

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION.

This body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets annually, on the Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October. It is composed of the Presidents (or, in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with delegates (clerical and lay) from State Conventions, as follows, viz.:—1. Every State Convention in fellowship shall be entitled to one clerical and two lay delegates. 2. If it have in its fellowship an aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, it shall be entitled to two clerical and four lay delegates; and for every additional fifty parishes and clergymen, to one clerical and two lay delegates. 3. If there be one or more organized parishes in a State where there is no convention, said parish or parishes shall be entitled to send one delegate to the General Convention: provided, however, that to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence, and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry, unless disabled by years or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of doubt or difficulty between State Conventions, and in cases of discipline and questions of government not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It also has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of five hundred thousand dollars, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

The MURRAY CENTENARY FUND (originated at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1869), named in honor of the first preacher of Universalism in America, and designed to aid in the education of our clergy, the distribution of denominational literature, and in church extension, amounted, in September, 1874, to $120,901.10.

The BALLOU CENTENARY FUND, founded by Mr. R. A. BALLOU, amounted, at the same date, to $131.07.

The GUNN MINISTERIAL RELIEF FUND, founded by the bequest of $8,000 by the late JOHN G. GUNN, Esq., of Nyack, N. Y., "for the relief, support and maintenance of needy clergymen, their widows and families," not coming within the scope of the HARSEN FUND, of New York, amounted, September, 1874, to $8,460.

Thirty-five theological scholarships have been in force during the year past; viz., 21 at Canton, and 14 at Tufts. The amount paid on this account during the year was $5,610. The number of beneficiaries graduated during the year was twelve; viz., seven at Canton and five at Tufts. The total expenditure of the Convention in scholarships, thus far, is as follows: under the gift system, $5,520, and under the loan system, $29,670, making a total of $35,190.

The Convention, at the session of 1873, provided for an order of lay preachers, of approved faith and character, who shall be subject to the same rules of discipline as other preachers, but, for purposes of representation in the General Convention, shall be regarded as laymen.

The Convention, at its last session in New York City, September, 1874, made appropriations for the current year's work, as follows, viz.:—

For scholarships,	$6,000
missions,	5,000
general secretary,	3,500
interest,	1,500
blanks, secretary's office, and incidentals,	3,000
Total,	$19,000

OFFICERS OF THE GENERAL CONVENTION.

President.—Gen. Olney Arnold, of Pawtucket, R. I.

General Secretary.—Rev. R. H. Pullman, New York City.

Treasurer.—D. L. Holden, Esq., of Jersey City, N. J.

Trustees.—William T. Parker, of N. H.; Sidney Perham, of Me.; Henry W. Rugg, of R. I.; E. G. Brooks, D. D., of Pa.; J. C. Wellington, of Mass.; F. S. Boas, of Pa.; R. Blakeley, of Minn.; E. L. Rexford, of Cal.; S. A. Briggs, of N. Y.; J. Smith Dodge, Jr., of Conn.; J. M. Pullman, of N. Y., ex officio. Five trustees retire, and five are elected every two years. Preacher of the occasional sermon for 1875, Rev. S. H. McCollister, D. D., of Akron, Ohio.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY was organized in 1834, and has for its object "the collection and preservation of facts pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism, together with books and papers having reference to the same subject." It has a library of about fifteen hundred volumes, now at Tufts College, which has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinctive faith in other countries and times, and it is very desirable that means should be provided for rendering the library as complete as possible.

President.—Rev. Abel C. Thomas, of Philadelphia.

Secretary and Librarian.—Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., of Tufts College.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION was organized at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1869, to assist in raising the Murray Fund. Officers for the current year:—

President and General Superintendent.—Mrs. Caroline A. Soule, New York City.

Treasurer.—Mrs. J. G. Adams, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Corresponding Secretary.—Mrs. F. J. M. Whitcomb, Chelsea, Mass.

* The Sunday school at Norwich originated under the labors of Rev. Charles Hodson, in 1822. But the Gloucester (Mass.) Sunday School dates from 1820, two years earlier; and the Lombard Street Universalist Sunday School, in Philadelphia, was the earliest organized (1816) of our Sunday schools, so far as we know.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 2 Associations; 17 parishes, embracing by estimation 1,000 families; 12 churches, having 752 members; 15 Sunday schools, having 1,773 members; 13 meeting-houses, with a total church property of $308,300; and 20 resident preachers.

DAKOTA TERRITORY.

This is a field for missionary labor only. Services are held at Yankton, Hill's Bend and Vermilion, once a month at each place, by Rev. W. S. Bates, of Ionia, Neb.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

In Washington there is a parish of 49 families; a church (organized in 1874) of 58 members; a Sunday school of 75 members; a settled pastor, Rev. C. H. Fay; and two other clergymen reside here who are engaged in secular business. A meeting-house has been projected under the auspices of the General Convention and a lot already secured.

Florida.

There is a church (organized in 1859) of 47 members, in Walton County, of which Rev. J. L. C. Griffin is pastor; a Sunday school (organized in 1871) of eight members; a meeting-house valued at $400. There are a few other places where there is occasional preaching, and at Sand Point (Volusia Co.) a log meeting-house belonging to our friends.

Georgia.

A State Convention (re-organized in 1869) meets annually on the fourth Sunday in September.

Summary.—We report a State Convention; 10 parishes; 6 churches, having 173 members; 4 Sunday schools, having 126 members; 7 meeting-houses, valued at $3,200; and 10 resident preachers.

NOTE.—Several places, heretofore reported as having Universalist churches, are, we learn from Rev. B. F. Strain, but duplicate names of some of the above-mentioned list, which is printed according to Br. Strain's revision. He adds: "There have been some accessions to some of the churches since your last issue, but I am not able to say how many. We are so poorly organized that it is almost impossible to get correct statistics."

ILLINOIS.

Louisiana.

In New Orleans there is a parish, "First Congregational," composed of about equal numbers of Universalists and Unitarians, owning a house of worship built in 1853, and valued at about $65,000, but upon which, we understand, a debt of $25,000 is now due. The parish has proposed to change its title and assume the name of "The First Universalist Parish of New Orleans," provided it can be helped to save its property.

Maine.

The State Convention (organized in 1828) meets on Tuesday before the last Friday of June, 1875, in Belfast. It is composed of all the ordained ministers in its fellowship who are actively engaged in the work of the ministry unless disabled by age or sickness, the officers of the convention, the trustees of Westbrook Seminary, together with one lay delegate from each parish and one from each Sunday school in its fellowship.

President.—Charles S. Fobes of Portland.

Vice-President.—Joseph W. Clapp, of Augusta.

Treasurer.—Richard Dresser, Esq., of Auburn.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination and Discipline.—Revs. J. O. Skinner, W. R. French, S. Goodenough and Messrs. A. C. Denison and J. Smith.

The foregoing nine officers constitute the Executive Committee of the Convention.

Trustees.—Messrs. Sidney Perham, E. F. Pillsbury, and Rev. W. E. Gibbs. The trustees superintend the funds of the Convention, and they alone have authority to draw orders for the payment of money from the treasury. They also nominate the principal and other teachers of Westbrook Seminary.

Preacher of next Occasional Sermon.—Rev. G. W. Bicknell. Substitute, Rev. I. C. Knowlton. S. S. Sec'y, Rev. W. W. Nutting.

ASSOCIATIONS.—1. York and Cumberland (organized Aug. 1828), meets on second Wednesday of September, 1875, in Yarmouth, S. H. Colesworthy, Clerk.

2. Oxford (organized in 1828), meets on the fourth Wednesday of September, Rev. J. C. Snow, Clerk.

3. Kennebec (organized in 1828), meets on the second Wednesday of October, Rev. A. Bosserman, Clerk.

A State Sunday School Convention was organized in 1871 and meets at a time and place to be fixed by the standing committee, of which Rev. J. C. Snow is chairman.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Preacher of Occasional Sermon.—Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D.

The Council is composed of life-members, the ordained ministers in its fellowship residing in the State, and two lay delegates from each parish.

President.—Rev. A. J. Patterson, D. D., of Boston.

Vice-President.—Mr. Oscar F. Chase, of Webster.

Secretary.—Rev. G. J. Sanger.

Treasurer.—Mr. J. D. W. Joy, of Boston.

Trustees.—Mr. Amos Merrill and Mr. John L. Shorey, for three years; Revs. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., and M. R. Leonard, for two years; Mrs. H. A. Bingham and Rev. T. E. St. John, for one year.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination and Discipline.—Revs. George Hill, J. D. Pierce, O. F. Safford, and Mr. James M. Sargent and Mr. Samuel T. Cobb.

The Convention has permanent funds amounting to $22,278.98.

ASSOCIATIONS.—1. Union (formed in 1816), meets on the first Wednesday of June, as the Clerk appoints. It embraces Worcester County, and all of Franklin, Hampden and Hampshire counties, east of Connecticut River. Rev. A. Scott, Clerk.

2. Old Colony (formed in 1827), holds semi-annual meetings in April and November as appointed by the executive committee. Rev. J. D. Pierce, Clerk.

3. Boston (formed in 1829), including Suffolk, Essex and Middlesex counties, meets on the first Wednesday in May. Rev. W. W. Hayward, Clerk.

4. Barnstable, meets as may be appointed by Rev. C. A. Bradley, Clerk.

5. Winchester, meets on the second Wednesday of September, at the call of the Clerk, Mr. H. H. Bowen.

THE UNIVERSALIST SABBATH SCHOOL UNION embraces the 14 schools in Boston, Cambridge, Chelsea and Somerville, with an aggregate membership of 3,700 in Oct. 1874. The board of government is as follows: President, John D. W. Joy; Vice-Presidents, Henry D. Williams, A. J. Lovell and Charles J. Noyes; Secretary, E. F. Pember; Assistant Secretary, Franklin Williams; Corresponding Secretary, B. B. Whittemore; Treasurer, Eben. Alexander; Librarian, John S. Spooner; and a director from each school. The Union had an invested fund of $6,354.46 at the date of the treasurer's last report.

There is a UNIVERSALIST SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION, which is not confined to New England, but is without territorial limits. Its purposes are the holding of conferences for the discussion of practical questions concerning the work of Sunday schools, and the arranging of Teachers' Institutes for the exhibition of methods of teaching classes and conducting schools.

Rev. G. W. Perry, Lawrence, Mass., Permanent Secretary.

Executive Committee.—Rev. J. J. Lewis, South Boston; Amos Merrill, Peabody, Mass.; Charles E. Carpenter, Providence, R. I.; Amanda Lane, Gloucester, Mass.; Jeanette Babbitt, Worcester, Mass.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 16 Associations proper; 126 parishes, reporting 5,441 families; 89 churches, reporting 4,390 members; 93 Sunday schools, reporting 7,888 members; 109 meeting-houses, with an aggregate church property, above indebtedness, of $1,441,760; and 99 resident preachers.

NORTH CAROLINA.

In the unorganized condition of Universalists in this State, no tabulated statement is practicable. It is missionary ground, and Rev. D. B. Clayton, of Columbia, S. C., makes frequent preaching visits into the State.

In Kenansville (Duplin Co.) we have a church of 18 members, and a dilapidated meeting-house, which the brethren are trying to get in a condition to use; but they are all poor, and have a hard time to raise the means. At Red Hill (in Samson Co.) there is a meeting-house, owned by our friends, but no organization. In Woodenton (Lenoir Co.) there is a church of about 30 members, who worship in a union house. In Wilson (Wilson Co.) there is a meeting-house, and Brother Clayton thinks we will have a church organized there before long. In Pitt County, our people have an interest in a union house, and Universalism now has quite a foothold among the best people of that vicinity. On the whole, Brother Clayton writes that Universalism is spreading rapidly in the eastern part of the State.

SUMMARY.—There are numerous preaching stations; 3 churches, reporting 80 members; 4 Sunday schools, reporting 171 members; 4 meeting-houses, valued at $2,400; and 5 resident preachers.

OHIO.

The State Convention (formed in 1825), meets on Thursday before the first Sunday in June, 1875, in Columbus. It consists of all clergymen in the State in fellowship, two laymen from each parish or church, and one layman additional for each parish or church having 100 or more members. Every association of persons for religious improvement and the support of public worship is reckoned a parish and entitled to representation.

An especial interest attaches to the next session, as it is the semi-centennial year of the Convention, and a programme for suitably celebrating the occasion will be presented by the Committee appointed at the last session for this purpose.

Preacher of the Occasional Sermon for 1875.—Rev. J. D. H. Corwine. Alternate, Rev. T. C. Druley.

President.—Hon. A. L. Curtis, of Belpre.

Secretary.—William H. Slade, of Columbus.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

We have two preachers in this State who do missionary work in all the region round about, but are obliged to rely on their secular business mainly for their support. A church was organized in Columbia in 1872, of 22 members.

Tennessee.

At Shelby Depot (Shelby Co.), a church of 7 members was organized in 1872, by Rev. L. F. W. Andrews, of Georgia.

Texas.

This State is a vast missionary field for us, and though 6 preachers are reported as living within it, yet we get a report only from Rev. Marmaduke Gardner. He writes us that there is a church of 29 members in Millerton (Milam Co.), organized in 1872, with an edifice used as a school and meeting-house, and free to all, which is worth $250; and another church in Williamson County, organized in 1855, and having 40 members, with a meeting-house, free to all denominations, of the value of $400. In each place Brother Gardner preaches once a month. There is, or at any rate was, a church of 50 members in Sand Fly (Bastrop Co.), but we know not its present condition.

Vermont.

The State Convention (formed in 1833), meets on the Tuesday before the fourth Wednesday of August. It is composed of the resident ordained ministers in its fellowship, one lay delegate from each parish, and the officers of the Convention.

Preacher of next Occasional Sermon.—Rev. S. A. Parker. Substitute, Rev. E. J. Chaffee.

President.—Hon. Heman Carpenter, of Northfield.

Vice-President.—Rev. B. M. Tillotson.

Secretary.—Rev. M. H. Harris.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination and Discipline.—Revs. Elmer Hewett, S. A. Parker, and R. A. Green, and Messrs. H. V. French, of Woodstock, and Wm. H. Durkee, of Stockbridge.

Trustees.—Hon. Albert Brown, of Springfield, for 3 years; Mr. George A. Allen, for 2 years; Mr. E. W. Packard, for 1 year.

ASSOCIATIONS.—1. Northern (formed in 1804), meets on the third Wednesday of June, at the call of the Clerk, Rev. F. E. Healey.

2. Green Mountain (formed in 1829), meets on the second Wednesday of June, at the call of the Clerk, Rev. E. J. Chaffee.

3. Champlain, meets on the fourth Wednesday of June. Julius Shaw, of Essex, Clerk.

4. Windham and Bennington, meets on the last Wednesday of June, at the call of Rev. J. Gifford, Clerk.

5. Central, meets on the first Wednesday of June, as the officers shall appoint. Rev. John Gregory, Clerk.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 26 parishes, embracing by estimation 800 families; 18 churches, having 486 members; 19 Sunday schools, having 1,177 members; 21 meeting-houses, with a total church property, exclusive of indebtedness, of $143,500; and 21 preachers.

Scotland and England.

We gave a paragraph in our last issue to Universalism in Scotland; we now give the following more definite and very encouraging information from Rev. J. U. Mitchell, the apostle of our faith over the water.

The Scottish Universalist Association was organized in 1862, at Glasgow, and meets quarterly. J. M. Cunningham, Belmano St., Glasgow, Secretary.

A Universalist Book and Tract Depot, Knabbie St., Dunfermline, was instituted in 1873, at which the various Universalist Works can be procured.

* Society reorganized under the auspices of the Ladies' Centenary Association, in 1874.

In addition to the above, there are congregations at Dundee, Stenhousmuir, Falkirk and Glasgow, in Scotland; also in London, Brighton and Plymouth, in England, where Bible Universalism is preached every Lord's Day. The following lay preachers render valuable services to our cause in Scotland; viz., J. M. Cunningham, Glasgow; J. Graham, Grahamston; A. M. Reid, Musselburgh; John Greig, Crossgate; A. Ure, G. Ure, Larbert; and James Patterson, Dunfermline.

A guarantee fund is now being subscribed for the purpose of establishing a Universalist paper at Glasgow; and intended subscribers will please communicate with J. M. Cunningham, Belmano St., Glasgow.

Faculty.—Rev. A. A. Miner, D. D., President; Rev. Thomas J. Sawyer, D. D., Packard Professor of Christian Theology; Rev. Charles H. Leonard, A. M., Goddard Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; William G. Tousey, A. M., B. D., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology.

Lecturers.—Rev. Thomas B. Thayer, D. D., Lecturer on the Evidences of Christianity; Rev. A. St. John Chambré, A. M., Lecturer on Ecclesiastical History; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., Lecturer on Relations of Science to Christianity; Rev. E. H. Capen, A. M., Lecturer on the Study of Language.

The school-year commences September 9th. Candidates are expected to present themselves on that day. If unknown to the faculty, they must bring satisfactory testimonials of good character. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates must have received a good English education, and it is desirable that they should have some knowledge of the Latin and Greek languages. Applicants are admitted to the school for any period not less than one year. Those applying for advanced standing are examined in the studies which have been pursued by the class they propose to enter. It is earnestly recommended that all who are contemplating a course in Theology shall take, as preliminary, a full collegiate course of study. This will be of great value as a preparation for professional studies. It has not been thought expedient, however, to make such a requisition, for earnest and capable men aspire to the Christian ministry whose circumstances do not admit of so extensive preparation. To meet the wants of such, and yet provide for thorough training and comprehensive development, a four-years course has been instituted. This permits the introduction of studies not strictly professional, yet of a fundamental character, and of high disciplinary value.

The Full Course occupies three years for Bachelors of Arts; for all others, four years. The Special Courses occupy respectively three, two and one years. Instruction in elocution throughout the course by Prof. Moses T. Brown. Those desirous of taking French are permitted to attend the classes of Prof. Charles E. Fay. Students may attend lectures in the Academical department, subject to the discretion of the Faculty. They have free access to the general library of the College; also to the valuable library of the Universalist Historical Society. Important facilities for general improvement are afforded students by the proximity of the School to Boston and Cambridge. Valuable libraries are thus made accessible. Elaborate courses of lectures on scientific, social and literary subjects are presented to the public from time to time. The most noted divines of New England officiate every Sunday within easy distance, and may be studied by the students in respect to their teachings and their methods. It is the policy of the School to encourage the judicious use of these important instrumentalities of culture.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred upon those who sustain satisfactorily an examination upon the studies of the Full Course. Diplomas certifying to attainments are conferred upon those who have taken one of the Special Courses.

Tuition, room-rent and use of furniture, free. The students have only to make provision for board, fuel, lights and washing. The "Adams Club" furnishes board at a price which merely covers the actual cost.

The General Convention of Universalists, aids students by a system of loans; and those in the regular course, who have shown sufficient maturity, are permitted to preach, under the direction of the Faculty, during the year and a half preceding their graduation. In this way they may add to their pecuniary resources.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY,

GALESBURG, ILL.

This Institution offers the advantages of a Collegiate and a Preparatory department. The Collegiate embraces three courses of study, of four years each; viz., Classical, Scientific and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific and Literary, one year. Its number of courses enables the institution to meet the wants of all desiring a Collegiate course. In the Preparatory department the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course are taught, and also such English Branches as are commonly pursued in High Schools and Academies.

Students are allowed to enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are alike admitted to all departments of the University; they recite in the same classes and receive the same honors.

Experienced and approved teachers are provided for all the departments. Frequent lectures will be given by members of the Faculty, and others, on subjects of general interest to the students.

Board in private families, including furnished rooms, lights and fuel, ranges from $4.00 to $4.50 per week. Rooms for self-boarding, by which expenses may be very much reduced, can be obtained at reasonable rates.

The Ladies' Boarding Hall, opened at the commencement of the last year, is elegantly furnished, and is under the charge of an accomplished Matron. Board, including rooms, fuel and lights, $4.50 per week. Application should be made early, as the Hall can accommodate only a limited number.

Tuition per term of ten weeks varies, according to studies pursued, from $3.75 to $8.25. An extra charge is made for Ornamental Branches and for Modern Languages, when not taken in a regular course.

Faculty.—Rev. William Livingston, A. M.; Prof. J. V. N. Standish, A. M.; Prof. I. A. Parker, A. M.; Miss M. J. Claycomb, A. M.; T. C. Stevens, A. B.

OFFICERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

President.—Hon. T. Judson Hale, Galesburg.

Secretary.—Hon. Alfred Knowles, Galesburg.

Treasurer.—David Sanborn, Esq., Galesburg.

Executive Committee.—David Sanborn, W. H. Ryder, E. G. Hall, Alfred Knowles, T. Judson Hale.

Calendar.—First term of seventeen weeks began Monday, August 31, 1874. Second term of twelve weeks begins Monday, January 4, 1875. Third term of eleven weeks begins Monday, April 5, 1875.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.

This institution is located at Canton (St. Lawrence County), N. Y., eighteen miles from Ogdensburg and easily accessible from all points.

The University has two fully-organized departments. 1. The Collegiate (comprising the usual four years' classical course and a four years' scientific course). 2. The Theological.

Executive Committee of the Corporation.—J. S. Conkey, Chairman; Levi B. Storrs, Secretary; Theodore Caldwell, A. A. Simmons, W. Wheelock, Ebenr. Fisher.

Faculty.—Rev. A. G. Gaines, D. D., President of College of Letters and Science and Craig Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; Silas Bundy Rawson, A. M., Chapin Professor of the Greek and Latin Languages and Literature; A. Zenas Squire, A. B., Professor of Mathematics; Lucy G. French, L. A., Professor of the French Language and Instructor in Latin; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., non-Resident Lecturer on Microscopy, Chemistry, Zoölogy and Botany; Rev. James Henry Chapin, A. M., Professor of Geology and Mineralogy; W. B. Gunnison, Tutor in Latin; H. W. Sheldon, B. S., Tutor in German; Hiram A. Merrill, Tutor in Mathematics; Isaac P. Booth, Librarian; E. J. Sykes, Steward.

Theological Department.

Board of Instruction.—Rev. E. Fisher, D. D., President and Dockstader Professor of Ethics; Rev. O. Cone, A. M., Craig Professor of Biblical Languages and Literature; Rev. John S. Lee, A. M., Professer of Ecclesiastical History and Biblical Archæology.

Applicants for admission must bring testimonials as to their moral and religious character, and especially, if practicable, a certificate of church membership. They must be acquainted with the essential branches of a good English education. They must be believers in the Holy Scriptures and have a fixed intention to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. The full course of study requires three years, and those who complete it will be entitled to graduate and to receive a diploma. College graduates can complete it in two years. There is also a course arranged for four years, and those who complete it, or its full equivalent, will receive the degree of B. D. Students can also enter for one or two years, and will be entitled to a certificate stating their attainments. There are excellent opportunities for pursuing the study of French and German. There is a well-selected theological library of about 7,000 volumes, and also easy access to several valuable private libraries. The location and surroundings are favorable to uninterrupted study. There is no charge for tuition or the use of the library. Board in the College Rooms is $3.50 per week. The necessary expenses do not exceed $260 per year. When required, students receive aid from the Universalist General Convention.

Calendar for 1875.—First term closes February 4th. Second term opens February 23d. Commencement, Wednesday, June 24th. Fall term opens Wednesday, September 23d. Number of students in all the classes, October 6th, 1874, 26.

SMITHSON COLLEGE.

This institution is located on a beautiful eminence overlooking the city of Logansport, Ind., and the wild valleys of the Wabash and Eel Rivers, which here unite. Logansport has 15,000 inhabitants, is the second railroad centre in Indiana, is 100 miles south-east of Chicago and easily accessible from all parts of Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

The College originated with the action of the Indiana Convention of Universalists, under a liberal legacy of the late Joshua Smithson, of Vevay, Ind., whose name it bears.

It has lately passed under the special patronage and joint management of the Universalist Conventions of Indiana and Michigan.

The main building,—one of the most beautiful in the West, which has been erected at an expense of $100,000,—will accommodate 120 students, with the faculty. It is heated with steam and lighted with gas, both generated in buildings apart from the College building. The faculty resides in the College.

There are four courses of study,—the Academic, Preparatory, Philosophical and College Courses. The necessary expenses for each full year of the Academic and Preparatory Courses is,—Board, $195; Tuition, $30; Incidentals, $4.50; Total, $229.50. For each year of the College Course, $6 more for tuition. These figures include heat, light and washing.

Commencement, 3d Thursday in June. The College-year is divided into three terms.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. H. Craven, President; Rev. W. W. Curry, Secretary; W. Schroyer, Treasurer.

Faculty.—Richmond Fisk, Jr., D. D., President and Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy; Hon. D. P. Baldwin, LL. D., Dean and Professor of Political Economy, Logic and Law; Mrs. Caroline S. Kendall, Lady Principal and Professor of Modern Languages; C. S. Farquar, A. M., Professor of Greek and Latin; T. H. Bulla, Professor of Natural Sciences and Mathematics; Miss E. M. B. Felt, Teacher of English Branches; E. A. Hall, A. M., Professor of Commercial Course.

BUCHTEL COLLEGE.

This institution was projected during our Centenary year by our friends in Ohio. It is located in the city of Akron (Summit Co.), and is named in honor of John R. Buchtel, its founder and most generous supporter.

The corner-stone of the College building was laid July 4th, 1871, and the institution opened on the 11th and dedicated on the 22d of September, 1872. The College edifice is a grand and commodious structure, standing on the highest ground in the State and commanding an extensive and beautiful prospect over the surrounding country. The corporation owns some ten acres of land encircling the building, which is graded, and is to be ornamented with trees and shrubs. It is the purpose of the Trustees to make this a first-class college, offering to students of both sexes equal opportunities for a thorough practical and liberal education.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. John R. Buchtel, of Akron, President; Hon. Sanford M. Burnham, of Akron, Secretary; Geo. W. Crouse, of Akron, Treasurer.

Executive Committee.—E. P. Green, G. T. Perkins, Rev. A. Willson, John R. Buchtel.

The curriculum of studies embraces: First, A complete College course of four years. Second, A thorough Philosophical course of three years. Third, A full Scientific course of three years.

Board of Instruction.—Rev. S. H. McCollester, D. D., President and Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; Nehemiah White, A. M., Professor of Ancient Languages; Helen F. Spaulding, L. A., Professor of Rhetoric and English Literature; Carl F. Kolbe, A. M., Professor of Modern Languages; Alfred Welsh, A. B., Professor of Natural Science; E. Fraunfelter, A. M., Professor of Mathematics; Wallace Hays, A. M., Professor in Latin and Commercial Department; Mary E. Stockman, L. A., Professor of Latin and English; Jennie Gifford, B. S., Professor of Normal Department; Alfred Sigel, Professor of Music.

Number of Students (Nov. 1874) in the College course, 75; in all departments, 200.

The yearly expenses of a student, including everything, is about $250.

Finances.—The property of the College now available is $300,000.

Scholarships.—Fifteen are already established, with an annual income of $60 each.

Calendar.—First term began second Wednesday in September, to continue fourteen weeks. Second term begins first Wednesday in January, 1875, to continue twelve weeks. Third term begins first Wednesday in April, and continues thirteen weeks. Commencement, last Wednesday in June. Annual meeting of Trustees, Tuesday preceding Commencement. Examination for admission on Thursday after Commencement and on Tuesday previous to the opening of the Fall term.

CLINTON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This, the oldest of our literary institutions, was founded in 1831, and went into operation at the close of the year 1832, as a boarding and day school for both sexes. It is located in Clinton (Oneida Co.), N. Y., nine miles southwest from Utica. The male and female departments are provided for in distinct buildings and with separate boarding-houses, and have hitherto been under distinct corps of teachers, but during the last year both departments have been consolidated under one head.

Finances.—The total value of the property and funds of the Institute is about $60,000.

Faculty.—F. L. Backus, A. B., Principal, Teacher of Metaphysics, Political Economy and Ancient Languages; Miss Helen S. Pratt, Preceptress, Teacher of Higher English and Latin; C. T. Burnley, A. B., Teacher of Mathematics and Sciences; Miss Abbie S. Kendall, Teacher of Modern Languages; Miss Laura C. Anderson, Teacher of Common English; Miss Gertrude L. Stone, Teacher of Drawing, Painting and Vocal Music; Miss Jennie Wells, Teacher of Instrumental Music; Miss Emma Martin, Teacher of Elocution.

Calendar.—The School-year is divided into two terms of twenty weeks each. The first term began the last Thursday in August, 1874, and ends the third Wednesday in January, 1875. The second term begins the last Thursday in January and ends the third Thursday in June.

Expenses of Board and Tuition.—Board, room, fuel, lights and washing, per term of twenty weeks, $105. Common English studies, each $3; Higher English studies, each $5; Latin and Greek, each $6; Modern Languages, each $8 per term. Ornamental and extra branches at reasonable rates.

In regard to beauty of location, thoroughness of instruction and economy in expenses, this School is not surpassed by any other of similar grade in the land. In every respect it is a first-class Academy.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY.

This flourishing Seminary, designed and admirably fitted and furnished for a boarding-school for both sexes, is located at Stevens Plains, Deering, Me., two and a half miles from Portland. It was incorporated in 1830, and first opened for students June 9, 1834. It has largely increased its accommodations for students by the erection of HERSEY HALL, a noble four-story brick dormitory, 100 by 50 feet, exclusively for young ladies, and a dining-hall (connecting HERSEY with GODDARD HALL), in which all the pupils take their meals together.

It provides an English Course of Study (fitting young men for business), a College Preparatory Course (fitting young men for College), and a Collegiate Course for ladies. Diplomas are granted to all who complete any of the regular courses. Young ladies who complete the Collegiate Course will receive the degree of L. A. or L. S., which the institution is empowered by the Legislature to confer. A Normal Class is formed in the Spring and Fall terms for the benefit of those preparing to teach. Lectures, free to all the students, are provided each term. The Seminary is well supplied with philosophical and chemical apparatus, and has a good cabinet of minerals. The boarding-halls are heated by steam. Hersey Hall (exclusively for ladies) is furnished with bathing-rooms and modern conveniences. Board, including fuel and lights, $3.50 per week. Tuition, from $5.50 to $8.50 per term.

Finances.—The total value of the property and funds of the Seminary is about $105,000.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. S. F. Hersey, Bangor, President; David Torrey, Esq., Deering, Vice-President; Charles Fobes, Esq., Portland, Treasurer; Grenville M. Stevens, Esq., Deering, Secretary.

Faculty.—G. M. Dodge, A. M., Principal and Professor of Mental and Moral Science; I. B. Choate, A. M., Professor of Greek and Latin; Rev. H. C. Leonard, Professor of Belles-Lettres; F. L. GREEN MOUNTAIN PERKINS ACADEMY.

This school, formerly known as the Green Mountain Liberal Institute, is located in South Woodstock, Windsor County, Vt. It was incorporated and went into operation under that name in 1848, but in October, 1870, by Act of the Vermont Legislature, the name was changed to Green Mountain Perkins Academy.

Besides the school edifice, it has a boarding-house, with a farm attached, and is in condition to do in the future, as it has done in the past, a good work in the cause of education and liberal culture in Vermont and the adjacent part of New Hampshire.

The value of the property and funds of the Institute is about $14,000.

Officers.—James H. Murdock, President; Nathan Lamb, Vice-President; F. P. Kendall, Secretary; L. C. Kendall, Treasurer; R. M. Slayton, Auditor.

The Teachers are as follows: Mr. E. H. Aldrich, A. B., Principal; Miss Ella J. Holt, Preceptress; C. S. Ralph, W. H. Sanderson, Assistants in Mathematics; Mr. C. F. Benjamin, Vocal Music; Mr. W. H. Wilkins, Penmanship.

Number of students (October, 1874), 58.

Board,—Including fuel, lights and washing, $3.50 per week; and there are ample opportunities for self-boarding.

Tuition,—From $5.50 to $7.00 per term, according to studies. French, Music, etc., extra.

The location is quiet and healthy; the courses of study are complete; board, tuition and other expenses are very low.

DEAN ACADEMY.

Dean Academy, chartered in 1865, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the amount of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the purposes of education," is located in Franklin, Norfolk County, Mass., and derives its name from Oliver Dean, M. D., of that town, who gave the valuable site (formerly the estate of Rev. Dr. Nathaniel Emmons), together with $135,000 in cash, towards the founding and endowing of the school, while considerable sums were given by others for the same purpose. By Dr. Dean's will, the trustees receive the additional sum of $100,000, the income of which is to be expended for school purposes; and they are also made residuary legatees of his estate, and will receive, it is not known how much, but perhaps $50,000.

The magnificent Academy building, costing about $175,000, which was dedicated in May, 1868, was totally destroyed by fire, with nearly all its contents, on the night of July 31, 1872. A new building has been, however, erected and is now occupied, and great improvements have been made in every department over the former one,—among which is the removal of the boilers to a building entirely separate from the main edifice. The new building, dedicated June 24, 1874, is of brick, 220 feet long, and consists of a central part, 51×61 feet, from front to rear; and two wings, each 57½×45 feet, extending from this to the right and left on a line 10 feet back from the line of central front. The grade of land is such as to give three stories at the front-side and four at the rear, exclusive of the roof. The basement of the Chapel wing contains the laundry, store-rooms, engineer's and steward's apartments; and the basement of the main building contains servants' rooms, cellar and storage-rooms.

The first story contains the general school-room, recitation rooms, office, reception-room, Principal's room and gymnasium; and in the Chapel wing of this story is the dining-room (capable of accommodating 250 persons), kitchen, pastry-room and carving-room. In the second story are the parlors, teachers' rooms, students' rooms; also the Chapel, which is 70 by 47 feet.

The third and fourth stories contain rooms for students. In the fourth story of the central building are the hospitals, one for each sex, with all the needed fixtures and accommodations.

All possible provision has been made against fire by brick walls extending from foundation to roof, making six distinct compartments. Nothing has been omitted to render the building complete and perfect in all its arrangements.

Board of Instruction.—Rev. J. P. Weston, D. D., Principal and Goddard Professor of Mental and Moral Science; Charles C. Bates, A. B., Chase Classical Professor; Leslie A. Lee, A. B., Teacher of Natural Sciences; Miss M. A. Bryant, Preceptress and Teacher of French; Miss Sarah J. Colvin, Teacher of German; Miss Emma E. Teulon, Assistant Teacher; Louis H. Isenbeck, Professor of Music; Miss Mary E. Weston, Drawing and Painting; Mrs. M. Little, Vocal Music.

Franklin, twenty-seven miles from Boston, is a remarkably healthy town, and is easy of access by railroad from all directions.

Calendar.—Winter term begins Tuesday, December 1, 1874; closes Friday, March 5, 1875. Vacation, ten days. Spring term begins Tuesday, March 16; closes Friday, June 18. Vacation, eleven weeks. Fall term begins Tuesday, September 7. There are four regular courses of study marked out; viz., College Preparatory, Academic, Scientific and Business.

The tuition for the regular courses is $10 per term, each, and for the Common English, $6.

GODDARD SEMINARY.

This Seminary, located at Barre, Washington County, Vt., was incorporated in November, 1863, under the name of the Green Mountain Central Institute; but by the Legislature of the State, in 1870, the name was changed to the Goddard Seminary, in honor of the late Thomas A. Goddard, of Boston, one of its chief benefactors, and who has contributed much more to its establishment than any other person.

It was opened as a first-class academy and boarding-school for both sexes, in February, 1870. It is situated on a conspicuous and commanding eminence in Barre Village, six miles from Montpelier, the state capital, and from its central location is easily accessible from all parts of the State. A noble brick edifice, 160 by 53 feet on the ground, five stories high, has been erected, which is sufficient to accommodate 112 boarding students, besides all the necessary halls, recitation-rooms, gymnasium, kitchen, reception-rooms, etc., etc. It is heated by steam, and every floor supplied with running water.

Finances.—The whole amount of property, real and personal, owned by Goddard Seminary, is $75,000. Through the energy of the friends of the school the debt of $12,000 has been provided for and a permament fund started.

Officers of the Board of Trustees.—Hon. Heman Carpenter, President; Rev. John Gregory, Vice-President; Geo. W. Tilden, Secretary and Treasurer.

Board of Instruction.—Henry Priest, A. B., Principal and Teacher of Mental and Moral Science and Greek; B. P. Sparrow, A. B., Teacher of Natural Sciences; Miss A. A. Ballou, Preceptress and Teacher of Latin; Miss Lois I. Witherbee, B. S., Teacher of French and German; Miss Persis Thompson, Teacher of English Branches; Mrs. Louise Watson, Teacher of Painting and Drawing; W. A. Briggs, Instrumental Music; Charles Dudley, Vocal Music; H. N. Pearce, Penmanship.

The school-year is divided into four terms of twelve, ten, eleven and eight weeks respectively. There are four regular courses of study marked out; viz., College Preparatory, Female Collegiate, English and Scientific.

Tuition, per term, from $5 to $10, according to the studies pursued. Board, $4 per week, including room, heat, light and washing.

JEFFERSON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This seminary is situated in the town of Jefferson, the county seat of Jefferson County, Wisconsin. It occupies the centre of a lot of four acres and has attractive surroundings. It was incorporated April 12, 1866, and a school opened in 1867. Five courses are provided for at the Institute; viz., English Preparatory, Business, Academic, Scientific and College Preparatory. The school had, in October, 1874, more than 100 students. It is out of debt and has the prospect of a steady and permanent growth. The property of the Institute is worth $35,000.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. J. W. Ostrander, Jefferson, President; Hon. W. W. Reed, Jefferson, Vice-President; R. W. Clark, Esq., Jefferson, Secretary and Treasurer.

Faculty.—Elmore Chase, A. M., Principal, Teacher of Ancient Languages and Mental and Moral Science; W. F. Bundy, Teacher of Natural Science and German; Rev. W. T. Ross, Teacher of Rhetoric and Elocution; Mrs. M. E. Chase, Preceptress, Teacher of French, U. S. History and Geography; Miss Abby Adams, Teacher of Normal Department; Mrs. W. T. Ross, Teacher of Painting and Drawing; Miss Nellie Anderson, Teacher of Vocal and Instrumental Music; J. A. Voigt, Teacher of German and Vocal Music in classes; Miss Abby Adams, Teacher of Penmanship.

Calendar.—Winter term begins January 4th, 1875, closes March 26th. Spring term begins April 5th, closes June 17th. Commencement, June 17.

Board can be obtained in private families, including fuel, lights, rent and washing, at from $3.75 to $4.00 per week, two students occupying one room.

This school is well provided with apparatus in the Chemical and Philosophical Departments, in which there has been a great advance made during the year. Besides the regular daily instruction there will be instruction given in entomology, and in natural history by going to Nature herself, and free instruction in vocal music one hour each day. In addition to the regular instruction in the German language, special attention is to be given in the art of speaking it.

MITCHELL SEMINARY.

This institution is located at Mitchellville (Polk Co.), Iowa, and is under the control of the Iowa Universalist Convention. It was named in honor of Thomas Mitchell, its founder and liberal supporter. The corner-stone of the Seminary Building was laid July 4, 1872. The school was opened September 15, 1872, in rooms temporarily fitted up, and in the new building September 18, 1873. The plan of the school contemplates three buildings. One of these is now completed, at a cost of $25,000. It is of brick and stone, 83 by 50 feet, three stories high, and of the composite order. The property of the school is valued at $40,000, subject to a debt of $15,000.

The Seminary is designed for both sexes, and its course of studies will embrace such branches as are usually taught in schools of the same grade.

Students can be prepared for COLLEGE, for TEACHING, and for BUSINESS.

Faculty.—Rev. William P. Payne, Principal, Teacher of Natural Sciences, etc.; Mrs. Wm. P. Payne, Preceptress and Matron, Teacher of the Higher English Branches; Miss Ella L. Coe, Teacher of Music and Mathematics; Miss Mary L. Aikens, Teacher of Common English Branches; Miss Harriet Jackson, Teacher of Modern Languages.

Calendar.—Winter Term of 12 weeks begins January 4, 1875. Spring Term, 12 weeks, begins April 6.

A limited number of young ladies can be accommodated with board in the Seminary Building, under the supervision of the Principal and his wife, and have handsomely furnished rooms and good table board, including lights and fuel, at $3.50 per week. Good board can be obtained in private families at reasonable rates.

OBITUARY RECORD.

I. Rev. Albert G. Clark was born in Preston (Chenango Co.), N. Y., September 21, 1811. Beside the common schools of his native town, he had no other opportunities for an education than a short attendance at a select school in South Otselic and at an academy in Oxford in the same county. At the age of seventeen he began to teach school and continued to do so for several years. He began to study theology in 1835, with Rev. C. S. Brown, at Upper Lisle, Broome County, and December 28th, 1837, he was ordained. Shortly before his ordination he was married to Miss Mary L. Giguette at Upper Lisle, where he lived for some years, engaged chiefly in Missionary work and preaching in churches, school-houses, barns or the open air, as circumstances might require. His first settlement was in Speedsville (Tompkins Co.), where he lived several years, removing from thence, in 1840, to McLean, in the same county; then, in 1851, to Beaver Dam, in Schuyler County, where he bought a house, living here in his own home till 1856; then for four years in Branchport; then for a year or so in McLean again; and in October, 1861, being worn down by his severe labors in the Missionary field, he removed to De Ruyter and there he remained till his death, which took place November 28, 1873, in his sixty-second year, leaving a wife and one son. Mr. Clark's record was an honorable one, as his intimate friends testify. He was an active and efficient agent in the circulation of our denominational books and periodicals, an untiring and zealous preacher, pure in his private life, genial in his manners, very kind-hearted, full of sympathy, a comforter of the distressed. In the thirty-six years of his ministry he attended three hundred and sixty-five funerals. His discourses, generally extemporaneous and characterized rather by earnestness and depth of feeling than by polish or elegance, were very acceptable to those who waited on his ministry, and by his consecrated labor he accomplished a good work and left the world largely his debtor.

II. Rev. Woodbury Melcher Fernald, born in Portsmouth, N. H., March 21, 1813, died in Boston, Mass., of diphtheria, December 10, 1873, at the age of sixty years and nine months, nearly. He was for several years a prominent preacher among us, commencing his ministry in Nashua, N. H., in 1835, and was ordained at Portsmouth, N. H., June 18, 1836. He was married in Nashua, July 5, 1837. In 1838 he removed to Cabotville (now Chicopee), Mass. In 1840 and 1841 he was located in Newburyport, then for three years in Stoneham. In 1845 he removed to Boston and ceased his connection with our denomination. He began as early as 1842 to read Swedenborg's works and the phantasies of A. J. Davis, and in 1845 was ordained a Swedenborgian minister. In the same year he published a work entitled "The Eternity of Heaven and Hell, confirmed by Scripture and Grounded in the Realities of the Human Soul; or a Renunciation of the Error of Universalism," in which, however, with a fallacy quite obvious to any body but a Swedenborgian, while he disavows Universalism, he does not avow the dogma of endless woe. He was so fascinated and bewildered by New Church doctrines as to become alienated from his former associates and lost to our ministry. In 1854 he published a "Compendium of the Theological and Spiritual Writings of Swedenborg," and in 1859, "God in His Providence," in which he impliedly renounced the notion of "the eternity of hell," and puts forth a Universalist view of human destiny, though in a novel form, turns Swedenborgian principles against the Seer's own conclusions and makes those principles the ground of an assurance of Universal Restoration; which restoration, however, is to be wrought out in a peculiar way, it being predicated of a hidden principle of good inherent in the soul, which evil never destroys. In 1860 he published "Memoirs and Reminiscences of the late Professor Bush"; in 1865, "First Causes of Character"; and in May, 1874, a posthumous volume of sermons, found marked for publication at his decease, was issued, under the title, "The True Christian Life and How to Attain It." His course of speculation was erratic indeed, but his sincerity and honesty we never heard questioned, whatever phase of doctrine might for the time enlist his active and restless intellect. He wrote in a style of great vigor and contributed many able and instructive articles to the Universalist Quarterly. We recall with pleasure our acquaintance with him in 1836, in Nashua, N. H., where his early ministry in our ranks was fruitful of great good, and we always found him a pure and spiritually-minded man. We cannot help regretting that the excessively mataphysical turn of his mind and the peculiarities of his temperament prevented his continuance to the end in our ministry, for he had great industry, an ardent thirst for knowledge, intellectual powers of a very respectable kind; and his character was, we believe, without a stain.

III. Rev. Samuel Jenkins, M. D., died at Glen's Falls (Warren Co.), N. Y., December 20, 1873, in his fifty-ninth year. He was formerly and for several years an active and useful minister among us, having been ordained at Dover, N. H., June 23, 1843. To the regret of his brethren, but in obedience to what seemed to him the call of duty, he relinquished his post as a minister and entered the medical profession, in which he took a respectable rank. The Glen's Falls Messenger, in announcing his death, spoke of him as a most estimable man in every relation of life,

He was at one time an editor of the Evangelical Magazine and Gospel Advocate, published in Utica, which position he filled with credit to himself and the denomination. He was at other times connected with the press, and for over twenty years was a faithful and efficient laborer in the ministry.

IV. Mr. Cleatus S. Hilsabeck was born in Allen County, Ky., October 7, 1828, and died February 18, 1874, in Illinois, in his forty-sixth year. He had lived in Illinois since early childhood. He was formerly a Baptist, but commenced preaching Universalism in 1864, in Shelby County, Ill.; not to any regular society, but as an itinerant. He was licensed by the Illinois Convention in 1872, though he was never ordained. He was well versed in the Scriptures, lived a Christian life, and died as it becomes a Christian to die, rejoicing in the hope of the final ingathering of all souls. He leaves a wife and six children.

V. Rev. Spencer James McMorris was born in Newberry District, S. C., March 4, 1799, and died in Wetumpka, Ala., March 2, 1874, when he lacked but two days of being seventy-five years old. His father, Capt. John McMorris, was of Irish extraction; his mother was a daughter of Spencer Morgan (for whom he was named), a cousin of General Daniel Morgan of revolutionary fame. He fitted at Mt. Bethel Academy for Columbia College in his native State, from which he was graduated in 1818. Shortly after leaving college he joined the Baptist church, to which both of his parents belonged, and soon commenced preaching as a Baptist; but becoming dissatisfied with the creed of his church, and especially with the doctrine of endless woe, he entered upon a course of reading and investigation which confirmed him in the Universalist faith. Up to this period he had known but one person holding that faith, Dr. Reuben Flanagan, to whom he went for counsel, and who lent him

"Ballou on the Atonement"; which book, he says, completely convinced him of the truth of Universalism before he had got half through it, and the day that he embraced that faith was the happiest day of his life. The first Universalist sermon ever delivered in his hearing he preached himself, at his own house, to an assembly of his friends and neighbors; and the first preacher of the doctrine to give him light and aid was Rev. Jacob Frieze, in 1826. In 1829, having already commenced preaching Universalism with all the ardor of his nature, he removed to Columbia and established the Southern Times, a secular journal, which he conducted for several years. He was ordained by the Chattahochee Association in Harris County, Ga., in 1838. While living in Columbia he published a pamphlet of eighty pages, entitled "The Flail, or Threshing Instrument," intended to separate the truth from false doctrines. In 1834, he removed to Lafayette, Ala., preaching in all the region round about as opportunity offered, but was obliged to depend upon some secular business for his support. While living in Lafayette he wrote a reply to Hodge's work against Universalism, and had several oral discussions with partialist preachers, thus doing much to advance the cause of truth. In 1842 he removed to Wetumpka and began the publication of The Messenger of Glad Tidings, which, after three years, was discontinued for want of patronage. In 1852 he took the field as general Missionary and traveled extensively in all the Southern States. He was a frequent contributor to the Denominational Papers at the South and published a number of sermons: one on the "New Birth," one on the "Destruction of Jerusalem," one on "Fear and Love Contrasted," and some others. It was while he was on a Missionary Tour in the State of Mississippi, on the last day of May, 1871, that he was stricken down with dropsy or hypertrophy of the heart, and was confined at home ever after to the end of his days. He had also been afflicted for some dozen years with a cancer which had completely destroyed one of his eyes. With the two diseases on him at once his sufferings were very severe, but he did not complain, but looked upon death as a welcome event and fell asleep in the faith he had so long and faithfully advocated.

Mr. McMorris was thrice married: first, to Miss Martha M. Harriet Herndon, daughter of Col. Benjamin Herndon, of Newberry District, S. C., who died at the birth of her only child; second, to Miss Margaret, daughter of Alexander Kinciad, of Fairfield District, S. C., by whom he had two children and who died in Lafayette, Ala., after they had lived happily together for fifteen years; and, third, April 5, 1842, to Mrs. Thrasher, daughter of Thomas Mitchell, who survives him.

VI. Rev. John Glass Bartholomew, D. D., was born in Pompey (Onondaga Co.), N. Y., February 28, 1834, and died in Newark, N. J., of Bright's disease, April 14, 1874, having just completed his fortieth year. His father dying in his infancy, he was brought up by an aunt, who was to him in all respects as a mother. His early advantages for education were, first, the common school of his neigborhood and afterwards a course at Clinton Liberal Institute, which he entered at the age of sixteen. At this time he is said to have been a tall, slender, handsome, magnetic youth, with his thoughts already turned to the ministry. Leaving the Institute, where he had been a diligent and proficient student, in 1853, he soon after, at the age of nineteen, commenced preaching, with only a few months of special preparation. From his first entrance into the ministry his pulpit labors attracted attention by his happy elocution, his magnetic personal influence and his dramatic delivery. He was first settled in Upper Lisle, Broome County, where he remained four years. He was ordained June 12, 1856. For the next two years he was located in Oxford, Chenango County, then removed to Aurora, Ill., remaining there till 1859, when he went to Roxbury, Mass., living there six years and gaining recognition as one of the most effective preachers in the city and neighborhood of Boston. His six years in Roxbury covered the period of the war of the Rebellion, and he bore a conspicuous and honorable part in the maintenance of the Union cause in those trying times. From 1865 to 1868 he was settled over the Church of the Redeemer at Brooklyn, N. Y., removing in the latter year to Auburn, N. Y., where he labored for three years. In 1871 he went to Syracuse and, after a year's residence there, moved by considerations of health, he was induced to accept a very cordial invitation to Newark, N. J.; but he was the victim of a malady which baffled medical skill and from which he was never to recover. He was installed at Newark March 26, 1873, the ceremony having been delayed to await the completion of the church edifice. He was ill when he went to Newark, but hoped to reap benefit from change of air and scene. He broke down, however, within a month after his installation, and from April to September did not preach at all. In the last named month he rallied somewhat and resumed his tasks, but with failing strength, and though he labored with unflinching resolution for two months, hoping against hope, the end was drawing near. He preached through the month of February and was, at the close of it, completely prostrated and never rallied, dying as above stated, in the noon of manhood, his unshaken assurance in the Gospel he had preached being attested by his last audible utterance, "There is no death, I am immortal." Mr. Bartholomew was for several years one of the trustees of St. Lawrence University, which conferred on him, in 1871, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. For two years, 1868–69, he was chosen President of the General Convention. He was married March 7, 1855, to Miss Frances M. Baker, who, with four children, two sons and two daughters, survives him.

In the twenty years of Mr. Bartholomew's ministry he made his mark on the public mind; not, however, as a molder of dogma or an originator of ideas so much as a popular, attractive, skillful pulpit orator. His eloquence, his tact, his strong, winning personal qualities gained him everywhere hosts of friends. It is somewhat difficult for those who did not know him personally and never heard him preach to understand the secret of his power. It was not profound reasoning and logical argument so much as wit, pathos, aptness of illustration, intuition and sentiment. He had a good voice, was by nature and taste an actor, and was master of the art of preaching. The death of such a man, in the height and vigor of his powers, with such a capacity for usefulness in his profession, leaves a large void in our church and brings home to us with great force the fact that we are strangers and pilgrims on the earth. We are compelled by want of space to omit a part of the notice we had prepared of Dr. Bartholomew, and we would refer the reader for an analysis of his powers and a more full obituary, to the Repository for July, 1874, from the pen of Rev. I. M. Atwood.

VII. Rev. Warren Skinner, son of Timothy and Ruth (Warner) Skinner, was born in Brookfield, Mass., June 2, 1791. He was the oldest of a family of nine children; the late Rev. Dolphus Skinner, D. D., of Utica, N. Y., being a younger brother. Before Warren was three years of age his family moved to Westmoreland, N. H., where he spent his youth and learned the clothier's trade. He afterwards worked at that trade two years in Brownville, N. Y. He taught school for one year. He embraced Universalism in 1808, and it would seem that a sermon he heard in Westmoreland on Matthew xvi: 25–26, by Rev. A. Kneeland, (then a popular preacher in Langdon, N. H.), had something to do with his adoption of that faith. He commenced preaching in Ellisburg, N. Y., in 1823, and in the same year received the fellowship of the General Convention, which met that year in Clinton, N. Y. He was ordained in 1825. It appears that he lived in Brownville, N. Y., from about 1814 to 1825, inasmuch as the first five of his children were born there within that period. For the years 1826, '27, '28, he lived in Langdon, N. H., as is shown by the fact that his inventory is found on the records of that town for those years. But while living in Langdon he preached in all the region round about, on both sides of the Connecticut River, in Alstead, Jaffray, Walpole, N. H.; and in Andover, Chester, Ludlow, Plymouth, Springfield and Cavendish, Vt., and gave a powerful impetus to the cause of gospel truth wherever he labored. As early as 1828, possibly in 1827, he removed his family to Proctorsville (town of Cavendish), Vt., where he preached regularly for about fourteen years, i. e., until 1845, deducting the interval from August, 1833, to September, 1836, which he spent in Shaftsbury, preaching there and in Bennington. He continued in Proctorsville from 1845 to 1849 without any pastoral charge, yet preaching in many different places as occasion called, and officiating at many funerals, where his able services were in great request and were very acceptable. In 1849 he removed to South Woodstock, in the same county, and took charge of the boarding-house connected with the Liberal Institute (now Green Mountain Perkins Academy) in that place. In 1851 he again returned to his home in Proctorsville and resided there till 1867, when he went to live with a daughter, first in Waterbury, then in Burlington, Vt., and finally in Claremont, N. H.

He was the contemporary and co-laborer in the gospel ministry of John E. Palmer, William Bell, Samuel C. Loveland, Thomas Browning, Russell Streeter, Kittridge Haven and Robert Bartlett, of whom only the last four remain to this present time, and all of them octogenarians. On March 30, 1874, he preached for the last time at a funeral in Acworth, N. H. On the twelfth of the ensuing September he went on a visit to his son in Proctorsville, and it is thought by his family that he felt that his end was near. For, it is said, that "after reaching Proctorsville he failed rapidly. Still he was cheerful, and his mind was clear and bright to the last. Scarcely an hour before he died an old friend, Ex-Gov. Ryland Fletcher, who is a Baptist, called upon him. In their early acquaintance their contests of faith had been many and warm. In the last hour of his life the contest was renewed, and Father Skinner said to Gov. F.: 'I have no more doubt of the truth of the doctrine I have preached, than I have that I breathe.' These were almost his last words." He died October 6, 1874, in the eighty-fourth year of his age, of heart disease, as it is supposed, with which he had been afflicted for many years. He died, too, as we have seen, rejoicing in the faith which with eminent ability and fidelity he had preached for more than fifty years. A large congregation attended his funeral in the Methodist Church in Proctorsville, and the officiating minister, Rev. John Gregory, was assisted in the services by Elder Freeman (Baptist) who paid a cordial and deserved tribute to the moral worth of Father Skinner. The Freemasons were present in large numbers, from Cavendish and the neighboring towns, and buried him according to their usages. Thus the grave closed over the mortal remains of a valiant Christian soldier; a man of venerable age and distinguished ability as a writer and preacher; a clear thinker, a logical reasoner, a man mighty in the Scriptures; a forcible and fluent speaker; an upright and honest man. In 1830 Father Skinner published a series of twelve able and well-written Essays "On the Coming of Christ." At various times he contributed elaborate and scholarly articles to the Universalist Expositor and Quarterly Review, and one of them, "On the Popular Doctrine of Atonement" (Expositor for 1833), as we happen to know, elicited from the editor (Rev. H. Ballou, 2d), the high praise of being the best article which, up to that time, had been furnished him. Father Skinner was twice married; first, March 5, 1815, to Miss Nancy Farnsworth of Stoddard, N. H., and second, November 24, 1831, to Mrs. Lucretia (Slapp) Redington of Lebanon, N. H., who survives him, in her seventy-fifth year, with two of her four children, together with seven of the first wife's. Among the latter is Rev. C. A. Skinner of Hartford, Conn.

VIII. Mr. Thomas Moring, son of John and Nancy Moring, was born in Hanover County, Virginia, January 22, 1821. He moved with his parents to the State of Kentucky in 1835. His boyhood was spent in following the plough; his father, however, being a Methodist preacher. By a careful study of the Scriptures while quite a young man he discovered the truth of Universalism and commenced lecturing on the subject, but knew no name for his new doctrine, and never was inside a Universalist church until 1868. He was twice married: first, to Mary Jane Robinson, who departed this life in the spring of 1863; second, to Serilda Nolan, October, 1864. He died in the faith, from heart disease, May 24, 1874. He was first licensed as a preacher in Indiana in September, 1871, and his license was renewed December 5, 1873. These scanty memoranda are all we have been able to gather of him.

IX. Rev. William Wallace Wilson, the son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Gray) Wilson, was born in Stoddard, N. H., November 23, 1819. An accident, by which he lost one of his hands at the age of thirteen, turned his attention to books and study. He was bred in the Orthodox faith, as it is called, but was awakened to a special interest in the subject of religion by listening to the preaching of Rev. J. V. Wilson (not a relative), who says, "In relation to our good and true departed brother, W. W. Wilson, I can only say that when at one time I gathered a few disciples in that part of the town of Stoddard which is near Nelson Factory, he, being then young, came to my meeting and has told me that he got his first religious impressions from me." Having learned to appreciate the Universalist faith, and in the meantime acquired an academical education, he began, at the age of twenty-two, to preach. He was ordained in 1842 at Laconia, N. H., preaching in that town about two years, and then removed to Centre Harbor, where he lived about the same length of time. In 1847 he was located in West Haverhill, Mass., staying there four years. In 1851 he went to Dover, Me., and preached there nearly five years. In the fall of 1856 he was called to Southbridge, Mass., where he labored eight years. His health failing, he was advised by his physician to suspend all ministerial labor, and returned to West Haverhill, and with improving health resumed pastoral labor there for three years more, making in all seven years' labor in that place. In 1867 he went to Chatham, Mass., but was compelled by ill health to resign his charge in 1869. In 1870 he removed to Oxford, Mass., but after a couple of years was compelled again to relinquish his charge. Some time during the year 1873 he was stricken with a partial paralysis, and from that time, though not entirely helpless, was disabled for the ministerial work. He, however, never ceased to take a deep interest in the welfare of his parish and of the denomination. His faith was strong and a source of deep and abiding joy as he neared the end of life. His death took place June 19, 1874. He was a great sufferer during the last days of his life, but he bore his sufferings with a trustful and patient spirit. Mr. Wilson was married August 15, 1848, at Haverhill, Mass., to Miss Sarah F. Woodman, who survives him. He was well known to our older New England clergy for his excellent spirit, his industry, his kind and sympathetic nature, his earnest and useful services in the cause of popular edution, in behalf of temperance and in every good work. He was social, genial, upright, and leaves a blessed and honored memory in his various fields of labor.

X. Rev. Thomas Jefferson Greenwood, the youngest son of Miles and Charity Greenwood, was born in Newton, Mass., May 2, 1799. His childhood and early youth were passed in that place, where he attended the district school. At the age of sixteen he went to Albany, N. Y., and attended school two years, the expenses being borne by an elder and only brother, Captain Miles Greenwood, who was lost at sea, and of whom Thomas spoke as the highest earthly hope of his parents, and his own most watchful earthly guardian and benefactor. At this Albany school, which he ever after looked back upon as "the starting point in his life," he made rapid progress in his studies, and in the development of manly character. From Albany he went to New York city, where he concluded his school education. He was a diligent and faithful student, and stood well in his classes. He showed a taste and a remarkable facility for poetical composition, and often indulged in it in after-life. On leaving school, he went to Waltham, Mass., and engaged as an operative in a cotton mill. He soon became a master of his business, and was called to Lowell as an overseer in one of the Merrimac Mills; thus attaining at an early age, by his ability, industry and integrity, a position of trust and profit which might have satisfied a man of mature years. Yet there was an obstacle to his success in business. It was not that he was incompetent, neglectful of any trust, or addicted to any vice; but he was a Universalist, and his faith he would not renounce nor disguise on any account whatever. When he was asked to smother his convictions and cease the advocacy of a doctrine hateful to the "Mill authorities" or lose his place, he chose the latter alternative. And the result was that his faith in the Fatherhood of God, and in all that that doctrine implies, was intensified, became more precious to him, and he soon began to prepare himself in earnest for that higher work of OVERSEER which we now see that God had for him to do in the ranks of the Christian ministry. After a couple of years of careful preparation, under the instruction of Rev. Eliphalet Case, Mr. Greenwood preached his first sermon in Atkinson, N. H., July 19, 1829, which elicited very flattering commendations from his hearers. In June, 1830, he was ordained as pastor at Marlboro', Mass., where he remained fourteen years, preaching, meanwhile, a portion of the time, in the adjoining town of Framingham for a series of years, and subsequently he was instrumental in gathering a society in Concord, though in both places the society of our faith has ceased to be. In Marlboro' Mr. Greenwood's labors were successful and his influence abiding. His talents were fitted for the position he occupied, he was a ready and facile speaker, had a great command of language, was a man of large observation, of wide sympathies, interested in whatever was going on around him, in manners social and genial, overflowing with animal spirits and good humor, every inch a gentleman, a man of unimpeachable integrity, a citizen who stood well with all classes, and as a neighbor, friend and Christian, without reproach. In 1840 he was appointed to take the census in three towns in Middlesex County, and he served for two years as senator from the same county in the State Legislature. Leaving Marlboro' in 1844, he was for the next five years pastor of the Universalist Society in New London, Conn. His next pastorate was in Dover, N. H., and his ministry there, though beset with many discouragements from local troubles previously existing, was the means of giving new life to the parish. After ten years of service in Dover, he yielded to a pressing and repeated invitation to settle in Malden, Mass., continuing in the pastorate six years; and in the church and the Sunday-school, in the homes of his people, and in the public schools of the town, as preacher, pastor and citizen, he wrought diligently and successfully. "After the dissolving of his connection with the church in this place (Malden)," to use his own words, "he was invited to spend a Sunday in Saugus, with no further expectation on his part; but, continuing from Sabbath to Sabbath, the arrangement grew into an understanding of a non-resident pastorate, and he continued the relation for nearly nine years."

A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood celebrated their golden wedding, and those fifty years of married life were full of golden memories, for they were marked by perfect mutual fidelity, trust, and affection. The only child that God had given them had been early taken away, and this event lent a saddening, and also a softening and hallowing influence to their lives. Mr. Greenwood was one of the Trustees of Tufts College for the whole period since its foundation, in 1852, to his decease; and his associates on the Board have put on record their appreciation of his faithful services,—his prompt attendance on its meetings, his uniform courtesy and Christian deportment.

Such is a brief and imperfect outline of Mr. Greenwood's life of seventy-five years, and his ministry of forty-six. Our limits forbid a minute and exhaustive analysis of his mental traits. For this we refer the reader to a tender and appreciative tribute to his memory in the Repository for November, 1874. His most salient qualities may be summed in a few words. He was not a learned man, in the classical or college sense; but, as to general knowledge, he was well-informed, and he had a fund of good sense and of Gospel enthusiasm. He ever showed an unswerving adherence to principle. He had strong and positive convictions, religious and political, yet was he tolerant towards the members of other churches and parties. He was conservative in his notions of reform, yet was he so true to himself that he could not be false to any man. He was our nearest ministerial neighbor and associate for seven years,—from 1837 to 1844. Many a time and oft has his house been our temporary home, as we exchanged pulpits, and we can testify that his hospitality was not bestowed grudgingly. His home was the abode of peace. The law of kindness reigned there. His domestic relations were very happy. We do not remember an act or word of his, in all our acquaintance with him, that was not pure and good and kind.

The immediate occasion of his death, which took place on Saturday, September 12, 1874, was a fall some three weeks before, by which he broke his right arm, and from which he suffered great pain. On the evening of his death he remarked that he was feeling much better, and added, "But for the pain in my arm I should feel quite well." Immediately after saying this, he suddenly and peacefully passed away. We add only a passage from a brief autobiographic sketch which he published July 4, 1874, when he seemed to have a premonition of the approaching end, and gave expression to his cheerful Christian faith and hope in the following words, which are, in every sense, characteristic of the man: "And now, though in old age, FACING THE WEST for the coming sunset, it is with no feelings of despondency or gloom that he contemplates the event,—a life overcrowned with mercy and beneficence should have no cause to despond,—but with devout thankfulness to God for the gift of Faith which looks beyond to the glorious sunrise of the Immortal Day, guaranteed by the resurrection of the Lord Jesus from the dead, and for the explicit assurance that, 'like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also shall walk in newness of life.'

"The sun that sets again shall rise
And give the day and gild the skies;"
For he who comes the world to save
Has risen victor o'er the grave:
Death and its sting no more shall be;
God giveth us the victory!

XI. Rev. Edward Augustus Drew was born in Plymouth, Mass., November 22, 1845, and died in Lynn, Mass., October 11, 1874, in the twenty-ninth year of his age. When a boy he was very fond of study and ambitious to excel his classmates, which his persevering disposition enabled him to do. He was, moreover, very upright and conscientious, and in all respects his character was above reproach. His studious habits led him to form the idea of entering college, preparation for which he made in his native town, graduating from the high school in the spring of 1863. In the fall of the same year he entered Tufts College, where his course was marked by the same diligence and faithfulness as had characterized his previous efforts. In order to assist in defraying his expenses he was obliged to teach winters, and yet by his ambition and perseverance he took many prizes, besides graduating at the head of the class of 1867. His first situation after graduating was as teacher of the ancient languages in the Medford (Mass.) High School, where he remained two years, endearing himself to all with whom he came in contact. In the fall of 1869 he accepted a call as Principal of the Green Mountain Institute, now known as the Green Mountain Perkins Academy, at South Woodstock, Vt. Here he remained only a single term, leaving at the beginning of the winter term to take the position of Chase Classical Instructor at Dean Academy. This situation he retained until the summer of 1871, when the feeling that his life-work was higher induced him to change his vocation for that of the Christian ministry. He accordingly resigned his lucrative position at Dean and entered Tufts Divinity School, from which he was graduated in June, 1872. He was first settled over the Universalist Society in Newburyport, Mass., where he commenced his labors in September, 1872, and was ordained on the 11th of the following November. Only a year elapsed from the time of his settlement here when the Second Parish in Lynn, Mass., extended to him a call, which he accepted, remaining with them until his death. His labors here were blessed with fine results and the Society seemed to have entered upon a greater degree of prosperity than it had previously known, when he was suddenly stricken down by disease. He leaves a wife and one child, a boy, about two years old. His parents reside in Franklin, Mass., and he has two sisters living. His disease was typhoid fever and hemorrhage combined. Says one of his parishioners, in a tribute in the Universalist to Mr. Drew: "We were not ready to part with one whose presence was so full of benediction and peace to all who knew him, and whose spirit was so like the Divine Master, full of gentleness, devotion to the good of others, so earnest for the cause of truth and righteousness, so courageous for the right, so valiant against the wrong, yet always with a kindness of manner and absence of all pride of opinion, and with a consideration and courtesy towards others that won universal esteem. As a preacher of the Gospel, Mr. Drew was highly appreciated and esteemed. His manner was pleasing, his language well chosen, his thoughts clearly presented, his illustrations appropriate, often the fruit of his scholarly reading and taste and singularly apt and beautiful; and there was a blending of the doctrinal, practical and spiritual in his discourses, that made his preaching both instructive and inspiring and adapted to interest and benefit all classes of hearers, the young and the old, the learned and the unlearned, the rich and the poor. . . . . Outside of his own Church and Society he was also highly appreciated and beloved. In the meetings of the clergymen of the city for the promotion of temperance and other interests of reform and philanthrophy, he was recognized and welcomed, and performed his part to the satisfaction of all. He was often called to take part in public assemblies called to promote the same interests, and never hesitated to identify himself with every good work." The death of such a man, at such a time of life, is a great loss to his family, his church and the world.

XII. Mr. HENRY BOWEN is worthy of honorable mention in these pages, on account of his being the founder of the first Universalist paper ever published. He was born in Greenbush, Rensselaer County, N. Y., May 18, 1794. He came to Boston in 1817, and here, in connection with his brother, started a paper entitled The Weekly Magazine and Ladies' Miscellany. He was from the first a constant attendant on Father Ballou's ministry, and conceived the plan of printing his sermons in pamphlet form; and these tracts were the germ of the Universalist Magazine, the first number of which appeared July 19, 1819. In 1828, when the paper passed into the hands of Rev. Thomas Whittemore, Mr. Bowen ceased his connection with it; but his services in starting the paper and maintaining it so long were of great value to the cause. He was as truly raised up and called in the providence of God for his work as Murray or Ballou, with whose names, as a pioneer in our cause, his will ever be associated. He was an earnest and zealous Universalist, very unassuming and retiring in his manners, a truly good man and sincere Christian. He died in West Roxbury, Mass., July 18, 1874, in his 81st year, rejoicing in the faith which he had ever honored in his life and done so much to promote.

XIII. Mr. GEORGE W. BAZIN, whose name was so long identified with the same paper, was born in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1794, and there learned the printer's trade. In 1820 he came to Boston, and in 1828, when the Universalist Magazine passed into the hands of Rev. Thomas Whittemore, Mr. Bazin became its printer and continued his connection with it for forty years, excepting about six years, which he spent in the office of the Eastern Argus, at Portland. He was noted for his thorough knowledge of the printing business and the accuracy and neatness of his work. He was one of the original members of the Boylston Hall, now Shawmut Avenue, Church. He was a member of the Common Council of Boston in 1834, and again in 1837. He was also one of the oldest members of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association. For the last nine years of his life he worked " at the case " in Rand & Avery's printing office. He preserved to the last, to a remarkable degree, his mental and bodily vigor. At 79 he was as bright in his intellect and almost as agile in his movements as most men at 45. His long connection with our publishing interests and the large and friendly acquaintance he had among our clergymen of three generations render him a truly historic character in the Universalist Church. Very many there must be all over the land who heard of his departure with something of a sense of personal bereavement. He died after a short illness, December 21, 1873, in the 80th year of his age, leaving a wife and four of their eleven children to mourn his loss.

XIV. Jacob Nelson Norton, A. M., the son of E. Norton, Esq., of Gardiner, Me., died in Augusta, Me., April 27, 1874. His last, fatal illness was occasioned by the amputation of a leg, rendered necessary by bone disease of the knee. Fitting for College at the Gardiner High School, he entered Tufts in 1864, a retiring and studious youth. During his four years' course he developed extraordinary qualities of mind and mastered a wide range of studies outside of the curriculum. His mind was speculative, and the profoundest questions of philosophy absorbed his best energies. Upon graduating in 1868 at the head of his class, he declined a tutorship at Tufts, but afterwards accepted a post as teacher in Westbrook Seminary, with which institution he was connected till within a year of his death. He was an amiable gentleman, a brilliant scholar and a successful teacher.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

The attention of Sunday-schools about purchasing books for their libraries, is called to the fresh and fine stock of books for sale by the Universalist Publishing House. All the books have been carefully examined, and we offer no books to Sunday-schools which contain sentiments not in harmony with the faith of Universalists. Selections have been made from the publications of all booksellers. Should it be more convenient to send for books than to make selections personally, we are confident of giving perfectly satisfactory selections. Should you desire any addition to your Library you will please be careful to send,—1st. A Catalogue of Books already in your Library. 2d. The sum to be expended. 3d. The average age of the scholars for whom the books are intended. Where volumes are designed for Teachers' Library or department, let this fact be stated, and the books will be selected accordingly. We have supplied hundreds of libraries, year after year, and we solicit orders to any amount.

THE WINCHESTER CONFESSION

UPON A CARD FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

It is beautifully printed in colors. At the head is printed a picture of the church at Winchester, N. H., in which the Confession was adopted.

The card was published to be distributed in our Sunday-schools. Every child in them should have one. And they are so neat and handsome that children will preserve them.

Price in quantities, at the rate of $4.00 per hundred. Single copies sent by mail, postage free, for 6 cents.

PREPATORY NOTE.

In submitting to the public the 41st number of the UNIVERSALIST REGISTER AND ALMANAC, we return our heartfelt thanks to those who have aided us in our work, and, if it have any merit, it is largely due to their active and cordial coöperation in collecting and forwarding the necessary materials. If the critical reader should detect errors or omissions in some of its multifarious details, we beg that he will immediately inform us. We have aimed to exhibit truly the condition of our Church, and the progress of our faith, so far as this can be done by statistics. Our numerical gain for the year past has not been great, but there is evidence on every hand of the better education and greater efficiency of our clergy, of more devotion, of renewed earnestness, and a revival of spiritual life among our people, of increased attention paid to the religious training and culture of the young, and to church ordinances and discipline. Especially is there a breaking down, or softening and yielding of the old-time prejudice and intolerance, and a leavening of the general mind with the spirit of our faith. For all which signs of improvement we thank God and take courage.

OLD AND NEW STYLE.

The Julian year is named from that consummate genius, Julius Cæsar, who reformed the old Roman year, which was lunar in its months, and introduced solar in their stead. It consisted of 365¼ days; but more accurate astronomical observations proved it to be 11′ 15″ in excess of the true solar year. Not regarding this variance between the Julian and the true solar year, the General Council of Nicæa, in A. D. 325, wishing to celebrate Easter in the Christian Church according to the Levitical law of the Passover, decreed that for the future "Easter-day should be the first Sunday upon or after the first full moon following the 21st of March," because on that day the vernal equinox happened to fall that year. By this inaccuracy of substituting "the 21st of March" instead of "the day of the vernal equinox," as the decree ought to have been worded, it happened that in the time of Pope Gregory XIII., A. D. 1582, which was 1,257 years after the Council of Nicæa, the vernal equinox was found to be on the 11th of March, having fallen back ten days. In order, therefore, to bring it forward to its former place of the twenty-first, he left out ten days in October, 1582, calling the fifth the fifteenth day of the month; whence, in that year of confusion, the 22d of December became the first day of January, 1583, which was the first year of the Gregorian era or New Style. The Gregorian Calendar was not adopted in England until 1751, at which time the deficiency (since the Council of Nicæa), amounted to eleven days, which were struck out of the month of September by Act of Parliament, and the third day of the month was counted the fourteenth, in that year of confusion. The next year, 1752, was the first of the New Style, beginning January 1. Parliament enacted, "That Easter-day, on which the rest of the movable feasts depend, is always the first Sunday after the full moon, which happens upon or next after the 21st of March; and if the full moon happens upon a Sunday, Easter-day is the Sunday after." By the same Act of Parliament, the beginning of the year was changed from March 25, to January 1. Russia is the only civilized State in Europe which retains the Old Style, which now differs 12 days from the New.

THE UNIVERSALIST PROFESSION OF BELIEF,

Adopted at Winchester, N. H., September 23, 1803, by the General Convention of Universalists, and still adhered to as their distinguishing faith, is as follows:—

"1. We believe that the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments contain a revelation of the character of God, and of the duty, interest and final destination of mankind.

"2. We believe that there is one God, whose nature is love, revealed in one Lord Jesus Christ, by one Holy Spirit of grace, who will finally restore the whole family of mankind to holiness and happiness.

"3. We believe that holiness and true happiness are inseparably connected, and that believers ought to maintain order and practice good works, for these things are good and profitable unto men."

The Universalist Register.

Containing the Statistics of the Universalist Denomination for the Year ending November 1, 1875.

[Note of Explanation.—In the statistical tables under the head of States, the dates prefixed to parishes, churches and Sunday schools denote the year of their organization; the fractions affixed to parishes denote the proportion of the Sundays they have preaching, and the integers the number of families connected with them; oc. denotes occasional; dor., dormant, or inactive; the date prefixed to church edifices shows when they were dedicated or made ready for use; w., b., st. denote wood, brick, stone, respectively; and the sums following, the net value of all church property, of whatever nature, deducting indebtedness in all cases, if known.]

The General Convention.

The Universalist General Convention, embracing the United States and Canada, meets annually, on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October. It is composed of the Presidents (or, in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows, viz.:—1. Every State Convention in fellowship is entitled to one clerical and two lay delegates. 2. If it have in its fellowship an aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, it is entitled to two clerical and four lay delegates. 3. If there be one or more organized parishes in any State where there is no convention, said parish or parishes shall be entitled to send one delegate to the General Convention:

provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence, and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry, unless disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in cases of discipline and questions of government not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It also has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of five hundred thousand dollars, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

The MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1869, and named in honor of John Murray, the first preacher of Universal Redemption in America, is designed to aid in the education of our clergy, the distribution of denominational literature, and in church extension. This fund amounted, October 1, 1875, to $120,691.10.

The GUNN MINISTERIAL RELIEF FUND, founded by the late John G. Gunn, of Nyack, N. Y., by a bequest of $8,000 "for the relief, support, and maintenance of needy Universalist clergymen, their widows and families," not coming within the scope of the Harsen Fund, of New York, amounted, October 1, 1875, to $8,645.

Fifty-six scholarships have been in force during the year, and the amount paid on this account was $8,160. Sixteen beneficiaries have been graduated during the year,—seven at Canton, and nine at Tufts Divinity School. The sum of $1,049.10 has been received in repayment of loans to theological students. There was expended during the year the sum of $182.17 for the construction of Missionary Boxes, and there was received from that source the sum of $8,119.22; which statement shows what a mine we have in the agency of penny collections, if it were only generally adopted and properly and faithfully worked. During the six years in which the boxes have been in use, they have produced $23,215.47.

The General Convention, at its last session, in October, 1875, appropriated the sum of $25,000 for the various missionary and benevolent operations of the current year, including $3,000 for scholarships and $5,000 for the reduction of the debt of $26,000 now outstanding; said $25,000 to be raised by the Board of Trustees by annual collections, missionary boxes, and such other means as may be available.

Officers of the General Convention.

President.—Hon. Sidney Perham of Maine.

Vice-President.—Rev. J. Smith Dodge, Jr., of Conn.

Permanent Secretary.—Rev. J. M. Pullman of New York City.

Five trustees retire, and five are elected every two years. Preacher of the occasional sermon for 1876, Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., of Mass. Place of meeting for 1876 left with the Trustees.

The Universalist Historical Society.

This society was organized in 1834, and has for its object "the collection and preservation of facts pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism, together with books and papers having reference to the same subject." It has a library of about 1,500 volumes, now at Tufts College, which has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times, and it is very desirable that means should be provided for rendering the library as complete as possible.

President.—Rev. C. H. Fay, of District of Columbia.

Vice-President.—Rev. J. O. Skinner, of Me.

Secretary and Librarian.—Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., of Mass.

SUMMARY.—We give above all that has been reported to us. There are, however, many other points in the State where there is occasional preaching, and perhaps 150 families which regularly attend upon it when they have opportunity. We record 9 churches, with 230 members; 3 church edifices, worth $2,200, and 8 preachers who are welcomed on their missionary journeys in many a city and neighborhood where there are scattered Universalists; but what are these few preachers compared to the broad extent of the State, embracing a territory nearly as large as the six New England States?

Arkansas.

In this great State only two churches are reported; viz., one in Cincinnati having 30, and one in Fayetteville having 10 members.

California.

In San Francisco there is a parish embracing 325 families; a church, formed in 1875, of 190 members (Rev. E. L. Rexford, D. D., Pastor); a Sunday school of 130 members, and two ministers.

Canada.

There is the Ontario Association (formed in 1845), which is connected with the New York Convention, and meets on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nearest the middle of June, 1876, at Bloomfield, Prince Edward Co., Province of Ontario. John Decon, Esq., of Port Dover (P. O.), Clerk.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 2 Associations; 15 organized parishes, having connected with them 916 families; 12 churches, with 784 members; 15 Sunday schools, with 1,686 members; 14 church edifices, with a total church property, exclusive of indebtedness, of $280,600; and 17 preachers.

DAKOTA TERRITORY.

All we know of this Territory is that at Yankton, Hill's Bend, and Vermilion there is preaching once a month by Rev. W. S. Bates of Ionia, Neb.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

A parish has been organized at the National Capital, embracing 49 families; with a church, formed in 1874, of 56 members (Rev. C. H. Fay, Pastor); a Sunday school of 75 members; and there are three preachers residing there, two of them, however, are employed in government offices, and not in the ministry.

FLORIDA.

In this State there are two church edifices, one in Walton County and one in Valusia County; together valued at $800; also a church in Walton County of 47 members; at a few other points there are Universalists, scattered and unorganized; and one preacher.

GEORGIA.

A State Convention, formed in 1869, meets on Friday before the fourth Sunday in September, 1876, at such place as the President shall appoint.

President.—Thomas Maguire.

Secretary.—Rev. B. F. Strain of Senoia.

MAINE.

The State Convention (formed in 1828) meets on Tuesday before the last Friday in June, 1876, at Rockland. It is composed of the ordained ministers in its fellowship who are actively engaged in the work of the ministry, unless disabled by age or sickness, the officers of the Convention, the trustees of Westbrook Seminary, and one lay delegate from each parish, and one from each Sunday school, in its fellowship.

President.—Hon. Sidney Perham of South Paris.

Vice-President.—Z. P. Vose of Rockland.

Secretary.—Rev. Isaac J. Mead of Hiram.

Treasurer.—Hon. Richard Dresser of Auburn.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination, and Discipline.—Revs. W. R. French, S. Goodenough, D. T. Stevens, and Messrs. J. P. Bradley and J. P. Greeley.

The foregoing nine officers constitute the Executive Committee of the Convention.

Trustees.—Hon. John Smith of Lewiston, Hon. Sidney Perham of South Paris, E. F. Pillsbury, Esq., of Augusta. The trustees superintend the funds of the Convention, and they alone have authority to draw orders for the payment of money from the treasury. They also nominate the Principal and other teachers of Westbrook Seminary.

The Convention has funds amounting to $2,061.52.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 5 Associations; 53 parishes, including several that are dormant, embracing 2,484 families; 24 churches, having 1,270 members; 42 Sunday schools, having 3,203 members; 50 church edifices, including some that are disused, with a total church property above indebtedness of $258,200; and 33 preachers.

Virginia.

A church edifice of brick, in Richmond, dedicated in January, 1833, valued at $10,000, and one resident minister, is all we have to report in this State at present.

West Virginia.

President.—A. P. Daken of Glen Easton.

Vice-President.—Mrs. A. C. Lott of Fairmont.

Treasurer.—Martin Crow of Glen Easton.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination, and Discipline.—Rev. J. M. H. Smith, Mrs. J. M. Daken, Mr. Peter Crow.

Trustees.—J. M. Daken, Silas Ingram, Samuel Corrothers.

Summary.—There are organized churches at Fork Ridge and Wheeling, having, together, 55 members; and 3 or 4 Sunday schools, with about 120 members; church edifices at Columbia Furnace, Fork Ridge, Moundsville, Philippi, and Wheeling, worth in the aggregate $3,475; and there are perhaps 70 families, in all, friendly to our faith; and 3 preachers. But it is proper to state that the people that sympathize with us in West Virginia are so scattered and few and crippled by poverty, that not a single preacher is now supported in the State. The Clerk of the Convention writes as follows: "If we do not get some help from some source we will go down, we have such hard work to raise money, and are so far from each other."

Wisconsin.

The State Convention meets on the first Wednesday of June. It is composed of the resident ordained clergy in fellowship and two lay delegates from each parish, who shall have certificates of their appointment.

Preacher of the next Occasional Sermon.—Rev. H. D. L. Webster. Alternate, Rev. E. Leavitt.

The place of the next meeting is left with the Executive Board.

President.—Hon. H. H. Giles of Madison.

Vice-President.—Rev. M. G. Todd.

Secretary.—Abner C. Fish of Racine.

Treasurer.—R. W. Clark of Jefferson.

Trustees.—Hon. L. F. Frisbie, S. A. Rice, Revs. W. McNeal, A. C. Barry, D. D., E. Garfield and L. W. Brigham.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination, and Discipline.—Revs. J. Britton, J. C. Pattee, and Mr. A. H. Boardman.

ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND.

The Scottish Convention of Universalists meets annually.

Honorary President.—Mr. John Mitchell of Glasgow.

Secretary.—J. M. Cunningham of Glasgow.

Treasurer.—George Ure of Larbert.

An Executive Committee, in which the different churches in Scotland are represented.

A Universalist Book and Tract Depot, Knabbie Street, Dunfermline, was instituted in 1878, at which the various Universalist works can be procured.

Finances.—The aggregate assets of the College at the present time are something over $1,000,000.

Scholarships.—There are twenty-seven scholarships in the gift of the College; viz., fifteen of $60 and twelve of $100 each.

Additional assistance in the form of gratuities is rendered from time to time as circumstances may require.

The course of instruction in the Collegiate department is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The Philosophical course, for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, extends through four years; and the Engineering course, extending through three years, is established for students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineering. A part of the studies are elective for the Junior and Senior Classes. Location elevated and healthy, commanding an unrivaled view; retired and free from distraction, but easily accessible, being four miles from Boston on the Boston and Lowell Railroad. Present number of students in all departments, 94. Expenses, from $250 to $300 a year. Tuition is $60. Board, in club, at cost, which is about $3.50 per week.

Calendar.—Commencement for 1876, June 21. First examination for admission, June 22. Second examination, September 19. College year begins September 21. Summer vacation, thirteen weeks.

TUFTS DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty.—Rev. E. H. Capen, President; Rev. Thomas J. Sawyer, D. D., Packard Professor of Christian Theology; Rev. Charles H. Leonard, A. M., Goddard Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; William G. Tousey, A. M., B. D., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; George T. Knight, A. M., B. D., Instructor in Rhetoric and History.

Lecturers.—Rev. Thomas B. Thayer, D. D., Lecturer on the Evidences of Christianity; Rev. A. St. John Chambré, A. M., Lecturer on Ecclesiastical History; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., Lecturer on Relations of Science to Christianity.

The school year commences September 21. Candidates are expected to present themselves on that day. If unknown to the faculty, they must bring satisfactory testimonials of good character. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates must have received a good English education, and it is desirable that they should have some knowledge of the Latin and Greek languages. Applicants are admitted to the school for any period not less than one year. Those applying for advanced standing are examined in the studies which have been pursued by the class they propose to enter. It is earnestly recommended that all who are contemplating a course in Theology shall take, as preliminary, a full Collegiate course of study. This will be of great value as a preparation for professional studies. It has not been thought expedient, however, to make such a requisition, for earnest and capable men aspire to the Christian ministry whose circumstances do not admit of so extensive preparation. To meet the wants of such, and yet provide for thorough training and comprehensive development, a four-years' course has been instituted. This permits the introduction of studies not strictly professional, yet of a fundamental character, and of high disciplinary value.

A. M., M. E., Professor of Physics and Astronomy; Moses T. Brown, A. M., Professor of Oratory; C. E. Fay, A. M., Professor of the Modern Languages; S. Minot Pitman, A. M. B., Instructor in Chemistry, and Walker Special Instructor in Mathematics; C. D. Bray, C. E., Professor of Civil and Mechanical Engineering; Harry Wheeler, Instructor in Vocal Music; W. R. Shipman, A. M., Librarian.

Finances.—The aggregate assets of the College at the present time are something over $1,000,000.

Scholarships.—There are twenty-seven scholarships in the gift of the College; viz., fifteen of $60 and twelve of $100 each.

Additional assistance in the form of gratuities is rendered from time to time as circumstances may require.

The course of instruction in the Collegiate department is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The Philosophical course, for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, extends through four years; and the Engineering course, extending through three years, is established for students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineering. A part of the studies are elective for the Junior and Senior Classes. Location elevated and healthy, commanding an unrivaled view; retired and free from distraction, but easily accessible, being four miles from Boston on the Boston and Lowell Railroad. Present number of students in all departments, 94. Expenses, from $250 to $300 a year. Tuition is $60. Board, in club, at cost, which is about $3.50 per week.

The Full Course occupies three years for Bachelors of Arts; for all others, four years. The Special Courses occupy respectively three, two and one years. Instruction in elocution throughout the course. Those desirous of taking French are permitted to elect that study. Students may attend lectures in the Academical department, subject to the discretion of the Faculty. They have free access to the general library of the College; also to the valuable library of the Universalist Historical Society. Important facilities for general improvement are afforded students by the proximity of the School to Boston and Cambridge. Valuable libraries are thus made accessible. Elaborate courses of lectures on scientific, social, and literary subjects are presented to the public from time to time. The most noted divines of New England officiate every Sunday within easy distance, and may be studied by the students in respect to their teachings and their methods. It is the policy of the School to encourage the judicious use of these important instrumentalities of culture.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred upon those who sustain satisfactorily an examination upon the studies of the Full Course. Diplomas certifying to attainments are conferred upon those who have taken one of the Special Courses.

Tuition, room-rent and use of furniture, free. The students have only to make provision for board, fuel, lights and washing. The "Adams Club" furnishes board at a price which merely covers the actual cost.

The General Convention of Universalists aids students by a system of loans; and those in the regular course, who have shown sufficient maturity, are permitted to preach, under the direction of the Faculty, during the year and a half preceding their graduation. In this way they may add to their pecuniary resources.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY.

GALESBURG, ILL.

This institution offers the advantages of a Collegiate and a Preparatory department. The Collegiate embraces three courses of study, of four years each; viz., Classical, Scientific and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific and Literary, one year. Its number of courses enables the institution to meet the wants of all desiring a Collegiate course. In the preparatory department the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course are taught, and also such English branches as are commonly pursued in High Schools and Academies.

Students are allowed to enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are alike admitted to all departments of the University; they recite in the same classes and receive the same honors.

Experienced and approved teachers are provided for all the departments. Frequent lectures will be given by members of the Faculty, and others, on subjects of general interest to the students.

Board in private families, including furnished rooms, lights and fuel, ranges from $4.00 to $4.50 per week. Rooms for self-boarding, by which expenses may be very much reduced, can be obtained at reasonable rates.

The Ladies' Boarding Hall is elegantly furnished, and is under the charge of an accomplished Matron. Board, including rooms, fuel and lights, $4.50 per week. Application should be made early, as the Hall can accommodate only a limited number.

Tuition per term of ten weeks varies, according to studies pursued, from $3.75 to $8.25. An extra charge is made for ornamental branches and for modern languages, when not taken in a regular course.

Craig Professor of Biblical Languages and Literature; Rev. John S. Lee, D. D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Biblical Archæology.

Applicants for admission must bring testimonials as to their moral and religious character, and especially, if practicable, a certificate of church membership. They must be acquainted with the essential branches of a good English education. They must be believers in the Holy Scriptures, and have a fixed intention to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. The full course of study requires three years, and those who complete it will be entitled to graduate and to receive a diploma. College graduates can complete it in two years. There is also a course arranged for four years, and those who complete it, or its full equivalent, will receive the degree of B. D. Students can also enter for one or two years, and will be entitled to a certificate stating their attainments. There are excellent opportunities for pursuing the study of French and German. There is a well-selected theological library of about 7,000 volumes, and also easy access to several valuable private libraries. The location and surroundings are favorable to uninterrupted study. There is no charge for tuition or the use of the library. Board in the College rooms is $3.50 per week. The necessary expenses do not exceed $260 per year. When required, students receive aid from the Universalist General Convention.

Calendar for 1875.—First term closes February 3. Second term opens February 23. Commencement, Wednesday, June 28. Fall term opens Wednesday, September 20. Number of students in all the classes, October, 1875, 27.

SMITHSON COLLEGE.

This institution is located on a beautiful eminence overlooking the city of Logansport, Ind., and the wild valleys of the Wabash and Eel rivers, which here unite. Logansport has 15,000 inhabitants, is the second railroad centre in Indiana, is 100 miles south-east of Chicago, and easily accessible from all parts of Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Kentucky.

The College originated with the action of the Indiana Convention of Universalists, under a liberal legacy of the late Joshua Smithson, of Vevay, Ind., whose name it bears. It has lately passed under the special patronage and joint management of the Universalist Conventions of Indiana and Michigan.

The main building, one of the most beautiful in the West, will accommodate 120 students, with the Faculty. It is heated with steam, and lighted with gas, both generated in buildings apart from the College building. The Faculty reside in the College. The College and grounds (12 acres) are valued at $100,000, on which there is a debt of $25,000.

There are four courses of study,—the Academic, Preparatory, Philosophical, and College courses. The necessary expenses for each full year of the Academic and Preparatory courses are: Board, $195; tuition, $30; incidentals, $4.50; total, $229.50. For each year of the College course, $6 more for tuition. These figures include heat, light and washing.

Executive Committee of Trustees.—Hon. Hervey Craven, Rev. W. W. Curry, George Rogers, E. W. Dart.

The College reopened September 1, 1875, with 42 students.

Faculty.—Rev. R. N. John, Acting President, Professor of Ethics and Natural Sciences; Miss Lora E. Bowyer, Lady Principal, Teacher of Higher English Literature; Hon. D. P. Baldwin, LL. D., Professor of Political Economy, Logic, and International and Constitutional Law; William Lee, A. B. and M. D., Professor of Greek and Latin Languages and Literature; Miss Emilie W. Peakes, Assistant in Mathematics and English branches; Miss Lizzie Martin, Piano, Guitar and Thorough Bass.

BUCHTEL COLLEGE.

This institution was projected during our Centenary year by our friends in Ohio. It is located in the city of Akron (Summit Co.), and is named in honor of John R. Buchtel, its founder and most generous supporter.

The corner-stone of the College building was laid July 4, 1871, and the institution opened on the 11th and dedicated on the 22d of September, 1872. The College edifice is a grand and commodious structure, standing on the highest ground in the State, and commanding an extensive and beautiful prospect over the surrounding country. The corporation owns some ten acres of land encircling the building, which is graded, and is to be ornamented with trees and shrubs. It is the purpose of the Trustees to make this a first-class College, offering to students of both sexes equal opportunities for a thorough, practical and liberal education.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. John R. Buchtel of Akron, President; Hon. Sanford M. Burnham of Akron, Secretary; George W. Crouse of Akron, Treasurer.

Executive Committee.—E. P. Green, G. T. Perkins, Rev. A. Willson, John R. Buchtel.

The curriculum of studies embraces: First, A complete College course of four years. Second, A thorough Philosophical course of three years. Third, A full Scientific course of three years.

Board of Instruction.—Rev. S. H. McCollester, D. D., President and Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy; Helen F. Spaulding, L. A., Professor of Rhetoric and English Literature; Carl F. Kolbe, A. M., Professor of Modern Languages; Charles F. Knight, A. B., Professor of Natural Science; E. Fraunfelter, A. M., Professor of Mathematics; Wallace Hays, A. M., Professor in Latin and Commercial department; Mary E. Stockman, L. A., Teacher of Latin and English; Jennie Gifford, B. S., Teacher of Normal department; Susie Chamberlain, B. S., Tutor in English; Alfred Sigel, Professor of Music; George A. Peckham, A. B., Tutor in Latin and Greek.

Number of Students, November, 1875: in the College courses, 70; in all departments, 125.

The yearly expenses of a student, including everything, are about $250.

Finances.—The property of the College now available, is $300,000.

Scholarships.—Twenty are already established, with an annual income of $60 each.

Calendar.—First term began first Wednesday in September, 1875, to continue fifteen weeks. Second term begins first Wednesday in January, 1876, to continue twelve weeks. Third term begins first Wednesday in April, and continues twelve weeks. Commencement, fourth Wednesday in June. Annual meeting of Trustees, Tuesday preceding Commencement. Examination for admission on Thursday after Commencement and on Tuesday previous to the opening of the Fall term.

CLINTON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This, the oldest of our literary institutions, was founded in 1831, and went into operation at the close of the year 1832, as a boarding and day school for both sexes. It is located in Clinton (Oneida Co.), N. Y., nine miles southwest from Utica. The male and female departments are provided for in distinct buildings and with separate boarding-houses, and have hitherto been under distinct corps of teachers, but two years ago both departments were consolidated under one head.

Faculty.—I. Thornton Osmond, A. M., Principal, Teacher of Greek, Chemistry, and Mental Science; Miss Helen S. Pratt, L. A., Preceptress, Teacher of Latin, French, and Higher English; C. T. Burnley, A. B., Higher Mathematics and Natural Science; Albert Reed, Teacher of German; Miss Josie Miller, Teacher of Common English; Miss Gertrude L. Stone, Drawing, Painting, and Vocal Music; Miss Jennie Wells, Instrumental Music; Miss Emma Martin, Elocution.

Assets.—Buildings, apparatus, land and fund amount to $60,000. A successful canvass is being carried on by Rev. P. R. Kendall for means to erect a building worth $80,000, modern, and complete in all its appointments.

Present number of students is 60.

Calendar.—First term, of twenty weeks, began August 26, 1875. Second term, of twenty weeks, will begin the last Thursday in January, 1876, and close the third Thursday in June.

Expenses of Board and Tuition.—Board, room, fuel, lights and washing, per term of twenty weeks, $105. Common English studies, each $3; Higher English studies, each $5; Latin and Greek, each $6; Modern Languages, each $8 per term. Ornamental and extra branches at reasonable rates.

In regard to beauty of location, thoroughness of instruction, and economy in expenses, this School is not surpassed by any other of similar grade in the land. In every respect it is a first-class Academy.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY.

This flourishing Seminary, designed and admirably fitted and furnished for a boarding-school for both sexes, is located at Stevens Plains, Deering, Me., two and a half miles from Portland. It was incorporated in 1831, and first opened for students June 9, 1834. It has largely increased its accommodations for students by the erection of HERSEY HALL, a noble four-story brick dormitory, 100 by 50 feet, exclusively for young ladies, and a dining-hall (connecting HERSEY with GODDARD HALL) in which all the pupils take their meals together.

It provides an English Course of Study (fitting young men for business), a College Preparatory Course (fitting young men for College), and a Collegiate Course for ladies. Diplomas are granted to all who complete any of the regular courses. Young ladies who complete the College Course will receive the degree of L. A. or L. S., which the institution is empowered by the Legislature to confer. A Normal Class is formed in the Spring and Fall terms for the benefit of those preparing to teach. Lectures, free to all the students, are provided each term. The Seminary is well provided with philosophical and chemical apparatus, and has a good cabinet of minerals. The boarding-halls are heated by steam. Hersey Hall (exclusively for ladies) is furnished with bathing-rooms and modern conveniences. Board, including fuel and lights, $3.50 per week. Tuition from $5.50 to $8.50 per term.

Finances.—The total value of the property and funds of the Seminary is about $105,000.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. Sidney Perham of Paris, President; David Torrey, Esq., Deering, Vice-President; Charles Fobes, Esq., Portland, Treasurer; Grenville M. Stevens, Esq., Deering, Secretary.

Board of Instruction.—G. M. Bodge, A. M., Principal and Professor of Mental and Moral Science; I. B. Choate, A. M., Vice-Principal, Professor of Latin and Greek; F. L. Bartlett, Chemistry and Physics; A. H. Pennell, Mathematics and Business department; G. A. Quinby, Professor of Music; Mrs. Julia Boothby, Preceptress; Mrs. S. P. Choate, Drawing, Painting and French; Miss E. L. Parker, Assistant; Miss L. A. Hoyt, Teacher of Music.

The Winter term, of eleven weeks, begins December 15, 1875.

GREEN MOUNTAIN PERKINS ACADEMY.

This school, formerly known as the Green Mountain Liberal Institute, is located in South Woodstock (Windsor County), Vt. It was incorporated and went into operation under that name in 1848, but in October, 1870, by Act of the Vermont Legislature, the name was changed to Green Mountain Perkins Academy.

Besides the school edifice, it has a boarding-house, with a farm attached, and is in condition to do in the future, as it has done in the past, a good work in the cause of education and liberal culture in Vermont and the adjacent part of New Hampshire.

The value of the property and funds of the institute is about $14,000.

Officers.—James H. Murdock, President; Nathan Lamb, Vice-President; F. P. Kendall, Secretary; L. C. Kendall, Treasurer; R. M. Slayton, Auditor.

The Teachers are as follows: Mr. E. H. Aldrich, A. B., Principal; Miss Flora C. Eaton, Preceptress; C. S. Ralph, W. H. Sanderson, Assistants in Mathematics; Miss Ella J. Amsden, Teacher of Music; Mr. C. F. Benjamin, Vocal Music; Mr. W. H. Wilkins, Penmanship.

Number of students, October, 1875, 75.

Board, including fuel, lights and washing, $3.50 per week; and there are ample opportunities for self-boarding.

Tuition, from $5.50 to $7 per term, according to studies. French, Music, etc., extra.

The location is quiet and healthy; the courses of study are complete; board, tuition and other expenses are very low.

DEAN ACADEMY.

Dean Academy, chartered in 1865, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the amount of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the purposes of education," is located in Franklin (Norfolk County), Mass., and derives its name from Oliver Dean, M. D., of that town, who gave the valuable site (formerly the estate of Rev. Dr. Nathaniel Emmons), together with $135,000 in cash, towards the founding and endowing of the school, while considerable sums were given by others for the same purpose. By Dr. Dean's will, the trustees receive the additional sum of $100,000, the income of which is to be expended for school purposes; and they are also made residuary legatees of his estate, and will receive, it is not known how much, but perhaps $50,000.

The magnificent Academy building, costing about $175,000, which was dedicated in May, 1868, was totally destroyed by fire, with nearly all its contents, on the night of July 31, 1872. A new building has been, however, erected, and is now occupied, and great improvements have been made in every department over the former one,—among which is the removal of the boilers to a building entirely separate from the main edifice. The new building, dedicated June 24, 1874, is of brick, 220 feet long, and consists of a central part, 51 by 61 feet, from front to rear; and two wings, each

The first story contains the general school-room, recitation-rooms, office, reception-room, Principal's room and gymnasium; and in the Chapel wing of this story is the dining-room (capable of accommodating 250 persons), kitchen, pastry-room and carving-room. In the second story are the parlors, teachers' rooms, students' rooms; also the Chapel, which is 70 by 47 feet.

The third and fourth stories contain rooms for students. In the fourth story of the central building are the hospitals, one for each sex, with all the needed fixtures and accommodations.

All possible provision has been made against fire, by brick walls extending from foundation to roof, making six distinct compartments. Nothing has been omitted to render the building complete and perfect in all its arrangements.

Board of Instruction.—Rev. J. P. Weston, D. D., Principal, and Goddard Professor of Mental and Moral Science; Charles C. Bates, A. B., Chase Classical Professor; Leslie A. Lee, A. B., Teacher of Natural Sciences; Miss Sarah J. Duley, Preceptress and Teacher of French; Miss Sarah J. Colvin, Teacher of German; Miss Emma E. Teulon, Assistant Teacher; Louis H. Isenbeck, Professor of Music; Miss Mary E. Weston, Drawing and Painting; Mrs. M. Little, Vocal Music.

Franklin, twenty-seven miles from Boston, is a remarkably healthy town, and is easy of access by railroad from all directions.

Calendar.—Winter term begins Tuesday, November 30, 1875; closes Friday, March 3, 1876; vacation, ten days. Spring term begins Tuesday, March 14; closes Friday, June 16; vacation, eleven weeks. Fall term begins Tuesday, September 5. There are four regular courses of study marked out; viz., College Preparatory, Academic, Scientific, and Business.

The tuition for the regular courses is $10 per term, each, and for the Common English, $6.

Number attending Spring term of 1875, 90.

GODDARD SEMINARY.

This Seminary, located at Barre (Washington County,) Vt., was incorporated in November, 1863, under the name of the Green Mountain Central Institute; but by the Legislature of the State, in 1870, the name was changed to the Goddard Seminary, in honor of the late Thomas A. Goddard, of Boston, one of its chief benefactors, and who has contributed much more to its establishment than any other person.

It was opened as a first-class Academy and boarding-school for both sexes, in February, 1870. It is situated on a conspicuous and commanding eminence in Barre Village, six miles from Montpelier, the state capital, and from its central location is easily accessible from all parts of the State. A noble brick edifice, 160 by 53 feet on the ground, five stories high, has been erected, which is sufficient to accommodate 112 boarding students, besides all the necessary halls, recitation-rooms, gymnasium, kitchen, reception-rooms, etc., etc. It is heated by steam, and every floor supplied with running water.

The whole amount of property, real and personal, owned by Goddard Seminary, is $75,000.

Board of Instruction.—Henry Priest, A. B., Mental and Moral Philosophy and Sciences; Seth L. Larrabee, A. B., Greek and Latin; Miss Hattie E. Wood, Preceptress, Latin, Botany, and Elocution; Miss Lois I. Witherbee, B. S., French and German; Miss P. A. Thompson, English branches; Miss Hattie E. Wood, Painting and Drawing; H. A. Briggs, Instrumental Music; Charles F. Dudley, Vocal Music; Harley N. Pearce, Plain and Ornamental Penmanship.

Calendar.—Winter term, of 13 weeks, begins Wednesday, December 8, 1875; closes Tuesday, March 7, 1876. Spring term, of 14 weeks, begins Wednesday, March 22; closes Wednesday, June 28. Fall term, of 13 weeks, begins Wednesday, August 23; closes Tuesday, November 21.

The school offers four regular courses of study; viz., College Preparatory and English, each of three years; Female Collegiate of four years; and Scientific of two years.

Tuition, per term, from $6 to $11, according to the studies pursued. Board, $4 per week, including room, heat, light and washing.

JEFFERSON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This seminary is situated in the town of Jefferson, the county seat of Jefferson County, Wisconsin. It occupies the centre of a lot of four acres, and has attractive surroundings. It was incorporated April 12, 1866, and a school opened in 1867. Five courses are provided for at the Institute; viz., English Preparatory, Business, Academic, Scientific and College Preparatory. The school had, in October, 1874, more than 100 students. It is out of debt, and has the prospect of a steady and permanent growth. The property of the Institute is worth $35,000.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. J. W. Ostrander, Jefferson, President; Hon. W. W. Reed, Jefferson, Vice-President; R. W. Clark, Esq., Jefferson, Secretary and Treasurer.

Faculty.—Elmore Chase, A. M., Principal, and Teacher of Mental and Moral Philosophy and Political Economy; Mrs. M. E. Chase, Preceptress, and Teacher of French, English Language Lessons, and Geography; W. F. Bundy, Teacher of Natural Science; Alonzo Brown, A. B., Teacher of History and Ancient Languages and Literature; Leonard Emert, Teacher of German Language and Literature; H. E. Rogers, Principal of Commercial department; Miss E. R. Garfield, Teacher of Ornamental branches; M. D. Jones, Teacher of Music.

All the teachers are graduates holding diplomas. Hitherto the Principal has taught the ancient languages; but now a regular professor gives his whole time to this work and to history. The teacher of German devotes all his time to teaching this language. He has taken a full course of German language and literature.

The leading feature of the school is the Scientific course. Professor Bundy has more than a state reputation. He will soon publish a work on craw-fish. At the same time that this is in preparation, he is "working up" the fish of Wisconsin.

Rev. H. D. L. Webster of Neenah is the financial agent of the Institute, and will try to raise the balance of the $10,000 for building purposes.

This school is well provided with apparatus in the Chemical and Philosophical departments.

Board can be obtained in private families, including fuel, lights, rent and washing, at $3.50 per week, two students occupying one room.

Calendar.—Fall term, of 14½ weeks, began September 14, and closes December 23, 1875. Winter term, 12 weeks, begins January 5, 1876, and closes March 26. Spring term, of 12½ weeks, begins March 30, and closes June 23.

There were present during the last Fall term about 65 students.

MITCHELL SEMINARY.

Mitchell Seminary is located in Mitchelville (Polk Co.), Wisconsin, a thriving town on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, exactly midway between Davenport and Council Bluffs, and 16 miles east of Des Moines. It is also a station on the Keokuk and Des Moines Railroad. It is centrally located, and is easily accessible from all parts of the State. The school was opened September 15, 1872, in rooms temporarily fitted up, and in the new building, September 18, 1873. The plan of the school contemplates three buildings. One of these is now completed, at a cost of $25,000. It is of brick and stone, 83 by 50 feet, three stories high, and of the composite order. The property of the school is valued at $40,000, subject to a debt of $15,000.

The Seminary is designed for both sexes, and its course of studies will embrace such branches as are usually taught in schools of the same grade. It is under the control of a Board of Trustees appointed by the Iowa Universalist Convention, but it is not a Theological School, nor is it designed to propagate the doctrine of a sect. Its general aim is to give the youth of both sexes a good practical education, and fit them for the active duties of life.

Students can be prepared for COLLEGE, for TEACHING, and for BUSINESS.

Faculty.—Rev. J. R. Sage, Principal, and Financial Secretary; Mrs. Ella Coe Sage, Preceptress, Teacher of Mathematics and Instrumental Music; Lucien J. Dinsmore, B. S., Languages and Natural Sciences; Miss Mary L. Aiken, Common English; A. C. Simonton, M. D., Lecturer on Physiology, Chemistry and Hygiene.

Calendar.—Fall term, 12 weeks, began September 14, 1875. Winter term, 12 weeks, begins December 6, 1875. Spring term, 12 weeks, begins March 15, 1876.

Vacation of ten days during holiday season, and one week at close of winter term.

Tuition.—Common English, per term, $6; Higher English, per term, $8; Ancient and Modern Languages, per term, $10. Music and Ornamental Branches at reasonable rates.

The Boarding department is in the Seminary building. A limited number of young ladies can be accommodated with handsomely furnished rooms and good table board at the low price of $3 per week. Lights and fuel, 50 cents a week, or provided in quantity at cost. Washing and ironing can be done outside the building at 60 cents per dozen pieces.

MITCHELL SEMINARY.

Mitchell Seminary is located in Mitchelville (Polk Co.), Wisconsin, a thriving town on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, exactly midway between Davenport and Council Bluffs, and 16 miles east of Des Moines. It is also a station on the Keokuk and Des Moines Railroad. It is centrally located, and is easily accessible from all parts of the State. The school was opened September 15, 1872, in rooms temporarily fitted up, and in the new building, September 18, 1873. The plan of the school contemplates three buildings. One of these is now completed, at a cost of $25,000. It is of brick and stone, 83 by 50 feet, three stories high, and of the composite order. The property of the school is valued at $40,000, subject to a debt of $15,000.

The Seminary is designed for both sexes, and its course of studies will embrace such branches as are usually taught in schools of the same grade. It is under the control of a Board of Trustees appointed by the Iowa Universalist Convention, but it is not a Theological School, nor is it designed to propagate the doctrine of a sect. Its general aim is to give the youth of both sexes a good practical education, and fit them for the active duties of life.

Students can be prepared for COLLEGE, for TEACHING, and for BUSINESS.

GREEN MOUNTAIN PERKINS ACADEMY.

This school, formerly known as the Green Mountain Liberal Institute, is located in South Woodstock (Windsor County), Vt. It was incorporated and went into operation under that name in 1848, but in October, 1870, by Act of the Vermont Legislature, the name was changed to Green Mountain Perkins Academy.

Besides the school edifice, it has a boarding-house, with a farm attached, and is in condition to do in the future, as it has done in the past, a good work in the cause of education and liberal culture in Vermont and the adjacent part of New Hampshire.

The value of the property and funds of the institute is about $14,000.

Officers.—James H. Murdock, President; Nathan Lamb, Vice-President; F. P. Kendall, Secretary; L. C. Kendall, Treasurer; R. M. Slayton, Auditor.

The Teachers are as follows: Mr. E. H. Aldrich, A. B., Principal; Miss Flora C. Eaton, Preceptress; C. S. Ralph, W. H. Sanderson, Assistants in Mathematics; Miss Ella J. Amsden, Teacher of Music; Mr. C. F. Benjamin, Vocal Music; Mr. W. H. Wilkins, Penmanship.

GENERAL SUMMARY FOR THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA.—One General Convention; 22 State Conventions; 73 Associations; 867 parishes; 40,389 families; 623 churches, having 31,071 members; 628 Sunday schools, having 57,889 members; 747 church edifices, with a total church property above indebtedness of $7,561,602; and 689 ministers, including licentiates and the superannuated.

A TRIBUTE TO THE DEPARTED.

I. Elias Benjamin Gage, an old and much esteemed citizen of Dowagiac, Mich., formerly a Universalist preacher, died in that city, very suddenly, of heart disease, October 23, 1874, in his seventy-fifth year, leaving a wife with whom he had lived fifty-three years. He was born in DeRuyter, Madison Co., N. Y., July 5, 1800. He was converted to the Universalist faith by reading a doctrinal paper published in Hartford, Conn., by Rev. Richard Carrique, and, at the age of thirty-four, commenced preaching the gospel in his native town. By the recommendation and aid of the New York Universalist Convention, held at Buffalo, October 1, 1836, Mr. Gage went to Michigan, locating himself in Birmingham, Oakland Co., and was the third preacher of our Order to settle in the then Territory of Michigan; his co-laborers having been Rev. N. Stacy, at Ann Arbor, and Rev. G. R. Brown in Cass Co. The field of Mr. Gage's ministry was mainly in Oakland, Wayne and Jackson counties; but not receiving adequate compensation for the support of his family, he ceased from preaching in 1843, and entered into secular business. In April, 1864, he removed to Dowagiac, and there spent the remainder of his life.

II. Rev. Robert Glidewell Harris died at Knob Prairie, Ill., October 31, 1874, in his forty-sixth year. This earnest and devoted minister of the gospel had been remarkable from early childhood for his steady habits and pious disposition, and, when he was about twenty-eight years old, began to preach in the State of Missouri. He had been a member of the Campbellite (Baptist) Church, and it would seem that at one time he seriously contemplated entering the Baptist ministry. The first Universalist sermon he ever heard was preached by J. H. Miller, one of the Millersville (Mo.) Church, who died during the late war; and the second one he ever heard was preached by Rev. Thomas Abbott, which gave him great satisfaction and encouragement. He afterwards listened to a debate at Jackson, Mo., between Rev. T. Abbott, Universalist, and Rev. J. Woods, Methodist; and from that time he jointly preached and taught at Millersville until he removed to Southern Illinois, where for the last eight years of his life he gave his whole time and energy to the ministry of Impartial Grace. He was instrumental in organizing four or five churches, and in building three houses of worship. The cause still lives in most of the places where he labored. He was ordained in October, 1859, and continued to the end a laborious, self-sacrificing and worthy minister of the gospel. He had long been subject to pulmonary disease, and during the winter and summer preceding his death had overtaxed his strength in his missionary work, and thus hastened the fatal crisis which his friends had foreseen and dreaded. Throughout his long and painful illness he was remarkably patient and composed, and strove to comfort his grief-stricken companion, exhorting her to seek consolation in the precious assurance that "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth," and would often repeat the Psalmist's words, "In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust." In all the relations of life he acted well his part. As a son, never were parents blessed with one more dutiful; as a brother, always gentle, kind and affectionate; as a father, ever devoted and true; and of his many virtues as husband, only a bereaved and heart-broken companion can form an adequate idea. By his death, in the noon of manhood, our denomination has lost a noble Christian worker, and his loss is deeply felt throughout the wide circle of his acquaintance.

III. Rev. James Osgood Emery, the son of John and Patience (Cole) Emery, was born in Portland, Me., July 24, 1801, and he died very suddenly at or near Richmond (P. Q.), Canada, November 12, 1874. His remains were brought to Auburn, Me., for interment. He was ordained to the work of the ministry at a session of the Maine Convention, June 29, 1843, in what was then East Thomaston, now the city of Rockland; and in Maine he spent his ministerial strength, preaching for a brief period in many different towns, and gathering churches in some of them. It was mainly through his endeavors, it is said, that the church in Lewiston was organized. He married Miss Lydia S. Small, to whom were born five daughters and two sons, of whom four daughters and one son survive. His early education was scanty. His preparation for the ministry, such as it was, was made by studying the Bible upon his shoe-bench, and a few months with Rev. George Bates. It seems that he surrendered his letter of fellowship long ago, for what reason we do not know, and he has not recently been actively engaged in the work of the ministry.

IV. Hon. Nathan Griffin Hichborn, son of Henry and Desiah (Griffin) Hichborn, was born in the old town of Prospect, now Stockton, Me., May 29, 1818, and died there after a brief illness, November 23, 1874, aged about fifty-six years and six months, leaving a wife and six children to mourn their great loss. The Universalist parish in Stockton, and the whole community also, mourn the loss of a prominent, active, influential and excellent citizen. He had been a Universalist from early youth, and always identified with the interest of our cause; in fact, his heart was in it, and every way, by word and by example, by generously giving to it his time, his money, his strength, he has labored for it, and won a good name throughout the State. He was a liberal patron of Westbrook Seminary. He was an outspoken and unflinching advocate of temperance, by precept and example. For years he was quite prominent in the politics of the State; had been a member of both branches of the legislature, one year in each; and for four years, from 1865 to 1868 inclusive, he was state treasurer. He had long been engaged in ship-building, and was identified with that great industry. For the last two years of his life he was an active promoter of the Bay and River Railroad enterprise, and, at the time of his death, was president of the company. Truly he died in the harness, in the strength of vigorous manhood, leaving a painful void, not only in the hearts of his familiar friends and associates, but also in the community at large in which his influence was felt, his worth known, and his name honored.

V. Rev. Justus Gage was born March 13, 1805, in De-Ruyter, Madison Co., N. Y., and died January 20, 1875, in Dowagiac, Mich., having entered on his seventieth year. He had no other schooling in early life than such as could be obtained in the district school during the winter months, excepting part of a term at Hamilton Academy in his native county, after he had been engaged for some half dozen years in teaching school. In the fall of 1832, he was licensed to preach by the Genesee Association, at its session in York, Livingston Co. In the fall of 1840, he renewed his labors in the ministry, and was ordained in the spring of 1842. Being at that time the only settled minister of our faith in Southwestern Michigan, his circuit was extensive, and his labors severe and exhausting; so much so that, in the fall of 1847, he was obliged by loss of voice to cease from preaching altogether, and from that time onward he devoted himself to agriculture. In 1852, he gave the annual address before the Michigan Agricultural Society; for eight years was the efficient chairman of the State Board of Agriculture; was appointed one of the executive committee of the Michigan Agricultural College; and for several years he served faithfully as a director of the public schools of Dowagiac. Nor did he fail in all these years to take an active and prominent part in sustaining the cause of Universal Grace, serving as clerk of the church and of the Board of Trustees, which offices he held at the time of his death. From about 1851, he was a great sufferer from a complication of infirmities and difficulties, such as few men are ever called to endure. For twenty years his wife was an invalid, and for a portion of the time quite helpless. Mr. Gage was a man of genuine goodness, had a clear and vigorous mind, was full of activity and enterprise, was the friend and helper of every good cause, always identified himself with the welfare of his people, and his sterling integrity and solid worth secured for him the respect and esteem of his fellow-citizens.

VI. R. D. McCord, M. D., died in January, 1875, at his home in Christian County, Ky., aged sixty-five years. He came originally from Tennessee. He preached for twenty years or more occasionally, and was a true and faithful man, a strong and convincing preacher. He had a discussion with T. C. Frogge some years since, but was compelled to desist before the time set for the close, on account of bleeding of the lungs. Doubtless this hastened his departure. He left a large family of children and many relatives to suffer by his death, which to him was great gain. So much we learn from the Paducah (Ky.) "Harbinger," but can learn no further particulars.

VII. Rev. Daniel Tenney died at La Porte (Lorain Co.), Ohio, February 1, 1875, aged eighty-one years. He had been for many years an active and useful minister of the Reconciliation. He was a native of New Hampshire, from which State he removed to Vermont, and there married Miss Silvia Kent, with whom he lived sixty years, and who survives him, together with their ten children, five sons and five daughters, and thirty-two descendants of the third and fourth generations. He removed to La Porte in 1835, and continued there till his death. After his active ministry ceased, he acted as postmaster, and also as a justice of the peace. He was a man of excellent character, and an earnest, effective preacher. His funeral took place at the Methodist church, the pastor thereof taking part in the services, and bearing a cordial testimony to the Christian character and unimpeachable integrity of Father Tenney.

VIII. General Samuel Freeman Hersey, son of James and Olive (Freeman) Hersey, was born in Sumner (Oxford Co.), Maine, April 12, 1812, and died of disease of the liver, in Bangor, Me., February 3, 1875, in his sixty-third year. With only the advantage of the district school, excepting a short term at Hebron Academy, he, at the age of sixteen, began to teach school, and, at the age of twenty, began as a clerk in Bangor, working at first for his board. He began to do business for himself in Lincoln; then removed to Milford, and finally settled in Bangor and amassed a large property. He was long engaged in politics, and bore a prominent part in the public affairs of the State. He represented Milford in the legislature of 1842, and Bangor in the legislatures of 1857 and 1865; was a member of the state senate in 1868 and 1869, and of the executive council in 1852 and 1853; was a delegate to the national convention in 1860 that nominated Lincoln for the presidency, and was a member of the national republican committee from 1864 to 1868. Taking an early interest in military affairs, he served in the state militia from captain to major-general, and at the outbreak of the rebellion rendered efficient service in organizing and equipping the troops from Maine. He liberally seconded the efforts to relieve the wants of our soldiers, and was ardently devoted to the Union cause throughout the war. He felt a just pride in having been able to vote in the Chicago convention for resolves against the further extension of human slavery; in the Baltimore convention of 1864 for universal freedom, and in the Maine legislature for the ratification of the constitutional amendments which sealed the results of the war. In 1872 he was elected representative to Congress, and was reëlected in 1874, but unable from ill-health to take his seat.

Aside from his many other important trusts, he has been for many years one of the most prominent members of the Universalist denomination, to whose funds he has been a generous contributor; and the Universalist Church in Bangor, to which he belonged, has received many evidences of his regard. In addition to other sums heretofore given to Westbrook Seminary, amounting to some $15,000, we understand that in his will he has made further provision in the future for that institution.

General Hersey leaves a widow, his third wife, to whom he was married in 1872, and also four sons, children of his second wife.

Immediately after his death, the trustees of Westbrook Seminary, of which board he was president, adopted the following resolutions, which concisely sum up his character:

Resolved, That the trustees of Westbrook Seminary have heard with deep and unaffected sorrow of the decease of the president of that corporation, and one of its most munificent patrons, the Hon. Samuel F. Hersey, who departed this life at his residence in Bangor on the 3d inst.

Resolved, That for his wise and sagacious counsel, for his constant and unflagging interest in the affairs of the institution, and the encouragement and pleasure he has contributed in his official relations to the board, and in his intercourse with its members, as well as for his timely and liberal donations to its funds, the trustees desire to record their most profound and grateful acknowledgments.

Resolved, That not for these things alone, no more than for the privilege of ranking among its friends and officers a gentleman of the wide and honorable influence, the sterling principles, the earnest patriotism, the genuine manliness, the high aims and spotless example of General Hersey, does the Seminary recognize its obligations.

IX. Mr. James Boyden died in Montpelier, Vt., February 22, 1875, aged seventy-six. He was for a while a minister in fellowship with the old Northern Association in Vermont, and was a man of a good spirit and high moral worth, but too diffident and self-distrustful to do much as a public speaker. Though he wrote a pretty good sermon, he read it poorly. He was a frequent contributor to the Christian Repository; was an intelligent and consistent believer in the Great Salvation, and always manifested a deep interest in our denominational work. He had two sons, and the death of the younger one seemed to unman him; and after the death of the older one, by suicide, Mr. Boyden always lived alone, in a very humble, secluded manner, though he was a constant attendant at church to the day of his death.

X. Rev. Thomas Browning, the oldest of the thirteen children of Joseph and Lucy (Sherman) Browning, was born in Rutland, Mass., March 21, 1787, and died in Richmond, Vt., March 12, 1875, thus lacking but nine days of being eighty-eight years old. His family moved to Barre, Vt., and settled there, when Thomas was eight years of age. His earliest religious faith was that of the Methodist Church, but his inquisitive spirit and eager thirst for a knowledge of divine things were not satisfied until he embraced the doctrine of Universal Redemption. This faith, indeed, he held previous to his formal connection with the Methodists, and he joined them with the distinct understanding that he would continue to hold it; and though often urged to abstain from advocating it in the church and conference meeting, yet he could not at all times hide his belief; it must shine out. So vital to the Christian system did this faith seem to him, and so elevating and comforting was it to his own soul, that he felt a necessity laid on him to become a preacher of the good tidings; and with the spirit of God in his heart and the Bible in his hand, without the aid of other books, or much help from the wisdom of the schools, he began to preach in October, 1823, in Barre and the vicinity, he being at that time in his thirty-seventh year. He had been hitherto a farmer and mechanic, yet by diligent and persevering study he became well versed in the Scriptures, the work grew under his hands, and his ministry was fruitful of much good. He was ordained October 4, 1827, by the old Northern Association of Vermont. In May, 1832, he moved to Waterbury, Vt., and in May, 1834, to Richmond, where he ever after resided, always rendering loyal service to the cause of religion by his excellent Christian spirit and correct example. He held civil office in the town for some years, and once represented it in the legislature. In manners he was very genial, dignified and courteous. In theology he was a staunch defender of the supernatural character of the Gospel Revelation in opposition to the loose and skeptical liberalism of the age, on which subject he was accustomed to speak with earnestness and decision.

Mr. Browning was married January 12, 1812, to Miss Persis Ross of Jaffrey, N. H., who bore him ten children,—nine daughters and one son,—of whom only four are now living.

XI. Rev. Lewis Feuilleteau Wilson Andrews, M. D., died in Americus, Ga., March 16, 1875, in the seventy-third year of his age. He was the son of Rev. John Andrews, an eminent minister and journalist of the Presbyterian Church. It is a mooted point whether Rev. John

Andrews or Mr. Nathaniel Willis (father of N. P. Willis) published the first religious newspaper ever printed in the United States. Dr. L. F. W. Andrews was born in North Carolina, September 7, 1802, but while he was quite young his father and family removed from North Carolina to Chillicothe, Ohio, where the father published the early organ, above mentioned, of the Presbyterian Church. From Ohio the family moved to Pittsburg, Penn. Rev. John Andrews was desirous of educating his son for the Presbyterian ministry, and gave him the advantages of a classical education. Dr. Andrews received his degree as Doctor of Medicine at Transylvania University, Lexington, Ky., and afterwards practised as a physician in Cleveland, Ohio, and in the region round about Pittsburg, Penn. He was twice married; several children by the former and one by the latter marriage surviving him. He appears to have been ordained a minister in 1831. He first became acquainted with Universalism in the summer of 1830, in Augusta, Ky., where he was staying at the time, engaged in dentistry, and under the following circumstances: Rev. J. C. Waldo, then settled in Cincinnati, Ohio, was on a missionary tour through the cities and large towns in Kentucky at the time referred to, and on one occasion "brought up" at Augusta, and preached morning and afternoon in the court-house in that city. On going in to the evening service, he found in the Bible on the desk an anonymous request that he would preach on the parable of the sheep and goats, which he accordingly did, and, as it proved, with good effect. The request, it appears, was made by Dr. Andrews. He had notified what he had done to his friends, and among others, to the president and professors of the Methodist College at Augusta, and invited them to be present and "enjoy the sport," as he termed it. But the effect of the sermon was different from what he had anticipated. Though "he came to scoff," he remained to accept thankfully and joyfully the doctrine of the preacher; for he professed to have been converted by that sermon. He soon afterwards went to Cincinnati, professed a desire to enter our ministry, and after receiving some aid from Bro. Waldo, preached quite acceptably in his pulpit. In 1832 he became pastor of the Second Universalist Church in Philadelphia; in 1834 he travelled extensively in the South, visiting New Orleans, Mobile, and Montgomery. In the last named city he gathered a society and started the Gospel Evangelist, which paper was subsequently moved to Charleston, S. C., and Dr. Andrews became pastor of the Universalist Society in that city. In 1836–7, he was senior editor of the Southern Pioneer and Gospel Visitor, then published in Baltimore, Md., it having been founded in 1832 by Rev. O. A. Skinner. After this, removing to the far South, Dr. A. published the Evangelical Universalist, but we cannot give the particulars as to date or locality. In labors abundant, in long and frequent missionary journeys, and in the midst of opposition and great tribulations, he, like our other Southern preachers, had to fight his way in the promulgation of the doctrine of a world's salvation. Dr. Andrews was steadfast in his Universalism to the last. He was generous, free-hearted, liberal, almost to a fault. His prodigal generosity tended to improvidence. The marked trait of his mind was activity. All he could know he grasped at a glance. Hence, though not profound, he was ready for all encounters. On the day of his death he left Macon, Ga., where he had been to visit his children, to return to his home in Americus, and suddenly, immediately upon reaching his house, he was stricken with death; and, giving a groan or two, passed quietly and without pain to the world of spirits.

XII. Rev. Alpheus Fortune Root, son of Alpheus and Electa (Bordwell) Root, was born in Denmark, Lewis Co., N. Y., July 21, 1814, and died of asthmatic consumption at Rockford, Ill., July 13, 1875, aged sixty-one years. He embraced the Universalist faith in 1843, and was ordained a preacher in June, 1847, at Perrysburg, Ohio. In this sphere of labor he was diligent and faithful, though, as he confessed, not reaching his ideal standard. His early education, which was limited, was received in his native town, and he studied for the ministry at Perrysburg. He was settled for brief periods in Wisconsin; viz., at Peru and Berlin, four years; at Monterey, three years; at Brookfield, one year; and for a while at Waukesha. He itinerated more or less in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas. For the last seven years of his life he lived at Rockford, Ill., travelling, latterly, however, as agent for the Star in the West and New Covenant, the state of his health not permitting him to take charge of a parish. His wife, whose maiden name was Julia E. Beedle, together with their four children, survives him. He was a good man, esteemed in every place where he had lived, an agreeable neighbor, a firm Universalist, a faithful friend. Having been asked, a few hours before he passed away, how his faith appeared to him in that hour, his eyes kindled with new light, and his whole countenance beamed with animation as he replied: "It is more beautiful to me now than ever. I have never wavered in my convictions for a moment since I was converted to these reasonable views of God's character and government. All I regret is that I have not been more faithful in disseminating them." It was inspiring indeed to commune with a departing soul whose faith was so strong, and who saw before him an immortality so rich and glorious. It made one feel how much better for the soul is affirmation than denial of the doctrines of the gospel; how much more ennobling is trust in God than doubt and negation.

XIII. Rev. Athanase Josué F. Coquerel, D. D., son of the late Athanase Laurent Charles Coquerel, was born in Amsterdam, Holland, whither his parents had gone on a visit, in 1820, and died at Fimes, France, July 25, 1875, aged fifty-five years. It seems proper to take notice in these pages of the death of this eminent man,—eminent no less for his great gifts and excellence of character than for his Universalism, in a country where that faith is little known, and the name Universalist is so unpopular. Says one who had visited him in France, and had been visited by him in America: "He was a splendid man; not so eloquent as his father, but more learned, and full of benevolence." He passed through a severe struggle during the siege of the Germans, but a worse one from the orthodox party in the church. His brother Etienne edits the Renaissance, one of the organs of the Liberals in France, and is a fine writer. Miss Helen Maria Williams, author of the familar hymn commencing, "While Thee I seek, protecting Power," was his aunt, and lived with his father. We mention these facts to indicate the distinguished talents of the family to which Athanase fils, the subject of this notice, belonged. He was educated in Geneva, taking high rank as a student, and during his life he occupied many important positions as scholar, teacher, lecturer and pulpit orator. The prestige given him by his father's name and fame lost nothing in his hands. His way was not without crosses and disappointments, but the great grief of his life was his expulsion, by the Orthodox Consistory of Paris, from his church and the fellowship of the denomination, solely on account of his liberal faith. He never became reconciled to the blow, but he did not give up preaching. Half the Protestants of Paris, indignant at the injury, rallied around him, and were, during the remainder of his life, warm and faithful adherents. He visited this country some two years ago, and lectured in several of our cities on the subject always so near and dear to his heart,—liberal Protestantism in France,—a cause that is violently assailed and persecuted there, not alone by the Catholics, but also by the bigoted and intolerant wing of the Reformed Church, which lays claim to all the Christianity now existing in that country. His brilliant eloquence, as now in French and now in English he strove to awaken the sympathies of his hearers for the oppressed fraternity to which his life was devoted, must be still fresh in many minds. But while listening to his eloquent and moving words, they little knew how rapidly the speaker was exhausting the life which was so important to the cause for which he was laboring, and to republican France. During the siege of Paris, he received a severe wound; for, in his devotion and patriotism, no danger withheld him from constant exposure of his person. Not satisfied with furnishing three ambulances, largely at his own expense, he daily went himself under fire in search of the wounded. It was while stooping to lift a dying soldier into an ambulance that a shell burst near him, inflicting a severe injury, which no doubt finally led to his death. The wound soon healed, and he returned to his duties for a short time, but his strength failed, and he was ordered to Sicily, where he remained many months, and then once more resumed his customary work, preaching, lecturing and editing. Again he was obliged to seek repose, and for that purpose went to Fimes, where a brother-in-law resided, and where a bronchial attack, in his already weakened condition, in a few days closed his labors and his life, and French Protestantism and republican France lost one of their most beloved and illustrious representatives. He was called the most brilliant pulpit orator in Paris, and everywhere known as the friend to the poor and oppressed. As a writer, in depicting his character, eloquently says, "He was on a level with all the duties of life. He combated ignorance, egotism, hypocrisy, injustice, evil under all its forms, giving his life without stint to others." Prodigal of his strength, his time, his bold, good sense and courageous power of endurance, he, like his Master, "went about doing good." In accordance with his express direction, he was buried at Fimes, where he died. In February, 1875, the University of Leyden, in recognition of his merit, conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

XIV. Rev. John W. La Moine was of French parentage, and was born on the ocean, April 1, 1830. At two years of age he was left an orphan, without a relative in the country, and was compelled to fight life's battles alone. Upon reaching manhood, he united himself to the Baptists, in Richmond, Va., and for some years was a preacher in that denomination. In 1868, he took charge of a Baptist congregation in Middlefield, Otsego Co., N. Y. He was ordained by the Baptists, July 15, 1870, in Goodlands, Ind. Returning to New York, he became pastor of the Baptist Church at Sidney Plains, in Delaware Co. During his ministry in this place, he embraced the doctrine of Universal Redemption, and in March, 1873, was licensed to preach by the Universalist Convention of New York, and in April, 1874, admitted to full fellowship with the Convention. The first two years of his ministry as a Universalist he spent within the limits of the Chenango Association, preaching to the societies in Rockdale, Oxford, Smithville, and Preston. In April, 1873, he removed to Ford's Bush, Montgomery Co., and took charge of our church in that village. He died July 31, 1875, after an illness of only two weeks, during which his sufferings were of the severest character. Mr. La Moine was an earnest, able, and eloquent preacher, and a man of exemplary life. During his brief labors with the Ford's Bush people, he awakened an interest and enthusiasm among them that promised a degree of success hitherto unknown. A church had been organized, a Sabbath school gathered, numbering more than one hundred pupils, and it is rare that a pastor so endears himself to his people, who, in this case, manifested their sympathy with him, and respect for him in every way during his sickness, and at the funeral service. He was married in Middlefield, January 1, 1869, and his wife, with a bright little boy of some four years, survives him.

XV. STEPHEN SMITH was born September 27, 1794, and died August 6, 1875, at Roselle, N. J., in his eighty-first year. Fifty years ago, when New York City was a ship building port, Smith & Dimon was prominent among the most energetic and honored firms engaged in that industry. Stephen Smith, the revered head of the firm, and John Dimon, his partner, were apprentices of Henry Eckford, perhaps the most eminent ship-builder of his time in this country. As apprentices, they had some pretty rough experiences during the war of 1812, when they were sent in winter from New York to Sackett's Harbor, over hard roads, and through forests, to aid in extemporizing a miniature fleet on Lake Ontario. Mr. Eckford was subsequently appointed chief of the Sultan's navy yard at Constantinople, and not long after died there, and Smith & Dimon became his successors in New York, where their ship-yard, at the foot of East Fourth Street, the largest of the day, was well known for half a century. They were distinguished for honorable dealing and excellent work. Mr. Smith stood among the finest architects of the country, and by some good judges was regarded as at the head of that profession. But it is of his social and domestic life that we wish chiefly to speak in this place. In all the relations of citizen, son, husband, father, and friend, he was distinguished for the goodness of his heart, the evenness of his temper, and his general candor and charity. He was by nature calm and undemonstrative, but in quiet and unobstrusive ways abounded in generous and noble deeds. In his own family, and to all his kindred, he was a kind, provident, and faithful friend. At the time of his death, he had nearly completed fifty-nine years of happy married life. His wife survives, surrounded by a family of loved and loving children, and sustained in her bereavement by a cheering Christian faith and a thousand pleasant memories. Mr. Smith and his family were long connected with the old Orchard Street Universalist Church in New York City, and his eldest daughter is now the wife of Rev. C. H. Fay of Washington, D. C.

XVI. Rev. Fanny Upham Roberts, daughter of Frederick and Hannah R. Cogswell, both of whom were preachers in the "Christian connection," was born in South Berwick, Me., in June, 1834, and died of bronchial consumption, August 26, 1875, in Winona, Minn., in the forty-second year of her age. When she was twenty-eight years old, she experienced a religious awakening, and joined the Congregational Church in Northwood, N. H., where she then lived, and for some time was superintendent of a Baptist Sunday school. She had, however, from a child been imbued with the Universalist faith. In 1870, she began to give lectures in public on lyceum topics, and not long afterwards commenced preaching in Kensington, N. H., and Wells, Me. In the spring of 1871 she removed to Kittery, Me. (where she had been ordained February 3, 1874), and preached there until April, 1875, when, from loss of voice, she resigned her post, and went to Minnesota for the benefit of her health. But the change of climate failed to arrest the progress of her disease, and she steadily declined until death came to her relief. She was married in early life, and leaves one son and three stepdaughters. Her remains rest in Woodlawn cemetery, in Winona, where she died. Her friends testify to her vigor of mind, her goodness of heart, her eloquence and power in the pulpit, and the graceful modesty and sweet womanly dignity that ever shone out in all her life.

XVII. Samuel Adams, Esq., was born in Townshend, Mass., September 12, 1789, and died in Cavendish, Vt., September 9, 1875; his funeral taking place on the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birth-day. His parents moved to Cavendish when he was two years old, and there he ever after lived. There he married Calista French (whose death occurred seven months previous to his), who bore him seven children, four of whom, two sons and two daughters, survive him. By his native energy and rectitude of character, with little aid from schools, he early took a leading position in social, civil and religious affairs in the neighborhood, and filled with credit all the more important offices within the gift of his townsmen. He acted as a justice of the peace for fifty-two consecutive years, and presided in an important case less than two weeks previous to his death. His memory was good, and his mind clear and sound to the end. He was one of the founders and always an active and faithful member of the Universalist parish in Cavendish, aided in organizing the Green Mountain Association, and often sat as Moderator in its councils, and served on its more important committees. His influence was largely felt in the founding of the Green Mountain Liberal Institute, now the "Perkins Academy," at South Woodstock. For more than thirty years his house was the minister's home, and for a very long period his voice was heard in the choir at the church. The memory of such a man is blessed indeed. Throughout his last brief sickness, even to the end, his mind was clear, and he died rejoicing in hope of eternal life, repeating the Lord's prayer just as the heart gave its final throbbings. His last words were, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." His funeral was largely attended, Rev. Mr. Guernsey officiating, assisted in the services by the resident Baptist and Methodist ministers.

XVIII. D. Francis Condie, M. D., died in Philadelphia, April 1, 1875, aged eighty years. He was the senior member of the Lombard Street Universalist Church in that city, having joined it in 1819. He was always an interested and active worker in that church, until an accident a few years ago deprived him of the use of one limb, when he retired from active life to a farm in the country. In his time Dr. Condie was one of the most eminent physicians in Philadelphia, his native city. He was the author of a number of standard medical works, the most important of which are the following: An Abridgement of Thomas's Practice, 1817; Course of Examination for Medical Students, 1824; Catechism of Health, 1831; Treatise on Epidemic Cholera in conjunction with Dr. John Ball, 1832; Diseases of Children, fourth edition, 8vo., 1854. Dr. Condie edited Dr. Fleetwood Churchill's work on the theory and practice of Midwifery and Diseases of Women, and he made frequent and valuable contributions to the American Cyclopedia of Practical Medicine and Surgery; Philadelphia Journal of the Medical and Physical Sciences; North American Medical and Surgical Journal; Journal of Health, Philadelphia; American Journal of Medical Sciences; Transactions of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia, and to the North American Medico-Chirurgical Review. He was a member of various medical and benevolent societies, and in the district of Southwark, where he long resided and was well known, he was universally respected.

XIX. Thomas Crane, Esq., was born at George's Island, (Fort Warren), in Boston Harbor, October 18, 1803, and died in New York City, April 1, 1875, in his seventy-second year. He was one of the oldest, most prominent and most esteemed of the Universalist laymen in New York. For a number of years he lived in Quincy, Mass., but in 1829 he moved to New York City. Beginning his career there quite poor, he succeeded by application, perseverance, energy and business ability, in amassing a fortune. He was long known to the Universalists of New York as the treasurer of the Harsen Fund. He was one of the trustees of Tufts College, and a liberal contributor to all our denominational enterprises. He was formerly and for a long period a member of the Orchard Street Universalist Church (Rev. Dr. Sawyer's) in New York City, though of late of Rev. Dr. Chapin's. He was a man of pure life, famed for his kindness of heart and benevolent deeds, and was loved and honored by the Universalist fraternity as far as he was known. He leaves a wife and two children, and goes to meet six children who had preceded him to the world of spirits.

CONCLUDING NOTES.

We are reluctantly compelled, by want of space, to lay aside some miscellany we had prepared for this part of the REGISTER, and can find room only for the following items.

1. There is a UNIVERSALIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL ASSOCIATION, which, though having its headquarters in Boston, is not confined to Massachusetts or New England. Its purposes are the holding of conferences for the discussion of practical questions concerning the work of Sunday-schools, and the arranging of Teachers' Institutes for the exhibition of methods of teaching classes and conducting schools.

Permanent Secretary.—Rev. G. W. Perry, Lawrence, Mass.

Executive Committee.—Rev. J. J. Lewis, South Boston; W. P. Gannett, Boston; Mrs. A. A. Fellows, Cambridgeport; Mrs. Jeanette Babbitt, Worcester; William S. Johnson, Providence, R. I.

2. We remarked, under Kentucky (see p. 32, ante), that the Pingree Association in that State ought to have, and we trust will soon have, the character, rights and powers of a Convention. By a letter received since the body of the Register was printed, from Rev. Thomas Abbott, of Paducah, we learn, that at Oakland, Christian Co., on the 22d–24th of October, 1875, the Mississippi Valley Convention, so called, and the Pingree Association, were merged in a new organization, to be known as the Kentucky State Convention of Universalists, and that a new constitution was adopted, and officers elected, as follows:—

President.—Rev. Joab Clark.

Vice-President.—O. T. Gardner.

Secretary.—H. H. Hobson.

Treasurer.—J. A. Samuel.

Executive Committee.—J. A. Turner, Jesse Baird, Dr. J. R. Clark.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination and Discipline.—Revs. T. Abbott, R. Medley, and Mr. O. A. West.

The next session of the Convention will be held with the Macedonia church, Christian Co., on the third Sunday in October, 1876.

Preacher of Occasional Sermon.—Rev. T. Abbott. Alternate, Rev. Joab Clark.

GIVING A REASON FOR OUR HOPE.

Some years ago, it happened at the session of a county court in Vermont that the late Judge K., an orthodox Congregationalist, met a brother lawyer, who was a Universalist, when the following short and friendly colloquy ensued:—

Judge K.—I understand, Brother F., that you believe in the "final restitution of all things." I should like to know what foundation you have for your faith.

Mr. F.—I do not know of any other than that it has been "spoken by the mouth of all God's holy prophets since the world began."

Judge K.—Well, I do not see but that this is the end of the argument.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

The attention of Sunday-schools about purchasing books for their libraries, is called to the fresh and fine stock of books for sale by the Universalist Publishing House. All the books have been carefully examined, and we offer no books to Sunday-schools which contain sentiments not in harmony with the faith of Universalists. Selections have been made from the publications of all booksellers. Should it be more convenient to send for books than to make selections personally, we are confident of giving perfectly satisfactory selections. Should you desire any additions to your Library, you will please be careful to send,—1st. A Catalogue of Books already in your Library. 2d. The sum to be expended. 3d. The average age of the scholars for whom the books are intended. Where volumes are designed for Teachers' Library or department, let this fact be stated, and the books will be selected accordingly. We have supplied hundreds of libraries, year after year, and we solicit orders to any amount.

THE WINCHESTER CONFESSION

UPON A CARD FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

It is beautifully printed in colors. At the head is printed a picture of the church at Winchester, N. H., in which the Confession was adopted.

The card was published to be distributed in our Sunday-schools. Every child in them should have one. And they are so neat and handsome that children will preserve them.

Price in quantities, at the rate of $4 per hundred. Single copies sent by mail, postage free, for 6 cents.

PREFATORY NOTE.

We herewith submit to the public the UNIVERSALIST REGISTER AND ALMANAC for 1877, and gratefully acknowledge our indebtedness to the many friends who have aided us in its preparation. It is impossible to name particularly all those who have sent us information, or we would gladly do so. We earnestly solicit a continuance of their favors. We are sorry that some communications, for which we are thankful, and especially an obituary of a minister recently deceased, came to hand too late to be used this year. Information, to be available in any number of the REGISTER, should be sent us by November 1st of the year previous to its date.

Some additions to the statistical portion of the work, and some corrections which came to hand too late to be inserted in their proper place in the REGISTER, may be found in the Appendix, p. 125, to which the reader is referred.

THE EDITOR.

THE UNIVERSALIST REGISTER.

CONTAINING THE STATISTICS OF THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1, 1876.

[NOTE OF EXPLANATION.—In the statistical tables which follow, the dates prefixed to churches and Sunday schools denote the year of their organization; the fractions affixed to parishes denote the proportion of the Sundays they have preaching; and the integers the number of families connected with the parishes; oc. denotes occasional; dor. dormant or inactive; the date prefixed to church edifices shows when they were dedicated or made ready for use; w., br., st. denote, respectively, wood, brick, stone; and the sums following, the net value of all church property, deducting indebtedness, in all cases, if known. The parallel lines (||) prefixed to the names of preachers denote ministers not in our fellowship, but preaching to Universalist societies.]

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION.

This body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets annually, on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October. It consists of the Presidents (or, in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows; viz., 1. Each State Convention in fellowship is entitled to one clerical and two lay delegates. 2. If it have in its fellowship an aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, it is entitled to two clerical and four lay delegates. 3. If there be one or more organized parishes in any State where there is no convention, said parish or parishes are entitled to send one delegate to the General Convention: provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry unless he is disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in all cases of discipline not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

The MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected in 1869, and named in honor of Rev. John Murray, the first preacher of Universal Redemption in America, is designed to aid in the education of our clergy, the circulation of denominational literature, and in church extension. This fund amounted, October 1, 1876, to $120,742.54, and the interest on this fund for the year was $8,357.05.

The JOHN G. GUNN MINISTERIAL RELIEF FUND, founded by the bequest of $8,000 by the late John G. Gunn, of Nyack, N. Y., "for the relief, support and maintenance of needy Universalist clergymen and their widows and orphans, not coming within the scope of the Harsen Fund of New York," amounted, October 1, 1876, to about $8,500.

Forty scholarships have been in force during the year,—twenty-two at Canton, and eighteen at Tufts; and the amount of Convention aid rendered to students during the year was $7,200. The amount received during the year in repayment of loans on this account previously made, was $1,098. And from the first establishment of theological scholarships, under the auspices of the Convention, there has been expended in this department, $50,280. Of this sum, $5,520 appears as a free gift, and a further sum of $540 has been remitted or canceled by vote of the Board of Trustees, in consequence of the death of the beneficiaries or other special cause. The balance ($44,220) represents loans made in accordance with the present rules, of which sum $14,138.25 is now due, and a large part of it is considerably overdue.

The present indebtedness of the Convention is $25,200. Reduction of the debt the past year was $4,300. There were appropriated by the Convention in October, 1876, the following sums:—

For a general secretary, his salary and traveling expenses,	$3,500
scholarships,	7,200
interest on debt,	1,700
missionary work,	3,000
office expenses,	1,000
printing,	300
traveling expenses of trustees,	1,000

Officers of General Convention.

President.—Rev. Henry W. Rugg of Rhode Island.

Vice-President.—J. L. Grant, Esq., of New York.

Treasurer.—D. L. Holden, Esq., of Jersey City, N. J.

Trustees.—Hon. William T. Parker of N. H.; Hon. Sidney Perham of Me.; Rev. H. W. Rugg of R. I.; Rev. E. G. Brooks, D. D., of Pa.; Rev. E. H. Capen of Mass.; Rev. J. S. Dodge, Jr., of Conn.; Hon. J. R. Buchtel of Ohio; Mr. Russell Blakeley of Minn.; Mr. F. S. Boas of Pa.; Rev. Jacob Straub of Ill.; Rev. J. M. Pullman of N. Y., ex officio.

The Convention meets, in 1877, at Chicago, Ill., and Rev. E. H. Chapin, D. D., is appointed to preach the occasional sermon.

The Universalist Historical Society.—This society was organized in 1884, and has for its object "the collection and preservation of facts pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism, together with books and papers having reference to the same subject." It has a library of about 1,500 volumes, now at Tufts College, which has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times, and it is very desirable that means should be provided for rendering the library as complete as possible.

President.—Rev. C. H. Fay of District of Columbia.

Vice-President.—Rev. J. O. Skinner of Maine.

Treasurer.—Rev. Edwin Davis of Mass.

The Woman's Centenary Association was organized in 1869, to assist in raising the Murray Fund.

President.—Mrs. C. A. Soule, of New York City.

Recording Secretary.—Miss Ellen E. Miles, of New Jersey.

Corresponding Secretary.—Mrs. F. J. M. Whitcomb, of New York.

Corresponding Secretary for the West.—Mrs. L. B. Marsh of Illinois.

Treasurer.—Mrs. M. A. Adams of Melrose Highlands, Mass.

The tract enterprise of this Association has been carried forward with energy and success during the year past, and a great many tracts have been distributed over all parts of the globe. The total receipts of the Association for 1876 were $24,379.62; disbursements, $22.,306.95.

ALABAMA.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; we estimate that there are about 150 families who attend on Universalist meetings when they have opportunity, but though there are 13 organized churches, with 252 members, yet we believe there is no one of these churches that has preaching every Sunday. Rev. J. C. Burruss says there are 4 church edifices owned by Universalists in Alabama, and besides these there are 7 union houses which Universalists have an interest in and have the use of. The State is, of course, almost entirely a field for missionary labor, and the preachers, only 7 in number, are "like angels visits," indeed, "few and far between."

CALIFORNIA.

In San Francisco, there is a parish embracing 325 families; a church, formed in 1875, of 190 members; a Sunday school of 130 members, and two ministers.

Canada.

In the Dominion of Canada, there is the Ontario Association (formed in 1845), which meets on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nearest to the middle of June. John Decon, Esq., of Port Dover (P. O.), Clerk.

Summary.—We sum up 9 parishes, with about 500 families; 7 churches, having 463 members; 5 Sunday schools, with 274 members; 7 church edifices, with a total church property of $73,800, and 7 preachers.

Connecticut.

The State Convention (formed in 1832) meets on the third Wednesday of September.

President.—Rev. C. A. Skinner.

Vice-President.—Hon. S. C. Hubbard of Middletown.

Secretary.—J. S. Hussey of Hartford.

Treasurer.—J. E. Bidwell of Middletown.

Trustee for three years.—Sylvester Bissell of Hartford.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination and Discipline.—Revs. D. M. Hodge, H. P. Osgood, and Mr. J. L. Lockwood.

* This is an estimate, for the Halifax parish and church are the same. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper is administered quarterly to the whole congregation; a custom which is followed in some other parishes.

Preacher of next Occasional Sermon.—Rev. J. K. Mason; Alternate.—Rev. J. H. Amies.

The Convention has a Missionary Fund of $24,000.

Associations.—1. Southern (formed in 1827) meets on the second Wednesday of June, 1877, in Danbury. Preacher of occasional sermon, Rev. J. K. Mason; Rev. D. M. Hodge, Clerk.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 3 Associations; 82 parishes, embracing 4,500 families; 36 church organizations, having 1,488 members; 57 Sunday schools, having 5,810 members; 76 church edifices, with a total church property above indebtedness of $628,500; and 34 preachers.

MARYLAND.

In this State, we report at Baltimore a parish of 80 families; a church of 133 members, of which Rev. William Taylor is pastor; a Sunday school of 234 members; a church edifice, built in 1860, of brick, valued at $35,000.

At Chesapeake City and Elkton there are church edifices valued at $5,000 and $1,500, respectively.

There are five resident preachers, of whom two are wholly immersed in secular business.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The State Convention (formed in 1834) meets on the fourth Tuesday in September. It consists of life-members, resident ordained ministers in its fellowship, and two lay delegates from each parish.

NOTE.—It does not come within our plan to insert in our tables mere missionary stations, where there is neither a church organization, house of worship, nor settled pastor. But we do not forget that in Minnesota there are many places where there are Universalist families and occasional preaching, which is the case in Fillmore, Kasson, Lake City, Northfield, Plain View and Utica, and perhaps some other places; but these places mentioned have neither church, house of worship, nor minister.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 13 parishes, besides numerous missionary stations, embracing, by estimation, 600 families; 7 church organizations, having 333 members; 14 Sunday schools, having 834 members; 11 church edifices, with a total church property of $129,675; and 14 preachers.

MISSOURI.

This State is for us a missionary field. The churches of our faith there are few and small, and widely scattered. As far as organized Universalism is concerned in Missouri, the credit is largely due to Rev. Stephen Hull, the indefatigable State Missionary, who travels extensively, and has preached between two hundred and three hundred times during the last year.

A State Convention (formed in 1868, not 1848, as stated in the last Register) was appointed to meet in Kirksville on the first Friday in October, but we have received no intimation of its having met.

The Committee of Fellowship, Ordination, and Discipline, last year, were Rev. S. Hull, and Messrs. Danforth Cheney and J. W. Plumb.

Such information as we have received of the churches will be found in the table below.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 5 Associations; 52 parishes, embracing 2,606 families; 27 church organizations, having 1,282 members; 38 Sunday schools, having 3,140 members; 49 church edifices, with a total church property of $247,600; and 37 preachers.

Virginia.

We have not a single live parish in this State, and can report, as heretofore, only a church edifice in Richmond (not in use by us) valued at $10,000, and one resident preacher without pastoral charge.

Washington Territory.

In this north-western corner of our country, there is a church, organized last year, at Dayton, of 83 members and four ministers. The brethren in this Territory are at present attached to the Oregon Convention.

West Virginia.

We can only say of West Virginia, that there is a church organization of 37 members at Fork Ridge, in Marshall County, with a church edifice worth $2,000, and perhaps 20 families of our faith; and in Shinnston, church property worth about $1,500; but at present no other organization and but one minister in the State.

Wisconsin.

The State Convention meets on the first Wednesday in June, 1877, at Columbus. It consists of the resident ordained clergy in fellowship and two lay delegates from each parish, having certificates of their appointment.

President.—Hon. F. E. Hoyt of Rochester.

Vice-President.—Rev. H. D. L. Webster.

Secretary.—Rev. Joshua Britton.

Trustees.—Hon. S. F. Frisby of West Bend, S. A. Rice of Fort Atkinson, Revs. L. W. Brigham, W. McNeal, A. C. Barry, D. D., and E. Garfield.

Committee of Fellowship, Ordination and Discipline.—Revs. J. Britton, J. C. Pattee, and Mr. A. Winslow of Fort Atkinson.

Preacher of the next Occasional Sermon.—Rev. M. G. Todd. Alternate, Rev. S. W. Sutton.

SUMMARY.—A State Convention; 26 parishes, with which are connected 852 families; 19 church organizations, having 596 members; 17 Sunday schools, having 1,111 members; 22 church edifices, with a total church property of $118,400; and 21 preachers.

ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND.

There is but one regularly ordained preacher of Universalism in the United Kingdom; viz., Rev. J. U. Mitchell of Dunfermline, Scotland. There are, however, quite a number of worthy lay preachers associated with him, who are faithfully sowing the good seed and patiently waiting for the harvest. In Scotland, there are churches of our faith in Dunfermline, Larbert, and Selkirk; and in Larbert, a church edifice, of brick, erected in 1875. There are congregations, or missionary stations, at Crossgate, Edinburgh, Galashiels, Kilmarnoch, Wishaw, Dundee, Stenhousmuir, and Glasgow, in Scotland; and in London, Brighton, and Plymouth, in England, where the "Restitution of all things" is publicly proclaimed; not to speak of the many clergy of other names, and even of the Church of England, who believe and preach the doctrine of the final purity and happiness of all mankind, without censure of their hearers and without fear of losing the favor of the public.

There is a Universalist Book and Tract Depot, Knabbie Street, Dunfermline, Scotland (instituted in 1873), at which the various Universalist works can be procured.

There is also, we believe, a regularly organized Scottish Convention of Universalists, but we are not able to give the list of its officers.

TUFTS DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty.—Rev. E. H. Capen, President; Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., Packard Professor of Christian Theology; Rev. C. H. Leonard, A. M., Goddard Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; W. G. Tousey, A. M., B. D., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; Rev. G. T. Knight, A. M., B. D., Instructor in Rhetoric and History; Rev. T. B. Thayer, D. D., Lecturer on the Evidences of Christianity; Rev. A. St. J. Chambré, A. M., Lecturer on Ecclesiastical History; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., Lecturer on Relations of Science to Christianity. The school year begins September 21, and candidates are expected to be present on that day. If unknown to the faculty, they must bring satisfactory testimonials of good character. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates must have a good English education, and it is desirable that they should have some knowledge of Latin and Greek. Applicants are admitted to the school for any period not less than one year, Those applying for advanced standing are examined in the studies which have been pursued by the class they propose to enter. To meet the wants of those who have not taken a full Collegiate course of study, and yet provide for thorough professional training, a four years' course has been instituted. For Bachelors of Arts, the full course occupies three years. Instruction in elocution throughout the course. Students have the privilege of studying French and attending lectures in the Academical department, and have free access to the library.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who sustain a satisfactory examination in the studies of the full course. Diplomas certifying to attainments are conferred on those who have taken a special course. Tuition, room-rent, and use of furniture, free. The students have only to provide for board, fuel, lights, and washing. The "Adams Club" furnishes board at cost.

The General Convention aids needy students by a system of loans; and those in the regular course, who exhibit sufficient maturity, are permitted to preach, under the direction of the faculty, for a year and a half preceding their graduation. In this way they may add to their pecuniary resources.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY.

This institution, located at Galesburg, Ill., embraces a Preparatory department, in which are taught all the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course, and also a Collegiate department, with three courses of study, of four years each; viz., Classical, Scientific, and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific and Literary, one year. Students are allowed to enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are admitted alike to all classes and all courses of study.

It has a large brick building of three stories, 80×66 feet, a large mineralogical cabinet, libraries of about 5,000 volumes, a valuable Philosophical and Chemical apparatus, and a permanent fund of about $100,000.

Executive Committee of Trustees.—David Sanborn, Sumner Ellis, Alfred Knowles, E. G. Hall, T. Judson Hale. Treasurer, David Sanborn, Galesburg; Financial Agent, Rev. W. Livingston, Galesburg.

Faculty.—Rev. N. White, Ph. D., President; Prof. J. V. N. Standish, A. M., Prof. I. A. Parker, A. M., Miss M. J. Claycomb, A. M., T. C. Stevens, A. M., Miss M. E. Hoyle, Mr. Eben H. Chapin.

Board in private families, or in Ladies' Boarding Hall, including furnished rooms, lights and fuel, at $4.00 per week. Rooms for self-boarding, by which expenses may be very much reduced, can be obtained at reasonable rates.

Tuition varies, according to studies pursued, from $3.75 to $8.25, per term of ten weeks. Extra charges for ornamental branches and for modern languages when not taken in a regular course.

Calendar.—First term, of sixteen weeks, began September 4, 1876. Second term, of thirteen weeks, begins January 2, 1877. Third term, of eleven weeks, begins April 8, 1877.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.

This institution is located at Canton, St. Lawrence County, N. Y., eighteen miles from Ogdensburg, and is easily accessible from all points by railway. It has two fully organized departments: 1. The Collegiate, comprising the usual four years' classical course, and a four years' scientific course. 2. The Theological.

Executive Committee of the Corporation.—J. S. Conkey, Chairman; Levi B. Storrs, Secretary and Treasurer; A. A. Simmons, Ebenezer Fisher, Geo. Robinson, A. G. Gaines.

College Faculty.—Rev. A. G. Gaines, D. D., President and Craig Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; A. Z. Squire, A. M., Professor of Mathematics; Bernhard Pink, Ph. B., Professor of the French and German Languages, and Instructor in History; Rev. J. H. Chapin, Ph. D., Professor of Geology and Mineralogy; W. B. Gunnison, A. B., Professor of Latin; C. K. Gaines, A. B., Instructor in Greek; E. E. Fisher, Librarian; E. J. Sykes, Steward.

The number of students now in the College is 56. Young men and young women are admitted to the institution on the same conditions. The University confers no degrees on a course of study less than four years.

Calendar.—First College term began August 28, 1876, and ends December 22; vacation, six weeks. Second term begins February 7, 1877, Tree Holiday, April 27; examinations begin June 20 and end June 25; Commencement, June 26, 27, 28. First College term begins August 22, 1877.

The total assets of the University, September 1, 1876, were $246,778.51.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL AT CANTON.

Faculty.—Rev. E. Fisher, D. D., President and Dockstader Professor of Ethics; Rev. O. Cone, A. M., Craig Professor of Biblical Languages and Literature; Rev. J. S. Lee, D. D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Biblical Archæology.

Applicants for admission must bring testimonials as to their moral and religious character, must be possessed of a good English education, and must avow their fixed intention to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. The full course of study requires three years; college graduates can complete it in two. There is also a course arranged for four years, on the completion of which students will receive the degree of B. D. Students can enter for a shorter term, and will be entitled to a certificate, stating their attainments. There are excellent opportunities at Canton for studying French and German. There is a well-selected library of 7,000 volumes, and easy access to several valuable private libraries. The location and surroundings of this School are favorable to uninterrupted study. There is no charge for tuition or for the use of the library. Board, in the College rooms, at $3.50 per week. The necessary expenses do not exceed $260 per year. When required, needy students receive aid from the Universalist General Convention. The Canton Theological School opened October 27, 1876, with a new Junior Class of eleven, and the prospect of two more,—the largest that ever entered at the opening of the term.

Calendar.—First term closes February 1. Second term opens February 21. Commencement, Wednesday, June 27. Fall term opens Wednesday, September 19.

SMITHSON COLLEGE.

This College is located in Logansport, Ind., a city of 15,000 inhabitants, beautifully situated, and with railroad facilities hardly excelled by any town in the State. The College originated with the Indiana Convention, but it has lately passed under the joint patronage of the Universalist conventions of Indiana and Michigan.

CLINTON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This, the oldest of our literary institutions (founded in 1831 as a boarding and day school for both sexes), is located in Clinton, Oneida Co., N. Y., nine miles south-west from Utica, to and from which there are several passenger trains daily. The male and female departments are in separate buildings, in each of which some members of the faculty reside.

Besides the preparatory and business or commercial departments, there have been arranged four regular courses of study; viz., Collegiate, Ladies' Collegiate, College Preparatory, and Pro-Professional; the last of two years, the others of three years each. Music, Drawing, and Painting receive careful attention.

Faculty.—I. Thornton Osmond, A. M., Principal, and Professor of Mental, Moral, and Political Science; Miss Helen S. Pratt, L. A., Preceptress, Modern Languages and English Literature; W. L. C. Bailey, A. B., Greek and Latin; Miss I. J. Miller, Higher English; Miss L. S. Borst, Common English; Miss G. L. Stone, Drawing, Painting, and Voice Culture; Miss G. Wells, Instrumental Music; W. P. Stafford, A. B., Elocution. Physical Sciences are distributed among the several teachers.

Calendar.—First term began on the last Wednesday in August, 1876. The second term begins on the second Wednesday in December. The third term begins on the last Wednesday in March, 1877. Each term is thirteen weeks. Number of students, spring term, 1876, 65.

Expenses.—Tuition in the regular courses is from $8 to $12 per term. No extra charge for the Modern Languages taken in the regular course. Ornamental branches at reasonable rates. Board, $3.80 per week, including furnished room, heat and lights.

Assets.—Buildings, apparatus, land and endowment amount to $60,000. A successful canvass is nearing completion, by Rev. P. R. Kendall, for means to erect a building worth $80,000, modern and complete in all its appointments.

In regard to beauty of location, thoroughness of instruction and economy in expenses, this school is not surpassed by any other of similar grade in the land.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY.

This institution is located in the town of Deering (post-office address is Stevens Plains), Maine, 2½ miles from Portland. It is designed and furnished as a boarding-school for both sexes, and was first opened for students in the summer of 1834. It is, therefore, the oldest of our denominational academies, except the Clinton Liberal Institute of New York. It has two large dormitories (one of them, Hersey Hall, a noble four-story brick building, 100 by 50 feet, exclusively for young ladies), which are connected by a dining-hall in which all the students take their meals.

The Seminary provides an English course of study, a College Preparatory course, and a Collegiate course for young ladies. A Normal class is formed in the spring and fall terms for the benefit of those preparing to teach. Lectures, free to all the students, are provided each term. The Seminary is well provided with philosophical and chemical apparatus, and has a good cabinet of minerals. The boarding-halls are heated by steam, and Hersey Hall is furnished with bathing-rooms and all modern conveniences. Board, including fuel and lights, $3.50 per week. Tuition, from $8 to $10 per term of sixteen weeks.

Finances.—The total value of the property and funds of the Seminary is about $105,000.

Board of Instruction.—G. M. Bodge, A. M., Principal and Professor of Mental Science and Greek; C. F. Hall, A. M., Vice-Principal and Professor of Natural Science and Mathematics; G. A. Quinby, Professor of Music; A. H. Pennell and S. B. Thombs, Assistants; J. A. Lufkin, Business Department; Mrs. J. S. Boothby, Preceptress and Teacher of Latin; Miss Ida B. Dunn, French and Rhetoric; Miss M. Hooper, Drawing and Painting.

Number of students, spring term, 1876, . . 151
" " fall " " . . 123

Calendar.—Fall term of sixteen weeks began August 7, 1876. Spring term of sixteen weeks begins first Tuesday in March, 1877.

GREEN MOUNTAIN PERKINS ACADEMY.

This school, located in South Woodstock (Windsor Co.), Vermont, went into operation in 1848, under the name of the Green Mountain Liberal Institute, but in October, 1870, took the name it now bears. It has property and funds to the amount of about $15,000, and is in good condition to do in the future, as it has done for the past twenty-eight years, a good work in the cause of higher education and liberal culture.

Board of Instruction.—E. H. Aldrich, A. B., Principal; Miss Flora C. Eaton, Preceptress; T. A. Cooley, W. H. Sanderson, Assistants in Mathematics; Miss Lizzie A. Clarke, Teacher of Music; Mr. C. F. Benjamin, Vocal Music; Mr. W. H. Wilkins, Penmanship.

The number of students in October, 1876, was 80.

Board, including lights and washing, $3.50 per week; there are also ample opportunities for self-boarding.

Calendar.—Winter term began Nov. 28, 1876. Spring term begins February 22, 1877. Fall term begins August 30, 1877.

DEAN ACADEMY.

This institution, a first-class boarding-school for both sexes, is located in Franklin (Norfolk Co.), Mass., twenty-seven miles from Boston. It was incorporated in 1865, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the amount of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the purposes of education." It derives its name from Dr. Oliver Dean, who gave the land on which it stands, together with $135,000 towards its endowment. The total valuation of the assets of the institution is now $240,000. The new edifice (to replace that burnt in July, 1872) was dedicated June 24, 1874, is 220 feet long, four stories high, is heated throughout by steam, and lighted by gas, has bathing-rooms, and a hospital, and is fitted up and furnished in the most thorough and perfect manner for the accommodation and comfort of students. It cost $175,000.

Officers of the Board of Trustees.—Rev. A. St. John Chambré, A. M., Franklin, President; H. D. Williams, A. M., Vice-President; J. C. Wellington, North Cambridge, Treasurer; Rev. H. I. Cushman, Providence, R. I., Secretary.

Board of Instruction.—Rev. J. P. Weston, D. D., Principal, and Goddard Professor of Mental and Moral Science; Charles C. Bates, A. M., Chase Classical Instructor; Leslie A. Lee, A. M., Teacher of Natural Sciences; Miss H. B. Stetson, Preceptress, Teacher of French and German; Miss Annie W. Stiles, Assistant Teacher of Higher English; L. H. Isenbeck, Professor of Music; Miss M. E. Weston, Teacher of Drawing and Painting; Mrs. M. Little, Teacher of Vocal Music.

Courses of Study.—Besides the common English, there are four regular courses, of three years each; viz., the Academic, the Scientific, the Philosophical, and College Preparatory.

Tuition, $10 per term. Board, $4 per week.

Calendar. The school year is divided into three terms, forty weeks in the aggregate. Winter term begins Tuesday, December 5, 1876. Spring term begins Tuesday, March 20, 1877. Fall term begins Tuesday, September 4, 1877.

GODDARD SEMINARY.

This institution is located at Barre (Washington County), Vermont, six miles from Montpelier, the State capital, and was named in honor of the late Thomas A. Goddard of Boston, its most liberal benefactor. Originally incorporated in 1863, under the name of the Green Mountain Central Institute, it took its present name by leave of the Legislature in 1870, and went into operation the same year. It has a noble brick edifice, 160 by 53 feet on the ground, and five stories high, sufficient to accommodate 112 boarding students, and is provided with everything necessary and convenient.

It is heated by steam, and every floor supplied with running water.

The school offers three complete courses of study; viz., College Preparatory and English, each of three years, and Female Collegiate of four years.

Tuition, per term, from $6 to $11, according to the studies pursued. Board, $4 per week, including rooms, heat, lights, and washing.

Board of Instruction.—Henry Priest, A. B., Principal, Mental and Moral Philosophy and the Sciences; D. M. Woodbury, A. B., Greek, Latin and Elocution; Miss B. A. Weeks, B. S., Preceptress, French, Latin and Botany; Miss P. A. Thompson, Common English; J. S. Gilman, Painting and Drawing; W. A. Wheaton, Instrumental Music; H. H. Hollister, Penmanship.

Calendar.—Winter term, of thirteen weeks, begins Wednesday, December 6, 1876, and closes Tuesday, March 6, 1877. Spring term, of fourteen weeks, begins Wednesday, March 21, and closes Wednesday, June 27. Fall term, of thirteen weeks, begins Wednesday, August 22, and closes Tuesday, November 20.

MITCHELL SEMINARY.

This Seminary is centrally located in Mitchellville (Polk County), Iowa, midway between Davenport and Council Bluffs, and sixteen miles east of Des Moines. It is easily accessible from all parts of the State. The town is beautifully situated, and contains a moral and intelligent population. The Seminary, first opened in 1872, is designed for both sexes, and its courses of study embrace such branches as are usually taught in schools of the same grade. It is under the control of a Board of Trustees, appointed by the Iowa Universalist Convention, but is not sectarian in its teachings.

Board can be had by a limited number of young ladies in the Seminary building, with handsomely furnished rooms, at the low rate of $3 per week. Lights and fuel, fifty cents per week, or provided in quantity, at cost. Rooms can be rented in town by those who wish to board themselves. Good board can be had in private families at reasonable rates.

Executive Committee of Trustees.—Hon. Thomas Mitchell, President; Rev. J. R. Sage, Secretary; Hon. B. F. Gue, Treasurer. Rev. J. R. Sage, Principal.

Tuition.—From $6 to $10 per term, according to studies pursued. Music extra.

Calendar.—Fall term, of twelve weeks, began September 12, 1876. Winter term, of twelve weeks, begins December 5, 1876. Spring term, of twelve weeks, begins March 12, 1877.

Vacation of ten days during holidays, and twelve days at close of winter term.

JEFFERSON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This seminary is situated in the town of Jefferson, the county seat of Jefferson County, Wisconsin. It occupies the centre of a lot of four acres, and has attractive surroundings. It was incorporated April 12, 1866, and a school opened in 1867. Five courses are provided for at the Institute; viz., English Preparatory, Business, Academic, Scientific, and College Preparatory. It is out of debt, and has the prospect of a steady and permanent growth. The property of the Institute is worth $35,000.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. J. W. Ostrander, Jefferson, President; Hon. W. W. Reed, Jefferson, Vice-President; R. W. Clark, Esq., Jefferson, Secretary and Treasurer.

Faculty.—Elmore Chase, A. M., Principal, and Teacher of Mental and Moral Philosophy and Political Economy; Mrs. M. E. Chase, Preceptress, and Teacher of French, English Language Lessons, and Geography; W. F. Bundy, Teacher of Natural Science; Alonzo Brown, A. B., Teacher of History and Ancient Languages and Literature; Leonard Emert, Teacher of German Language and Literature; H. E. Rogers, Principal of Commercial Department; Miss E. R. Garfield, Teacher of Ornamental Branches; M. D. Jones, Teacher of Music.

All the teachers are graduates, holding diplomas. Hitherto the Principal has taught the ancient languages; but now a regular professor gives his whole time to this work and to history. The teacher of German devotes all his time to teaching this language. He has taken a full course of German language and literature.

This school is well provided with apparatus in the Chemical and Philosophical departments.

Board can be obtained in private families, including fuel, lights, rent and washing, at $3.50 per week, two students occupying one room.

* This is the English name of an Indian preacher of the Delaware tribe, who supports himself by manual labor, and preaches gratuitously, in apostolic fashion, to those of his tribe who choose to hear him. His Indian name, or, at any rate, that of his father, is spelled Wtaushwoghwan, which signifies "Crossing the road."

GENERAL SUMMARY FOR THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA.—One General Convention; 22 State Conventions; 69 Associations; 880 parishes, embracing 41,029 families; 656 church organizations, having 32,947 members; 640 Sunday schools, having 59,463 teachers and pupils; 756 church edifices, with a total church property above indebtedness of $7,465,495; and 706 ministers, including licentiates and the unordained.

A TRIBUTE TO THE DEPARTED.

I. Rev. JEDUTHUN LOCKWOOD, son of David and Diadamia (Scofield) Lockwood, was born in Bristol (Ontario Co.), N. Y., April 21, 1803, and died in Hillsdale, Mich., October 30, 1875, in his seventy-third year. Whatever schooling he received was in Manchester, N. Y. In 1824 he was married to Miss Mary Potter, and the same year he began to preach. In 1832 he received a letter of fellowship, and in 1839 he was ordained at Grass Lake, Jackson Co., Mich. He labored in the ministry for some years in Scipio and Hillsdale, Mich. For the last few years of his life he was an invalid and unable to preach, but for many years previously he was well and favorably known through Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. He was noted for his sound judgment, his spiritual fervor, his ready sympathies, and was especially adapted to be a comforter to mourners. He left a widow and several children.

II. Rev. ASHER MOORE, son of John and Susanna (Stewart) Moore, was born in Anson, Me., May 19, 1805, and died in Hammonton, N. J., November 18, 1875, in his seventy-first year. He had only a common school education, but by reading and diligent study he became possessed of good information on general subjects. He was licensed to preach by the Maine Convention, in June, 1838. He was ordained in June, 1839. He preached more or less in Anson and the vicinity for several years, in the meantime carrying on his father's farm in Anson. In 1854 he removed to Winthrop, Me., and engaged in fruit culture, living there till 1859, when he moved for the benefit of his health to Hammonton, N. J., and preached there occasionally, until a shock of paralysis, some years ago, entirely disabled him.

He was married October 16, 1827, to Miss Abigail Spaulding, and of their eight children, six survive,—two sons and four daughters,—together with their mother. Mr. Moore was not endowed with great energy, but bore a respectable character, was a stanch Universalist, and died rejoicing in the faith which he had defended with his living voice.

III. Rev. JEREMIAH STODDARD, son of Captain Abel and Mary (Fellows) Stoddard, was born in Greene, Me., July 11, 1794, and died in the same town, December 18, 1875, in his eighty-second year. When he was a lad of four years, his family moved to the town of Durham, Me., and lived there seventeen years, and from thence to Farmington, in the same State, where he attended an academy for four years, and fitted himself for teaching. It is said that he taught school for twenty-two terms. He was also noted as a teacher of singing. In 1829 he began to preach as an itinerant, and continued to do so for sixteen years, preaching, it is said, in no less than a hundred towns. In 1831 he received the rite of baptism by immersion from the hands of Rev. Thomas Doloff, in the town of Jay. He was ordained in February, 1845, at Canton, Me., he being at that time fifty-one years of age. He was a good general scholar, excelling especially in mathematics, and was withal quite an inventive genius. He spent much time and labor on a project for perpetual motion, as many had done before him, and with as little success. He preached in Canton, Me., for a couple of years, and in 1845 moved to Boston, and for six years lived there and preached as he had opportunity. For one year he lived in Springfield, Mass., then for twelve years in Milford, in the same State. In 1864 he returned to his native town, where he spent the remainder of his life. In 1825 he was married, in Farmington, Me., to Miss Mary Ann, daughter of Shubel Smith, and she, with three children,—one son and two daughters,—remains, three children having died before him. Mr. Stoddard was a deep thinker, a good writer, an instructive preacher, very retiring in his manner, and a man of pure life and sterling integrity.

IV. Rev. GEORGE BATES, son of Solomon and Mary (Macomber) Bates, was born in Fayette, Me., February 12, 1798, and died in Auburn, Me., January 24, 1876, having nearly completed his seventy-eighth year. He came of a good family. His father had been a member of the Massachusetts Senate while Maine was a part of that State; his eldest brother, Dr. James Bates, had been a member of Congress; and other brothers rose to distinction in social and mercantile life. His mother came from a Quaker family of Taunton, Mass. On coming of age, having acquired a good common school education, and learned the blacksmith's trade, he removed to Livermore, Me., and there, on the 26th of May, 1821, he was married to Miss Hannah Haines. She died in Turner, Me., in March, 1832, after having borne him four children. August 28, 1832, he was married to Mrs. Louisa (Prince) Bailey, of Buckfield, Me., who bore him nine children, of whom six, together with their mother, still live. Mr. Bates was licensed (or, according to the language of that day, fellowshiped) at a session of the Eastern Association, at Farmington, June 24, 1824; and at Wayne, June 25, 1825, he was ordained. More than half of his ministerial life was spent in Turner, though he has also been stationed at Livermore, Hallowell, Canton, and Auburn, all in the State of Maine. In Turner he preached for twenty-five years, the longest pastorate of any of our Maine clergy, and it is worthy of note, that after a suit at law in which the town recovered the ministerial fund against the claim of the Congregational Society, the people of Turner, by a vote of the town, dismissed the minister of that church, Rev. Allen Greeley, and settled Mr. Bates in his stead. With genuine liberality, however, the town, on getting possession of the fund, made a per capita distribution of it to all the societies in Turner, that each might have its proportionate share of the fund. During the early years of the "Gospel Banner," Mr. Bates acted as assistant editor, and enriched its columns with many interesting and valuable articles. In his preaching he was truly evangelical, winning, and impressive. His style was clear, unaffected and forcible. He was, however (says Rev. W. A. Drew), not so much of a Boanerges, son of thunder, as a Barnabas, son of consolation. He attended, in the course of his ministry, one thousand five hundred funerals, and united in wedlock six hundred couples. In his home, among his brethren in the ministry, yea, in every relation of life, he was the embodiment of kindness, gentleness, and hospitality, and diffused around him an atmosphere of serenity, good-nature and benevolence. He leaves a pleasant memory by his amiable and genial spirit and his blameless life. The beneficent influence of such a minister's life and character, not only while he lives, but after his death, is wide-spread and long enduring.

V. Rev. Franklin Charles Flint, eldest child of Henry Harrison and Sarah (Bartlett) Flint, was born in Nelson, N. H., June 16, 1836, and died in Shrewsbury, Mass., March 23, 1876. In 1840, his family moved to Hancock, N. H., and in 1842, to Shrewsbury, Mass., where he worked on his father's farm and attended a district school. At an early age he showed an eager thirst for knowledge, and a desire for a classical education. He went through his preparatory course at Thetford (Vt.) Academy, and, in 1857, entered Amherst College. But, after spending two years there, he left, entered at Tufts, and graduated in 1861, the third in a class of twelve, with a philosophical oration. He was enabled to work his way through college by gaining, in a competitive examination, one of the scholarships granted by the State of Massachusetts to Tufts College, and by what he could earn in teaching school during his vacations. Upon graduating, he took charge of the high school in Westborough, Mass., and in the meantime turned his attention to theology. He preached his first sermon at Groton (now Ayer) Junction. In 1863, he preached in Dana and vicinity, teaching meanwhile a select school. In 1864–5, he taught a select school in Hyannis, Mass., and afterwards was assistant in the academy in Dudley. He was married in the summer of 1865, to Miss Mary Louisa Mellish of Auburn, Mass., and in the following September removed to Chatham, on Cape Cod, where he was ordained July 31, 1866. In May, 1867, he removed to Southbridge, Mass., where, as pastor of the Universalist Society, he proved himself a faithful minister, and also a useful member of the school committee, an efficient worker in the temperance cause, and by his active interest and coöperation in every good work, and by his frank and genial manners, won the respect and good-will of the people in and out of his parish. In 1874 he took charge of the Willow Park Seminary at Westborough, Mass., but resigned after one year. He preached for short periods at Oxford and Rockport. In 1874 he prepared for the press a memoir of the late Rev. W. W. Wilson, one of his predecessors in the pastorate at Southbridge. In December, 1875, he took charge of the Universalist Society in Attleborough, Mass., but failing health compelled him to resign the position in March, 1876. His people voted him leave of absence, hoping that he might recover, and he went to his father's in Shrewsbury; but he rapidly grew worse until death came to his relief. His funeral took place at the Congregational church in Shrewsbury, the pastor of the church reading the Scriptures, and Rev. T. E. St. John of Worcester delivering a eulogy.

VI. Rev. Stephen Presson Landers, son of Stephen and Polly (Long) Landers, was born in South Bainbridge (now Afton), N. Y., August 22, 1812, and died in Kirkland (Oneida Co.), April 15, 1876, in his sixty-fourth year. He was trained to his father's calling, that of farmer, and attended only the common district school until reaching the age of twenty-two, when he entered the Clinton Liberal Institute, and remained there three years. He began to preach in 1836, and labored for awhile in the ministry at Prompton and Gibson, Pa. He was ordained in 1839, at Binghamton, N. Y. In 1840 he moved to Andover, Mass., and from thence in 1841 to Worcester, in the same State, where he lived three years, and was instrumental in laying the foundation of our cause in that city, by the organization of a church and the erection of a house of worship. In 1844 he moved to West Cambridge, and while supplying different parishes in the vicinity on Sundays, devoted his week days mainly to his favorite pursuit of horticulture and to the interests of a private seminary established by members of his household. In 1849 he returned to Clinton, N. Y., where he spent the remainder of his days. This was the former home of his wife, Miss Emily Barker, to whom he was married in 1842. At the time of his funeral she was prostrated on a bed of sickness brought on by overexertion and anxiety on his account.

Mr. Landers was one of the original corporators of the Franklin Iron Works in Clinton, and he had been in late years concerned in other manufactures. He took a specially strong interest in horticulture, and one of the finest orchards in Oneida County was set out and cared for by him. He was very industrious and frugal in his habits, of an amiable and gentle disposition, public-spirited, unselfish in a marked degree, of pure life, and faithful to every trust. "His whole family, even to the remotest branches," writes his daughter (an only child), "are Universalists, and always have been since Universalism as such has been known. In his native town, half of the Universalists are named Landers, or are related." We knew Mr. Landers well while he lived in Massachusetts, and we can bear our testimony, from personal knowledge, that he was a man of faith, deeply interested in our denominational work. He leaves to his family and to the church the odor of a good name, the influence of a true and noble life.

VII. Mr. JOHN RAYMOND BENHAM died at East Brome, Province of Quebec, April 19, 1876, aged sixty-four years. He had been a laborious, self-denying advocate of Universalism in Canada for forty years. He came out from the Free-will Baptists, and was received into our fellowship in 1831. In that part of the Province of Quebec known as the Eastern Townships, the Universalists are quite numerous, but are widely scattered, and a considerable part of the strength of our cause there is due to the labors of Mr. Benham, who began to preach quite early in life, though getting little for his labor, and working on his farm in the meanwhile for the support of his family. He never spoke of himself as having "preached," but said he used to "talk" and "tell the good news"; and he always declined ordination because he was uneducated, and felt himself unworthy of the honorable name of a "preacher." A brother preacher (Rev. H. E. Whitney), in writing of him, in June, 1873, said: "To me he seems as one of the prophets. He worked incessantly till his health broke down. Now he is an old man, at a little past sixty, and waiting for the renewing of his youth and another field of labor. I never tire of praising him, and I think that some time his name ought to have an honorable mention among our early workers,—the founders of our faith." Another friend of his (Rev. V. G. Wheelock), says, writing in May, 1875: "He was never ordained. He had ordination offered him at the hands of the denomination, but he declined it, having the views of the Quakers relating to ordination. I have known Brother Benham over thirty years. He is a good man, and at an early day did our cause good service."

VIII. Rev. WILLIAM ROGERS CHAMBERLIN, son of Thomas and Mary (Rogers) Chamberlin, was born in Brookfield (Carroll Co.), N. H., November 2, 1816, and died in Clinton (Oneida Co.), N. Y., April 28, 1876. In the death of Mr. Chamberlin our ministry has suffered a serious loss. He was a man of marked ability, and as a preacher was much above the average. He had a great love of books, and was of a very studious habit. In his early manhood he followed for several years the vocation of school teacher. He was licensed to preach at Wolfborough, N. H., in 1844, and was ordained in Dighton, Mass., in 1847. While preaching at Dighton he accepted an invitation from a private individual to go to Abington, Va., and engage in missionary work in that State. For two years he preached in the Virginia backwoods—in its highways and byways—in school-houses, mills and log cabins—enduring great hardship, encountering many dangers, risking his life from violence, and depending for support solely upon Divine Providence. Young men in the ministry seeking for large salaries and easy places would do well to ponder his example. Mr. Chamberlin was not of that class. He steadily pursued his work in that section until he felt that it was the Lord's will he should go elsewhere. In the fall of 1849 he went to Cincinnati, O., and for twelve years was employed as a book-keeper. But though engaged during the week in secular pursuits, his activity in behalf of his faith did not in the least diminish. He connected himself with the Second Universalist Church in that city, and for three years was superintendent of its Sunday school. Subsequently he became superintendent of the school at the First Church, and held the position for seven years. It was in this capacity that he was eminently fitted for usefulness. His influence over children was unbounded. He was all kindness and gentleness, and the children instinctively regarded him as their natural friend. His imagination was exceedingly fertile. He abounded in stories such as children ever love to hear; and he never failed, at the conclusion of the lessons, to improvise a story focalized around some striking truth, which was certain to hold both old and young spell-bound. He laughed and cried by turns, and with these emotions the school was always in close sympathy. He had all the gifts of an improvisatore of the olden time.

But he was never thoroughly in harmony with his secular work. He knew he was out of his proper element. He longed to be at work again in the ministry, and in 1867 laid aside his accountant's pen, and resumed the armor of the preacher. He was settled successively at Mendota, Ill.; Vinton, Council Bluffs, and Dubuque, Iowa; and at Clinton, N. Y., at which last place he spent his last days.

His work at Clinton was very successful. He attached his people to himself by his amiable disposition, his unselfish spirit, and his devotion to his work. His personal influence was greatly aided by his marked ability as a preacher. Having a wide acquaintance with books and a fine literary taste, his sermons were always neat, compact, and often highly polished. Intellectual, cultivated people always admired and enjoyed them.

When, in 1873, he went on a sort of missionary tour to England and Scotland, wherever he preached his sermons were highly spoken of, and it is known that they impressed on those who heard them a high idea of American Universalism. He undoubtedly did a good work for our faith in the United Kingdom.

For the last three or four years of his life he was a great sufferer from an incurable disease, but he worked steadily on till within a few weeks of his death. His last service was held at his own house, March 21, 1876, when he arose from his sick-bed and gave the right hand of fellowship to twenty-one persons, baptizing seven, and consecrating the babe of a friend. With this service his work on earth was done, and yet not wholly done, for it was appointed that he should bear thrilling testimony with respect to death. On Sunday evening preceding his death, he said with deep feeling: "The idea of heaven open, and angels ascending and descending, is beautiful, is poetical. But the life of trust which enters the heart and brings heaven down to us, to make the way smooth, is mine. I can therefore leave you all to that beneficent Providence which has been, and is now, my support."

On Thursday morning, the day before he died, he said, "I wish you would all come into the room together, for I have learned something about dying which I want all of you to hear." When those whom he addressed appeared, he said, "Dying undisturbed is exceedingly pleasant, restful, and beautiful,—consciousness settles down gradually into unconsciousness. But death seems often very timid. The least noise—the opening of a door, voices in another room—frightens him away for a time. For this reason, protect the dying." The announcement of his physician that his end was near, he hailed with joy. Like Stephen of old, he saw heaven opened, and he longed to enter it and be at rest. Thus triumphantly passed away an able preacher of the gospel, and a most excellent Christian man,—one, indeed, whom our whole denomination should delight to remember and honor. He was married in 1841 to Miss Sophia R. Smith, who survives him. He left no children.

IX. Rev. Zadock Howard Howe, son of Timothy and Betsy (Howard) Howe, was born in Turner, Me., July 28, 1818, and died in Monroe, Wis., June 6, 1876, having nearly completed his fifty-eighth year. He received an academical education at Kent's Hill Seminary, in Readfield, Me., and studied in preparation for the ministry with Rev. Leander Hussey in Durham, Me., where, in 1844, he was licensed to preach. He was ordained in the summer of 1846, at Abington, Mass. After a brief ministry in North Turner, Me., and West Amesbury, Mass., he was engaged in 1849–50 in itinerating and selling denominational books. In the fall of 1850, he went to Milwaukee, Wis., remaining there about a year; in 1851 he was located in Belvidere, Ill., and in 1852, in Machias, Me. In the autumn of 1852, he was married to Mrs. Maria M. Churchill, a native of Hartland, Vt. In the spring of 1853, he removed to Bristol, Me., remaining there till the fall of 1858, when he removed to Monroe, Wis., but after preaching there a year and a half, he was compelled by failing health to suspend his labors. He had long suffered from a bronchial trouble, which made public speaking difficult and laborious, and which was the cause of frequent removals. He found travel and change of climate beneficial and even indispensable in his case. He moved to Madison, Wis., in 1860; but in 1863 he returned to Monroe, which was his home for the remainder of his life, and for the last six or seven years he was the postmaster of the town. During the war of the rebellion he was appointed chaplain of the fifth Wisconsin regiment, but resigned after three months, sick.

For the last thirty years he had suffered much from ill-health, which interfered seriously with his success as a preacher; but in other ways he fulfilled a ministry of the highest quality. His intellectual powers were clear, keen and strong, and continued so to the last. Not less is to be said of his heart than of his head. Such were the guilelessness of his soul, the gentleness of his disposition, and his abounding good-nature, that he grew more and more into the esteem and love of the community, which now mourns his loss. His soul burned with philanthropy. He loved the true and the right so ardently, that he hated falsehood and wrong. In theology, as in his theories of reform in general, he was very radical, holding firmly, and conscientiously and bravely, to the naturalistic views of the so-called Liberal wing of theologians, and did not feel himself in complete harmony with the policy of the Universalist Denomination, yet embracing with his whole heart its fundamental and distinguishing tenets. But of his native purity of heart, the sweetness of his temper, the refinement of his manners, the open-hearted frankness and sincerity of his nature, and his large-hearted, unselfish devotion to the truth and right, as he saw the truth and right, too much can hardly be said in his praise. A confidential correspondence carried on with him for a series of years, revealed to us the noble nature of the man, and evinced a high order of literary ability, and a soul all aflame with noble and generous impulses, though hampered all through life, and deprived of executive force and efficiency, by continued ill-health. In sympathy with his family, and a large circle of his relatives and associates, we mourn, in his death, the loss of a dear and faithful friend.

X. Rev. Ichabod Blakeslee Sharp, the eleventh child of Hendrick and Hannah (Blakeslee) Sharp, was born in Greene (Chenango Co.), N. Y., April 3, 1811, and died in Hume, N. Y., June 24, 1876. Mr. Sharp's father was born in Germany, but came to this country with his parents when he was but a child. His mother was born in Chenango County, N. Y., but was of English parentage. His parents were rigid close-communion Baptists, and taught their children that all persons outside of their own church were essentially and fatally wrong. Having been thus educated, Mr. Sharp, at the age of twenty-two, united with the Second Baptist Church in Eaton (Madison Co.); but its narrow creed and exclusiveness did not satisfy him, and four years afterward, viz., August 31, 1837, he was licensed to preach by the Chenango Universalist Association at its session in Upper Lisle, though he commenced preaching three years earlier. After one year in Pharsalia (Madison Co.), he removed to Hume (Allegany Co.) in the fall of 1838. He was ordained at Randolph (Cattaraugus Co.), February 24, 1839. He preached in Hume four years, and in Friendship and Philipsburg three years. In 1848 he settled in Cuba, and there, with the exception of a single year, lived for the remainder of his life, preaching in various places as an itinerant and missionary. Faithfully for more than forty years he labored in the gospel ministry, winning the confidence of the people wherever he had lived, and leaving a good name behind him when he died. He had been for many years the victim of disease, and often apparently near the grave, yet he lived to the age of sixty-five to proclaim the glad tidings of universal grace. He came to his death by an accident, very suddenly, and while in his usual state of health, as he was on his way to the annual session of the Allegany Association. He had gone in a carriage with a friend about eight miles from home, when they drove on to a canal bridge, which gave way, precipitating them into the canal. It is supposed that he was instantly killed by the falling timbers, and thus, in four short hours after parting from his family, he was brought back a corpse. He had been twice married; the second time to Mrs. Marilla Meacham, October 1, 1859, who survives him, together with a son and daughter by the first marriage.

His funeral took place at Hume, Rev. F. M. Alvord officiating, assisted by Elder Morey of the Baptist Church, who spoke very feelingly of the loss the community had sustained by the death of a true Christian man and a consecrated minister of Christ. The Masonic Fraternity, of which he was a member, took charge of his remains, and performed a solemn and impressive service at the grave.

XI. Rev. Hope Bain died at his home in Goldsboro', N. C., after a short illness, October 5, 1876, in the eighty-second year of his age. His father (also named Hope Bain) was an officer in the British navy, a Scotchman by birth, who married an English lady residing at the Island of Antigua, West Indies, a widow Watts, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Hobbie. They went on a visit to Aberdeen, Scotland, and there the subject of this notice was born, May 30, 1795. The father returned to the West Indies, sold his commission, removed with his family to Maryland, and, being a scholar, he taught school after he left the navy up to the time of his death. He died in Baltimore in 1812. The son served during the war of 1812, young as he was, as a member of a Baltimore company of volunteers attached to the Fifth Regiment, and was in the battles of Bladensburg and West Point. He was raised a Presbyterian, and was a member of that church for many years. In 1830 he was appointed an agent to labor in West Tennessee and in the valley of the Mississippi for the American Sunday School Union. He became a Universalist in 1847, and was ordained a preacher at Norfolk, Va., in 1848. He was for fifteen years a teacher in Virginia. He moved to North Carolina in December, 1851, and preached, before the war of the rebellion, in twenty counties; since then he has preached occasionally in six counties. His last sermon was in Goldsboro,' in 1875.

Anticipating his approaching departure, he said that at the age of eighty-one he could not expect to remain here much longer. He felt that he was nearing the blissful home above, there to be united to his loved ones gone before. He had lost eight children. He had been married three times. There are a son and daughter of the first wife living; also a son and daughter by the third wife, and their mother. He was widely known in North Carolina, and many will drop a tear to the memory of Hope Bain. He was a Union man in the strictest sense, thoroughly loyal to the government during the late war, which alienated from him many of his former associates and hearers, but he never wavered in his devotion to his country and to the cause of universal grace; and, though without pecuniary resources, he continued to preach wherever there was an opening, and with little or no remuneration labored faithfully and steadfastly in the ministry as long as health and strength lasted. As evidence of the man's sincerity and integrity, we will quote one sentence from a letter to the editor of the REGISTER, in 1871: "I shall esteem it a favor if you will send me the REGISTER. It cannot be long, at most, when I shall be done with the things of earth. I have a wife and three children to provide for, and I can assure you, my brother, I am greatly straitened in pecuniary matters; but this one thing I am resolved on, to owe no man anything. I consider it wrong to contract debts not seeing a possibility of paying them, and thereby bringing reproach upon our glorious cause."

SOME NOTICES OF PROMINENT LAYMEN DECEASED.

Hon. Job Prince, a lineal descendant of Governor Prince of the Plymouth Colony, was born in Buckfield, Me., March 17, 1795, and died in Turner, Me., April 30, 1875, aged eighty years. Mr. Prince moved to Turner in early life, and at once began to exhibit that strength of character, aptitude for business and purity of heart which ever distinguished him. In the settlement of estates, in the pension business, in various town, county and state offices, he performed every duty with fidelity. For two years he was president of the Senate of Maine, and a very efficient officer. For several years he was judge of probate for the county of Androscoggin. He was a man of generous nature, public-spirited, an active member of the Universalist Society in Turner, punctual in his attendance on public worship, always helpful to the minister, and, as a parishioner, not exacting in his demands nor difficult to satisfy. He was considerate and candid in judging men. He was firm in his faith, without a spice of bigotry, devoted to his church, yet not narrow nor clannish. In his last sickness he was resigned to the Divine will, and calmly made the needful arrangements for his funeral. He left a wife and three children,—two sons and a daughter.

Moses Mellen, a venerable and worthy member of the Second Universalist Church in Boston, died December 3, 1875, in the seventy-ninth year of his age. He was connected with the School Street Church during the ministry of Rev. Hosea Ballou, and for years was one of its deacons. He was one of the brethren who organized the Publishing House, and was its first treasurer. He was a pioneer in the temperance cause, and the last survivor of the original Massachusetts Temperance Society. He was among the founders of the Home for Aged Men, and its treasurer, and he was a director of the Home for Aged Women. He was a philanthropist, indeed, worthy of the name. The amount of his gratuitous labor in devising and carrying forward measures of relief for the aged, indigent and suffering was truly immense, for his efforts in this direction were constant and long continued. His life was long and useful, his death was calm and peaceful, and his memory is honored and precious.

STEPHEN VAN SCHAACK of New York City died while visiting at the home of his son-in-law, William Savery, Esq., in South Carver, Mass., July 5, 1876, in the eighty-fourth year of his age. He was a native of New York, and belonged to one of the old Dutch families of that once Dutch city, and was brought up, of course, in what was formerly called the Dutch Reformed, now known as the Reformed Church, and educated in the most rigid principles of Calvanism, such as were propounded in the famous Council of Dort in 1618–19. Mr. Van Schaack had already attained the age of manhood before his attention was called to Universalism; but when he became acquainted with its claims, its character, its evidences, he embraced it with all his heart, for it satisfied his intellect and answered all the affections and desires of his soul. "Thenceforth" (says Rev. Dr. Sawyer, to whom we are indebted for the materials of this notice), "its spirit became the indwelling and controlling principle of his life, and seldom have I seen it so steadily or beautifully carried out in life. Mr. Van Schaack's religion was no Sunday affair, to be put on and off like a garment. It was equally bright and active at all times and under all circumstances, as well in the market as in the church. It penetrated his whole being, polarized his thought, and gave tone and direction to his entire life. He was at the head of the Albany parish in 1830, when I first became acquainted with him. In this position he continued through the long and successful ministry of Rev. Dr. Williamson, and also that of Rev. Stephen R. Smith. Nor was his influence confined to that parish. He held a prominent place in the Hudson River Association, to which his parish belonged, and through it in the New York Convention. When the bequest of Col. Harsen, the far-seeing and provident friend of our cause in New York, came into the keeping of the Convention, Mr. Van Schaack was made one of the permanent trustees of the fund, and held this important charge to the close of his life, or till the infirmities of age induced him to resign it, and enjoyed the satisfaction of seeing the $6,000, of which it consisted, not only increased more than fivefold, but accomplishing, year after year, an ever-increasing amount of good.

"His financial misfortunes were a calamity to the parish in Albany and to our cause generally. Having accumulated a handsome competence, he sold out a well-established and profitable business and retired, to be not long after ruined by some unfortunate indorsements. This event, disastrous as it was, seemed to have very slight effect upon his happiness. He valued wealth chiefly for the power it conferred of doing good, and as its possession added no intrinsic worth to his character, so its loss detracted nothing from the dignity of an upright man. He removed, soon after this loss of his fortune, to New York, where, without a murmur at the change in his external fortunes, or a shadow on his cheerful face, he assumed the duties of a clerk, and spent the remainder of his days—the decline of his life—in an honorable, because useful, vocation.

"Altogether, the subject of this notice was a remarkable man,—remarkable for his goodness and fidelity, and equally remarkable for his devotion to the interests of religion and truth. He lived to the age of about eighty-three years, and died, we are sure, without an enemy. For the last year of his life, his health had sensibly failed, and his decline was perhaps hastened by the death of two of his sons, the eldest residing in Central or Western New York, and another, who had risen to distinction as a lawyer, and at the time of his death held the important office of Surrogate of the City and County of New York. Leaving the city, Mr. Van Schaack closed his days peacefully at the residence of his eldest daughter, Mrs. Savery, in the town of Carver, Mass.

"His wife, a most estimable woman and devoted Christian, had passed away many years before, and he leaves several children to mourn the loss of an honored and beloved father, but to find consolation in the faith he cherished and in a thousand grateful and sustaining memories."

Judge GILLMAN DUDLEY died in Caldwell (Noble Co.), Ohio, December 5, 1875, in his eighty-third year. He went into the vicinity of Caldwell in 1815, when he was twenty-four years old, a pioneer in the settlement of the country and missionary of Universalism. He was an honest man, an earnest defender of the truth, of strong and retentive memory, widely known and highly esteemed. (So says the "Star in the West" of December 23, 1875.)

ISRAEL WASHBURNE, Sr., died in Livermore, Me., September 1, 1876, in his ninety-first year. He was born in Raynham, Mass. In the autumn of 1806 he left his native town to seek his fortune in Maine, and his first engagement was that of school teacher, in Pownalboro' (now Dresden), which was then the shire town of Lincoln County. The present village and business of Richmond, opposite Dresden, owe their origin to his conception. There, surrounded by an almost unbroken forest, he and his partner (Mr. White) located themselves, and built up a business in shipping cord-wood to Boston and elsewhere for a market. They built the "Portumnus," the first vessel ever launched at that place, which has since become the largest ship-building port in Maine, except Bath. Mr. Washburne subsequently removed to Livermore, where he engaged in mercantile business, and where he spent the remainder of his days. Here he married Miss Martha Benjamin, daughter of a revolutionary officer, by whom he had eight sons and three daughters, all but two of whom—one son and one daughter—still survive. "Here," says Rev. W. A. Drew, from whom we derive the materials of this sketch, "in 1821, I made my first acquaintance with Mr. Washburne, it having been my privilege, in the early days of my ministry, to preach more or less in Livermore. During my frequent visits to his family, ever characterized for its hospitality, I was always pleased to remark the domestic order of his house, as conducted by his queenly wife, who was worthy, and well qualified" to be the head of such a household. We all know that it is the inspiration children receive whilst under the immediate care and counsels of parents that gives much of tone and character to the subsequent life. And there can be no doubt that there, in that well-ordered Christian home, was laid the foundation of what the world has since seen, one of the families most remarkable for success in public life that was ever reared in this country. We need only say that riches and honor have been the reward of Mr. Washburne's excellent example and the influence of his noble wife. Seldom indeed does any father see seven sons achieve such high honor and abundant success in public life as Mr. Washburne. Their names and record may be briefly outlined as follows:—

Israel Washburne, Jr., LL. D., was ten years a member of Congress, was Governor of Maine during the rebellion, Collector of Customs at Portland, Me., and President for several years of the Board of Trustees of Tufts College. Elihu B. Washburne, a lawyer, member of Congress for seventeen years from Illinois, Secretary of State of the United States, and for the last eight years Minister Plenipotentiary to France. a position he filled with singular felicity and fidelity during the Franco-Prussian war. Cadu allader C. Washburne, LL. D., a lawyer, member of Congress for ten years from Wisconsin, Major-General during the late civil war, and afterwards Governor of Wisconsin. He is said to be the owner of the largest flour manufactory in the United States, and a millionaire. These three brothers were representatives in Congress from three different States at one and the same time. Charles A. Washburne, a graduate of Bowdoin College, an editor, one of the Electors at large of President Lincoln, Minister Resident at Paraguay, and author of a history of that country in two large volumes, and of other literary works. Algernon S. Washburne, a banker, who never aspired to political life. Samuel B. Washburne, a shipmaster; and William Drew Washburne, a graduate of Bowdoin College, a lawyer, Surveyor-General of the State of Minnesota, a member of the Legislature, and said to be a millionaire.

This must certainly be admitted to be a very remarkable family.

When the father was felicitated on the promotion of his sons, he replied: "It is true my sons have come to honor, but that is not what gives me the greatest pleasure, or what excites my highest gratitude, but it is that they have always been good children,—all of them,—who have maintained virtuous characters through life, and have never brought shame or disgrace to the family escutcheon."

Mr. Washburne was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature in 1815, '16, '18, '19, and possessed a vast fund of information on political subjects, and especially on the history of our country. It remains only to say, what may be inferred from what has been said of the sons, that Mr. Washburne was a very intelligent, decided and consistent Universalist, as well as his wife, and that they adorned their faith by lives of corresponding virtue and benevolence, and to them and their distinguished sons, in the East and in the West, our cause has been so long and so deeply indebted as to call for recognition and acknowledgment in these pages.

JAMES L. CAMP, long a prominent and active member of the Universalist Society in Baltimore, Md., died in that city, of apoplexy, March 24, 1876, in the sixtieth year of his age.

GODFREY RYDER, Esq., father of Rev. Dr. Ryder of Chicago, and long a pillar in the Universalist Church in Provincetown, Mass., died in July, 1876.

Hon. FRANCIS B. FAY of Lancaster, Mass., a public-spirited and noble-hearted friend of the Universalist Church, died October 6, 1876, aged eighty-three years and three months.

While these pages are going through the press, we hear that Rev. ISAAC DOWD WILLIAMSON, D. D., of Cincinnati, Ohio, whose praise is in all our churches, and also Rev. ABRAHAM ADKINSON of Stringtown, Ind., have departed this life; but it is too late to give them an adequate notice in this issue of the REGISTER.

THE UNIVERSALIST PROFESSION OF BELIEF, Adopted at Winchester, N. H., September 23, 1803, by the General Convention of Universalists, and still adhered to as their distinguishing faith, is as follows:—

"1. We believe that the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments contain a revelation of the character of God, and of the duty, interest and final destination of mankind.

"2. We believe that there is one God, whose nature is love, revealed in one Lord Jesus Christ, by one Holy Spirit of grace, who will finally restore the whole family of mankind to holiness and happiness.

"3. We believe that holiness and true happiness are inseparably connected, and that believers ought to maintain order and practice [illegible] for these things are good and profitable unto men."

CONCLUDING NOTES AND MISCELLANY.

We avail ourselves of the few pages left us to notice some things which have come to our knowledge since the printing of the REGISTER commenced, and to add a little miscellany.

1. GEORGIA (p. 24). From the Notasulga "Herald" we learn that, at the last Georgia Convention, held on the 13th of October, the following officers were elected: President, Thomas Maguire; Secretary, D. O. Maguire; Treasurer, L. Y. Bradbury; Committee of Fellowship, Ordination and Discipline, Revs. B. F. Strain, J. A. Rhyne, and Mr. Robert White. The Convention is to meet at Pleasant Valley, De Kalb Co., on Thursday before the second Sunday in September, 1877, to continue four days.

2. INDIANA (p. 27). The State Convention was organized in 1848, not in 1868. The Trustees of the Indiana Convention are as follows: T. M. Robertson, B. Casner, G. W. Stanley, J. B. Fosher, James Hammond, and H. N. Brown. Two are elected annually, to serve three years. Rev. N. S. Sage, LL. D., is not now pastor at Logansport.

3. NEW YORK (p. 48). The Middleport Church was formed in 1876, and has 22 members. The present pastor is Rev. A. U. Hutchins.

THE IDEAL AND THE REAL.

BY REV. L. C. MARVIN.

In the old Park Theatre, New York, when in the very height of his power and fame, in the full strength of his perfect manhood, when the world had bound the laurel-wreath upon his brow, I heard Edwin Forrest.

How shall I describe him? He stalked upon the stage like a tempest. He threw his strong arms aloft, as if in defiance, not of earth only, but of its Maker. Every muscle and fibre of his body shook and quivered and trembled with the awful revenge that possessed his soul. He hissed and muttered his venomous words between his clenched teeth like a devil in chains. And anon he stamped the boards with terrific force, and, uttering some fearful phrase, seemed like an infuriated madman broken loose. And what did I do? Shout, and stamp, and clap my hands, and make all the noise I could in honor of the great actor? Not a bit. I was not excited in the least. I felt as calm and quiet as the tired child who gently falls asleep in its mother's arms when its day's work is done. Something continually whispered in my ear, "That fellow is putting on airs. Nothing is the matter with him."

In the White House in Washington, during the war, I heard a plain but sensible mother ask President Lincoln to pardon her child, a son on whom she had leaned for support. No stamping of feet, no throwing the arms aloft there. No attitudinizing, no posturing then. From the depths of her poor, motherly heart, came words and thoughts which none but mothers know. How she pleaded for the life of the dear child, now doubly dear because of the misfortune which had overtaken him. How mean and contemptible do the arts and tricks of the orator appear in such a presence. Nature assumed her prerogatives, and played the rôle. Hers were the only dry eyes in the room until the pardoning word was spoken, and then her tongue was palsied and refused to speak, and, seizing the brawny hand of her great deliverer, blessed him with the mute eloquence of tears. Strong, bearded men turned their faces away to hide their tears, as though it were unmanly to weep when it seemed that the angels had stooped down to listen. I could not tell which was happier, the president or the mother.

I had known before that it was more blessed to give than to receive; and I wondered then if it was not more blessed to forgive than to be forgiven.

When the father (in the parable) saw the returning son while yet a great way off, and ran to him, and fell upon his neck and kissed him, and commanded that the best robe be put upon him, and rings upon his fingers, and shoes upon his feet, and that the fatted calf be killed and a feast prepared, and company invited to the feast,—who knows but that father was the happiest of them all? The account demonstrates the joy of him who forgave, but nothing is said of the joy of him who was forgiven.

When the last prodigal of a sinful race, sick of his husks and rags, shall go home to his Father's house, and enter in to go no more out, and, thus being glorified by every soul to whom he has given life, who shall say that God himself shall not be happier than any and all of his intelligent creatures, as he is greater?

One thought more. If, at the (so-called) judgment day, the son of whom we spoke were to be, perforce, remanded to the left hand and the mother at the right hand, in that last, sad separation, and Lincoln were there, think you not that he would, if permitted, arise and speak in behalf of the poor mother, who would be in deeper distress than before? Who knows but he would be permitted to refer to that not-forgotten scene at the White House, and what joy it gave him to restore the son to his mother, and so plead his own poor act as an inducement to the infinite compassion of Almighty God? Dear old Abe! If thine were the power, there would be no childless mothers in heaven!

Anecdote.

Some years ago a Universalist minister in Vermont was called to attend a funeral in a Baptist neighborhood, where he was a total stranger, and he preached a sermon from Job v. 17, 18, in which the preacher labored to the best of his ability to impress on his hearers the universality of the divine benevolence, and to show that all temporal evils and sorrows and troubles are limited in duration, and will be overruled, and work out ultimately good ends. But it was generally supposed by those present that the officiating minister was a certain Baptist elder, Rev. Mr. B., who was not personally known in the neighborhood, but of whom it was currently reported that, while he was a good man, he was rather a dull preacher.

What was the surprise of the Universalist minister to hear, the next day, of a comment on his discourse made by a good Baptist brother, who was laboring under the misapprehension aforesaid, as follows: "I had always heard that Elder B. was rather a dull preacher, but for my part I thought he preached a good sermon yesterday!" Now the query arises whether the Universalist preacher did justice to himself and to his faith on that occasion, and whether he was sufficiently plain and explicit in stating and unfolding his views of Divine Providence and human destiny? or may the fact stated above be only one of the oft-recurring cases, where the advocates of partial and exclusive systems of faith are not only content, but highly gratified and pleased with the gospel of universal grace and salvation, provided it comes from those called orthodox, and the preachers are supposed to be of the hearers' own sect and denomination?

Another Universalist preacher, at a funeral where we were present, and who plainly unfolded the fulness of salvation to be accomplished through Christ, was asked on the way to the cemetery, by the superintendent of the funeral, of what denomination he was, "for," said the querist, "the preachers of the different sects preach so much alike, at least on funeral occasions, that it is difficult to tell to what sects they belong."

Surely there must be a growing harmony and unity among Christians, not known aforetime, to cause such impressions and call out such remarks.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

The attention of Sunday schools about purchasing books for their libraries, is called to the fresh and fine stock of books for sale by the Universalist Publishing House. All the books have been carefully examined, and we offer no books to Sunday schools which contain sentiments not in harmony with the faith of Universalists. Selections have been made from the publications of all booksellers. Should it be more convenient to send for books, than to make selections personally, we are confident of giving perfectly satisfactory selections. Should you desire any additions to your Library, you will please be careful to send,—1st. A Catalogue of Books already in your Library. 2d. The sum to be expended. 3d. The average age of the scholars for whom the books are intended. Where volumes are designed for Teachers' Library or department, let this fact be stated, and the books will be selected accordingly. We have supplied hundreds of libraries, year after year, and we solicit orders to any amount.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

The attention of Sunday schools about purchasing books for their libraries, is called to the fresh and fine stock of books for sale by the Universalist Publishing House. All the books have been carefully examined, and we offer no books to Sunday schools which contain sentiments not in harmony with the faith of Universalists. Selections have been made from the publications of all booksellers. Should it be more convenient to send for books, than to make selections personally, we are confident of giving perfectly satisfactory selections. Should you desire any additions to your Library, you will please be careful to send,—1st. A Catalogue of Books already in your Library. 2d. The sum to be expended. 3d. The average age of the scholars for whom the books are intended. Where volumes are designed for Teachers' Library or department, let this fact be stated, and the books will be selected accordingly. We have supplied hundreds of libraries, year after year, and we solicit orders to any amount.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The Almanac has been omitted from this issue of the Register, in compliance with the advice of friends; but we have abated nothing from the fullness of denominational intelligence, for which, mainly, its pages are consulted. To our friends and correspondents, in all parts of the country, who have aided us in the compilation of our Year-Book for 1878, we return our hearty thanks.

The Universalist Register for 1878:

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION.

This body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October, 1878, in Providence, R. I. Preacher of the Occasional Sermon—Rev. C. H. Leonard. It consists of the Presidents (or, in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows; viz., 1. Each State Convention in fellowship is entitled to one clerical and two lay delegates. 2. If it have in its fellowship an aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, it is entitled to two clerical and four lay delegates. 3. If there be one or more organized parishes in any State where there is no convention, said parish or parishes are entitled to send one delegate to the General Convention: provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry unless he is disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in all cases of discipline not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

The MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected in 1869, and named in honor of Rev. John Murray, the first preacher of Universal Redemption in America, is designed to aid in the education of our clergy, the circulation of denominational literature, and in church extension. This fund amounted, October 1, 1877, to $120,742.54.

The JOHN G. GUNN MINISTERIAL RELIEF FUND, founded by the bequest of $8,000 by the late John G. Gunn of Nyack, N. Y., "for the relief, support and maintenance of needy Universalist clergymen and their widows and orphans, not coming within the scope of the Harsen Fund of New York," amounted, Oct. 1, 1877 to $8.000, that is, the principal remains intact.

By the Treasurer's Report, made at the last General Convention, at Chicago, Oct. 24, 1877, it appears that the receipts into the Treasury for the year preceding were as follows:—

Interest from the Murray Fund, . .	$7,711.60
Annual parish Collections, . . .	3,680.62
Missionary Boxes, ...	1,545.04
Special Assessment, N. H., . . .	20.00
Scholarships returned, ...	1,982.00
	$14,939.26

The disbursements, exclusive of loans, were as follows:—

Expenses of Board of Trustees, . .	$626.79
" of Board of Appeal, (Hersey),	416.59
" " " (Smith),	43.00
Office rent, 18 months, . . .	600.00
Incidentals, ...	1,037.42
Washington Mission, ...	975.58
Lawrence (Kan.) Mission, . . .	875.00
Des Moines (Iowa) " . . .	308.35
Western Board, ...	250.00

Lincoln (Neb.) Mission. . . .	30.00
Scholarships: Tufts, $3,840, Canton, $3,780,	7,620.00
Interest, ...	1,592.55
Printing and copying, ...	274.01
	$14,649.29
Excess of receipts,	$289.97

Forty-two scholarships have been in force during the past year,—twenty-two at Canton, and twenty at Tufts. Twelve beneficiaries have graduated the past year, viz: seven at Tufts and five at Canton.

Twenty-eight scholarships are now in force and ten new applications are expected, making the probable number of those asking Convention aid to be thirty-eight.

OFFICERS OF THE GENERAL CONVENTION FOR 1877–8.

President.—John D. W. Joy, Esq., of Boston, Mass.

V. President.—Hon. D. Morrison of Minneapolis. Minn.

Secretary.—Rev. G. L. Demarest of Manchester, N. H.

Treasurer.—D. L. Holden, Esq., of Jersey City, N. J.

Trustees.—J. D. W. Joy of Mass., Hon. Sidney Perham of Me., Mrs. G. B. Marsh of Ill., Rev. H. W. Rugg, of Nova Scotia, Rev. E. G. Brooks, D.D., of Pa., Rev. E. H. Capen of Mass., Rev. J. S. Dodge, Jr., of Conn., Hon. J. R. Buchtel of Ohio, F. S. Boas of Pa.

Western Board of Missions for current year:—Rev. J. W. Hanson, D.D., of Ill., Rev. M. Crosley, of Ind., Rev. A. J. Chapin of Ill., Rev. O. F. Van Cise of Iowa, and Rev. J. H. Tuttle of Minn.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—This Society was organized in 1834, for "the collection and preservation of facts pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism, together with books and papers having reference to the same subject." It has been incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. It has a library of about 1,500 volumes, now at Tufts College, and has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times, and donations of books and money are earnestly solicited that the library may be rendered as complete as possible.

Secretary and Librarian—Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D.D., of College Hill, Mass.; Treasurer—Rev. Edwin Davis of Canton, Mass.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION, of the Universalist Church, was organized in 1869 to assist in raising the Murray Fund, and was incorporated Sept. 18, 1873. It has since then enlarged and extended its sphere of operations. The objects of the Association are to set forth the claims of God as the Father of all created intelligences and to save souls from the bondage of sin and error. It has already raised and expended in missionary work over $100,000. Of this, $35,000.53 was given to the Murray Fund. It has put into circulation, in less than three years, 1,301,675 pages of tracts, besides a large number of books and religious periodicals. It has helped colleges and schools, and students for the ministry; assisted aged and sick ministers and ministers' widows; has started the "Potter Memorial Chapel" at Good Luck, N. J.; and has established the first foreign mission of the Universalist Church. It is supported wholly by voluntary contributions and annual memberships. President—Mrs. C. A. Soule; Cor. Sec.—Mrs. O. E. Cantwell; N. W. Cor. Sec.—Mrs. J. W. Hanson; Rec. Sec.—Rev. F. E. Kollock; Treasurer—Mrs. M. A. Adams; Committee of Publications—Mrs. M. L. Thomas. Total receipts for the year ending Oct. 23, 1877, $14,079.08; Disbursements, $12,081.77; Balance in the Treasury, $2,047.31; Permanent funds, $1,200; available, $847.31.

STATISTICS OF STATES IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER.

[NOTE OF EXPLANATION.—In the statistical tables which follow, the dates prefixed to churches and Sunday schools denote the year of their organization; the fractions affixed to parishes denote the proportion of the Sundays they have preaching; and the integers the number of families connected with the parishes; oc. denotes occasional; dor. dormant or inactive; the date prefixed to church edifices shows when they were dedicated or made ready for use; w., br., st., denote, respectively, wood, brick, stone; and the sums following, the net value of all parish property, deducting indebtedness, in all cases, if known. The parallel lines (||) prefixed to the name of preachers denote ministers not in our fellowship, but preaching to Universalist societies.]

14 Parishes with 138 families; 12 churches with 286 members; 5 houses, valued at $1,600.

Rev. J. C. Burruss writes that "there are four church edifices owned by our people, eight union church edifices, and seven preachers." The above is, of course, but an imperfect report from Alabama.

ARKANSAS.

A church organization exists in Lafayette Co. The only preacher known in the State is a Mr. McElwaine, who came to us from the Methodist ministry, and preaches in Lafayette and other places.

California.

There is a single parish, in San Francisco, connected with which are 325 families, a church of 190 members, a S. school of 130 members, and there are in the State four ministers.

Canada.

In the Dominion there is a Convention (formed 1877) which meets in 1878, on the 2d Friday of June, at Smithville, (P. O.). President—P. S. Hare, Bloomfield, (P. O.); V. President—Rev. J. R. 13 Parishes embracing 508 families; 7 churches with 358 members; 13 S. schools having 790 members; 11 church edifices; parish property valued at $138,375.

Mississippi.

There are church edifices at Webster, Winston Co. ($800), at Egypt, Chickasaw Co. ($2,000), and two near Scooba, Kemper Co. (each $800), all but the first are union houses. There are Societies of our faith at Webster (10 fam.), Winona (6 fam.), Sarepta (10 fam.), and Water Valley (5 fam.), —aggregating 31 families. There is one preacher, Rev. W. T. Hicks of Greensboro, a recent convert from the Baptist ministry. Value of parish property $4 400.

Missouri.

This State is for us a missionary field. The churches of our faith there are few and small, and widely scattered. As far as organized Universalism is concerned in Missouri, the credit is largely due to Rev. Stephen Hull, the indefatigable State Missionary, who travels extensively, and has preached between two hundred and three hundred times during the last year.

The State Convention (formed 1868) meets on the 1st Friday in October, 1868, at Marion Centre, Grundy county.

Committee of F., O. and D.—S. M. Crawford, John M. Gill and R. P. Raynor.—This is all the report we have received from Missouri, and this came to hand after our forms were made up.

South Carolina.

Rev. D. B. Clayton of Columbia, S. C., writes us that he organized a church at Feasterville, Fairfield Co., on the 1st Sunday in Sept. 1877, which now numbers 26 members, and that it is the only organized body of Universalists in the State.

Tennessee.

We have no organization in Tennessee, and but one preacher, Rev. William Hale of Free Hill, Washington Co., who is actively engaged in the ministry. So writes Rev. J. C. Burruss of Alabama.

Texas.

Rev. Marmaduke Gardner of McDade, Bastrop Co., writes us that he knows of but two churches of our faith in this State, viz., that in Rock Dale, Milam Co., formed in 1875, and having 45 members, and that in Williamson Co. formed in 1855 and having 50 members, and each having a church edifice; both of them, however, worth no more than $500. Mr. Gardner is in his 66th year, greatly afflicted with rheumatism and has not preached since June 26, 1877; and he adds, "should my ministry come to an end I see no one that can fill my place."

Vermont.

The State Convention (formed 1833), meets on Tuesday before the 3d Wed. in August. President—Rev. B. M. Tillotson; Vice President—H. V. French of Woodstock; Secretary—Rev. M. H. Great Britain.

Rev. J. U. Mitchell of Dunfermline, Scotland, is the only regularly ordained minister of our faith in the United Kingdom, though there are several zealous laymen who are doing effective missionary work in behalf of our cause. There are several church organizations in Scotland, as in Dunfermline, Selkirk and Larbert; and in the latter place a church edifice of brick, built in 1875.

There are congregations or missionary stations in many towns in England and Scotland where our faith is preached, not to speak of the many clergymen of the established church who distinctly hold and maintain the doctrine of Universal Redemption. There is a Universalist Book and Tract Depot located on Knabbie St., Dunfermline, Scotland

THE UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE.

This House was incorporated in 1872, and holds all its property for the use and benefit of the Universalist Church. It is managed by a Board of twenty-one Trustees, who hold office until their resignation or removal from the State from which they were selected. Vacancies may be filled by the State Convention which the Trustee represented; such State failing to fill said vacancies within one year, the Trustees shall do so at their next annual meeting thereafter. Fourteen of the Trustees belong in Massachusetts, two in Rhode Island, two in Vermont, and one each in Maine and New Hampshire.

Tousey, A. M., D. B., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; Rev. G. T. Knight, A. M., D. B., Instructor in Rhetoric and History; Rev. T. B. Thayer, D. D., Lecturer on the Evidences of Christianity; Rev. A. St. John Chambré, A.M., Lecturer on Ecclesiastical History; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., Lecturer on Relations of Science to Christianity. The school year begins September 20, and candidates are expected to be present on that day. If unknown to the faculty, they must

bring satisfactory testimonials of good character. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates must have a good English education, and it is desirable that they should have some knowledge of Latin and Greek. Applicants are admitted to the school for any period not less than one year. Those applying for advanced standing are examined in the studies which have been pursued by the class they propose to enter. To meet the wants of those who have not taken a full Collegiate course of study, and yet provide for thorough professional training, a four years' course has been instituted. For Bachelors of Arts, the full course occupies three years. Instruction in elocution throughout the course. Students have the privilege of studying French and attending lectures in the academical department, and have free access to the library.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who sustain a satisfactory examination in the studies of the full course. Diplomas certifying to attainments are conferred on those who have taken a special course. Tuition, room-rent, and use of furniture, free. The students have only to provide for board, fuel, lights, and washing. The "Adams Club" furnishes board at cost.

The whole number of students in the Divinity School is twenty-seven. Nine have entered this current year.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY.

This institution, located at Galesburg, Ill., embraces a Preparatory department, in which are taught all the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course, and also a Collegiate department, with three courses of study, of four years each; viz., Classical, Scientific, and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific and Literary, one year. Students are allowed to enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are admitted alike to all classes and all courses of study.

It has a large brick building of three stories, 80x66 feet, a large mineralogical cabinet, libraries of about 5,000 volumes, a valuable Philosophical and Chemical apparatus, and a permanent fund of about $100,000.

OFFICERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.—President.—Rev. William H. Ryder, D.D., of Chicago. Secretary.—Hon. T. Judson Hale, of Galesburg. Treasurer.—David Sanborn, Esq., of Galesburg. Executive Committee.—David Sanborn, Alfred Knowles, Sumner Ellis, T. Judson Hale. General Agent.—Rev. CLINTON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This, the oldest of our literary institutions (founded in 1831 as a boarding and day school for both sexes), is located in Clinton, Oneida Co., N. Y., nine miles south-west from Utica, to and from which there are several passenger trains daily. The male and female departments are in separate buildings, in each of which some members of the faculty reside.

Besides the preparatory and business or commercial departments, there have been arranged four regular courses of study; viz., Collegiate, Ladies' Collegiate, College Preparatory, and Pro-Professional; the last of two years, the others of three years each. Music, Drawing, and Painting receive careful attention.

Faculty.—Walter R. Haig, A.M., Principal; Miss Helen S. Pratt, L. A., Preceptress; Frank D. Budlong and Miss I. J. Miller, Assistants; Miss Genevieve Wells, Instrumental Music.

Calendar.—Second term begins the second Wednesday in Dec., 1877. Third term begins the last Wednesday in March, 1878. Each term continues thirteen weeks.

Expenses.—Tuition in the regular courses is from $8 to $12 per term. No extra charge for the Modern Languages taken in the regular course. Ornamental branches at reasonable rates. Board, $3.80 per week, including furnished room, heat, and lights.

Assets.—Buildings, apparatus, land and endowment amount to $60,000. The canvass, conducted by Prof. P. R. Kendall, has been a complete success; the full amount of $80,000 having been subscribed. The collections are being made and within the year 1878 it is believed that the Institute will be opened in a completely modernized building, steam-heated and gas-lighted, at Fort Plain, N. Y. The Trustees have so resolved and the State Convention has so ordered.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY.

This institution is located in the town of Deering (post-office address, Stevens Plains), Maine, 2½ miles from Portland. It is designed and furnished as a boarding-school for both sexes, and was first opened for students in the summer of 1834. It is, therefore, the oldest of our denominational academies, except the Clinton Liberal Institute of New York. It has two large dormitories (one of them, HERSEY HALL, a noble four-story brick building, 100 by 50 feet, exclusively for young ladies), which are connected by a dining-hall in which all the students take their meals.

The Seminary provides an English course of study, a College Preparatory course, and a Collegiate course for young ladies. A Normal class is formed in the spring and fall terms for the benefit of those preparing to teach. Lectures, free to all the students, are provided each term. The Seminary is well provided with philosophical and chemical apparatus, and has a good cabinet of minerals. The boarding-halls are heated by steam, and Hersey Hall is furnished with bathing-rooms and all modern conveniences. Board, including fuel and lights, $3.50 per week. Tuition, from $8 to $10 per term of sixteen weeks.

Finances.—The total value of the property and funds of the Seminary is about $105,000.

Officers of the Corporation.—Hon. Sidney Perham of Paris, President; David Torrey, Esq., Deering, Vice-President; Charles S. Fobes, Esq., Portland, Treasurer; Granville M. Stevens, Esq., Deering, Secretary; Rev. W. R. French, Turner Centre, Corresponding Secretary.

Board of Instruction.—G. M. Bodge, A.M., Principal and Professor of Mental Science and Greek; C. F. Hall, A.M., Vice-Principal and Professor of Natural Science and Mathematics; S. B. Rawson, A.M., Assistant Professor of Mental Philosophy and Greek; G. A. Quinby, Professor of Music; A. H. Pennell and S. B. Thombs, Assistants; J. A. Lufkin, Business Department; Mrs. J. S. Boothby, Preceptress and Teacher of Latin; Miss Ida B. Dunn, French and Rhetoric; Miss Mary E. Weston, Drawing and Painting.

GREEN MOUNTAIN PERKINS ACADEMY.

This school, located in South Woodstock (Windsor Co.), Vermont, went into operation in 1848, under the name of the Green Mountain Liberal Institute, but in October, 1870, took the name it now bears. It has property and funds to the amount of about $15.000, and is in good condition to do in the future, as it has done for the past twenty-nine years, a good work in the cause of higher education and liberal culture.

Officers of Trustees.—James A. Murdock, President; Nathan Lamb, Vice-President; F. P. Kendall, Secretary; L. C. Kendall, Treasurer; R. M. Slayton, Auditor.

Board of Instruction.—E. H. Aldrich, A. B., Principal; Miss Georgie M. Dudley, Preceptress; W. A. Wardner, Teacher of Mathematics; E. B. Partridge, Assistant; Miss Lizzie A. Clarke, Teacher of Music; Mr. C. F. Benjamin, Vocal Music; Mr. W. H. Wilkins, Penmanship.

The number of students in October, 1877, was 67.

Board, including lights and washing, $3.50 per week; there are also ample opportunities for self-boarding.

Calendar.—Spring term begins February 21, 1878. Fall term begins August 29, 1878.

DEAN ACADEMY.

This institution, which has heretofore been open to both sexes, is now confined to the education of young ladies exclusively. For these it is a first class boarding and day school. It is situated in Franklin, Norfolk Co., Mass., 27 miles from Boston, on the line of the New York & New England railroad, and directly in communication with Boston and Providence and so with all parts of the country. It is the only school of our denomination devoted to young ladies only. It opened under its new departure, with very promising and encouraging prospects, Sept. 18, 1877.

The Academy, which was incorporated in 1865, and which derives its name from the late Dr. Oliver Dean, of Franklin, owns a magnificent school edifice, with various out-buildings, valued at $200,000. The building is lighted with gas, and is heated by steam. It has every modern improvement and every convenience for the comfort of the pupils.

Officers of Board of Trustees.—Rev. A. St. John Chambré, A.M., of Franklin, President; Albert Dickerman, A.M., of Boston, Vice-President; J. C. Wellington of No. Cambridge, Treasurer; Rev. H. I. Cushman, A.M., of Providence, R.I.. Secretary.

Board of Instruction.—Miss H. M. Parkhurst, Preceptress and Acting Principal; Miss Ella Gardner, B.A., Classical Instructor; Madamoiselle Kyd, Teacher of French and German; Miss N. M. Stevens, Teacher of Mathematics; Prof. Louis H. Isenbeck, Instrumental Music; Mrs. M. Little, Vocal Music; Miss E. M. Carpenter, Teacher of Drawing and Painting; Miss C. C. Ballou, Assistant Teacher.

The Courses of Instruction are, English Preparatory, of one year; Higher English, Academic and Classical, each of three years.

Terms, including all expenses of board, lights, heat, instruction, &c., but exclusive of ornamental branches and washing, per year, $210; per term, $80. Ornamental branches, such as drawing, painting, music, &c., are extras, but reasonable.

Calendar.—The school year is divided into three terms. Winter term begins Tuesday, Jan. 3, 1878; Spring term begins April 9th, and ends Friday, June 28th; Fall term begins on Tuesday, Sept. 17th.

Pupils are received at any time and placed in the classes for which they are fitted; but they should enter promptly at the beginning of a term. Pupils must be not less than thirteen years of age and of good character.

For further particulars address Dean Academy, Franklin, Mass.

GODDARD SEMINARY.

This institution is located at Barre (Washington County), Vermont, six miles from Montpelier, the State capital, and was named in honor of the late Thomas A. Goddard of Boston, its most liberal benefactor. Originally incorporated in 1863, under the name of the Green Mountain Central Institute, it took its present name by leave of the Legislature in 1870, and went into operation the same year. It has a noble brick edifice, 160 by 53 feet on the ground, and five stories high, sufficient to accomodate 112 boarding students, and is provided with everything necessary and convenient. It is heated by steam, and every floor supplied with running water.

The school is for both sexes, and offers three complete courses of study. The College Preparatory, of three years, includes a thorough drill in the English branches, Latin and Greek, required for admission to any New England College. Students fitting for a College Philosophical course can substitute French and Sciences for Greek. The Ladies' Collegiate, of four years, provides a full and thorough drill in all the studies taught in any first-class Seminary. It includes Higher English and Sciences together with Latin, French, and German. The English, of three years, aims to give a thorough, practical education. It includes Higher English and Sciences with practice in Field Surveying.

Diplomas are given to those completing either of the above courses. Students received at any time and admitted to the classes for which they may be fitted.

Compositions, Declamations, and daily exercise in Spelling are required throughout each course. Excellent advantages are offered for the study of Music, Elocution, Painting, Drawing and Penmanship, which may be taken at pleasure.

Expenses reduced.—Board, per week, $2.75. Room-rent, Heat and Light, .50. Washing .25. The Tuition averages about $9.00 per term.

Board of Instruction.—Henry Priest, A.M., Principal, Mental and Moral Philosophy and the Sciences; D. M. Woodbury, A.B., Greek, Latin and Elocution; Miss B. A. Weeks, B.S., Preceptress, French, Latin and Botany; Miss Dora M. White, German and Elocution; Miss P. A. Thompson, Common English; J. S. Gilman, Painting and Drawing; W. A. Wheaton, Instrumental Music; H. H. Hollister, Penmanship.

Calendar.—Winter term of thirteen weeks begins Wednesday, Dec. 5, 1877, and closes Tuesday, March 5, 1878. Spring term of fourteen weeks begins Wednesday, March 20, and closes June 26th. Fall term of thirteen weeks begins Wednesday, August 21, and closes Tuesday, Nov. 19th.

MITCHELL SEMINARY.

This Seminary is centrally located in Mitchellville (Polk County), Iowa, midway between Davenport and Council Bluffs, and sixteen miles east of Des Moines. It is easily accessible from all parts of the State. The town is beautifully situated, and contains a moral and intelligent population. The Seminary, first opened in 1872, is designed for both sexes, and its courses of study embrace such branches as are usually taught in schools of the same grade. It is under the control of a Board of Trustees, appointed by the Iowa Universalist Convention, but is not sectarian in its teachings. The boarding department is in the Seminary Building. Students can be accommodated with handsomely furnished rooms and good table board at the low rate of $4 per week, including lights, fuel and washing. Good board can also be had in private families at reasonable rates. Gentlemen can rent rooms in private houses, and table board will be furnished in the Seminary at $2.50 per week. Arrangements can be made for self-boarding and for clubbing, by addressing the Principal.

Executive Committee of Trustees.—Hon. Thomas Mitchell, President; Rev. J. R. Sage, Secretary; Hon. B. F. Gue, Treasurer; Rev. A. Vedder, Financial Agent.

Tuition.—Common English, per annum, . . $20.00
Higher " " . . 27.00
Ancient and Modern Languages and Book-Keeping, ... 33.00
Music extra, at reasonable rates.

The present debt of the Seminary ($16,000) is all provided for except $3,000, which Rev. A. Vedder is now raising. This will be raised before he leaves the work, which will leave the fine Seminary building with its furniture and twenty acres of land free from debt.

Elmore Chase, A.M., has been engaged as Principal for five years. Miss Abbie S. Kendall is teacher of Music, and she is a graduate of Carlyle Petersilea's Private Academy of Boston.

Calendar.—Winter term of fourteen and one-half weeks begins Jan. 2, 1878. Spring term of nine and one-half weeks, begins April 15, 1878.

OBITUARIES OF MINISTERS DECEASED DURING THE YEAR.

[NOTE.—The following brief obituaries embrace materials gathered from so many sources that it is scarcely possible to give due credit in each particular case, but we tender our hearty thanks, in this general way, to all those friends who have aided us in the preparation of these sketches.]

1. Rev. ABRAHAM ADKINSON, son of Joseph and Rebecca (Larue) Adkinson, was born in Westmoreland Co., Pa., Dec. 24, 1811 and died in Ripley Co., Ind., Aug. 22d, 1876, in his 65th year. In 1812 his parents removed to Ohio and in 1815 to Indiana, then a Territory and little more than an unbroken wilderness, where their children were inured to hardship and privation. The subject of this notice early developed great energy and decision of character, and withal was frequently reckless and wilful, but always generous. About 1833 he inaugurated the temperance movement in Switzerland Co., where he resided; was the first to sign a temperance pledge in that county, and with his accustomed boldness and energy procured a speaker and advertised that a temperance lecture would be delivered at a certain hour at a grocery in the neighborhood or at the nearest house thereto that could be procured. He not only maintained a bold and persistent warfare against intemperance, but he was the first in the county to speak and vote in favor of negro emancipation. In 1838 he united with the Freewill Baptist church and soon after was ordained as a preacher in that connection, in which he continued till 1870, when he joined the Methodists, but all the while growing into the faith of Universalism. In 1871 or 1872 he connected himself with us, and in 1873 was duly admitted to our ministry. He was pastor of the church in Stringtown, Ind., for some years and held that position at the time of his death. His disease was consumption. In Feb. 1876, he preached his last sermon. He was in many respects a remarkable man. In person he was over 6 feet in height, his eyes and hair jet black, his eyes very small, and his countenance when he was under excitement was very expressive and striking. He taught school almost continuously in the winter season, from the age of 28 up to the last year of his life. His ministerial labors were abundant in three or four counties in the State, and he will long be remembered by all who knew him. He was married in 1836 to Miss Jane Campbell, who, with six of their nine children, still lives.

II. Rev. LARKIN TARRANT BRASHER died at his home in Christian Co., Ky., Oct. 28th, 1876, aged 70 years. He was born in South Carolina, but his parents removed to Ky. in 1807, while he was an infant. About 1834 his mind was deeply impressed with religious things and he joined the Campbellite Baptists, and soon after entered the ministry of that sect. In a few years, however, he outgrew the narrow creed which he had embraced, nor could his benevolent spirit obtain rest until he found a broader, more rational and consistent faith. Especially did he come to revolt at the notion of Alexander Campbell, that water baptism by immersion was essential to Salvation. He was admitted to fellowship as a Universalist clergyman in 1840; but he distinctly wrote us in June, 1873, that he was a preacher of our faith for many years before he was regularly licensed. His name frequently appeared in the old issues of the Register, mis-spelled Brazier. On the great theme of God's impartial grace and the final ingathering of all souls, he was accustomed to expatiate with ardor and eloquence; he was especially interesting and impressive on funeral occasions. He was possessed of great gifts and distinguished ability as a preacher, and was a welcome and efficient advocate of Gospel Truth. But loss of health necessitated his retirement from the ministry several years ago, to the great loss of the cause he ably advocated. He was not ambitious of political office, but he consented to serve his fellow citizens as a Justice of the Peace, and for a time as sheriff of the county, and superintendent of the poor of the county, and acted also as an attorney at-law. In all stations he maintained an upright and Christian character and secured the confidence and esteem of the community in which he lived.

III. Rev. ISAAC DOWD WILLIAMSON, D. D., son of Ransom and Jerusha (Miller) Williamson, was born in Pomfret, Vt., April 4th, 1807, and died in Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 26, 1876, in his 70th year. In his death, the Universalist cause has lost one of its ablest advocates. He was one of those great and gifted men who achieve success and attain distinction by virtue of their native talents and energy, in spite of all obstacles and without opportunities for early education. It appears that he learned the clothier's trade and had no other schooling than that of the common district school; but his ardent thirst for knowledge, his force of character and enthusiasm made amends for lack of external aid. He preached his first sermon Oct. 1, 1827, in Springfield, Vt. After supplying the pulpit a short time in Langdon, N. H., he settled in the spring of 1828, in Jaffrey, N. H. He was admitted to fellowship, as a preacher, by the N. H. Association, at Sutton, May 26th, 1829, and was ordained by the Franklin Association, at Townsend, Vt., Sept. 10th, 1829. In June of the same year, he removed to Albany, N. Y., where he lived 7 years, and here he published his first book, "An Argument for Christianity." In 1837 he removed to Poughkeepsie, remaining there about a year and a half; from there, in 1839, to Baltimore, where he spent two years; thence to N. Y. city, where he lived about three years; thence to Mobile, Ala., for two winters, spending his summers at the North; thence to Memphis, Tenn., for a season or two; next to Lowell, Mass., in 1850, for a year; and from thence to Louisville, Ky., for about two years; thence to Cincinnati, Ohio, for three years; from there to Philadelphia where he spent three years, and which was his last regular pastorate, although he supplied in Cincinnati after his return from Philadelphia. He and Rev. C. F. Le Fevre began to publish the Gospel Anchor at Troy, N. Y., about 1830. This periodical was merged in the Religious Inquirer, published at Hartford, Conn., Mr. Williamson continuing to act as one of the editors of that paper. He was one of the editors of the Herald and Era, published at Louisville, Ky., and Madison, Ind., and at one time was one of the proprietors thereof, but in what years or for what length of time we cannot say; we know only that he was connected with the paper in 1852. He was for about ten years connected with the Star in the West, as joint proprietor and editor, though for several of his last years performing no editorial labor.

His published works, as far as we know, are the following: 1. "An Argument for Christianity, in a Series of Discourses." New York: 1836, 18mo. pp. 252. 2. "An Exposition and Defence of Universalism, delivered in the Universalist Church in Baltimore." New York: 1840. 18 mo. pp. 227. 3. "An Examination of the Doctrine of Endless Punishment." Cincinnati: 1847, 18mo., pp, 225. 4. "Sermons for the Times; and the People." New York, 1849, 18mo., pp. 252. 5. "The Universalist Church Companion." Boston: 1850, 18mo., pp. 216. 6. "The Crown of Life: A Series of Discourses." Boston: 1850, 12mo., pp. 407. 7. "The Vision of Faith: a Series of Sermons on the Decalogue and the Lord's Prayer." Madison, Ind.: 1852, 18mo., pp. 263. 8. "The Philosophy of Universalism, or Reasons for our Faith." Cincinnati: 1866, 12mo., pp. 96. 9. "Rudiments of Theological and Moral Science." Cincinnati: 1870, 12mo., pp. 377. He also published several (we know of 7) sermons and discourses in a pamphlet form, but we cannot give their titles.

Dr. Williamsoh was essentially a pioneer, traveling extensively and everywhere preaching "the grace of God that bringeth salvation to all men." We can hardly name the man in our ministry who has been located at so many and widely separated points; moving from Vt. to N. H., to N. Y., to Md., to Ala., to Tenn., to Ohio, to Pa., to Ky., acting as preacher, editor, publisher, missionary, and scattering the seed of Truth broadcast over the land. His labors were very fruitful. He was emphatically a self-made man, and, had his great natural gifts been improved by thorough scholastic training, he would have shone as one of the bright lights of the American pulpit. Afflicted ever after his 17th year with asthma in its severest form, he bore an uncommon amount of suffering, but he never shrank from work until compelled to do so by the terrible attacks of his disease and the burden of old age. He delivered nearly 4,000 sermons, published 9 volumes beside many pamphlets, and for 40 years was editorially connected with our periodicals. He once crossed the Atlantic and preached the Gospel of Impartial Grace in Great Britain. He took 7 voyages of 2000 miles coastwise by sea, on the same errand. He was a man of strong and positive convictions, of a very robust intellect, and bravely grappled with the deepest, darkest problems in metaphysics. The first article of his creed was, "Before all things, God, as the centre and soul of the universe;" so that whatever force or factor comes into play in the course of ages and whatever secondary causes spring up in the working out of the plans of Deity, they all have their origin in the Divine idea and purpose. He thought with Archbishop Leighton,, that, in respect to God, "Knowing is decreeing." He agreed with John Foster in thinking that "He, who fixed the first great moving cause, appointed all their effects to the end of the world." This idea gives tone to his last published work, "The Rudiments of Theological and Moral Science," the metaphysics of which have attracted so much notice and elicited so much controversy.

He was a prominent and highly-respected member of the Society of Odd Fellows, lectured far and wide in exposition and defence of their principles, and crossed the Atlantic, 30 years ago, mainly in their service. He was for many years Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the United States, and the ritual now in use by the Order was largely from his pen. His piety was not showy, but deep, sincere, and solid. He counted all ostentation in religion, all pietistic emotion, as dross, unless accompanied and attested by practical charity and moral virtue. He was steadfast in his friendships, and having once taken a friend to his heart he clung to him to the last.

He had not only rare logical powers, but also a style of writing at once copious and compact, a lucid method of presenting a subject, the unmistakable but undefinable power of genius and a magnetic personal presence; and he has made his mark broad and deep on the public mind of his time. He received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Norwich (Vt.) University, in 1850. He was married, Sept. 3, 1826, to Miss Adaline Eliza Guernsey of Mount Holly, Vt., who survives him with four children—one son and three daughters—all of whom are married and settled in life. Two of them reside in Cincinnati, and two in Philadelphia. The second daughter is the wife of Rev. Dr. Cantwell.

IV. Rev. THOMAS DOLLOFF, son of Phineas and Abigail (Smith) Dolloff, was born in New Hampton, N. H., March 28, 1786 and died in Bedford, Cuyahoga Co., Ohio, Dec. 10, 1876, in his 91st year. At the age of 13 he joined the Freewill Baptist church in his native town. At 21 he emigrated to Mount Vernon, in the then District of Me., where in 1808, he married Miss Nancy Ladd. At the age of 30 he became a Universalist, without any other help than the Holy Scriptures and his own meditations. In the year 1823, the same year in which Walter Balfour's conversion to Universalism was announced, he began to preach, though with no literary preparation for the ministry. He had, however, a religious consecration to the work, and felt it his duty and esteemed it a privilege to proclaim the truth to his fellow-men. He never had a settlement in Me., but was simply an itinerant exhorter. He received the fellowship of the Old Eastern Association at Farmington, Maine, June 23, 1824, and was ordained by the same authority at Wayne, Me., July 7, 1825, and labored as a missionary in that State for about ten years. In Sept., 1834, he went to Ohio and settled on a farm in Orange, Cuyahoga Co., where he lived for 25 years, dividing his time between farming and preaching. He never wrote a sermon! Yet few preachers, it is said, were more careful and methodical in sermonizing than he. He was not a man of commanding eloquence, yet he secured the attention of his hearers by the simplicity and directness of his speech. He was a born logician, and, granting his premises, it was useless to dispute his conclusions. There was a manifest candor, kindness, and sincerity about him and his speech that won the respect of all men. He was afflicted with a palsy in his latter years that interfered with his pulpit labors. His memory was remarkably retentive to the last. He preached his last sermon on his 88th birthday to an assembly of his friends and neighbors, from Deut. xxxii, 4. He voted at the last State and Presidential elections previous to his death, and took a strong interest in national affairs, talking intelligently concerning them on the day before his death. At his funeral, a large concourse of people joined with his numerous descendants in bearing testimony to his Christian character and worth. He leaves 8 children, 24 grandchildren, and 26 great-grandchildren.

V. Rev. Humphrey Bromley was born in North Wales, about 1796, and received his religious education in the Church of England, but joined the Wesleyan Methodists, and commenced preaching in that connection at the early age of 16 years. He continued to preach in their fellowship until after he was married and had three children, at which time he gave a challenge to a Unitarian minister to hold a discussion on endless punishment. In order to be better prepared to refute the doctrine and arguments of his adversary, he read several Unitarian books. The result was tha instead of proving the doctrine of endless punishment to be true, he became convinced it was false, and announced this change of belief to his Methodist brethren. They desired him to remain with them, and were liberal enough to allow him to think as he pleased if he would only preach their doctrine. This he refused to do, whereupon they renounced him as a heretic, and even threw stones at him as he passed along the street. He united with the Unitarians and labored in their ministry until he came to America, in July, 1833. Here he united with the Universalists since he found them to be almost the same as the Unitarians of England. When he arrived in this country, he stayed a few months at Cleveland, Ohio, going from thence to Norwalk, and then to Sandusky City. In Oct., 1837, he removed to Republic, Ohio, where he spent the remainder of his days. His first regular preaching in this country was after his removal to Republic, and it is the impression of his daughter (Mrs. Hisey), that he was ordained there. He frequently preached in the Welsh language. His wife died March 7, 1876, and three weeks previously, the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage was celebrated by the Knight Templars, of which Order Mr. Bromley was a member. He died at Republic, Dec. 13, 1876, in the 81st year of his age, leaving six children,—3 sons and 3 daughters.

VI. Rev. Martin Jencks Steere, one of the 5 sons of Stephen and Sarah (Harris) Steere, was born in Smithfield, R. I., Oct. 15, 1814, and died of pneumonia in Athol, Mass., Jan. 18, 1877, in his 63d year. He early began to show a special interest in religious things, and as he grew older bent his energies to prepare himself for the ministry in the Freewill Baptist connection, in which he was brought up. In May, 1837, he was ordained by the R. I. Conference, and soon became a popular and prominent preacher among them. He was located at Georgiaville, Apponaug, North Scituate, Greenville, R. I.; Waterford, Mass.; Great Falls, N. H., and Portland, Me.; then returned to Olneyville, R. I., where (after having labored for about 22 years as a Freewill Baptist), he renounced the doctrine of endless punishment, and severed his connection with that sect. While connected with it he was for a while assistant editor of the Morning Star (published at Dover, N. H.), the organ of the Freewill Baptists in New England; he was also editor of their Sunday School paper, and at the request of their General Conference, prepared and published a small volume, entitled "The Friend of Chastity."

In April, 1859, he took charge of the Universalist Society in Lawrence, Mass., where he organized a church; after two years he removed to West Haverhill, where he lived 4 years; and here he wrote "Footprints Heavenward," a book well and favorably known in our denomination, a 12mo., pp. 405, first published in 1861, and a 2d edition in 1868. From West Haverhill he went to Lewiston, Me., where he organized a church and labored about 6 years; then to Meriden, Conn., for 4 years, making large additions to the church organization, to which he always gave special attention in all his fields of labor. His last settlement was at Mechanic Falls, Me., but his health suffered from the severity of his labors and the harshness of the climate and he was compelled to desist. He removed in June, 1876, to Hardwick, Mass., where he purchased a small estate, and hoped to preach occasionally and do some writing; but on a Thanksgiving visit to his daughter in Athol, 17 miles distant, he was taken with a billious fever, ending with pneumonia, and died as above stated.

Mr. Steere was twice married. First, to Miss Abby W. Randall of North Providence, R. I., in April, 1838. She died in 1845, leaving one daughter. In Feb., 1847, he married Miss Harriet Mayo of Hardwick, Mass., by whom he also had one daughter. Mrs. Steere and both daughters survive him. Mr. Steere was a man of an excellent spirit, of great zeal, earnestness and enthusiasm in his work as a preacher, and left a good influence upon the people with whom he labored.

VII. Rev. Thomas Jefferson Whitcomb, son of Samuel and Lydia (Ramsdell) Whitcomb, was born in Hanover, Mass., June 4, 1801, and died in Canisteo, Steuben Co., N. Y., Feb. 9, 1877, in his 76th year. He attended for a while the academy in the neighboring town of Hingham, and studied for the ministry with Rev. Paul Dean in Boston. He was licensed as a preacher at Washington, N. H., in 1823, and ordained at the same place in June, 1827. In 1830 he was stationed at Hudson, N. Y., and in that year organized a Sunday School, one of the first Universalist Schools organized by our people in that State (that of Watertown only [1821] being of an earlier date). He was afterwards located as follows: at Schenectady, Victor, Cortland, Newport, Springville, Buffalo and Alexander, N. Y., and (in 1844–46) at Hightstown, N. J. Mr. Whitcomb was twice married. His first wife, Chloe Lincoln, died in Webster, Monroe Co., N. Y., July 18, 1866. His second wife was widow Mary Wilson, to whom he was married at Dunkirk, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1868. After his second marriage he went to live in Cambridgeboro', Crawford Co., Pa., where he resided 4 years. He then removed to Canisteo, and remained there till his death. He was perfectly reconciled to his approaching end, and, as he was nearing the river of death, said, "It is finished and all is right."

Those who had known him from youth up speak in strong terms of his worth as a citizen, a minister, and pastor. Rev. Dr. Le Fevre, who knew him well, says, "Br. Whitcomb was not what is termed a sensational preacher, nor did he possess rhetorical powers, but he was a good preacher and left on his hearers the conviction of his earnestness and devotedness. As the disciple of the good Master he followed his direction, 'Go preach the Gospel.' That was the sum and substance of his message. In his pastoral relationship he was very efficient." Two children, five grandchildren and one great-grandchild, descendants of his first wife, survive him. He had another daughter, who died in Buffalo in 1857.

VIII. Rev. CHARLES HENRY WEBSTER was born in Georgetown, Mass., Dec. 5, 1817. His father, whose name was Kent, sprang from an old English family, the original owners of a large estate called "Kent's Island," situated not far from Newburyport, Mass. His mother's maiden name was Merrill. For good and sufficient reasons, the subject of this notice and an only sister, early in life, by leave of the Legislature, dropped their former name and took that of Webster. Charles Henry was from early life fond of books and study and determined if possible to obtain a liberal education. But at the age of 18, while attending school at Bradford (Mass.) Academy, he was accidently injured in one of his eyes, and did not fully recover for some years. In 1837 he was married to Miss Mary Buckminster of Georgetown. At this time he had so far recovered from the inflammation in his eyes as to commence study at Clinton, N. Y., in preparation for the ministry. He was ordained June 24, 1843, and his first settlement was at Beverly, Mass., at an annual salary of $300! He was afterwards stationed successively at E. Lexington, So. Dedham, E. Boston, Chicopee, Mass., at Auburn and Lewiston, Maine; at Collinsville and Granby, Conn. At the last named place he lived 9 years, acting for some 2 years as State Missionary. In Dec., 1864, he was appointed chaplain of the 29th Me. Regiment, and served to the close of the war. In 1868, Mrs. Webster died, after a long and distressing illness. Five of their children were taken away in infancy, and an only son, a young man of much promise, died of wounds received in the war. One daughter alone survives. In 1869, Mr. Webster was married to Mrs. M. C. Granniss, a lady long and favorably known to the denomination by her contributions to the Ladies' Repository and other periodicals. Upon his second marriage, Mr. Webster went into secular business as proprietor of a stationery and book store in Hartford, still, however continuing to preach as opportunity offered. He died of pneumonia, after great suffering, March 8, 1877, in his 60th year. He belonged to that rapidly diminishing class of our clergy—the hardy, heroic sort of self-made men—whose adoption of, and adherence to, our holy faith cost something. With Mr. Webster, as with so many others, it involved at first obloquy and contempt, repudiation by family and friends, and a continued struggle with opposition. But the battle is over, and so far as he is concerned, the victory is won, the soldier is at rest.

IX. Rev. KITTREDGE HAVEN, son of Jotham and Martha (Belknap) Haven, one of a family of 9 sons and 2 daughters, was born in Framingham, Mass., Feb. 24, 1793 and died in Shoreham, Vt., May 4, 1877, in his 85th year. His father removed in 1802 to Cambridge, and in 1810 to Boston, where he established himself in a crockery store. The subject of this notice was providentially drawn to attend on the ministry of Rev. Paul Dean, under whose preaching he was converted to Universalism, sang in his choir at his installation as colleague with John Murray, Aug. 19, 1813, studied for the ministry with Mr. Dean, and in his pulpit preached his first sermon in July, 1819, the same year and month that the old Universalist Magazine was started. In the Spring of 1820, Mr. Haven made a preaching tour into Maine, spending one Sabbath in each of the towns of Waterville, Brunswick, Livermore, Winthrop and Turner, and in Portland three Sabbaths. After returning to Boston he received a letter from Turner offering him $6 per Sabbath to go and settle there; but the distance from New York and New Jersey was so great that Mrs. Haven, who was from Newark, N. J., thought it out of the world and he declined the call. Soon afterwards he took a trip into Vt., and in December 1820, settled in Bethel, on a salary of $5 per Sabbath, which was the customary pay of a young preacher in those days. Mr. Haven was ordained at Kingsbury, N. Y., Oct. 4, 1821, by the Northern Association, so called, embracing Vermont, a part of Canada, and all that part of New York which bordered on Lake Champlain. Two ministers only, besides himself, were present on that occasion, Rev. S. C. Loveland and Rev. Robt. Bartlett, the latter still living in his 86th year. In 1829 Mr. Haven moved to Shoreham, and there he remained until death, preaching there regularly 37 years, and occasionally, every year, from Jan. 1, 1825 to Jan. 1, 1870; in all 45 years. He was not a man specially distinguished for learning or eloquence, but possessed excellent judgment, sterling integrity, an amiable and Christian spirit and unostentatious piety. He won and secured the respect of all men by his kindness of heart, his gentlemanly manners, his noble Christian life. He was at once courteous and sincere, both economical and generous, and fulfilled the Apostolic precept, "give no offence, that the ministry be not blamed." He made Universalism respected wherever he was known. Congregational ministers, even, called him evangelical. No breath of slander was ever breathed upon him. He left an honored name to his children and to the church which he had faithfully served for nearly 60 years.

He was married March 25, 1818, to Miss Ruth Harrison who died Nov. 21, 1863. Three children are now living, two sons and an unmarried daughter, the latter having lived with, and kept house for, her father, for the 14 years after the death of her mother.

X. Rev. Joel Curtis Sawyer, son of Uriah and Eunice (Curtis) Sawyer, was born in Broome Co., N. Y., July 29, 1818, and died in Danby, Ionia Co., Mich., May 11, 1877, in his 59th year. Of Mr. Sawyer's early life, we have gathered no information. It appears that he began to preach at the age of 21, was ordained in Steuben Co., N. Y., July 19, 1849, and in 1857 went to Michigan, where he continued to reside until his death. He was twice married; first to Almira Kimball who separated from him more than 25 years ago, though for what cause we know not. In Jan. 1861 he was married to Miss Artalissa E. Mead of Lyons, Mich., who, with two children by the first marriage, still survives. During Mr. Sawyer's long and distressing illness, his faithful and patient wife did all that could be done to alleviate his sufferings and minister to his wants. The same may be said of many warm-hearted friends who had attended on his ministry and who vied with each other in efforts to add to his comfort and smooth his passage to the tomb. Just before his decease he gave utterance to his trust in God and his resignation of spirit, saying: "My God, I thank thee that my end draweth near; I have long prayed for this hour. My faith grows stronger and stronger."

XI. Rev. CHARLES HEMAN DUTTON, son of Augustus M. and Elmira Dutton, was born in Ogden, Genesee Co., N. Y., Oct. 5, 1823, and died in Hamilton, Ohio, July 17, 1877, in his 54th year. His opportunities for education were limited to the common school of the neighborhood until the removal of the family to Rochester when he was 17 years old. He was however, for a time — how long we cannot say — a student in the Rochester Collegiate Institute, which stood very high as an academy, and of which the late Professor Chester Dewey, D. D., was Principal for many years. Whatever finish he received, before commencing his ministry, he received in this academy.* His thoughts had been at an early age turned to the ministry through the magnetic preaching of the late Rev. J. M. Cook, who exercised a great influence over him. His studies preparatory to the ministry were very meagre; a few months were spent with Rev. Mr. Hammond of Rochester and a few more with Rev. S. R. Smith, then of Buffalo. He was licensed as a preacher at an Association held in Sherman, N. Y., in 1843, when he was scarcely 20 years old. He was ordained in Aug. 1856. His labors were for some years confined to the vicinity of Rochester, where he was regarded as a very promising and more than ordinarily gifted young man. In 1850 he was married to Miss Frances L. Spencer of Springville Erie Co., N. Y., and removed to Essex, Mass., and successively to Canton, to Marblehead, to Lowell, in the same State. In 1860 he returned to the vicinity of Rochester, by reason of ill health, purchased a home, and devoted himself to outdoor pursuits; but still continuing to preach in the vicinity. In 1868 he removed to Leroy, N. Y., and in 1870 to Joliet, Ill., which place he was obliged by the state of his health to leave, going to Hamilton, then to Springfield, then to Marietta, in Ohio, and finally returning to Hamilton to finish his days. He was credited, in the various places of his residence, with a vigorous intellect, superior pulpit talents, gentlemanly manners, and the conscientious and faithful performance of his duties as a minister of the Gospel. He leaves a wife and son, whose loving care did all that was possible to ease his sufferings which were severe and very unusual. For more than 15 years he had struggled against fearful obstacles, having been a great sufferer from bronchial and throat difficulties, and in later years from a nasal polypus, which occasioned excruciating distress, and finally, after several ineffectual surgical operations, caused his death. He was a man of extreme neatness and sensibility, which traits still clung to him in the hour of death. His faith in the Gospel of God's impartial grace grew stronger and stronger as the outward man failed. To a ministering brother, a few days before his death, he said: "Tell my brethren for me that Universalism comprehends everything that is necessary in this hour; that the faith I have preached I would preach again more earnestly were my restoration probable." Again he said: "If any one does not believe in the all-sustaining grace of Christ Jesus in the hour of trial and suffering, bring him to me, for I can testify to its power and truthfulness."

* This institution must not be confounded with Rochester University, as it appears to have been by some of those who have paid tribute to Mr. Dutton's memory. It was impossible that he could have attended Rochester University at the age of 17, for that was ten years before the institution was established.

XII. Rev. Benjamin Franklin Strain, son of James and Katherine Strain, was born in York District, S. C., Jan. 22, 1823, and died of consumption at Forest Station, near Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 11, 1877, in his 55th year. His parents moved into Habersham Co., Ga., in April, 1831. Without having had as much as twelve months schooling in his life, Mr. Strain began to preach in 1853 and was ordained in Sept., 1854. He was married Oct. 27, 1844, to Miss Martha E. Jackson. He leaves five children and a little granddaughter, whom he took home from Arkansas, her father and mother being dead. Mr. Strain was an active, zealous, devoted and faithful missionary of our faith. He traveled over a wide territory as a voluntary, self-sacrificing advocate of Universalism, preaching the gospel from simple love of the truth and with a very scanty remuneration. The extreme points of his circuit, where he regularly preached for a long time at stated intervals, were 120 miles apart. But his dependent family had claims upon him which he did not feel at liberty to disregard, and so he devoted his energies to a preparation for practising law, and at the Circuit Court of Meriwether Co., Ga., in Nov., 1876, he was duly examined and admitted to the Bar. Owing to ill health, however, he never practised as an attorney. He was a good and useful man, true to his convictions, and faithful to his trust. The gospel which he had steadfastly preached sustained and cheered him and made it easy to die. He repeatedly said: "I do not fear death; but my poor little children, what will become of them?" He will be greatly missed, not only in his home, but throughout the region where he was wont to dispense the word of life.

XIII. Mr. EUGENE BECKLARD COOPER, second son of Isaac and Jane Cooper, was born in the town of Russell, N. Y., May 6, 1852, and died in Dexter, N. Y., Sept. 24, 1877, of diphtheria, aged 25 years. He was in early life a Methodist, and was licensed by the Black River Methodist Conference as an exhorter, but left that sect on embracing Universalism, entered the Theological School at Canton, Sept. 1873, and graduated in 1876. Soon after graduating, he took charge of the Universalist society in Mexico, Oswego Co., N. Y., where he labored successfully a year. He then accepted a call to Dexter, N. Y., and preached there one Sunday, when he was taken sick and suddenly passed away, to the great grief of all who had known him. He was industrious, modest, conscientious, amiable in disposition, and faithful in his work. He was true to his convictions, as shown by his leaving his former religious associates and refusing to accept a license to preach in their communion after his change of views, though urged to do so. His mind was well-cultivated and he was a very acceptable preacher. Among his last words were, "God is Love" and "I wish I could live to preach this truth." His end was peaceful and happy. His funeral was attended in the Baptist church in Russell, N.Y., where he had lived previous to entering the Theological School.

XIV. Rev. JOHN HOWARD WILLIS, son of Lemuel and Fanny (Cobb) Willis, was born in Windham, Vt., March 6, 1807, being five years younger than his brother. Rev. Lemuel Willis of Warner, N. H. His father removed in 1813 to Westmoreland, N. H., where the subject of this notice was brought up to manhood. He was, early in life, brought under an excellent religious influence through his good father, who was a decided Universalist and made so by hearing the preaching of the eloquent Elhanan Winchester more than a dozen years before the birth of John. The father read the Bible much, took delight in speaking often of what he read, and was in heart and mind a thoroughly Christian man, so that his home was like a good Sabbath school to all his children. The mind of John was thus impressed with Christian principles in childhood and youth. At the age of eleven he became deeply interested in a Calvinistic Baptist revival, and was immersed in the Connecticut river in very cold weather, when the ice, a foot thick, had to be cut away for the purpose; and soon afterwards joined the Baptist church in Chesterfield.

But by reading and reflection, without any effort of his father or brother, his mind yielded to the better influence and wiser instruction early received at home, and he became an intelligent and zealous Universalist. But the church (which has long since ceased to be) turned him out of its fellowship for his belief that Christ was to be the Saviour of the world. Mr. Willis was a good scholar and taught school successfully when 18 or 19 years old. Having no thought at that time of being a preacher, he chose the trade of a brick mason for a livelihood, and it was while he was at work in Troy, N. Y. and belonged to a debating club, that he found out that he had a capacity for ready and fluent speech and concluded to enter the ministry. Accordingly in 1830 he went to Salem, Mass., where his brother Lemuel was then settled, and after studying a year under his direction he began to preach, speaking in several places in Worcester Co. to the acceptance of the people. His labors were confined mostly to Dana and its vicinity. He was ordained at Greenwich, Mass. Nov., 23, 1831; Father Ballou preaching the sermon, and his brother Lemuel giving the right hand of fellowship.

He was married Nov, 24, 1833, to Miss Charlotte A. Gleason of Dana. He had by her seven children, of whom four —two sons and two daughters—yet survive, all married and in good positions. He died Oct. 9, 1877, at the house of his daughter, Mrs. W. R. Shipman, at College Hill, Mass., aged 70 years and 7 months.

Mr. Willis was stationed as preacher, for varying periods, at Dana, Greenwich, Petersham, W. Boylston, Annisquam, Wakefield, Erving, Orange and Warwick in Mass., in Brattleboro', Cavendish, and Chester in Vt., and in Stafford, Conn. He did a good deal of service by lecturing in behalf of Temperance. In 1850 he was elected a member of the Mass. Legislature, and was for several years station agent at Erving on the Vt. & Mass. railroad. Yet amid his secular labors and cares he still preached on the Sabbath and lectured often, and thus lived a very active life. His deep personal interest in religion which was aroused in his eleventh year, followed him through life. His early consecration to the service of his Master was never lost sight of, and he was noted to the end of his days for his spiritual fervor and religious enthusiasm. He filled all the relations of life with conscientious fidelity. During the 46 years of his ministry he was ever engaged in the pastoral office while his health was sufficient for it. His mind was not inactive in the Master's work, though his hands could not labor in the vineyard. In his last days he was engaged in writing sermons, and left from 20 to 30 which were never delivered. His last sermon he began Aug. 1st, and wrote at the head of it, "My last sermon." The text was from Col. ii., 10: "And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power."

XV. Rev. William Millins DeLong was born in Pittsfield, Otsego Co., N. Y., Sept. 2, 1815 and died in Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1877, aged 62 years. He was the youngest of a family of 5 brothers and 9 sisters. When he was two years old the family moved to Warren, Herkimer Co., and three years later to Utica, where he was put to work in a cotton factory. When he was nine years old the family moved to Hastings, Oswego Co. His mother became entirely blind by an inflammation in her eyes, and by reason of afflictions, of hard times and many children to provide for, the family was reduced to abject poverty. The father died soon after moving to Hastings, and the family was broken and scattered. The mother moved to Clark's Mills, near Utica, where she died in 1830, when William was 15 years old. He lived a year in Sauqoit, with a friend of the family, and while here heard Revs. W. Bullard and Dolphus Skinner preach a few Universalist sermons, in which young DeLong became deeply interested, as well as in reading the Magazine and Advocate, and for this reason was dismissed from the machine shop at Unadilla Forks by its proprietor, a Mr. Abel Stillman; who, however, reconsidered his unreasonable conduct and reinstated Mr. DeLong, who worked there long enough to acquire the money to pay for a year's tuition at Hartwick Seminary. After that he worked in a carriage shop in South Edmeston, the proceeds of his labor being used to pay his tuition at New Berlin Academy.

His faith in Universalism grew with his increased facilities for study, and the last Sunday in August, 1835, he preached his first sermon. He was ordained July 20, 1837. He was stationed for various periods at Lebanon, Oran, and Binghamton, in N. Y. In 1841 he joined George Rogers in a missionary tour through Ohio and Indiana. For many years he itinerated over a large circuit in N. Y. and Pa.

He was twice married. First to Mary Ann Ashcroft in April, 1836, by whom he had four children, of whom Rev. Henry C. DeLong of Medford, Mass., is the only one surviving; two having died young, and William, the third son, having been accidentally killed Dec. 10, 1869. Mrs. DeLong died in May, 1870, aged 55. In April, 1871 he married Mary Jane Swart, a lady of culture and a preacher of our faith, who survives him.

In 1873, Mr. DeLong began to suffer from a paralytic affection from which he could get no relief, and after long and severe suffering, patiently borne, he passed on to "his long home."

The following sentences, written and signed by him only a short time before he lost the power of guiding his pen, show the strength of his faith: "I know that God is, that my Redeemer liveth, and that we have a house not made with hands eternal in the heavens. This is the source of my consolation. God be praised for it."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

The attention of Sunday schools about purchasing books for their libraries, is called to the fresh and fine stock of books for sale by the Universalist Publishing House. All the books have been carefully examined, and we offer no books to Sunday schools which contain sentiments not in harmony with the faith of Universalists. Selections have been made from the publications of all booksellers. Should it be more convenient to send for books, than to make selections personally, we are confident of giving perfectly satisfactory selections. Should you desire any additions to your Library, you will please be careful to send:—

1st. A Catalogue of Books already in your Library.

2d. The sum to be expended.

3d. The average age of the scholars for whom the books are intended.

Where volumes are designed for Teachers' Library or department, let this fact be stated, and the books will be selected accordingly. We have supplied hundreds of libraries, ar after year, and we solicit orders to any amount.

THE

WITH THE

AND A

COUNTING HOUSE ALMANAC

FOR 1879.

EDITED BY

MRS. C. L. F. SKINNER.

UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE,
16 BROMFIELD STREET.

PREFACE.

The forty-fourth number of the Register is herewith presented to the Universalist public; but the careful hand that has for many years collected and arranged the statistics of our church has been paralyzed; the watchful eye, so quick in detecting errors, has become dim and the active mind, fertile in planning improvements, has been over-shadowed by clouds presaging speedy dissolution. By the earnest desire of the late editor, the pen that fell from his powerless fingers has been taken up by an inexperienced hand. Whatever merit the present number of our year-book may possess is very largely due to the labors of my honored predecessor, who so wisely planned the work and gathered stores of information that have a perennial value which will be more fully appreciated as the years roll by. Much credit must also be given to the thoughtful kindness which has prompted friends to lend assistance toward making the work what it is. Aid has been received from so many that it is impossible to make acknowledgments to them individually, but all may be assured that their words of encouragement and sympathy, no less than their prompt assistance, will long be gratefully remembered. It is a source of regret that some returns have been received too late to be used in this number.

The Universalist Register for 1879:

GIVING THE STATISTICS OF THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1, 1878.

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION.

This body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October, 1879, in Minneapolis, Minn. It consists of the Presidents (or, in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows; viz., 1. Each State Convention in fellowship is entitled to one clerical and two lay delegates. 2.. If it have in its fellowship an aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, it is entitled to two clerical and four lay delegates; and for each additional aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, one clerical and two lay delegates. 3. If there be one or more organized parishes in any State or Territory where there is no convention, said parish or parishes are entitled to send one delegate to the General Convention: provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry unless he is disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in all cases of discipline not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

The MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected in 1869, and named in honor of Rev. John Murray, the first preacher of Universal Redemption in America, is designed to aid in the education of our clergy, the circulation of denominational literature, and in church extension. This fund amounted, October 23, 1878, to $120,742.54.

The JOHN G. GUNN MINISTERIAL RELIEF FUND, founded by the bequest of $8,000 by the late John G. Gunn of Nyack, N. Y., "for the relief, support and maintenance of needy Universalist clergymen and their widows and orphans, not coming within the scope of the Harsen Fund of New York," amounted, Oct. 23d, 1878, to $8,000, that is, the principal remains intact.

THE THEOLOGICAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND, consisting of returned Scholarship Loans, amounted to $3,227.32. The income is devoted to the aid of Theological students.

By the Treasurer's Report, made at the last General Convention, at Providence, R. I., Oct. 23, 1878, it appears that the receipts into the Treasury for the preceding year were as follows: —

Interest of Murray Fund, ...	$8,212.63
Annual Collections, ...	3,448.61
Scholarships paid, ...	3,227.32

Missionary Boxes, ...	1,273.64
Special Receipts, ...	194.75
	$16,356.95

The disbursements, exclusive of loans, were as follows:—

Salaries and all incidental expenses, .	$2,777.56
Missions, ...	3,100.00
Interest, ...	1,909.74
Scholarships, ...	4,600.00
Expenses on Real Estate belonging to Murray Fund, ...	498.98
	$12,886.28
Excess of receipts,	$3,470.67

Thirty-three scholarships have been in force during the past year. Seven beneficiaries graduated at Tufts Divinity School and five at Canton.

Probably thirty-five students at least will require Convention aid during the coming year.

OFFICERS OF THE GENERAL CONVENTION FOR 1878–9.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—This Society was organized in 1834, for "the collection and preservation of facts pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism, together with books and papers having reference to the same subject." It has been incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. It has a library of about 1,500 volumes, now at Tufts College, and has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times, and donations of books and money are earnestly solicited that the library may be rendered as complete as possible.

President—Rev. R. Eddy; Secretary and Librarian—Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., of College Hill, Mass.; Treasurer—Rev. E. Davis, of Canton, Mass.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION, of the Universalist Church, was organized in 1869 to assist in raising the Murray Fund, and was incorporated Sept. 18, 1873. It has since then enlarged and extended its sphere of operations. The objects of the Association are to set forth the claims of God as the Father of all created intelligences and to save souls from the bondage of sin and error. It has already raised and expended in missionary work over $100,000. Of this, $35,000.53 was given to the Murray Fund. It has put in circulation during the past year 368,900 pages of tracts, making a total during five years of 2,003,550 pages, besides a large number of religious books and periodicals. It has helped colleges and schools, and students for the ministry; assisted aged and sick ministers and ministers' widows; has started the "Potter Memorial Chapel" at Good Luck, N. J.; and has established the first foreign mission of the Universalist Church. It is supported wholly by voluntary contributions and annual memberships. President—Mrs. C. A. Soule; Cor. Sec.—Mrs. O. E. Cantwell; N. W. Cor. Sec.—Mrs. J. W. Hanson; Rec. Sec.—Rev. F. E. Kollock; Treasurer—Mrs. M. A. Adams; Committee of Publication—Mrs. M. L. Thomas. Total receipts for the year ending Oct. 1, 1878, $3,675; Total disbursements, $1,432. Balance in the Treasury, Oct. 1, $2,229.

THE CHAPIN HOME FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM, was incorporated by an Act of the Legislature of New York, May 1, 1869. The object of the Institution is to provide a home and to support worthy, aged and infirm men and women. By the charter, the corporation is empowered to own such real estate as is necessary for the convenient transaction of its business, not to exceed in value $100,000. It may also hold other property, not to exceed in value $500,000. Assets of the Chapin Home, May 1st, 1878, in Bonds and Mortgages, $47,394.34; the buildings occupied by the Home, valued at $83,000; 37½ acres in Franklin Co., N.Y., and 8 lots in Maple Grove Cemetery. President—Mrs. E. H. Chapin; Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. A. A. Smith, No. 180 West 43d St., New York.

STATISTICS OF STATES IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER.

[NOTE OF EXPLANATION.—In the statistical tables which follow, the dates prefixed to churches and Sunday schools denote the year of their organization; the fractions affixed to parishes denote the proportion of the Sundays they have preaching; and the integers the number of families connected with the parishes; oc. denotes occasional; dor. dormant or inactive; the date prefixed to church edifices shows when they were dedicated or made ready for use; w., br., st., denote, respectively, wood, brick, stone; and the sums following, the net value of all parish property, deducting indebtedness, in all cases, if known. The parallel lines (||) prefixed to the names of preachers denote ministers not in our fellowship, but preaching to Universalist societies.]

SUMMARY.—10 Parishes, 65 families; 8 churches with 436 members; 6 church edifices, valued at $4,400. It may be added in addition to the above that Revs. W. E. McCord and M. L. Scott preach a part of the time to some of these parishes, but there is no minister residing in the State who devotes himself exclusively to preaching. There is one Sunday school reported at Middle Creek, with a membership of 40.

LOUISIANA.

There are two organized churches in this State; Summerfield (Claiborne Parish), with 8 members; Minden (Union Parish), 14 members. There are church edifices at Minden and New Orleans, the latter owned jointly by Universalists and Unitarians. A. J. Carley (Lay Preacher), preaches in the former, and is the only preacher of distinctive Universalism in the State. Rev. Mr. Lloyd, Unitarian, preaches at New Orleans.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

There is but one church reported in South Carolina, at Feasterville, Fairfield Co., organized in 1877, with 30 members. There are two flourishing S. schools near Prospect.

TENNESSEE.

No organization. Rev. Wm. Hale, M.D., of Free Hill, Washington Co., is the only preacher in the State. He will distribute all tracts or other documents sent to him to good advantage. So writes Rev. J. C. Burruss of Alabama.

TEXAS.

Rev. M. Gardner, of McDade, Bastrop Co., reports 2 churches, viz., Rock Dale, Milam Co., formed in 1875, of 45 members, Williamson Co., formed 1855, having 50 members. Each has a small church edifice. Rev. D. C. Tomlinson of Ohio, has recently spent some time in traveling through the State, and preached in many of the larger towns. He says "there is material for a good organization in very many of the towns. Some of the best citizens of Dallas would connect themselves with an organization for the promotion of our faith." He intends to spend the winter there as an independent missionary. There is no preacher in the State who devotes himself exclusively to the ministry, but several who preach a part of the time.

VERMONT.

The State Convention (formed 1833) meets on Tuesday before the 3d Wednesday in August. President—Rev. B. M. Tillotson; Vice President—H. V. French of Woodstock; Secretary—Rev. M. H. Harris; Treasurer—Robert Towers of Richmond. Committee of F., O. & D.—Revs. S. A. Parker, J. Gregory, H. E. Whitney, Messrs. H. V. French and W. H. Durkee; Trustees—Geo. Allen of Waterloo, (P. Q.); E. F. Brown of St. Johnsbury and E. J. Whitcomb of Ludlow. Preacher of next Occasional Sermon—Rev. O. K. Crosby. State Missionary—Rev. J. H. Farnsworth.

ASSOCIATIONS.—1. Northern (formed 1804), meets on the 2d Wed. in June. Rev. A. J. Shaw, Clerk.

2. Green Mountain (formed 1829), meets at Cavendish on the 2d Wed. in June, 1879. Rev. W. E. Copeland, Clerk.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Scottish Convention of Universalists (organized 1875) held its third annual meeting in Glasgow, Sept. 7, 1878, when the following officers were chosen: President—Alexander Reed; Secretary—J. M. Cunningham; Treasurer—John McMillen; all of Glasgow. Representatives were present from Glasgow, Edinburgh, Larbert, Dunfermline and Braidwood. There is a church edifice at Larbert, of brick, built in 1875, and now known as the Church of the Redeemer. Mrs. Caroline A. Soule, President of the United States Woman's Centenary Association is now in Scotland, doing duty as a Missionary. Rev. James Paterson, a recent graduate of Canton, has returned to his native land to work for Universalism. J. M. Cunningham preaches at Larbert one-half the time. The doctrine of Universalism is preached in all the Unitarian churches in England, Scotland and Ireland, and very effective missionary work is annually done by the clergymen and laymen connected with these parishes.

Finances.—The aggregate assets of the college at the present time are something over $1,000,000.

Scholarships.—There are 29 Scholarships in the gift of the college, viz.: four of $60, ten of $75, and fifteen of $100 each. Additional assistance, in the form of gratuities, is rendered from time to time, as circumstances may require.

In the Collegiate department, the course of instruction is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The course for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy extends through four years, and the course for those students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineering extends through three years. A part of the studies for the junior and senior classes are elective. The location is elevated and healthy; retired and free from distraction, yet easily accessible, being four miles from Boston, on the Boston and Lowell Railroad.

Present number of students 82. Expenses from $250 to $300 per year. College Charges, $100. Board in club, at cost, about $3.50 per week.

TUFTS DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty.—Rev. E. H. Capen, President; Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., Packard Professor of Christian Theology; Rev. C. H. Leonard, A. M., Goddard Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; W. G. Tousey, A. M., D. B., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; Rev. G. T. Knight, A. M., D. B., Instructor in Rhetoric and History; Rev. T. B. Thayer, D. D., Lecturer on the Evidences of Christianity; Rev. A. St. John Chambré, D.D., Lecturer on Ecclesiastical History; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., Lecturer on Relations of Science to Christianity. The school year begins September 18, and candidates are expected to be present on that day. If unknown to the Faculty, they must

bring satisfactory testimonials of good character. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates must have a good English education, and it is desirable that they should have some knowledge of Latin and Greek. Applicants are admitted to the school for any period not less than one year. Those applying for advanced standing are examined in the studies which have been pursued by the class they propose to enter. To meet the wants of those who have not taken a full Collegiate course of study, and yet provide for thorough professional training, a four years' course has been instituted. For Bachelors of Arts, the full course occupies three years. Instruction in elocution throughout the course. Students have the privilege of studying French and attending lectures in the academical department, and have free access to the library.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred on those who sustain a satisfactory examination in the studies of the full course. Diplomas certifying to attainments are conferred on those who have taken a special course. Tuition, room-rent, and use of furniture, free. The students have only to provide for board, fuel, lights, and washing. The "Adams Club" furnishes board at cost.

The whole number of students in the Divinity School is twenty-five. Eleven have entered this current year.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY.

This institution, located at Galesburg, Ill., embraces a Preparatory department, in which are taught all the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course, and also a Collegiate department, with three courses of study, of four years each; viz., Classical, Scientific, and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific and Literary, one year. Students are allowed to enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are admitted alike to all classes and all courses of study.

It has a large brick building of three stories 80x66 feet, a large mineralogical cabinet, libraries of about 5,000 volumes, a valuable Philosophical and Chemical apparatus, and a permanent fund of about $100,000.

CLINTON LIBERAL INSTITUTE.

This, the oldest of our literary institutions (founded in 1831 as a boarding and day school for both sexes), is located in Clinton, Oneida Co., N.Y. The male and female departments are in separate buildings, in each of which some members of the Faculty reside.

Besides the Preparatory and Business or Commercial departments, there have been arranged four regular courses of study; viz., Collegiate, Ladies' Collegiate, College Preparatory, and Pro-Professional; the last of two years, the others of three years each. Music, Drawing and Painting receive careful attention.

Officers of Trustees.—Rev. Asa Saxe, D. D., of Rochester, President; Rev. D. Ballou, of Utica, Secretary; Reuben Elwood of Fort Plain, Treasurer.

Faculty.—Walter R. Haig, A. M., Principal; Miss Mary S. Bacon, Preceptress; Frank D. Budlong and Miss Abby S. Kendall, Assistants; Miss Genevieve Wells, Instrumental Music.

Calendar.—Second term begins the 2d Wednesday in Dec., 1878. Third term, the last Wednesday in March, 1879. Each term continues thirteen weeks.

Expenses.—Tuition in the regular courses, from $8 to $12 per term. No extra charge for the Modern Languages taken in the regular course. Ornamental branches at reasonable rates. Board, $3.80 per week, including furnished room, heat and light.

Assets.—Buildings, apparatus, land and endowment amount to $60,000. Through the generosity of E. W. Wood of Fort Plain, and others, the Institute receives in Fee Simple, the buildings and grounds formerly known as The Fort Plain Seminary and Collegiate Institute, on condition the Clinton Liberal Institute is removed to Fort Plain. The offer has been accepted by the Trustees and re-affirmed by the State Convention, and the legality of the removal established by a decision of the Supreme Court. A Building Committee with power to modernize the building is at work, and it is expected that at the beginning of the next school year, the Institute will be established in its new home, which will be equal in all its appointments to any school of its grade in the Empire State.

DEAN ACADEMY.

This institution, heretofore open to both sexes, is now confined to the education of young ladies. For these, it is a first class boarding and day school. It is situated in Franklin, Norfolk Co., Mass., 27 Miles from Boston, on the line of the New York & New England Railroad, and directly in communication with all parts of the country. It is the only school of our demonination devoted to young ladies only. It opened under the new departure, with very promising and encouraging prospects, Sept. 18, 1877.

The Academy, which was incorporated in 1865, and which derives its name from the late Dr. Oliver Dean, of Franklin, owns a magnificent school edifice, with various out-buildings, valued at $200,000. BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF DECEASED MINISTERS.

[NOTE.—The material used in preparing the following sketches of deceased Clergymen has been gathered from very many sources, and sincere thanks are returned to all those through whose kindness we have received the information embodied in these short biographies.]

I. Rev. MOSES GRANT MITCHELL, only son of John and Emily (Gillin) Mitchell, was born at Piqua, Ohio, Aug. 9, 1812, and died at Abington, Wayne Co., Ind., Jan. 1st, 6 A.M., 1878. His ancestors were of Scotch origin, one line connecting him with Gen. O. M. Mitchell, the astronomer, and the other with Ex-President Grant. The thoughts of Mr. Mitchell were very early turned to the subject of religion, and at the age of thirteen he joined the M. E. Church. His parents died when he was about fourteen, and not long after, his two sisters, leaving him at an early age alone in the world—without father, mother, brother or sister. He attended school for a time at Dayton, Ohio, and was afterwards a student at Miami Univ., Oxford, O. He studied medicine with his uncle, Dr. Samuel Mitchell of Indianapolis, Ind., but never received the degree of M.D., though he was for many years a practising physician. He was married Nov. 6, 1831, to Miss Ellen M. True, by whom he had twelve children, six sons and six daughters, ten of whom are still living. His son Charles was killed at Perryville, in the war of the Rebellion, and Henry died at home of disease contracted in the army.

In early life Mr. Mitchell was licensed as a local preacher in the M. E. Church, but was not ordained. In 1841 he was ordained as a Free-will Baptist, and labored quite successfully in that connection for about ten years; then, having so large a family to provide for, he found it necessary to devote his whole time to the practice of medicine, preaching only occasionally, and being again connected with the Methodists on account of the convenience of church privileges.

In 1859, a change having taken place in his religious views —a change which was the result of many years of careful investigation—he united with the Universalist Church, and for the last fifteen years he has ardently advocated the blessed truths which filled his soul with the tenderest love for all mankind. Mr. Mitchell was widely known throughout Indiana. He was settled at Oakland for ten years, and the growth and prosperity of that parish are largely owing to his zealous and efficient ministry. He cherished the memory of that pastorate with peculiar tenderness to the close of his life, always speaking of it with the warmest interest. He was also settled over the churches at Devon and Dayton, and as a Missionary agent was well known through the State. His declining health prevented his preaching much the last three years of his life, but the work of grace was steadily progressing in his own soul, and his faith in a glorious immortality grew brighter and stronger to the last. One who knew him very intimately says, "his closing years were full of tenderness." Mr. Mitchell was through life a close student and careful reader, and the extent and versatility of his knowledge were very great. His social qualities and kindness of heart were very marked, and wherever he was known he commanded esteem and affectionate reverence by the integrity and purity of his life. His death was from ossification of the heart, and occurred immediately after exchanging a New Year's greeting with his wife.

II. Rev. Russel Tomlinson was born in Newtown, Conn., Oct. 1st, 1808, and died in Plymouth, Mass., March 4th, 1878. His parents were David and Polly (Sherman) Tomlinson. They had a family of eleven children, of whom Russel was the youngest. Owing to the narrow means of his parents, his early educational advantages were quite limited. He made the most of these, however, and kept up a habit of study through life, becoming a thorough English scholar. His parents dying when he was quite young, he went to live with an uncle, and during his youth followed the trade of a carpenter. As he grew up to manhood, his thoughts were turned towards the gospel ministry, and he studied for a time with Rev. Mr. Sampson. At what age he began to preach we have no means of knowing, but he was licensed by the Niagara Association, N. Y., Oct. 3d, 1832, and was ordained in 1833. In his early ministry, he entered the field as a Missionary in western New York, where he labored for two years, travelling on horseback hundreds of miles and preaching wherever opportunity offered, receiving slender compensation for his services, and often none at all.

His first regular settlement was at Le Roy, N. Y. He was afterwards settled at Buffalo, Ridgeway, and Rochester. He accepted a call to Plymouth, Mass., in 1838, and removed there in May, 1839. He had a long and unbroken pastorate of twenty-seven years, working zealously for the advancement of all good enterprises and diligently practising the doctrines which he taught. He resigned his charge in 1866 and thenceforth devoted himself to the practice of medicine of the Homœopathic school, to which he had previously given much study, obtaining a good deal of practice and considerable reputation. Mr. Tomlinson was married in Oct., 1849, to Miss Harriet W. May of Plymouth. His married life was very happy but brief, as his wife died three years after, leaving an infant daughter who survived her mother but a few months. Since that time, he has made a home for the father of his wife, who still survives at the age of eighty-six, caring for and ministering to him with true filial tenderness and love.

Mr. Tomlinson was a man of very dignified demeanor that sometimes conveyed to strangers an idea that he was cold and austere in his nature, but those who knew him intimately speak in the highest terms of his kind and tender heart, that was instant in response to any appeal from the unfortunate, the sick or the afflicted. Since his decease, instances of his unostentatious charity have come to light that were never suspected by his nearest friends. He did not allow his left hand to know the acts of his right.

He was a man of strong will, and when he had once come to a decision he was inflexible. If such rigidity of purpose sometimes made enemies, even they respected the man while they disliked his methods. If opposition seemed at times to create a spirit of antagonism in him, his own better judgment would not approve it. His early energies were enlisted in the temperance reform, and he was through life an earnest and unflinching worker in that cause. He was interested and active in educational enterprises, serving for many years on the School Board of Plymouth, and under Gov. Boutwell he was appointed a member of the School Board of Mass. As a man and citizen, he was highly esteemed, and his friends and neighbors for nearly forty years bear emphatic testimony to his high moral worth, his strict integrity, his benevolent disposition, and that he was pre-eminently a good man. He was through life a constant and discriminating student, reading much and wisely. He was an honest, devout Christian, and a preacher of no ordinary talent. A faithful worker in the Master's vineyard, he was an instrument in God's hands of leading many from the ways of sin into paths of holiness and peace.

III. Rev. Elbridge Gerry Brooks, D.D., son of Oliver and Susan Brooks, was born in Dover, N. H., July 29th, 1816, and died in Philadelphia, Pa., April 8th, 1878. Soon after the birth of Dr. Brooks, his parents removed to Portsmouth, and there he passed the years of his boyhood. He was a strong, manly boy, full of life and activity, foremost in all daring feats both on land and water, willing and eager to aid all who needed help, the champion of the weak and oppressed, showing in his early youth generous and noble traits of character which grew with his growth and strengthened with his strength. He was peculiarly blessed in having a father of strict integrity and strong religious principles, and a gentle, pure and devoted mother, who, at a great age, still survives him. In his early boyhood, a sailor's life was very attractive to him, and his youthful dreams were of the excitement and perils of a life upon the sea. Just previous to his ninth birthday, a sad accident occurred by which his leg was so severely injured that amputation became necessary. He bore the painful operation with manly fortitude, and during the consequent confinement he saw all his childish visions of an adventurous life scattered. When he rose from his bed of pain, and again mingled with his schoolmates, tho' it was hard to relinquish his former active habits, his brave nature did not brood over his misfortune, but his heart was made more tender by his affliction, and as he grew older was filled with love to God and man, and he early decided to devote himself to the Christian ministry. His pious parents, rejoicing in the zeal and enthusiasm of their crippled boy, did all in their power to encourage his aspirations and to have him suitably fitted for his chosen calling.

At that time, Rev. T. F. King, of blessed memory, was settled in Portsmouth, and discerning the rare promise of his young friend, he gave him hearty encouragement, and aided him in every possible way. Although always quick to learn, had previously been more fond of out-door life than of his books; but now, fired with a new zeal, he gave himself up to study and never relaxed his efforts till he had acquired such knowledge as the Portsmouth schools could give him. After he left school, his faithful pastor continued to direct his studies, and at the early age of nineteen he began to preach. His first sermon was delivered in Portsmouth, and gave great satisfaction to the faithful friends who heard it, giving promise of those rare pulpit gifts which delighted his hearers in later years. He was first settled in Exeter, N. H. From there he went to Amesbury, Mass., where he was ordained Oct. 19, 1837. He was next settled in East Cambridge, Mass., in 1838, and while living there was married Nov. 7, 1839., to Miss Martha F. Monroe. Their union was a very happy one, and blessed with three children, two daughters and a son. The wife with the son and eldest daughter is still living; the youngest child, a lovely and cherished daughter, died in 1871, in the bloom of early womanhood.

Mr. Brooks' next pastorate, was for a single year over the 2d Church in Lowell, Mass. In the autumn of 1846 he took charge of the parish of Bath, Me. In 1850, he returned to Mass.. and settled in Lynn, where he remained nine years, when he was called in 1859 to the 6th Church in N. York, where he remained eight years, and till he was chosen in 1867 General Secretary of the United States Convention. His duty was to direct and take the lead of the Missionary enterprises and to visit all sections of the country. His labors were manifold and arduous. He went East and West, North and South, aiding with his voice and pen, cheering feeble societies struggling to obtain a foothold, inspiring weak and timid brethren with a portion of his own hearty enthusiasm, bringing order out of chaos by his magic power of organizing and carrying life, energy and courage wherever he went. But even his powerful physique was not strong enough for such labors, and at the close of the year he was obliged to resign his office, and he returned to his family with health so impaired as to excite the gravest apprehensions. He rested for a few months, and then, having partially recovered, accepted in Nov., 1869, an invitation to the church of the Messiah in Philadelphia, to which he gave the last years of his useful life, and where he joyfully resigned that life Apr. 8, 1878, dying, as he had long prayed he might, with the harness on, being absent from his pulpit but one Sunday before his death.

Dr. Brooks was a very strong man physically, intellectually and morally, and in whatever field he labored, he labored with all his might; the good seed was planted deep, the ground was carefully watched, the weeds of error were plucked up with a powerful hand, and in the fullness of time he or his successors reaped an abundant harvest. As a preacher, he was in the front rank of our ministers. He was entirely consecrated to his work, and in the pulpit he spoke as one having authority. His sonorous voice and majestic bearing were in perfect harmony with his clear and forcible presentation of his thought, and emphasized his urgent appeals to the conscience of his hearer. He was by nature an ardent reformer, and he was always true to his convictions. He could not keep back the smallest fragment of what he believed to be God's truth. He early threw himself heart and soul into the anti-slavery cause, and during the war of the Rebellion his clarion voice gave no uncertain sound. The heroic grandeur of his soul could never stoop to ask if a measure was expedient, but when he was convinced of the righteousness of a cause, he advocated it with all the force of his ardent nature. He was ever an uncompromising advocate of truth against falsehood, right against wrong and freedom against slavery. Throughout his life, his inner thought was of "whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely;" and his outer life was an earnest exhortation to honesty, justice, purity and love. Whatever the cause espoused, he was thoroughly in earnest, and no one could misunderstand his position. His hearers might not be convinced of the truth of his cause, but at least they were in no doubt of the sincerity of his belief in it.

Dr. Brooks was a strong and vigorous writer; he wrote much for our periodicals and newspapers, and he published two books which are valuable contributions to our denominational literature: "Universalism in Life and Doctrine," and "Our New Departure." Tufts College, in 1867, conferred on him the degree of D.D., in recognition of his rare intellectual gifts. Dr. Brooks loved his church and rejoiced in her growth and prosperity; he believed in Universalism as a positive doctrine; he believed in the infinite love of the Father and the divine nature of the Son, and the fervid devotion of his own character was the offspring of this belief. But while his love for his own church was very tender and strong, he was no bigot; he loved the truth wherever he found it, and his sympathies were as broad as his faith. Wherever he lived, he won the devoted love of many hearts; he was so genial a companion, so true a friend, so thoughtful and considerate as a pastor, so tender and true in his domestic relations, that he was loved in life and lamented in death. When the report of his illness flashed over the country, and was so speedily followed by the announcement of his death, the feeling everywhere was that not only had a great man — a tower of strength — fallen, but that a good man, a humble and devout Christian had gone to his reward.

IV. Rev. Stacy Haines Matlack, son of Samuel G. and Mary Matlack, was born in Dixon Township, Preble Co., Ohio, Aug. 8th, 1847, and died at Eaton, Ohio, April 15th, 1878. Mr. Matlack's parents were originally Quakers, but for many years they have been firm believers in the doctrine of Universal Salvation. Growing up amid the quiet and undemonstrative influences of such a parentage, the subject of this sketch was from childhood modest and unassuming, conscientious and keenly sensitive. While a boy, his thoughts were turned towards heavenly and divine things, and he early expressed a desire to enter the Christian ministry. On attaining his majority, he entered, in the fall of 1868, the Theological department of St. Lawrence University and graduated in the class of 1871. He soon after received a call to settle over the parish in Northfield, Vt., and immediately entered upon the active duties of the ministry. He was ordained at Northfield, Jan. 2, 1872, and labored there for about one year, greatly endearing himself to the people by his fidelity, purity and goodness. On account of his failing health, he was obliged to resign, greatly to the regret of his charge, and he accepted a call to Springfield, Ohio, hoping to be benefitted by a change. This hope was not realized, and his health continuing to decline, at the end of six months, he relinquished his chosen calling, and returned to his father's house in Eaton. His disease, inflammation of the spine, caused him at times intense suffering, but was ever borne with patience and fortitude. In the fall of 1877, consumption developed itself, and rapidly hastened his release. He was sick and confined to the house most of the time for five years. Tenderly watched over and ministered to by loving hands, he would gladly have lived, for the world was very bright before him, and he loved the work to which he had devoted himself, but he cheerfully resigned his own will, and submitted to the will of his Heavenly Father. His faith in God as the Universal Father and Christ as the Universal Saviour, was clear and strong to the last; and this blessed faith which he loved to proclaim in health, strengthened him in sickness, and supported him in the hour of death.

V. Rev. Giles Bailey, eldest of the four sons of Eliphalet and Abigail (Silsby) Bailey, was born in Acworth, N. H., May 7, 1815, and died in Reading, Pa., May 14, 1878. Mr. Bailey obtained his earlier education in the common schools of his native town. A singular circumstance in connection with his later school days seems worthy of note. In the years of 1834 and '35, he, with two other young men of about the same age and the same family name, attended school at the academies in Cavendish and Chester, Vt., and afterwards they were all students at a school in Unity, N. H., then under the charge of the present Rev. Dr. A. A. Miner of Boston. The three friends were James W., Giles, and George W. Bailey. The two first were own cousins and second cousins to the last. They entered the Universalist ministry at about the same time, were all ordained in 1840, were all faithful, earnest and consecrated ministers, and achieved honorable positions in their profession. The two first have finished their earthly career; the last is still living, in Springfield, Vt.

Giles Bailey was a diligent and careful scholar. He acquired considerable knowledge of Latin and Greek, receiving instruction in those branches from Hon. Horace Maynard. At the age of seventeen, he began a successful career as a school teacher in Vt. and N. H., and was through life warmly interested in educational movements,—serving as Superintent of Schools in many towns and using his influence for the establishment and growth of our denominational Institutions.

The parents of Mr. Bailey, though not pronounced Universalists, were liberal in their religious opinions, and he became a believer in Universalism, and his mind was inclined the ministry as early as 1835. He was at that time rather conservative as a Universalist, holding to what was then known as Restorationism. He pursued his theological studies under the late Rev. Lemuel Willis. He was licensed in 1839, and ordained in Winthrop, Maine, May 27, 1840. He was settled in Winthrop for two years, then removed to Brunswick where he remained seven years, then lived three years in Oldtown, three in Dexter, two in Claremont, N. H., then returned to Maine and lived eight years in Gardiner and two in Belfast, and finally, in the fall of 1869, he removed to Reading, Pa., where, after nearly nine years of faithful labor, he closed a noble and useful life.

The larger part of Mr. Bailey's ministerial work was performed in Maine, and that State became the home of his heart; living in so many different sections of the State, he knew the people very intimately, and had a peculiarly strong and tender affection for her institutions and for the hosts of generous and warm-hearted friends whose love he highly prized. He left Maine with regret, and in absence expressed in his letters the strongest attachment for the State endeared to him by so many precious memories; and as he loved, so was he beloved and honored, and his memory is very tenderly cherished wherever he was known, not only by those of his own faith, but by the community generally which esteemed him for his lofty sense of justice, his strict integrity and his pure life.

Wherever he lived, he devoted all his energies to his work, allowing nothing to draw him away from his chosen calling. He was an able, instructive and interesting preacher, often thrilling his hearers by his impressive fervor. He was strongly interested in all reform movements and the energetic boldness of his position on the anti-slavery question a score of years ago will long be remembered by his associates. It was a subject that roused him perhaps more than any other, and in his addresses on that subject, there was such a fiery zeal, such burning indignation and tender pathos that all hearts were stirred by his eloquence.

Though he was a decided, denominational Universalist, he never thought the truth was confined to his own church, but was broad and generous in his sympathies, "with malice towards none and charity to all." His work in Reading, as it was the last, was perhaps also the best of his life. He seemed to be the man for the place, and his efficient labors encouraged and stimulated his people, so that the growth and prosperity of his parish was very marked. The local papers, at the time of his decease, spoke of him in very eulogistic terms both as a minister and as a citizen.

In addition to his regular work as a preacher and pastor, Mr. Bailey was a frequent and valuable contributor to our denominational papers. He wrote many years ago, a series of letters over the signature of "Lucius" for the Christian Ambassador which attracted a good deal of attention. They were fresh and racy, revealing unusual literary ability and grasp of thought, and exciting much curiosity in regard to their authorship. Later he wrote a good deal for the Star in the West and the Universalist, and for a time occupied the editorial chair of the latter paper, and was for two or three years editor of the Register. Upon whatever topic he wrote, he left the imprint of a strong and vigorous mind, and there was a freshness and point about his articles that made them very welcome. Mr. Bailey was thrice married. His first wife was Miss Jane M. Damon, the second Miss Sarah Murphy, and the third Miss Mercy Bassett who with four sons survives him.

VI. Rev. Joseph Harsh, son of Joseph and Catherine (Yohe) Harsh was born in Stark Co., Ohio, in the year 1827, and died in Clyde, Jasper Co., Iowa, May 27, 1878. He was one of eighteen children, twelve of whom lived to maturity, and of these, all save one, with their parents embraced the Universalist faith, and nine have died firm and rejoicing in the hope of universal salvation.

Mr. Harsh lived in Ohio, and most of the time in Wayne Co., till 1855, when he removed to Iowa, where he spent the remaining years of his life.

In youth, his intellectual and religious growth was very marked. At the age of twenty, he made a public profession of religion and united with a branch of the Lutheran church. Not very long after, finding his expanding views more in harmony with the doctrine of a full salvation, he joined the Universalist church. His early opportunities for education were limited; but after he arrived at manhood, by diligent study at home, and the aid of private instruction at Wooster, Ohio, he acquired what might justly be called a liberal education.

Mr. Harsh was ordained at Clyde, Iowa, Oct. 20, 1868, but had been preaching many years previous to that time. His principal work as a preacher, was done at Clyde, Edenville and Chelsea, Iowa, though he preached a good deal at various points where there is no organization of Universalists. He was a man of elevated thought and large sympathies; he was earnest in every good work, and by his labors in the pulpit and school-room, by his pen and the quiet influence of his character, he has helped to make the world better.

Mr. Harsh was twice married. Two sons by the first marriage, and the second wife with four children survive him.

VII. Rev. Wm. Brice was born in the State of New York, Jan. 23, 1801. He was educated in England, and after his return travelled over most of the Atlantic States, preaching the doctrine of universal salvation. He finally settled in Missouri, and was married Apr. 23, 1855 to Mrs. Nancy Kimball. He moved to Washington Territory in 1870, and died June 19, 1878. He was a man of more than ordinary intelligence, a good man and a life-long Universalist.

VIII. Rev. Levi Chandler Marvin, son of William and Mary (Crosby) Marvin, was born in Alstead, N. H., Sept. 21, 1808, and died at his residence in Clinton, Mo., July 5th, 1878, in the seventieth year of his age. He was disabled from active business by an injury received on leaving the cars at Clinton, on a very dark night in August, 1872. Much of the time thereafter he was confined to his room, and a part of it to his bed.

Mr. Marvin was, in some respects, a very extraordinary man, and achieved his position in life by his own unaided efforts. His first work in a literary course, beyond the common schools, was done in an academy in Chesterfield, N. H., in the fall of 1828. In 1829, he appears as teacher in a common school at Rhinebeck, N. Y. In a letter from that place under date of Feb., 1831, received by a gentleman in Albany, and addressed in part to Rev. I. D. Williamson, Mr. Marvin acknowledges an invitation from Mr. Williamson to enter his household as a student of theology, and he decides to accept. Here he spent some months in study, and then began his preaching. He received fellowship in 1831, went to Buffalo in the winter of 1832, but returned the next year, and afterwards preached for a while in Amsterdam and Duanesburg. He was ordained in 1834. In the spring of 1835, he removed to Newark, N. J., where he continued as pastor of the Universalist society until 1838. He then spent a short time in preaching among his old friends in Duanesburg (Braman's Corners). On the 27th of July, 1836, he was married to Miss Ann M. Moores, a very excellent lady of Hudson, N. Y., whose peculiar temperament was fitted to bless him alike in his joys and in his sorrows, and to cheer him in despondency.

In 1841, he removed to Missouri, and took up his residence Oct. 17th in Arrow Rock, Saline Co. A few years later found him a resident of Boonville, Cooper Co., where he had a quasi discussion with Rev. Mr. Slocum, a new school Presbyterian, formerly an antagonist of Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D.D. The discussion embraced twelve lectures on each side and extended with unabated interest through six weeks, Mr. Slocum occupying his own church and Mr. Marvin the Court House. In the spring of 1848, he removed to Jacksonville, Ill., where he had a discussion with Rev. C. W. Lewis, Methodist. Two years later, Sept., 1850, he became a resident of Springfield, Ill., where, by the assistance of friends and their own means, his widow says, "we lived in our own house." Here, too, he made the acquaintance and secured the warm personal friendship of the late President Lincoln. From that place, in 1856, he returned to Missouri, and Clinton thereafter became his permanent home. After his return to Missouri, he had two public discussions, one at Springfield, Ill., with Rev. Mr. Johnson, Campbellite, and the other at at Georgetown, Mo., with Rev. W. W. Suddath, Presbyterian.

The labors of Mr. Marvin were generally very arduous. Much of his ministry was spent as an itinerant, and his remuneration was very small, requiring extra efforts in teaching school to make up the deficiency. He was a man of unbending integrity, never varying in the smallest point from the line of rectitude and truth. His genial nature and social qualities were of a very high order, securing for him warm friendships and life-long devotion. In his family relations he was tender and affectionate, beloved and revered.

During the Rebellion he was a strong Union man—the only man in the county where he lived who gave a vote for Abraham Lincoln for President. His efforts in behalf of the Union awakened a bitterness of feeling which often endangered both his person and his life. During that period he was for two sessions a member of the Legislature of Missouri, taking his seat in the fall of 1862. At one session he was chosen Speaker of the House. At the same time his brother, Hon. A. C. Marvin, was a member of the Senate and acting Lieutenant Governor. On one occasion the two houses met for the transaction of some special business, when the unusual scene occurred of two brothers presiding over the joint session. He afterwards paid some attention to the study of law, and was admitted to practice at the bar in 1867. He had little opportunity, however, for achieving greatness in that direction, for in 1872 he was disabled from all active business.

It was during his long confinement that the great qualities of his soul were more fully manifested—manifested specially in a meek, uncomplaining, Christian resignation. He knew from the first that his active work was done. It was a painful thought, and sometimes even the sunshine, which he could never again enjoy under the open canopy, seemed to sadden him; but his great soul soon took a wider scope, and he saw both a blessing and a hope in all the ways of God to man.

IX. Rev. Lemuel Willis, son of Lemuel and Fanny (Cobb) Willis, was born in Windham, Vt., April 24, 1802. The family removed to Westmoreland, N. H., in 1813, and that was the home of Mr. Willis until he entered the ministry. His father was a zealous and devoted Universalist, converted to the doctrine by the eloquent preaching of Rev. Elhanan Winchester, many years before the birth of his gifted son; he read his Bible much, and the truths there revealed were often explained in the family circle, and thus the hearts of his children were early impressed by the blessed doctrine taught by Christ. His son Lemuel felt a call to the ministry at an early age, and in 1822 he went to Reading, Vt., and was for a time a student of Rev. S. C.

Loveland, a man eminent in the denomination for his rare scholarship, and whose simple dignity of character made a deep impression upon all those who came within the sphere of his influence.

Mr. Willis preached his first sermon in Reading, in July, 1822, and was fellowshipped by the General Convention in Warner, N. H., the following September, and ordained at Whiting, Vt., in Sept., 1823. His first labors were in Stoddard, Marlow and Acworth, N. H. He was afterwards settled in Troy, N. Y., for two years, and from there went to Salem, Mass., where he was installed March 25, 1829. His pastorate at Salem extended over nine years, and there he performed what may be truly called the great work of his life. By his untiring patience, by his persistence in every good work, by the silent influence of his noble, Christian character, no less than by his public ministrations, he placed the Church in Salem upon a solid foundation which has never been shaken. He organized a Sunday School in May, 1829, which was one of the earliest in the denomination, and has been the means of great moral and spiritual good to the Society and Church. He was also instrumental in forming a Samaritan Society to aid the worthy poor of Salem, and he took a deep interest in all moral, benevolent and Christian enterprises.

Mr. Willis was subsequently settled in Lynn and Cambridgeport, Mass., and in Washington, Claremont and Portsmouth, N. H.; but more than twenty years ago he withdrew from the active duties of the ministry, and has since resided in Warner, N. H.

In whatever place he lived, he won golden opinions from all. He never lowered the dignity of his sacred calling by laying aside his ministerial character. He was ever a welcome guest in the homes of his people and lovingly enshrined in their hearts. His presence at the public gatherings of his Church was felt as a perpetual benediction. He carried his own atmosphere with him, and all were impressed by his saintly presence, which testified that he was indeed called of God. Guileless as a child, and too upright and pure to be ever swerved from the path of rectitude himself, he could not believe evil of others. He truly possessed that greatest of Christian graces, Charity, which endureth all things and thinketh no evil. If dissensions arose, he was the peace-maker, pouring oil upon the troubled waters.

He was devoted, heart and soul, to the Church of which he was a beloved and honored member and leader for more than half a century and he ever earnestly labored to extend its boundaries, strengthen its influence and maintain its dignity. As a preacher, he was clear, forcible and fervent. If his hearers were never electrified by bursts of eloquence, they were always impressed by the devout piety, the strong good sense, and the entire consecration which marked all his efforts. His love for his Divine Master, and his faith in the blessed truths he came to reveal, were strong and bright to the last, and on the 23d of July, 1878, he quietly finished his earthly career and entered into rest.

Mr. Willis was twice married, first Nov. 11, 1824, to Miss Amanda R. Simmons, of Windham, Vt., who died Sept. 23d, 1846. Four of their five children are still living. March 30th, 1847, he married Mrs. Abigail P. (Bean) George, who, though long an invalid, survives him.

X. Rev. JONATHAN SHEPARD, son of Harris and Martha Shepard, was born in Haverhill, N. H., April 10, 1792, and died in Linden, Michigan, Aug. 26, 1878. In his youth he became deeply interested in the subject of religion and was licensed by the Methodists in 1812, and began the work of the ministry in Littleton, N. H. He remained in fellowship with that denomination till 1830, when he withdrew from it, having become by diligent study of the Bible, without aid from commentaries or preachers, a firm believer in the doctrine of Universalism. He was then living in Stafford, N. Y. He removed to Michigan in 1836, and settled in Fenton, Genesee Co., where he felled the first tree where the village of Linden now stands. He was for a time largely engaged in secular business, building mills and laboring steadily through the week for the support of those dependent upon him; but he used his leisure moments for study and preached on the Sabbath wherever he could find an audience. He was ordained in Linden, in 1844, but was never regularly settled over any parish. His work was of a missionary character and a labor of love for the cause. He preached chiefly in the vicinity of Linden, in Mundy, Gaines, Davisonville and Grand Blank. He was a man of deep feeling and his pulpit efforts were generally earnest exhortations to practical piety. Till he was seventy years old, he rarely missed preaching somewhere every Sabbath, but his infirmities have prevented active labor for many years. His presence however has always been expected and welcome at associations and conferences. The last public meeting he attended was at Corunna, in 1876, when, having had a slight paralytic shock not long before, he bade his brethren a very tender and affectionate farewell, alluding briefly to the sorrows, sufferings, and defeats that were behind him, and looking joyfully forward to the brightness of the eternal morning which he saw dawning before him.

Some months before his death he was again stricken with paralysis from which he never rallied.

Mr. Shepard was married Feb. 11, 1816, to Miss Lucinda Sweet of Hardwick, Vt. She died Nov. 5, 1848, leaving seven children. In 1850, he was married to Mariah Edny Smith of Vermont, who died in 1875. He leaves behind him a large circle of children and grand-children and many friends who loved, honored and revered him, and who speak of him as a grand, Christian, old man.

XI. Rev. CHARLES CHAPMAN CLARK was born in Rumney, N. H., in Aug., 1813, and died in Brattleboro', Vt., Oct. 14, 1878. His early advantages for an education were quite limited and he had much to do to make himself the acceptable preacher and minister he afterwards became. In early life Mr. Clark was a zealous Methodist, but by reading the Universalist publications which came in his way, his faith was enlarged and he became a firm believer in the doctrine of Universalism. His change of belief gave him great joy and he devoted all his leisure to study, and in due time entered the ministry. He was ordained in 1841, in Thornton, N. H., in which place he preached for some time. He was afterwards settled in E. Jaffrey and Brookline, N. H., Concord and Hartland, Vt., Susquehanna, Pa., Essex, Pigeon Cove and West Townsend, Mass. He was a man of sound common sense with a sincere and devout spirit and a good knowledge of the Scriptures. His aspirations as a minister were always for usefulness rather than popularity; he had a keen spiritual insight and ardent spiritual inclinations.

EDITED BY

MRS. C. L. F. SKINNER.

UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE,
16 BROMFIELD STREET.
1880.

PREFACE.

In offering the forty-fifth number of the Register to the Universalists of the United States, the editor desires to present to the many friends, who have so generously aided her in her sometimes perplexing work, the assurances of her very sincere gratitude. To their prompt and cordial kindness, the Register is indebted for much information that could not otherwise have been obtained. A few letters have been received at too late a date to be of use in the present number, but in general the returns from the different states have been unusually full, and the editor hopes that the work may not be wholly without value to those who are accustomed to consult its pages. To guard against misunderstanding, it should be stated that the apparent falling off in the value of parish property in the Tabular Statement, is due to the decline in real estate, and also to fuller returns of the indebtedness of parishes; the falling off in the assets of Colleges and Academies, to the fact that all did not report their finances, and the statement includes only those which did report.

GIVING THE STATISTICS OF THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1, 1879.

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION.

THIS body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October, 1880, in Hudson, N. Y. It consists of the Presidents (or, in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows; viz., 1. Each State Convention in fellowship is entitled to one clerical and two lay delegates. 2. If it have in its fellowship an aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, it is entitled to two clerical and four lay delegates; and for each additional aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, one clerical and two lay delegates. 3. If there be one or more organized parishes in any State or Territory where there is no convention, said parish or parishes are entitled to send one delegate to the General Convention; provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry unless he is disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in all cases of discipline not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

THE MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected in 1869, and named in honor of Rev. John Murray, the first preacher of Universal Redemption in America, is designed to aid in the education of our clergy, the circulation of denominational literature, and in church extension. This fund amounted, October 1, 1879, to $121,794.54.

THE JOHN G. GUNN MINISTERIAL RELIEF FUND, founded by the bequest of $8,000 by the late John G. Gunn, of Nyack, N. Y., "for the relief, support and maintenance of needy Universalist clergymen and their widows and orphans, not coming within the scope of the Harsen Fund of New York," amounted, October 1, 1879, to $8,077.94.

THE THEOLOGICAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND, consisting of returned Scholarship Loans, amounted to $5,439.32. The income is devoted to the aid of Theological students.

By the Treasurer's Report, made at the last General Convention, at Minneaoplis, Minn., Oct., 1879, it appears that the receipts into the treasury for the preceding year were as follows: —

To Balance,	$1,366.45
Interest,	7,642.00
Missionary Boxes,	1,293.50
Annual Contributions,	3,431.06
Special Contributions (debt),	5,556.57
Special Receipts,	251.16
	$19,540.74

The disbursements were as follows: —

Salaries and Incidental Expenses,	$2,120.25
Loan Paid,	8,570.00
Scholarships,	5,667.75
Interest,	1,464.53
Missions,	1,231.25
Missionary-box Account,	200.15
Charges upon Income,	156.85
	$19,410.78
Cash on hand Oct. 1, 1879,	$129.96

Thirty-six scholarships have been in force during the past year. Eight beneficiaries have graduated from the two Theological Schools. Probably forty students will require Convention aid during the coming year.

Preacher of next Occas'l Ser.—Rev. J. H. Chapin, Ph. D.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—This Society was organized in 1834, for "the collection and preservation of facts pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism, together with books and papers having reference to the same subject." It has been incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. It has a library of about 1,800 volumes, now at Tufts College, and has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times, and donations of books and money are earnestly solicited that the library may be rendered as complete as possible.

President—Rev. R. Eddy; Secretary and Librarian—Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D.D., of College Hill, Mass.; Treasurer—Rev. E. Davis, of Canton, Mass.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION, of the Universalist Church, was organized in 1869 to assist in raising the Murray Fund, and was incorporated Sept. 18, 1873. It has since then enlarged and extended its sphere of operations. The objects of the Association are to set forth the claims of God as the Father of all created intelligences, and to save souls from the bondage of sin and error. It has already raised and expended in missionary work over $100,000. Of this, $35,000.53 was given to the Murray Fund. It has put in circulation during the past year 304,100 pages of tracts, making a total during ten years of 2,307,650 pages, besides sending 500 volumes of religious books and 5,000 papers to Scotland and elsewhere. It has helped colleges and schools, and students for the ministry; assisted aged and sick ministers and ministers' widows; has started the "Potter Memorial Chapel" at Good Luck, N. J.; and has established the first foreign mission of the Universalist Church. It is supported wholly by voluntary contributions and annual memberships.

President—Mrs. C. A. Soule; Cor. Sec.—Mrs. O. E. Cantwell; N. W. Cor. Sec.—Mrs. J. W. Hanson; Rec. Sec.—Mrs. E. G. Hall, Chicago, Ill.; Treasurer—Mrs. M. A. Adams; Committee of Publication—Mrs. M. L. Thomas. Total receipts for the year ending Oct. 1, 1879, $5,604.17. Total disbursements, $2,669.69. Cash in hand of Publication Committee, $256.34. Balance in Treasury, $2,678.14. Permanent Fund, $1,950.

THE CHAPIN HOME FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM was incorporated by an Act of the Legislature of New York, May 1, 1869. The object of the Institution is to provide a home and to support worthy, aged and infirm men and women. By the charter, the corporation is empowered to own such real estate as is necessary for the convenient transaction of its business, not to exceed in value $100,000. It may also hold other property, not to exceed in value $500,000. Assets of the Chapin Home, May 1st, 1879, in bonds and mortgages, $46,946.43; the buildings occupied by the Home, valued at $83,000; 37½ acres of land in Franklin Co., N. Y., and 8 lots in Maple Grove Cemetery.

President—Mrs. E. H. Chapin; Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. D. Youmans, 230 East 12th Street, New York.

STATISTICS OF STATES IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER.

[NOTE OF EXPLANATION.—In the statistical tables which follow, the dates prefixed to churches and Sunday schools denote the year of their organization; the fractions affixed to parishes denote the proportion of the Sundays they have preaching; and the integers the number of families connected with the parishes; oc. denotes occasional; dor. dormant or inactive; the date prefixed to church edifices shows when they were dedicated or made ready for use; w., br., st., denote respectively, wood, brick, stone; and the sums following, the net value of all parish property, deducting indebtedness, in all cases, if known. The parallel lines (||) prefixed to the names of preachers denote ministers not in our fellowship, but preaching to Universalist societies.]

South Carolina.

There is but one church reported in South Carolina, at Feasterville, Fairfield Co., organized in 1877, with 30 members. There are two flourishing S. schools near Prospect.

Tennessee.

No organization. Rev. Wm. Hale, M. D., of Free Hill, Washington Co., is the only preacher of Universalism in the State. He is about organizing a church at Free Hill, and, with others, is making preparations to build a church edifice there early in 1880. He is laboring zealously as a missionary, and distributing tracts and other documents.

Texas.

There are 2 churches in Texas, — Rock Dale, Milam Co., formed in 1875, of 45 members, and Williamson Co., formed in 1855, of 50 members. Each has a small edifice. Rev. J. Billings has recently settled at Palestine, and is preaching at different places in the State. There are several other ministers who preach a part of the time.

Vermont.

The State Convention (formed 1833), meets on Tuesday before the third Wednesday in August. President—H. V. French; Vice-President—A. T. Foster; Secretary—Rev. J. Vincent; Treasurer—W. Chase. Committee of F., O. & D.—Revs. S. A. Parker, H. Whitney and L. Holmes; Messrs. Perley Starr and H. Carpenter. Trustees—Geo. Allen, E. F. Brown and E. J. GREAT BRITAIN.

The Scottish Convention of Universalists (formed 1875), will meet in Larbert, May, 1880. President—Alexander Reed; Treasurer—John McMillen; Secretary—Mrs. C. A. Soule of Glasgow; Executive Committee—Wm. Bogle, James McCutcheon, Wm. Pratt, Andrew Ure, and Thomas Roughead. One church edifice only is owned by the Universalists of Scotland—that at Stenhousemuir, Larbert, built in 1875, of brick, and known as the Church of the Redeemer. Rev. J. M. Cunningham preaches there one-half of the time. The church at Carluke and Braidwood (reorganized 1879) is now called St. John's Universalist Church. The church at Glasgow (reorganized 1879) is called St. Paul's Universalist Church. Mrs. C. A. Soule preaches there regularly. They have a Bible class, Sunday school and church library.

Mrs. Soule has preached during the past year in very many places in both Scotland and England, and will remain in Scotland another year.

16 BROMFIELD STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

This House was incorporated in 1872, and holds all its property for the use and benefit of the Universalist Church. It is managed by a board of twenty-one Trustees, who hold office until their resignation, or removal from the State from which they were elected. Vacancies may be filled by the State convention which the Trustees represented; such State convention failing to fill said vacancies within one year, the Trustees shall do so at their next annual meeting thereafter. Fourteen of the Trustees belong in Massachusetts, two in Rhode Island, two in Vermont, and one each in Maine and New Hampshire.

Tousey, A. M., D. B., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; Rev. G. H. Knight, A. M., D. B., Instructor in Rhetoric and History; Bernhard Maimon, Instructor in the Hebrew Language and Literature; Moses T. Brown, A. M., Professor of Oratory; Rev. A. St. John Chambré, D. D., Lecturer on Ecclesiastical History.

Candidates must sustain a good character, and have a sincere purpose to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other applicants must have received a good English education, and it is desirable that they should have some knowledge of Latin and Greek.

It is recommended that those purposing a course in Theology shall take, as preliminary, a full collegiate course of study. The regular course of instruction occupies three years for Bachelors of Arts, but to meet the wants of those who are unable to make so extensive preparation, a four years' course has been instituted, and includes the following: Rhetorical and Logical Studies; Mental and Moral Science; Hebrew, Greek and German Languages; Biblical, Ecclesiastical and Dogmatic History; Archæology; Principles of Interpretation; Old and New Testament Literature; Exegesis; Natural, Comparative and Systematic Theology; Christian Evidences; Homiletics; Church Government; Pastoral Care, &c. Special courses are provided of three, two, and one years.

The degree of Bachelor of Divinity is conferred upon those who sustain a satisfactory examination in the studies of the full course. Tuition, room-rent, and use of furniture, free. Board in the club, or in private families, $3 per week. The General Convention of Universalists aids students by a system of loans. Students in the regular course may add to their resources by preaching during the year and a half preceding their graduation.

Calendar. — Graduating Exercises, June 16. Examination for admission, September 15. College year begins September 16.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF DECEASED MINISTERS.

[NOTE.—In preparing the following sketches of deceased ministers, the editor has in some instances been largely indebted to the full and appreciative notices already published; and in others she has received much assistance from relatives and friends. She returns her cordial thanks to all who have aided her.]

I. Rev. JAMES LEWIS CORBIN GRIFFIN, son of Dr. Samuel S. and Sally (Lewis) Griffin, was born March 17, 1814, in Gloucester Co., Va, and died near Gloucester Court House, Va., Oct. 22, 1878. Mr. Griffin's early education was received partly from his father and partly at a school in Williamsburg, Va. When sixteen years old, he entered William and Mary College, and graduated in 1833. After teaching for a few months, he became a preacher in the M E. Church, but two years later left the ministry for the study of medicine. He graduated as M. D. from the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, in Feb., 1839, but practised medicine for only a short time. In 1844 he joined the Universalist Church in Richmond, Va., and was ordained and became pastor of the church in 1845. He was afterwards for a time associate editor of the Christian Warrior published in that city. After leaving Richmond, a large part of his life was devoted to teaching. He taught in Williamsburg, Va., and Patriot, Ind., where he was also pastor of the Universalist church, then in Louisiana and Mississippi, being Professor of Ancient Languages in Madison College, Miss., for two years. In 1857, he was made Professor of Latin and Greek in Lombard University, Galesburg, Ill., but returned to Mississippi the following year. Soon after, he removed to S Carolina, and preached, mostly as an itinerant, in that State, N. Carolina, and Virginia, till 1871, when he went to Florida and became pastor of the Universalist church in West Florida, teaching at the same time, till 1874; when, feeling a strong desire to revisit his native State, he returned to Virginia, settling first at Alexandria, and afterwards removing to Gloucester Co., where he closed his earthly career.

Besides the work Mr. Griffin did as preacher and teacher, he was a constant contributor for many years to the Universalist Herald, and his writings added much to the interest of that paper. He was much beloved in the South, where he was best known; he was honorable in all the relations of life, and devoted to his faith, showing its benign spirit in his daily intercourse with the world.

II. Rev JOSHUA BRITTON was born in Westmoreland, N. H., Aug. 14, 1803, and died at Fort Atkinson, Wis, Oct. 30, 1878.

His early life was spent upon a farm, where he had but limited opportunities for attending school; but he diligently improved those that offered, and, at the age of eighteen, began a successful career as a teacher which extended over ten years, pursuing his own studies at the same time and steadily adding to his stores of knowledge

Mr. Britton had from youth a serious and devout mind, and was always a regular attendant on public worship. He was inclined to the faith of the Presbyterian Church until about the age of twenty-three, when he had opportunities for hearing the doctrines of Universalism advocated by the late Rev. Dolphus Skinner and others. He became very much interested, and his intelligent mind eagerly drank in the new views presented. His faith grew stronger with the lapse of time, and he finally resolved to enter the gospel ministry. He was fellowshipped by the N. Y. Central Association, June, 1831; he preached his first sermon the following month, and was ordained at Burlington Flats, N. Y., June 6, 1832. He had been previously married, Oct 21, 1827, to Miss Eunice Britton, with whom he passed forty-three years of wedded happiness, she dying eight years before her husband.

Mr. Britton was settled over parishes in the State of N York till 1839, when he was in Chesterfield, N H., for a year. He spent the next ten years in Dudley and North Chatham, Mass. The next three years he preached in Stoddard and Richmond, N. H. He removed to Vermont in 1853, and preached in Brattleboro', W. Concord, Lyndon, and Bradford for the next fifteen years, when he went to Fort Atkinson, Wis, which was his home for the remainder of his life He was a faithful and excellent pastor; he had a mild and benevolent spirit and a loving heart that won many friends. He was an uncompromising advocate of his own faith, but his broad and catholic spirit and his tender consideration for the feelings of others prevented him from ever making a harsh attack upon the doctrines of other Christian churches. He was a man of very marked conscientiousness, and so truthful and painstaking that whatever statement he made might be accepted as absolutely correct.

If not one of our greatest ministers intellectually, he was one of the best spiritually, and his life was a pure and useful one. For several years his declining health has prevented him from engaging in the regular duties of the ministry; but, while patiently waiting for his appointed time, he kept up his interest in all church enterprises and did what he could for the cause of Christ.

III. Rev. VARNUM GREEN WHEELOCK, eldest child of Jeremiah and Abigail (Nealy) Wheelock, was born in Calais, Vt., Dec. 16, 1806, and died in East Calais, from cancer and paralysis, Dec 11, 1878.

The parents of Mr. Wheelock removed to Montpelier, Vt., when he was very young, and they both died there while he was still a child, leaving him to struggle with poverty. He had but slight social or educational advantages; he was not strong physically, and his natural mental ability was not marked. He grew up an earnest and zealous Universalist, and was very desirous to enter the ministry. He began to preach occasionally in 1840, but was not ordained till 1855. He was never settled over any parish, but preached a good deal as a missionary in Northern Vermont and Canada, and did what he could to disseminate the truth He was very devotional in his feelings, patient and persevering in his efforts to spread the gospel, and his faith brought him great peace and comfort. He was married, Aug. 9, 1854, to Elvira Webster of Wolcott, Vt., who died March 15, 1856.

IV. Rev. PRUDY LECLERC HASKELL, daughter of Napoleon and Roxa LeClerc, was born in Louisville, Ky., Feb. 6, 1844, and died in Oxford, O., Dec 27, 1878.

Mrs. Haskell, as a child, was thoughtful, intelligent and studious. Having obtained a good common-school education in Vevey, Ind., where her parents resided in her early girlhood, she began to teach, and, by her own efforts, obtained the means to secure an academic course of study. Her parents were Universalists in sentiment, and her mind was early impressed by the influences of their religious faith. An only brother who had intended to enter the Universalist ministry, died in a Southern prison during the war, and she felt herself called to take the place which he would have filled. She was ordained at Madison, Ind., Oct. 14, 1869, where she preached two years, and succeeded in gathering the scattered remnants of a former organization into a living form. She then went to Mt Pleasant, Iowa, and labored there successfully for two years, greatly endearing herself to her people; but the climate proving unfavorable to her she was obliged to leave, and she returned to the home of her parents in Aurora, Ind. She was afterwards settled at Mt. Carmel, Ind., at Jeffersonville and Newtown, Ohio, and at Covington, Ky. Wherever she lived, her many gifts and graces won warm friends, who loved her for the sweet purity of her heart and life, and esteemed and honored her for her warm devotion to the cause of Christ and her heroic efforts to advance his kingdom. She was an attractive and interesting preacher, and very popular as a pastor. While residing at Covington, Ky., she was united in marriage to Mr. Cassius L. Haskell who has since been ordained to the ministry. She had been married but a single year when she was called to leave her husband and widowed mother who was a member of her household, and go up higher.

V. Rev. JOSEPH OBERLIN SKINNER, eldest of the seven children of David and Abigail (Sleeper) Skinner, was born in Piermont, N H., Feb 18, 1816, and died from paralysis in Waterville, Me., Jan. 12, 1879. The early days of Mr. Skinner were marked by privation, self-denial and toil. He had but slender opportunities for attending school, and was emphatically self-educated. Endowed with an active and inquiring mind and an unusually tenacious memory, he easily acquired and retained the knowledge for which he had an ardent thirst. During the long summer days when he was at work upon the farm, his thoughts were upon his studies, and as he always had a book in his pocket, many hard lessons were learned, many difficult problems solved, and the habit of patient, thorough investigation formed, which was a marked characteristic of his maturer studies. In spite of all obstacles, he was early fitted for a teacher, and finished his first school before his seventeenth birth-day. He was a successful and enthusiastic teacher, and through life felt a great interest in our common schools, and was an efficient and useful member of the school board in almost every town where he ever lived.

The father of Mr. Skinner belonged to the strictest school of Congregationalists, and he instructed his children most carefully in their gloomy doctrines The thoughtful and reverent nature of the son was appalled by the religious views presented to him, and, being a sensitive and conscientious child, he suffered agonies of apprehension and fear He felt that it was a fearful thing to live, and the idea of death was full of terror At about the age of fifteen, he had an opportunity to hear the late Rev. John Moore preach a few times, and, as a result, the clouds which had overshadowed him were dissipated, and a flood of light which was never again obscured, burst upon his soul. The great change through which he then passed quickened and exalted his moral and religious nature, and gave birth to a faith which nothing could shake — a faith which was so strong and clear that it seemed in his later life at times to be almost sight.

In the spring of 1834, Mr. Skinner went to Lowell, Mass , and was for a time employed in a cotton-mill. He there had access to libraries, he joined classes studying the natural sciences, he attended lectures, and, what he prized most of all, he had an opportunity to attend upon the ministry of Rev T B. Thayer, then settled over the Universalist church in that city, and to learn more of the principles underlying his cherished faith. In consequence of the great peace and joy which were in his own soul, he began to think it might be his duty to fit himself for the Christian ministry His pastor encouraged his aspirations, gave him his warm sympathy, and aided him so generously in carrying out his wishes as to secure his life-long gratitude, esteem and love.

When about twenty, Mr Skinner went to Malden, and entered the family of the late Rev. S. Cobb as a theological student, and began to preach occasionally a few months later. He was licensed in June, 1837, and ordained at Salem, N. H., Aug. 31, 1837. He was settled in Holliston, Mass., from 1837 to 1840, when he removed to Framingham; in 1844 he went to Dudley, and from there to Concord in 1846; in 1848 he removed to Ludlow, Vt., and in 1850 to Chester, in the same State, where he remained till August, 1853, when he accepted a call to Rockland, Me. He labored there very successfully for more than six years, when he reluctantly resigned his pastorate and accepted a call to Nashua, N. H., where he resided from November, 1859, till the summer of 1862. At that time he was troubled with a bronchial difficulty, so that he was able to preach only occasionally for more than a year, but in December, 1863, he settled in St. Albans, Vt, and two years later in Malone, N. Y. He left Malone in 1867, to become associate editor of the Christian Repository, published in Montpelier, Vt., preaching meanwhile in East Montpelier. His work as an editor was peculiarly fitted to his tastes, and he enjoyed it much; but, as he was employed on account of the ill health of the editor, the arrangement was a temporary one, and he accepted a call to Waterville, Me., in April, 1869. That was his last settlement, and he spent the remainder of his life there, preaching in Waterville and, for longer or shorter periods, at Fairfield, Vassalboro' and Sidney. Besides his regular pastoral work he attended very many funerals, often going long distances to carry comfort to sorrowing hearts.

It was while attending the funeral of a former parishioner, Feb. 3, 1878, that his own summons came, and he was stricken by paralysis of the right side and carried to his home insensible, and apparently lifeless. His life hung by a thread for weeks, but he finally rallied somewhat, and regained the power of speech in a measure Almost the first words that the watchful ear of affection could understand were: "Faith worketh patience"; and his daily life thenceforth was a constant exemplification of those words. During the more than eleven long months that he was confined to his bed, more helpless than an infant, and at times suffering most acutely, no murmuring word, no desire to recover, no wish to go, ever passed his lips; but the sweetest submission, most perfect faith and patience marked every conscious hour. Though the fatal disease had cast a cloud over his mind, it seemed at times to be cleared away, and very strong and convincing proofs were given of the genuineness of his Christian faith, and its mighty power to sustain and strengthen the soul. When asked if the faith with which he had comforted others was sufficient for himself in his great trial, he said that it was, and added: "I do not want any new revelation; I am satisfied with what we now have."

Mr. Skinner was a very devoted and faithful pastor. The sick and afflicted, the aged and poor found in him a constant and sympathizing friend. He was not satisfied with the temporal prosperity of his parish, but constantly labored to promote the higher interests of his people, to quicken their faith, and to bring them into the heavenly kingdom of the Master. He was from youth a close student of the Bible; he strove to understand its teachings, and to make his own life harmonize with its doctrines and spirit. All his social, moral and religious theories were founded upon the Bible; he studied it constantly, thoughtfully and prayerfully. His sermons were vigorous, clear and earnest, full of gospel truth and glowing with the language and imagery of the Bible. If not always attractive and interesting to those who attend church as a matter of form and for entertainment, they were full of instruction for the intelligent and thoughtful hearer, and of edification for the devout and humble worshipper.

But he did not confine his studies to the sacred word. He was a sound and critical scholar in many directions. He made a thorough study of the English classics, and his sermons and conversation gave evidence of the breadth of his culture and the tenacity of his memory. He read carefully, critically, and when a book was finished the vital part was his and at his command. History, philosophy, poetry and science had each its time and place.

His pen was never idle; he was a frequent contributor to the denominational and secular papers. He wrote many articles for the Quarterly; he prepared a history of the Masonic Lodge of Waterville, which is very highly appreciated by the members of that order. He was for many years the editor of the Register, and spared neither time nor labor to make it complete and accurate. He had other work planned and partly performed when his overtasked brain gave way, his eyes became dim, and the pen dropped from his powerless hand. In recognition of his scholarly attainments, Colby University, in 1872, conferred upon him the honorary degree of A. M.

As a man and a preacher, Mr. Skinner was honorable, conscientious, high-minded, and magnanimous. No shadow ever sullied the sterling integrity of his character. He was the soul of sincerity, utterly incapable of keeping back anything which he thought ought to be spoken, uncompromising in his convictions, and nothing could turn him from the path of duty. He never stopped to consider what the personal consequences of any act might be, but the voice of conscience was to him the voice of God, and he obeyed it unflinchingly.

In May, 1846, while residing in Concord, Mass., Mr. Skinner was married to Miss Maria T. Barnard of Hartford, Conn; she died in Chester, Vt., August, 1852. In June, 1854, during his Rockland pastorate, he was married to Miss Candace L. Fullam of Ludlow, Vt., who survives him with a little boy, the younger of their two sons.

[The above sketch was prepared by the editor with great diffidence, but in deference to the advice of friends, upon whose judgment she relied.]

VI Rev. GEORGE LEONIDAS SMITH was born in Warren, R. I., Nov. 24, 1823, and died in Middleboro', Mass., Feb. 14, 1879.

Mr Smith began his ministerial life as a Christian Baptist, in Middletown, R. I., where he was ordained in 1854. He afterwards preached in various places in Plymouth Co, Mass. He was for a time a Swedenborgian in faith, though he did not believe in the doctrine of the eternity of the Hells. In 1873, he became a Universalist, received fellowship from the Mass. Convention, and settled in Plymouth for a time, but, on account of feeble health, was obliged to withdraw from ministerial labors. Though Mr. Smith was in early life denied the education and training of schools, which he would have valued so highly, still, by his own efforts, by diligent reading and study, he acquired that knowledge which made his pulpit efforts acceptable and useful to the people among whom he labored. His aim was to find the truth, and, when he became convinced that he had been in error, he had the courage to admit it and to proclaim his new belief at the risk of unpopularity and censure. He had a deep and abiding trust in God, and was an honest, faithful, true man. Mr Smith was married, Nov. 28, 1848, to Miss Betsey A. Barney, of North Swansey, Mass

VII. Rev. EBENEZER FISHER, D D., second of the eight children of Ebenezer and Sally (Johnson) Fisher, was born in Charlotte, Me., Feb 6, 1815, and died in Canton, N. Y., Feb. 21, 1879.

Mr. Fisher, senior, was one of the pioneers of Eastern Maine; and the subject of this sketch passed his early years in a new country, in the midst of the hardships which are inseparable from such a life. With the exception of a single term at the seminary at Kent's Hill, Readfield, he had no advantages beyond what were afforded by the common schools of his native town. Like very many of his brethren in the ministry, his early religious training was in the Orthodox Church, against whose gloomy doctrines his whole soul revolted. When about sixteen years old, a few Universalist books and papers were put into his hands, the perusal of which, in connection with the Bible, brought him "out of darkness into marvellous light," and he gradually formed the purpose to fit himself for the Christian ministry, that he might aid other souls to obtain a knowledge of the great salvation.

The first opportunity he ever had to hear a Universalist minister preach, was in the fall of 1839. About the same time he formed the acquaintance of Rev. W. A. Drew and other Maine ministers, who gave him so much encouragement that he sought and obtained a letter of fellowship from the Maine Convention in 1840, and preached his first sermon, Nov. 29, in the same year.

In July, 1841, he settled over the Universalist parish at Addison Point, Me. He was married the 27th of Sept. following, to Miss Amy W. Leighton, of Pembroke, Me., who survives him with a son and daughter, and he was ordained the 30th of the same month.

Mr Fisher remained at Addison Point, preaching there and in that vicinity, till April, 1847, when he accepted a call to Salem, Mass. He remained pastor of the society in that city till early in 1853, when he was forced to resign on account of ill health His pastorate there was eminently successful, and his influence was widely felt, both in denominational enterprises and reform movements. While living in Salem, he began to furnish articles for the Quarterly, which was from that time frequently enriched by his thoughtful and instructive words.

In Nov., 1853, he removed to South Dedham (now Norwood), where he remained till 1858, when he was appointed President of the Theological School at Canton, N. Y., and thenceforth he gave his time, his labor, his thought and strength to a work for which he was peculiarly fitted For more than twenty years, he was the honored head of the first Universalist Theological School, and during that time, one hundred and three students were graduated, who are now scattered over the country and bearing testimony to his faithful teaching, his rare devotion to duty, his profound scholarship and his eminence in all Christian virtues However marked may have been the results of his labors in other fields, his work in the Theological School was the most important and conspicuous, and will be his most enduring monument. His earnest and heroic efforts, his self-devotion, his enthusiastic faith, his sagacity and perseverance kept the school alive during its darkest days, and finally ensured its success. His instruction there was in the highest themes that man can study; his example constantly enforced his teachings, and his faithful, patient and genial spirit exerted benignant influences beyond all human power to estimate, and bound him to the hearts of his pupils with undying affection.

Dr. Fisher was a man of broad and general culture While his natural taste inclined him to the domain of theology, he had also vast and accurate general information, and he made it all tributary to his central purpose, — the preaching of the gospel.

Dr. Fisher's personal presence was marked by great dignity d self-possession, commanding honor and reverence from all with whom he came in contact. If the first impression he gave was of a cold and passionless nature, a fuller knowledge of the man revealed a kind and sunny heart, a sympathetic and tender consideration for others, and a patient and forbearing spirit, which made him, in addition to the wise, intellectual guide and teacher, a warm, generous and tender friend and almost father to those whose minds he trained, whose hearts he moulded, and whose talents he directed.

In 1861, Mr. Fisher received the honorary degree of A.M. from Tufts College, and, in 1862, that of D.D. from Lombard University.

VIII. Rev. JOHN PORTER CHAPLIN was born in Ira, N. Y., May 3, 1826, and died in Huntertown, Ind., March 9, 1879.

The father of Mr. Chaplin moved to Ohio in 1833, and in 1835 to Indiana, in which State the son passed most of the remainder of his life He received fellowship as a Universalist minister from the St Joseph Valley Association, more than twenty years ago. Though he was able to preach but a part of the time, on account of feeble health, he was very zealous and active in introducing his faith into new localities, and did a very acceptable and valuable work as a missionary in Northern Indiana. He was settled at Lincoln, Ill., for a time, and afterwards at Huntertown, Ind., where he died.

Mr. Chaplin was a self-educated man; with fine intellectual abilities, and he gave much of his time and thought to religious study and work. He was a modest and eloquent speaker, and his mental and spiritual gifts won a large circle of loving and devoted friends in the various places where he lived.

In 1860, or '61, Mr. Chaplin was married to Mrs. Mary Farnsworth, of Lockport, Ill., who died in 1872, leaving three children, all of whom are still living

IX. Rev. GEORGE N. COX died in Lowell, Washington Co., Ohio, April 5, 1879, in the ninety-second year of his age. He was in early life a Methodist, preaching the doctrines of that church in Pennsylvania and Virginia for many years. About 1840, his faith was enlarged and he became a firm believer in Universalism; he immediately began to proclaim the glad tidings, preaching in West Virginia and Ohio as opportunity offered, until prevented by the infirmities of age. He is spoken of as a good man, full of faith, and a zealous Christian. He leaves a wife aged eighty-seven, with whom he had passed sixty-nine years of wedded life.

X. Rev. WILLIAM JOHNSON was born in Maryland in 1801, and died in East Portland, Oregon, April 5, 1879. His early life was passed in Maryland, Kentucky, and Ohio. He also lived after his marriage, in Indiana and Iowa, but removed to Oregon in 1846. He was formerly a Baptist minister, but has been a Universalist for many years. He was licensed in 1875, but had then been long preaching the distinctive doctrines of Universalism.

XI. Rev. MOSES BALLOU, son of Rev. David Ballou, was born in Monroe, Mass., March 24, 1811, and died in Atco, N. J., May 19, 1879. His father was elder brother of Rev. Hosea Ballou; he was thrice married and Moses was the third child of the third wife.

In 1828, Moses Ballou went to Brattleboro', Vt., to learn the cabinet-maker's trade, with the understanding that he should have the privilege of attending the Academy in that town three months in each year. It is uncertain how early he decided to enter the ministry, but he began to preach when he was twenty-two; the first year of his ministerial life was spent in itinerating in Franklin Co., Mass., and in Windham Co., Vt. He was fellowshipped in 1834, and took charge of the parish in Bath, N. H., was ordained in 1835, and in 1836 removed to Portsmouth, N. H. He was married in 1837 to Miss Almena D. Giddings, who survives him; two sons were born to them, but both entered into rest before their father.

While in Portsmouth, Mr. Ballou was associate editor of the Star in the East, then published in Concord, N H. In the spring of 1843, he removed to the city of New York, and took charge of the Fourth Society; after laboring there three years, in compliance with the earnest wishes of his former parishioners, to whom he was sincerely attached, he returned to Portsmouth for a second pastorate of two years, and then removed to Bridgeport, Conn. In 1854, he went to Hartford, Conn., and in 1857, settled over the Second Church in Philadelphia. He remained there two years, when he accepted an invitation to the Bleecker St. Church, New York, where he had a pastorate of five years; he then went to New Haven, Conn., and in 1866 returned to his beloved Philadelphia parish, where he remained till 1872. On account of his failing health he then sought a quiet home in Atco, N. J., designing to rest from his labors and to spend the evening of his life there. But he found he had still a work to do and he began to hold meetings there, which resulted in the organization of a society and the erection of a house of worship; he also preached regularly at Hammonton, and continued his labors with both parishes till within a few months of his death

In private life Mr. Ballou was most genial and cordial; he had a very tender heart and a noble, generous and magnanimous nature, which gained him many strong friends who both loved and honored him. He was endowed with a personal magnetism which attracted the old and the young, the wise and ignorant, the happy and the sorrowful; all welcomed him gladly to their society, and found pleasure, profit and instruction in his conversation. Mr. Ballou was a very strong and logical writer. His reasoning was forcible, his style was clear, and his written words have in large measure that magnetism and fervor which marked his pulpit efforts. He published several books, the more prominent of which are the "Memorial of Rev. Merritt Sandford," and "The Divine Character Vindicated" (a review of Rev. Edward Beecher's Conflict of Ages). The latter is very highly esteemed and is said to be one of the soundest, most thorough and conclusive defences of physical and scriptural Universalism which ever emanated from any of our preachers or writers. Mr. Ballou was a very able, impressive and eloquent preacher. He had a dignified and commanding presence, his voice was clear and pleasant and thrilling in its deep fervor, and when most interested in his subject, he had a lofty eloquence which elevated his hearers above all earthly things, and held them spell-bound. In his best days, when in the vigor of his manhood, physically and mentally, few men could hold an intelligent and thoughtful audience to closer attention than he. He was one of the great preachers of our church, and resembled his eminent uncle in his originality of thought and method of argument. His faith was living and earnest. As he drew near the grave he often said — "I have no desire to live any longer; I wish to go home; my faith sustains me. I know that my Redeemer liveth; I do not simply believe, but I have the evidence within me. I know that I shall live again." To him

> "Death was but
> A kind and gentle servant who unlocks
> With noiseless hand, life's flower-encircled door,
> To show us those we love."

XII. Rev. ETHIEL CARPENTER, eldest son of John and Abigail (Stone) Carpenter, was born in New Milford, Conn., March 26, 1794, and died in Fredricksburg, Iowa, May 1, 1879.

Mr. Carpenter was married in 1813 to Miss Sally Curry; a few years after his marriage he began preaching as a Methodist, but afterward outgrew his creed and was excluded from that church on a charge of heresy — heresy which consisted of a denial of the doctrines of the trinity, endless punishment, infant damnation, and election and reprobation. He preached for some years without being connected with any denomination, contented with the simple name of Christian, and taking the Bible for his creed; but he finally sought and obtained fellowship from the Cayuga Association of Universalists in the State of New York, September, 1843. He preached for many years in that State, in West Cayuga, Tioga, Tompkins, and Steuben Counties, and in Bradford and Wyoming counties, Pa. He labored in the ministry regularly till the death of his wife, which occurred after a long married life of fifty-six years, Sept. 26, 1869. He removed in May, 1870, from Pennsylvania to Iowa, to find a home with his children, and closed his public labors at that time, preaching only once after his arrival at his new home. He was very strong and vigorous, and his life might have been prolonged, perhaps for years, had he not met with an accident, being thrown from his carriage and injured so severely that he died almost immediately. Mr. Carpenter was a soldier in the war of 1812, and through life was an ardent lover of his country; he was an honorable and upright citizen, a humble and consistent Christian, universally loved and respected.

XIII. Rev. MARMADUKE GARDNER was born in 1812, in South Carolina, and died in McDade, Texas, May 4, 1879, in the sixty-eighth year of his age. He spent the earlier part of his life in his native State, though he lived for some years in Mississippi previous to his removal to Texas, which occurred more than twenty-five years ago. He began to preach May 12, 1848, was ordained Sept. 2, 1849, and received the fellowship of the General Convention Jan. 10, 1872. He was pastor of the Universalist Church in Williamson Co., Texas, twenty-five years, where his memory will long be fragrant in the hearts of those who best knew him He travelled very extensively in Texas, and did a great amount of missionary work, and was a very faithful and useful minister, highly esteemed in the community where he lived for his integrity and sincere Christian spirit. His faith in the full grace of God sustained him in life, and was more fully manifested as the shadows of the tomb gathered around him, and he died peacefully and happily. Mr. Gardner was twice married — first March 12, 1833, to Miss Rhoda Ussery, by whom he had nineteen children. She died in 1878, and he was married a few weeks before his death, to Mrs. Jones, of McDade, Texas.

XIV. Rev. ABNER LONGLEY was born in Mason County, Ky., in 1796, and died in Paoli, Kansas, May 9, 1879. His father moved to Oxford, Ohio, in 1810, where the son learned the cabinet-maker's trade, at which he worked for some years He was first married to Miss Mary Stevenson, and after his marriage, while working at his trade, he acquired a good education at Miami University, Oxford. In 1832, he moved to Lebanon, Ind., where he found employment as a surveyor, and represented the town for several years in the State Legislature. In 1840, his first wife having died, he was married to Miss Sophronia S. Bassett, who died in 1850. He subsequently married Mrs. Ammorette Law-[illegible]e, who survives him.

Mr. Longley began preaching as an itinerant in the Christian denomination, but soon after was converted to the Universalist faith. He was licensed by the Miami Association in 1841, and ordained at Cincinnati in 1845. He was widely known in Ohio and Indiana, as he travelled extensively in those States preaching whenever opportunity offered, and zealously striving to make his faith known and respected. His amiability and integrity won him many friends, and he was faithful and true in all the relations of life. In 1866, he removed to Paoli, Kansas, where he enjoyed a remarkable degree of health and vigor, till his last illness, which was of but one week's duration.

XV. Rev. SOLOMON LAWS, son of Thomas and Mary (Locke) Laws, was born in Peterborough, N. H., Nov. 13, 1806, and died in Akron, Ohio, May, 15, 1879.

Mr. Laws fitted for college at Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H., entered Dartmouth College in 1832, and graduated in 1836. He then studied theology for a time with Rev. John Moore at Lebanon, N. H. He was ordained to the ministry Aug. 24, 1837, and settled at Chester, Vt., soon after, preaching there and at Weston till 1839, when he removed to Felchville in the same State, and preached there and in the neighboring villages and towns for a year; he then went to Springfield, Vt., where he remained till the spring of 1841, when he moved to Warren, Mass. In the fall of 1842, he settled in Temple, N. H., where he was pastor till 1856, preaching meanwhile in Wilton and Mason in the same State. While living at Temple he served as School Commissioner of Hillsborough County for two years.

In the spring of 1856 he left Temple and made himself a home in Marlborough, N. H., though he was never pastor there but preached in different parts of the State as opportunity offered till 1874, when he removed to Akron, Ohio, where he spent the remainder of his life, preaching in different towns in Knox County and vicinity till he became too feeble and infirm to leave home. He was ever zealously interested in the spread of the gospel, and was cheered and sustained in the many sorrows and trials of his life by his faith in the final triumph of good over evil.

Mr. Laws was married, Sept. 20, 1847, to Miss Olive M. Johnson of Chester, Vt. She was a very worthy and estimable woman; she died in Marlborough, N. H., April 2, 1867. Four children were born to them, of whom two daughters survive their parents.

XVI. Rev. EDWIN SAWYER CORBIN, son of Joseph and Mary Corbin, was born in Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1849, and died at Clifton Springs, N. Y., July 1, 1879.

Endowed with a sensitive and delicate organization, an earnest love for the truth, and a reverence for all that is highest and holiest in life, Mr. Corbin from childhood was peculiarly susceptible to religious influences, and in his early boyhood he felt himself called of God, and resolved to devote himself to spreading the Gospel of the dear Saviour he loved, and in whose footsteps he diligently sought to walk. He had a kind and judicious adviser in his pastor, Rev. Dr. Saxe, who appreciated his faithfulness and integrity, his rare intellectual powers and pure moral sense, and, stimulated by his hearty encouragement, he entered Canton Theological School in 1870, and was graduated, June, 1873, with the reputation of superior scholarship and of great moral and Christian excellence.

Immediately after his graduation, he was settled at Clifton Springs, which was his only pastorate. He was ordained to the ministry Oct. 8, 1873, and with him ordination was an entire consecration of his rich gifts and powers, his strength and life, to the work which he believed was divinely appointed for him. His warm, tender and loving heart won the affections of his people, his indomitable courage and energy, his enthusiasm, his fine intellectual gifts, his integrity and tolerance, commanded their respect and esteem, and his self-devotion, his strong faith, the eloquence of his pure life, his fervent piety and Christian humility claimed their reverence, and aided them to bring the religion of the Divine Master into their hearts and lives. He was with his people six years, and the work he accomplished was great indeed. His influence was not limited to his own parish, but the lustre of his character was as a bright and shining light, attracting attention and winning admiration from all with whom he associated. From the brilliant promise of the morning, all looked forward to a glorious noon, and though the golden chains which bound him to earth have been early broken, —

"The soft memory of his virtues yet Lingers like twilight hues, though the bright sun is set."

Mr. Corbin was married Jan 6, 1875, to Miss Estella H. Barber, of Canton, N. Y., who survives him.

XVII. Rev. ANDREW PINGREE, of Pingree Grove, Ill., died Aug. 18, 1879, aged 76 years. He was ordained in 1834, and was formerly an active minister in the church, and highly respected for his virtues and integrity.

XVIII. Rev. FRANK EVANS, son of Dr. David and Mary A. (Davenport) Evans, was born in Boston, Wayne County, Ind., March 5, 1838, and died in Eaton, Ohio, Oct. 2, 1879. Mr. Evans was educated at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and had almost finished his collegiate course when the war broke out. At the first call of his imperilled country, he left his class, then just about to graduate, and enlisted in the 21st Ohio Infantry. He made a noble soldier's record, but received wounds that maimed him for life, and from which he never fully recovered, and contracted the disease which finally caused his death. In recognition of his gallantry and efficiency, he was made major of the 18th Ohio Volunteers. He served in the army three years and one month After his return home, he went to Ann Arbor, Mich., studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practised law for two years; but he was not satisfied with his work, and finally decided to enter the ministry, as that was most in harmony with his strong religious convictions. He was first settled as a pastor at Fairfield, Ind., where he was ordained in 1870. After a pastorate of about four years, he removed to Mt. Gilead, Ohio, where he remained five years, going to Eaton only a few months before his death.

Mr. Evans was a thoughtful and vigorous writer, a faithful and true pastor, and devoted to his church; all denominational interests and church enterprises found in him a zealous advocate. He was a great sufferer for many years, but never gave up his work. He had a very hopeful spirit, seeing God's blessed sunshine behind the darkest clouds, and he was unwilling to neglect the work of the Master; so he persevered to the end, hoping for renewed health and a longer period of usefulness, even after his friends realized that his days were numbered. He retained his mind and consciousness to the last, and died rejoicing in the faith which filled his soul with peace and love.

Mr. Evans was married Sept 20, 1860, to Miss Sue F. Richardson, of Buffalo, N. Y., who survives him, with a little boy of six years.

XIX. Rev. CHARLES C. THORNTON was born in Springfield, Vt, Nov. 20, 1826, and died in Hartland, Vt, Oct 13, 1879. Mr. Thornton was ordained as a minister in 1858. He was first settled in Waitsfield, Vt, where he remained four or five years; he afterwards preached for about the same length of time in Essex and Jericho, in the same State. On account of a throat difficulty, he was obliged to desist from preaching regularly, and he went into secular business in Hartland, preaching for the Universalist parish there a portion of the time, and attending many funerals. He was much beloved and respected for his amiability and integrity. Mr. Thornton was twice married. His first wife was a sister of Rev. Luther Rice, of Watertown, N. Y.

PREFACE.

The forty-sixth number of the Register is now submitted to the friends of Universalism in this country. Those who are interested in the growth of our Church will find that the statistical reports are year by year becoming more full, and, we trust, more accurate. Friends in all parts of the country have aided in correcting errors, and giving new items of importance. To them special thanks are due for their assistance and encouragement. Very many reports have been received as the work was going through the press, which we regret not to have had earlier. All reports should be in the hands of the editor by November 1, to ensure their appearance in the Register for the following year. In some instances, we have been able to change the post-office address of ministers in the Alphabetical List, when it was too late to make the desired change in reference to their parishes.

GIVING THE STATISTICS OF THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1, 1880.

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION.

THIS body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October. It consists of the Presidents (or in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows; viz.: (1) A Convention having an aggregate of less than 50 Parishes and Clergymen to be entitled, besides its President and Secretary, to one clerical and two lay delegates; (2) having 50, to two clerical and four lay; (3) having 75, to three clerical and six lay; (4) having 100, to four clerical and eight lay; (5) having 125, to five clerical and ten lay; and so on, increasing upon each additional aggregate of 25; provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry unless he is disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in all cases of discipline not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

THE MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected in 1869, and named in honor of Rev. John Murray, the first preacher of Universal Redemption in America, is designed to aid in the education of our clergy, the circulation of denominational literature, and in church extension. This fund amounted, Oct. 1, 1880, to $121,757.29.

The John G. Gunn Ministerial Relief Fund, founded by the bequest of $8,000 by the late John G. Gunn, of Nyack, N. Y., "for the relief, support and maintenance of needy Universalist clergymen and their widows and orphans, not coming within the scope of the Harsen Fund of New York," amounted, Oct. 1, 1880, to $8,152.94.

The Theological Scholarship Fund, consisting of returned Scholarship Loans, amounted to $7,215.32. The income is devoted to the aid of Theological students.

By the Treasurer's Report, made at the last General Convention, at Hudson, N. Y., October, 1880, it appears that the receipts into the treasury for the preceding year were as follows: —

To balance,	$129 96
Interest,	7,360 47
Missionary Boxes,	1,375 80
Annual Contributions,	3,546 97
Special Contributions (debt),	2,750 00
Special Receipts,	112 00
	$15,275 20

The disbursements were as follows: —

Salaries and Incidental Expenses,	$2,100 94
Loans paid,	3,000 00
Scholarships,	6,000 00
Interest,	998 00
Missions,	1,953 62
Missionary-box Account,	221 30
Charges upon Income,	382 74
	$14,656 60
Cash on hand, Oct. 1, 1880,	$618 60

Forty scholarships have been in force the past year. Probably from thirty to thirty-five students will require convention aid during the coming year.

OFFICERS OF THE GENERAL CONVENTION FOR 1880–81.

Vice-President.— Rev. W. H. Ryder, D. D., of Chicago, Ill.

Secretary.— Rev. G. L. Demarest, of Manchester, N. H.

Trustees.— J. D. W. Joy, Mass.; Hon. S. Perham, Me.; Rev. H. W. Rugg, R. I.; Mrs. G. B. Marsh, Ill.; Rev. G. L. Demarest, N. H.; Rev. E. H. Capen, D. D., Mass.; G. C. Thomas, Pa.; Rev. J. H. Chapin, Ph. D., Conn.; B. W. Wilson, N. Y.; J. H. Swan, Ill.; G. H. Robinson, N. Y.

Preacher of next Occas'l Ser.— Rev. W. H. Ryder, D. D.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY.— This Society was organized in 1834, for "the collection and preservation of facts pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism, together with books and papers having reference to the same subject." It has been incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. It has a library of about 2,300 volumes, valued at $5,000, now at Tufts College, and has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times, and donations of books and money are earnestly solicited that the library may be rendered as complete as possible.

President—Rev. R. Eddy; Secretary and Librarian— Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D.D., of College Hill, Mass.; Treasurer — Rev. E. Davis, of Canton Mass.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION, of the Universalist Church, was organized in 1869 to assist in raising the Murray Fund, and was incorporated Sept. 18, 1873. It has since then enlarged and extended its sphere of operations. The objects of the Association are to set forth the claims of God as the Father of all created intelligences, and to save souls from the bondage of sin and error. It has already raised and expended in missionary work over $100,000. Of this, $35,000.53 was given to the Murray Fund. It has put in circulation during the past year, 587,000 pages of tracts, making a total since 1869 of 2,794,650; it has also sent out a larger number of denominational books and papers than in any previous year. Its work has extended not only throughout the United States and Canada, but also to Scotland, where they have sent 120,000 pages of tracts, and to Mexico, Central America, and Australia. Disbursements and appropriations have been made during the year to the amount of $1,710.79. It is supported wholly by voluntary contributions and annual memberships.

President—Mrs. M. L. Thomas; Cor. Sec.—Mrs. O. E. Cantwell; N. W. Cor. Sec.—Mrs. E. R. Hanson; Rec. Sec.—Mrs. E. G. Hall, Chicago, Ill.; Treasurer—Mrs. M. A. Adams; Committee of Publication—Mrs. M. L. Thomas. Total receipts for the year ending Oct. 1, 1880, $5,008.03. Total disbursements, $1,818.44. Cash in hand of Publication Committee, $225.75. Balance in treasury, $2,963.84, of which $2,150 is the Permanent Fund.

THE CHAPIN HOME FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM was incorporated by an Act of the Legislature of New York, May 1, 1869. The object of the institution is to provide a home and support for worthy aged and infirm men and women. By the charter, the corporation is empowered to own such real estate as is necessary for the convenient transaction of its business, not to exceed in value $100,000. It may also hold other property, not to exceed in value $500,000. Assets of the Chapin Home, May 1, 1879: in bonds and mortgages, $46,946.43; the buildings occupied by the Home, valued at $83,000; 37¼ acres of land in Franklin Co., N. Y., and eight lots in Maple Grove Cemetery. President—Mrs. E. H. Chapin; Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. D. D. Youmans, 230 East 12th Street, New York.

STATISTICS OF STATES IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER.

[NOTE OF EXPLANATION.—In the statistical tables which follow, the dates prefixed to churches and Sunday schools denote the year of their organization; the fractions affixed to parishes denote the proportion of the Sundays they have preaching; and the integers the number of families connected with the parishes; oc., denotes occasional; dor, dormant or inactive; the date prefixed to church edifices shows when they were dedicated or made ready for use; w., br., st., denote respectively, wood, brick, stone; and the sums following, the net value of all parish property, deducting indebtedness, in all cases, if known. The parallel lines (||) prefixed to the names of preachers denote ministers not in our fellowship, but preaching to Universalist societies.]

GIVING THE STATISTICS OF THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1, 1880.

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION.

THIS body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October. It consists of the Presidents (or in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows; viz.: (1) A Convention having an aggregate of less than 50 Parishes and Clergymen to be entitled, besides its President and Secretary, to one clerical and two lay delegates; (2) having 50, to two clerical and four lay; (3) having 75, to three clerical and six lay; (4) having 100, to four clerical and eight lay; (5) having 125, to five clerical and ten lay; and so on, increasing upon each additional aggregate of 25; provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry unless he is disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in all cases of discipline not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

THE MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected in 1869, and named in honor of Rev. John Murray, the first preacher of Universal Redemption in America, is designed to aid in the South Carolina.

There is but one church reported in South Carolina—at Feasterville, Fairfield Co., organized in 1877, with 35 members; a S. school of 30 members; church edifice worth $500. Rev. D. B. Clayton of Georgia preaches occasionally.

Tennessee.

Rev. Wm. Hale, M. D., of Free Hill, Washington Co., is the only preacher of Universalism in the State. He has organized a church (1880) of 12 members at Free Hill, where he preaches one-fourth of the time. He is also laboring as a missionary in other parts of the State, and distributing tracts and other documents.

Texas.

There are 2 churches in Texas, — Rock Dale, Milam Co., formed in 1875, of 45 members, and Williamson Co., formed in 1855, of 50 members. Each has a small edifice. Rev. J. Billings has recently settled at Beaver Valley, Anderson Co., and preaches as he has opportunity. Rev. G. M. Cade of San Marcos has also begun to preach this year, and several other ministers in the State preach occasionally.

SCOTLAND.

The Scottish Convention of Universalists (formed 1875) will meet in Glasgow, May, 1881. President — Alexander Reid; Vice-President — Gilbert Garth; Treasurer — John McMillen; Secretary — Rev. C. A. Soule; all of Glasgow. Trustees — Andrew Ure, Alexander Lapsley, James McCutcheon, Thomas Kennedy, William Pratt. One church edifice only is owned by the Universalists of Scotland — that at Stenhousemuir, Larbert, built in 1875, of brick, and known as the Church of the Redeemer. Rev. J. M. Cunningham preaches there one-half of the time. The church at Carluke and Braidwood (reorganized 1879) is now called St. John's Universalist Church. The church at Glasgow (reorganized 1879) is called St. Paul's Universalist Church. Rev. C. A. Soule preaches there regularly. They have a Bible class, Sunday school and church library. Mrs. Soule was ordained a minister of the Universalist Church of Scotland, at the 2d Quarterly meeting of the Convention, March 27, 1880. The rite was conferred by officers of the Convention, it being the first ordination in the Universalist Church of Scotland, Bros. McMillen, McCutcheon, Boyle, and Allen taking part. Mrs. Soule is on the third year of her Scottish mission, and, besides her regular pulpit labors, has done a vast amount of work in answering numerous letters from inquirers, distributing books, denominational papers, and tracts, and visiting the various missionary stations in the country. During the year just closed she has distributed 120,000 pages of tracts.

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES

UNDER THE PATRONAGE AND CONTROL OF UNIVERSALISTS.

TUFTS COLLEGE.

This college is located on College Hill, Middlesex County, Mass. It was incorporated in 1852, and opened for students in 1855.

OFFICERS OF THE CORPORATION. — President, Hon. Israel Washburne, LL. D., Portland, Me.; Vice-President, Hon. Charles Robinson, Jr., West Newton; Secretary, Hon. Newton Talbot, Boston; Treasurer, William H. Finney, Boston; Executive Committee, Rev. A. A. Miner, D. D., James O. Curtis, Hon. Newton Talbot, Rev. J. Coleman Adams, Rev. E. H. Capen, D. D., Hon. T. T. Sawyer, T. H. Armstrong.

Faculty.—Rev. E. H. Capen, D. D., President and Professor of Moral Philosophy and Political Economy; John P. Marshall, A. M., Professor of Geology and Mineralogy; Jerome Schneider, Ph. D., Professor of the Greek Language and Literature; H. A. Dearborn, A. M., Professor of the Latin Language and Literature; B. G. Brown, A. M., Walker Professor of Mathematics; Rev. W. R. Shipman, A. M., Professor of Rhetoric, Logic, and English Literature; A. E. Dolbear, A. M. B., A. M., Professor of Physics and Astronomy; Moses T. Brown, A. M., Professor of Oratory; C. E. Fay, A. M., Professor of Modern Languages; C. D. Bray, C. E., A. M., Professor of Civil and Mechanical Engineering; S. M. Pitman, A. M. B., Professor of Chemistry; J. W. Klinghammer, A. M., Walker Special Instructor in Mathematics; W. R. Shipman, Librarian.

Scholarships. — There are twenty-eight Scholarships in the gift of the college; viz., three of $60; ten of $75, and fifteen of $100 each. Additional assistance, in the form of gratuities, is rendered from time to time, as circumstances may require.

In the Collegiate department, the course of instruction is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The course for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy extends through four years, and the course for those students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineering extends through three years. A part of the studies for the junior and senior classes are elective. The location is elevated and healthy; retired and free from distraction, yet easily accessible, being four miles from Boston, on the Boston and Lowell Railroad.

Present number of students, fifty-six. Expenses from $250 to $300 per year. College charges, $100. Board in club, at cost, about $3 per week.

TUFTS DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty. — Rev. E. H. Capen, D. D., President; Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., Packard Professor of Christian Theology; Rev. C. H. Leonard, D. D., Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; W. G. Tousey, A. M., D. B., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; Rev. G. T. Knight, A. M., D. B., Instructor in Rhetoric and History; Moses T. Brown, A. M., Professor of Oratory; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., and Rev. C. W. Biddle Lecturers.

Candidates must bring testimonials as to character, and avow their purpose to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates are examined in the branches usually taught in the best High Schools and Academies. The full collegiate course, as preliminary, is recommended to those who contemplate thoelogical studies; but, since the circumstances of many earnest and capable men forbid so extensive preparation, a four-years' theological course has been provided. This course permits the introduction of branches not strictly professional, and yet of a fundamental character, and of the highest disciplinary value. It is the policy of the school to encourage the judicious use of the important facilities which the proximity of the College to an intellectual centre like Boston, affords — libraries, cabinets, lectures, the teachings and methods of the most noted preachers of New England.

The degree of D. B. is conferred upon those who take the full course, which occupies three years for A. B.'s, and four years for others.

The necessary expenses will not exceed $200 a year. Tuition, room-rent, use of furniture, free. Students may add to their resources by preaching during the year and a half previous to graduation. The General Convention of Universalists aids students by a system of loans.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY.

This institution, located at Galesburg, Ill., embraces a Preparatory department, in which are taught all the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course, and also a Collegiate department, with three courses of study; viz., Classical, Scientific, and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific, and the Literary, one year. Students may enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are admitted alike to all classes and all courses of study.

The university building is of brick, three stories high, and has spacious rooms for libraries, apparatus, recitations, etc. It has libraries of about 5,000 volumes; an extensive mineral-ogical cabinet, including a rare collection of shells; a valuable philosophical and chemical apparatus, and a permanent fund of about $100,000.

OFFICERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES. — President — Rev. W. H. Ryder, D.D., of Chicago; Secretary—Hon. T. J. Hale of Galesburg; Treasurer—David Sanborn, Esq., of Galesburg; Executive Committee — David Sanborn, Alfred Knowles, B. Lombard, Jr., A. Webster, T. J. Hale; Financial Agent — Rev. E. L. Conger.

Faculty. — Rev. N. White, Ph. D., President and Hall Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; J. V. N. Standish, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy; Isaac A. Parker, A. M., Professor of Greek Language and Literature and Teacher of Latin; Miss Mary J. Claycomb, A. M., Teacher of French and Assistant in Preparatory Department; T. C. Stevens, A. M., Teacher of German and Principal in Preparatory Department; Mary E. Hoyle, Teacher of Instrumental Music.

Board and rooms can be obtained in private families at from $3 to $4 per week. Tuition from $3.75 to $8.25 per Term of ten weeks. Ornamental branches extra. Number of students in both Departments, fifty-eight.

Calendar. — Second term of thirteen weeks begins Monday, Jan. 3, 1881. Third term of eleven weeks begins Monday, April 4, 1881.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.

This institution is located at Canton, St. Lawrence County, N. Y. It has two fully organized departments: 1. The Collegiate, comprising the usual four years' classical course, and a four years' scientific course. 2. The Theological.

Executive Committee of the Corporation. — J. S. Conkey, Chairman; Levi B. Storrs, Secretary and Treasurer; A. A. Simmons, Geo. Robinson, A. G. Gaines, W. A. Post.

College Faculty. — Rev. A. G. Gaines, D. D., President and Craig Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; A. E. Maltby, C. E., Acting Professor of Mathematics; Bernhard Pink, A. M., Professor of the French and German Languages, and Instructor in History; Rev. J. H. Chapin, Ph. D., Professor of Geology and Mineralogy; W. B. Gunnison, A. M., Professor of Latin; C. K. Gaines, A. M., Professor of Greek; Clara Weaver, A. M., Tutor in Botany; Mrs. C. P. Gaines, Librarian; L. M. West, Steward.

The number of students now members of the College is thirty-seven. Young men and young women are admitted to the institution on the same conditions. The University confers no degrees on a course of study less than four years. The courses are full, the instruction thorough, and the mental training practical and efficient.

Calendar. — Second term begins Feb. 2, 1881. Tree holiday, April 29. Examination of Seniors begins May 18 and ends May 27. Senior vacation begins May 30. Final examinations begin June 15 and end June 24. Commencement, June 28, 29, 30. First term of College begins Aug. 24, 1881. The total assets of the University, Sept. 1, 1880, were $228,915.56. The number graduated in 1880 was eleven. College fees, $30 per year. Board, $3 per week.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL, CANTON, N. Y.

Faculty. — Rev. I. M. Atwood, D. D., President and Dockstader Professor of Ethics; Rev. H. P. Forbes, Craig Instructor in Biblical Languages and Literature; Rev. J. S. Lee, D. D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Biblical Archæology; Rev. A. B. Hervey, M. A., Non-resident Lecturer on Natural Theology.

Applicants for admission must bring testimonials as to their moral and religious character, must be possessed of a good English education, and must avow their fixed intention to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. The full course of study requires three years; college graduates can complete it in two. There is also a course arranged for four years, on the completion of which students will receive the degree of D. B. Students can enter for a shorter term, and will be entitled to a certificate stating their attainments. There are excellent opportunities at Canton for studying French and German. There is a well selected library of 7,000 volumes, and easy access to several valuable private libraries. The location and surroundings of this School are favorable to uninterrupted study. There is no charge for tuition or for the use of the library. Board, in the College rooms and in private families, at $3 per week. The necessary expenses do not exceed $200 per year. When required, needy students receive aid from the Universalist General Convention, to the extent of $180 per year.

Calendar. — First term closes Jan. 25, 1881. Second term opens February 18. Commencement exercises on the last Wednesday in June. Fall term begins on the third Wednesday in September. Number of students the past year, twenty-two.

BUCHTEL COLLEGE.

This institution is situated in the city of Akron, Summit County, Ohio. It was founded by the Universalist State Convention of Ohio, and was named in honor of John R. Buchtel, its most generous benefactor. It was opened to students of both sexes, Sept. 11, 1872.

Officers of the Corporation. — Hon. John R. Buchtel, President; A. B. Tinker, Secretary and ex-officio Financial Secretary; Joy H. Pendleton, Treasurer. Executive Committee, John R. Buchtel, Joy H. Pendleton, George T. Perkins, William H. Slade, A. B. Tinker.

The curriculum of study embraces: First. A complete

Classical course of four years. Second. A thorough Philosophical course of four years. Third. A full Scientific course of four years.

There is also a preparatory course of three years for each of the above courses.

Faculty. — Rev. O. Cone, D. D., President; E. Fraunfelter, Ph. D., Professor of Mathematics; C. M. Knight, A. M., Professor of Natural Science; C. F. Kolbe, A. M., Professor of Modern Languages; B. M., Walker Special Instructor in Mathematics; W. R. Shipman, Librarian.

Scholarships. — There are twenty-eight Scholarships in the gift of the college; viz., three of $60; ten of $75, and fifteen of $100 each. Additional assistance, in the form of gratuities, is rendered from time to time, as circumstances may require.

In the Collegiate department, the course of instruction is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The course for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy extends through four years, and the course for those students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineering extends through three years. A part of the studies for the junior and senior classes are elective. The location is elevated and healthy; retired and free from distraction, yet easily accessible, being four miles from Boston, on the Boston and Lowell Railroad.

Present number of students, fifty-six. Expenses from $250 to $300 per year. College charges, $100. Board in club, at cost, about $3 per week.

TUFTS DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty. — Rev. E. H. Capen, D. D., President; Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D. D., Packard Professor of Christian Theology; Rev. C. H. Leonard, D. D., Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; W. G. Tousey, A. M., D. B., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; Rev. G. T. Knight, A. M., D. B., Instructor in Rhetoric and History; Moses T. Brown, A. M., Professor of Oratory; Rev. E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., and Rev. C. W. Biddle Lecturers.

Candidates must bring testimonials as to character, and avow their purpose to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates are examined in the branches usually taught in the best High Schools and Academies. The full collegiate course, as preliminary, is recommended to those who contemplate thoelogical studies; but, since the circumstances of many earnest and capable men forbid so extensive preparation, a four-years' theological course has been provided. This course permits the introduction of branches not strictly professional, and yet of a fundamental character, and of the highest disciplinary value. It is the policy of the school to encourage the judicious use of the important facilities which the proximity of the College to an intellectual centre like Boston, affords — libraries, cabinets, lectures, the teachings and methods of the most noted preachers of New England.

The degree of D. B. is conferred upon those who take the full course, which occupies three years for A. B.'s, and four years for others.

The necessary expenses will not exceed $200 a year. Tuition, room-rent, use of furniture, free. Students may add to their resources by preaching during the year and a half previous to graduation. The General Convention of Universalists aids students by a system of loans.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY.

This institution, located at Galesburg, Ill., embraces a Preparatory department, in which are taught all the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course, and also a Collegiate department, with three courses of study; viz., Classical, Scientific, and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific, and the Literary, one year. Students may enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are admitted alike to all classes and all courses of study.

The university building is of brick, three stories high, and has spacious rooms for libraries, apparatus, recitations, etc. It has libraries of about 5,000 volumes; an extensive mineral-ogical cabinet, including a rare collection of shells; a valuable philosophical and chemical apparatus, and a permanent fund of about $100,000.

OFFICERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES. — President — Rev. W. H. Ryder, D.D., of Chicago; Secretary—Hon. T. J. Hale of Galesburg; Treasurer—David Sanborn, Esq., of Galesburg; Executive Committee—David Sanborn, Alfred Knowles, B. Lombard, Jr., A. Webster, T. J. Hale; Financial Agent—Rev. E. L. Conger.

Faculty.—Rev. N. White, Ph. D., President and Hall Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; J. V. N. Standish, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy; Isaac A. Parker, A. M., Professor of Greek Language and Literature and Teacher of Latin; Miss Mary J. Claycomb, A. M., Teacher of French and Assistant in Preparatory Department; T. C. Stevens, A. M., Teacher of German and Principal in Preparatory Department; Mary E. Hoyle, Teacher of Instrumental Music.

Board and rooms can be obtained in private families at from $3 to $4 per week. Tuition from $3.75 to $8.25 per Term of ten weeks. Ornamental branches extra. Number of students in both Departments, fifty-eight.

Calendar.—Second term of thirteen weeks begins Monday, Jan. 3, 1881. Third term of eleven weeks begins Monday, April 4, 1881.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.

This institution is located at Canton, St. Lawrence County, N. Y. It has two fully organized departments: 1. The Collegiate, comprising the usual four years' classical course, and a four years' scientific course. 2. The Theological.

Executive Committee of the Corporation.—J. S. Conkey, Chairman; Levi B. Storrs, Secretary and Treasurer; A. A. Simmons, Geo. Robinson, A. G. Gaines, W. A. Post.

College Faculty. — Rev. A. G. Gaines, D. D., President and Craig Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; A. E. Maltby, C. E., Acting Professor of Mathematics; Bernhard Pink, A. M., Professor of the French and German Languages, and Instructor in History; Rev. J. H. Chapin, Ph. D., Professor of Geology and Mineralogy; W. B. Gunnison, A. M., Professor of Latin; C. K. Gaines, A. M., Professor of Greek; Clara Weaver, A. M., Tutor in Botany; Mrs. C. P. Gaines, Librarian; L. M. West, Steward.

The number of students now members of the College is thirty-seven. Young men and young women are admitted to the institution on the same conditions. The University confers no degrees on a course of study less than four years. The courses are full, the instruction thorough, and the mental training practical and efficient.

Calendar. — Second term begins Feb. 2, 1881. Tree holiday, April 29. Examination of Seniors begins May 18 and ends May 27. Senior vacation begins May 30. Final examinations begin June 15 and end June 24. Commencement, June 28, 29, 30. First term of College begins Aug. 24, 1881. The total assets of the University, Sept. 1, 1880, were $228,915.56. D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Biblical Archæology; Rev. A. B. Hervey, M. A., Non-resident Lecturer on Natural Theology.

Applicants for admission must bring testimonials as to their moral and religious character, must be possessed of a good English education, and must avow their fixed intention to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. The full course of study requires three years; college graduates can complete it in two. There is also a course arranged for four years, on the completion of which students will receive the degree of D. B. Students can enter for a shorter term, and will be entitled to a certificate stating their attainments. There are excellent opportunities at Canton for studying French and German. There is a well selected library of 7,000 volumes, and easy access to several valuable private libraries. The location and surroundings of this School are favorable to uninterrupted study. There is no charge for tuition or for the use of the library. Board, in the College rooms and in private families, at $3 per week. The necessary expenses do not exceed $200 per year. When required, needy students receive aid from the Universalist General Convention, to the extent of $180 per year.

Calendar. — First term closes Jan. 25, 1881. Second term opens February 18. Commencement exercises on the last Wednesday in June. Fall term begins on the third Wednesday in September. Number of students the past year, twenty-two.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF DECEASED MINISTERS.

[NOTE.— The material used in preparing the following sketches was gathered from very many sources. All those who have aided the editor in making this brief record of the life-work of the departed, may be sure of her very sincere and cordial thanks.]

I. Rev. WILLIAM SHEPHERD BATES, son of Anciel and Temperance (Coleman) Bates, was born in Madison Co., Ohio, in 1815, and died of consumption in Nevada, Iowa, Oct. 30, 1879.

Mr. Bates availed himself, in his boyhood, of the slender opportunities offered in the schools of Ohio, to a student at that time. He was afterwards one of a company of young people who formed an association to study together, and help each other in the acquisition of knowledge, though his studies were mainly pursued by himself. His father was a decided Universalist, and the son never swerved from the faith of the father. Early in life he manifested a talent for public speaking, and before his formal entrance into the ministry, he labored zealously and successfully in promulgating the doctrines of the Universalist Church. He was fellowshipped in 1842, and ordained January, 1852. His first labors for about ten years were in Madison Co., Ohio, and in Clinton, Ill. He was at Chillicothe, Ill., from 1851 to 1855, preaching there, and in Stark Co., and at various other points in the State, either statedly, or as a missionary, till 1863, when he moved, principally on account of failing health, to Benton Co., Iowa. From that time his work was often interrupted by reason of his constantly waning strength. In 1869 he moved to Ionia, Dixon Co., Neb., and preached, when his health would permit, in that vicinity, and also in Yankton and Vermillion in Dakota, till 1877, when he returned to Iowa, too feeble to admit of further labor.

Mr. Bates was often employed as a teacher in connection with his other work, and was also Superintendent of Schools for several years in Nebraska. His life was an active and useful one. Besides his regular pulpit work, he did a great deal as a missionary, and attended many funerals, even when it involved travelling long distances, and subjecting himself to unusual fatigue and exposure which his declining health should have prompted him to avoid. He loved his chosen work, and it was a heavy trial to him when he realized that he could no longer labor in the Master's vineyard; but he patiently submitted, and after a long season of weakness and suffering, tenderly cared for by those he best loved, with a clear mind and unclouded faith, he entered into rest. He had everywhere won respect and confidence, and he left his family the rich legacy of an honored name.

Mr. Bates was married in Madison Co., Ohio, May 21, 1838, to Miss Lucinda Taylor. She survives him, with two sons and a daughter.

II. Rev. WILLIAM A. DREW was born in Kingston, Mass., Dec. 11, 1798, and died in Augusta, Me., Dec. 2, 1879.

Mr. Drew fitted for college in early life; but owing to adverse circumstances, he abandoned his studies and went to Bath, Me., in 1813, where he was employed as a clerk in the store of his brother-in-law for two years. He then spent four years at work on a farm in Hallowell. In 1819 he accepted an invitation to take charge of Farmington Academy, and remained in that position five years. He preached his first sermon in Farmington, Oct. 1, 1821, and was fellowshipped the same year. He remained in Farmington, engaged in the double duties of preacher and teacher, till 1824, when he began preaching in Belfast, and removed there Jan. 1, 1825. He remained in Belfast two years, preaching also in Camden, in Thomaston, and in other towns in the vicinity. In December, 1825, he began the publication of a religious paper called The Christian Visitant. This paper was afterwards merged in The Christian Intelligencer, published at Portland by Rev. Russell Streeter, and Mr. Drew was associated with him in the editorial work. In January, 1827, he removed to Augusta, and his home was in that city for the remainder of his life. The Intelligencer was moved to Gardiner at the same time, and he became sole editor. He established the Gospel Banner in 1835, and edited it with marked ability till 1857. The paper was valued highly by the denomination which it represented, and found many readers and friends in other churches. After his connection ceased with the Banner, Mr. Drew was editor of the Rural Intelligencer for a few years, and was at different times connected with the Maine Cultivator, the Augusta Courier, and perhaps some other papers. After his regular editorial work was ended, his vigorous pen contributed frequent and valuable articles to the Gospel Banner, even after the burden of years and infirmities pressed heavily upon him.

Mr. Drew organized the First Universalist Church in Augusta in 1833. A meeting-house was built two years later, and he was ordained to the ministry and became pastor of the church Nov. 26, 1835, the building being dedicated the same day. He had solemnized marriages for many years previous to his ordination, by virtue of a commission as justice of the peace. He remained in charge of the Augusta parish till 1848, and was never a settled pastor afterwards. It would hardly be possible to overestimate the debt of gratitude due to Mr. Drew from the Universalists of Maine for his manifold and successful labors in advancing the cause of truth in the State. When he was in the vigor of his manhood there were very few preachers of his faith in the State, and he, from his temperament, talents, and position as editor, took the place of leader. He was bold and aggressive, ever ready with a reason for the faith that was in him, a keen controversialist, and he possessed instant command of all his varied resources. His ready wit and biting sarcasm, added to his powerful logic and often brilliant rhetoric, made him the chosen advocate of his friends, and a formidable antagonist in the field of controversy. His style was clear and forcible; his points were well made and sharply defined; he was thoroughly in earnest in presenting his thought, and, however widely his hearer might differ from him in faith, he could not but admit the sincerity of his convictions, and also the power with which he advocated them.

Mr. Drew was not only zealous in teaching the doctrines of Universalism, but his paper always took a fearless and decided stand upon all reform movements, and he ever labored to promote the highest interests of humanity. He was warmly attached to his adopted State, deeply interested in her schools, and in everything which tended to promote her prosperity. Thirty years ago he was a popular lecturer in the State, and continued to lecture occasionally upon educational and other topics till within a few years of his death. In 1851 he went to England to attend the World's Fair, and spent a little time in travelling both in Great Britain and on the Continent. He afterwards published a book giving an account of his travels, which his vivid imagination and rare descriptive powers made unusually interesting. His last literary work was an autobiography of about three hundred and fifty written pages, prepared for his children, which has not been published.

Mr. Drew suffered very much at intervals during the last years of his life; but his faith was clear and unfaltering, and he looked forward with joyful anticipations to meeting the loved ones who had gone before him.

Mr. Drew was married in February, 1821, to Miss Melinda Morrill of Hallowell. She died June, 1871, a few months after the celebration of their golden wedding. Seven children were born to them, of whom four are still living.

III. Rev. Ezekiel Walker Coffin was the sixth of nine children of Stephen and Elizabeth (Patterson) Coffin. He was born in Gilead, Me., Aug. 14, 1810, and died from paralysis in Bernardston, Mass., Dec. 11, 1879.

Mr. Coffin was born of Methodist parents, but in his youth had his attention called to the doctrines of Universalism by the preaching of the late Rev. Sylvanus Cobb, and finally he resolved to consecrate his life to the work of the Universalist ministry. In pursuance of this purpose, he studied for a time by himself, and afterwards with Rev. Mr. Averill of Eddington, Me. He was licensed by the Maine Convention in June, 1838, and ordained June, 1840. He was first settled at Centre Harbor, N. H., for four years; then at Weymouth, Mass., two years; then over the Canton Street Church in Boston, two and a half years; afterwards at North Attleborough, Annisquam, Beverly, and Shirley, Mass., Jaffrey, N. H., Bryant's Pond, Me., Orange, Mass., West Concord, Vt., and Bernardston, Mass. His ministerial life covered about forty-three years.

Those who knew Mr. Coffin longest and best bear ample testimony to his many excellent traits, both as a minister and a man; that he lived the doctrine which he taught, and that in his last sickness "he gave the whole community a lesson of patience and resignation in suffering." His illness extended over a period of three and a half years, and was very painful; but he never lost his faith and courage. After he had become so helpless that he could not walk, or even stand, he still continued his work. Faithful friends bore him in his chair to the pulpit on each returning Sabbath for more than two years. Weak in body, but strong in soul, he gave his people living lessons that can never be forgotten. Parishioners, brethren in the ministry, all who knew him, testify to the sterling qualities of his character, to his faithfulness, his integrity, his purity, his reliance upon God, and his love for humanity.

Mr. Coffin was married in Boston, Mass., May 30, 1847, to Miss Mary E. Webber, who, with a son and daughter, is still living.

IV. Rev. William Livingston was born in Unity, N. H., Oct. 12, 1815, and died at Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 29, 1879.

Mr. Livingston was educated at Norwich University, Norwich, Vt., and was graduated in the class of 1839. After finishing his course there, he studied for the ministry. He was licensed by the Green Mountain Association in June, 1843, and ordained at Hartland, Vt., Jan. 8, 1846. He preached for several years in Windsor County, Vt., at Hartland, South Woodstock, and Barnard. While living at South Woodstock he taught the high school for several terms, and was a highly acceptable teacher. He was also superintendent of schools for the town of Woodstock. In 1851 he took charge of the parish in West Concord, and remained there till 1855, when he accepted the position of Professor of Natural Science in Lombard University, Galesburg, Ill. He left Vermont almost overwhelmed by the weight of great domestic afflictions. He had been married in November, 1842, to Miss Eliza A. Pierce of Hartland. Two daughters were born to them, who both died in the fall of 1854, and in 1855, just as he was about starting for Illinois, his wife also died after a brief illness, and he was left to begin life anew, alone, among strangers, and in a new sphere of duties. He was connected with Lombard University for twenty-four years; first as Professor of Natural Science, then as provisional President, and lastly as financial agent. He was faithful and conscientious in the discharge of his duties, deeply interested in the welfare of the institution with which he was so long connected, and he continued his work even after his declining strength seemed to demand a rest from his labors. He also continued to preach as opportunity presented till near the close of his life. His sermons were marked by thoughtfulness, sincerity, and earnestness.

Professor Livingston ever proved himself to be a high-minded, noble, self-sacrificing Christian man, ready and anxious to use all his strength for the good of humanity. Naturally diffident and unobtrusive, it required time to become acquainted with his many estimable traits of character. His illness was long and painful, but he bore it with patience and resignation, the faith which had sustained him in life proving sufficient in the hour of death.

Mr. Livingston was married the second time in 1858, to Miss L. A. Stillman of Chillicothe, Ill., who survives him. He also leaves two sons and one daughter.

V. Rev. Russell Streeter, son of Barzillai and Nancy (Brown) Streeter, was born in Chesterfield, N. H., April 15, 1791, and died in Woodstock, Vt., Feb. 15, 1880.

The parents of Mr. Streeter lived during his boyhood in the towns of Chesterfield, Richmond, and Swanzey, N. H. When he was about thirteen years of age he was brought under the influence of a revival among the Freewill Baptists; his religious nature was aroused, and he began the study of the Bible, of which he was thenceforth a diligent and thoughtful student during his long life. At the age of fifteen his religious faith was settled, and he had become a sincere and earnest believer in the doctrine of Universalism. About this time he read Ballou's Treatise on the Atonement, which had a marked influence in shaping his own future thought. He had hitherto had no opportunities for study beyond what the district schools afforded; but he now determined to be a minister, if he could obtain the necessary education. He attended school for a term at the Academy at Chesterfield, and afterwards studied for some time with his elder brother, Rev. Sebastian Streeter, then settled at Weare, N. H. He began to preach when he was eighteen, and though so young and inexperienced, met with decided success. He received fellowship from the General Convention at Langdon, N. H., in September, 1810, and soon after began his career as an itinerant preacher in Vermont and New Hampshire. He made a tour into Maine two years later, but not meeting with the desired success he returned to his home in Swanzey. He was ordained Sept. 16, 1812, at the session of the General Convention at Cavendish, Vt. In 1813 he settled over the societies in Springfield and Rockingham, Vt., preaching also at other places in Vermont and New Hampshire a portion of the time. Believers were few, the people poor, and the times hard, so that he received but a pittance for his services; but he kept on with his work there till March, 1821, when he was invited to Portland, Me. He accepted the invitation, and organized the First Universalist Society in that city. A church edifice was immediately built, and dedicated Aug. 16, 1821; and Mr. Streeter was installed as pastor the same day. The next month he published the first number of the Christian Intelligencer, a quarterly, of which he was the editor for some years. He found his work in Portland peculiarly fitted to his tastes and temperament. He was in the vigor of his early manhood, ardent, sanguine, and delighting above all things in religious controversy. He understood his own doctrine perfectly, was eager to give hard blows, and willing to receive them in turn from an honorable adversary. He found a wide field for his talents, and remained there six years, during which the society was placed upon a firm foundation. He was an excellent pastor, genial, interesting, with a pleasant word for every one, and gifted with a brilliancy in conversation rarely equalled.

Mr. Streeter terminated his engagement in Portland April 18, 1827, and removed to Watertown, Mass., where he was installed the following August. A church was organized immediately, and a meeting-house built. He also entered upon new editorial duties, being associated with Rev. Thomas Whittemore for a time in conducting the Trumpet and Universalist Magazine. He and his brother Sebastian published a new hymn-book about this time, which was generally adopted by the denomination. He moved to Shirley in 1829, and for several years lived upon a farm, preaching in that town and elsewhere, and also lecturing all over the State upon the subject of temperance. While living here he published a pamphlet entitled Latest News from Three Worlds; also Familiar Conversations, setting forth in the form of dialogues the distinctive doctrines of Universalism. It was received with great favor by the denomination, was widely circulated, and read with great profit. In November, 1834, he removed to the beautiful village of Woodstock, Vt. He gathered together the relics of a former parish and reorganized a church and society. He labored with the greatest zeal and pleasure in repairing the waste places, not only in Woodstock, but in other towns in the vicinity. He organized a society in South Woodstock; he still devoted a great deal of time to the temperance cause, and was perhaps the most popular preacher and the most widely known of any in his own denomination in the State. His quick sympathies and ability to comfort the sorrowing, made his services very precious to those in affliction. In 1835 his people erected a chapel and he was formally installed pastor. He preached at Woodstock and South Woodstock till 1847, when he went to Portland, Me., to visit his former home and friends. He was joyfully received, and his visit was prolonged for nearly seven years, when his failing health induced him to return to his Woodstock home, where he remained in comparative quiet till the end of his life.

Father Streeter, as he was long familiarly called, was a preacher seventy years; he was an ordained minister almost sixty-eight, and was the oldest in fellowship of any in the Universalist Church. To him must the credit be given of having been the first one to teach the doctrine of the spiritual coming of Christ in his kingdom at the destruction of Jerusalem. He wrote a great deal for the religious papers, especially for the Christian Repository, published at Montpelier, Vt. He also published many sermons in pamphlet form. As a preacher, he possessed remarkable power over his hearers, moving them to smiles and tears at will. As an extempore speaker, when he felt he had the sympathy of his audience, he was sometimes surpassingly eloquent, carrying them with him to the very gates of heaven. He was a clear and accurate thinker, keenly critical, quick to perceive a point, firm and decided in his opinions, and he expressed his convictions with great force and boldness. One who was accustomed to hear him often during his early labors in Vermont, and whose own religious opinions were confirmed and strengthened by his teachings, loved to recall through a long life the memory of those early efforts, and, after a lapse of fifty or sixty years, would repeat long passages from sermons which Mr. Streeter's impressive earnestness and oratorical power had imprinted upon his youthful mind. He never wearied of recalling the peculiar delight he experienced in hearing him read the most familiar hymns and passages from the Bible, which acquired new meaning and added beauty from his melodious voice and graceful elocution. In later life, when maturer judgment and wider experience had only increased his admiration of Mr. Streeter's great brilliancy and versatility of talents, he said that a prayer that Mr. Streeter offered, on an occasion of touching and melancholy interest, melted judges and bar to tears, and was the most tender, beautiful, and elevating that he ever heard from mortal lips.

In private life, among his friends, Mr. Streeter was a most genial and entertaining companion. He had warm sympathies, a fund of humor, a keen wit, quickness of repartee, a memory which seemed never to lose a date or fact, and a rare tact in adapting himself to circumstances. His attachments were strong and lasting, and he never lost an opportunity to speak a kind word or do a generous deed. A complication of diseases confined him to his house for many years; but his friends were always welcomed with the warmest interest, and the absent ones, especially those in affliction, were remembered with most tender and loving words.

Mr. Streeter was twice married, and was the father of nine children, of whom only two survive him.

VI. Rev. Henry Codman Leonard, one of the four children of Lemuel and Cynthia (Claggett) Leonard, was born in Northwood, N. H., April 25, 1818, and died of disease of the heart, at Pigeon Cove, Mass., March 7, 1880.

Mr. Leonard pursued his studies for the ministry with the late Rev. Henry Bacon, in Haverhill and Marblehead, Mass. He began preaching in 1840, and was ordained in 1841. His earliest labors were on Cape Ann, at Gloucester, and perhaps other places in the vicinity. In 1842, he went to East Thomaston (now Rockland), Me., where he was settled four years. He removed to Orono in 1847, where he remained about eight years, going thence to Waterville in December, 1854. At the breaking out of the war, in 1861, he closed his labors in Waterville and accepted the position of chaplain in the Third Maine Infantry, under Col. (now Gen.) O. O. Howard. He remained with that regiment rather more than a year, when he was transferred to the Eighteenth Maine

Infantry, — which was afterwards changed to the First Maine Regiment of Heavy Artillery, — where he remained, greatly beloved by officers and soldiers, till his term of service expired, Aug. 1, 1864. He then returned to his family, not having lost a day during his absence. He was publicly pronounced by Gen. Howard the most faithful chaplain he ever saw.

In December, 1865, he took charge of the Universalist Society in Albany, N. Y., where he remained three years. He moved to Philadelphia in April, 1869, and was pastor of the Lombard Street Church two years. He then returned to Pigeon Cove, the early home of his wife, — a place endeared to him by many pleasant associations, — and decided to make a permanent home there; but he afterwards preached for two years at Deering, Me., and was Professor of Belles-lettres at Westbrook Seminary at the same time. His last pastorate, at Annisquam, began in December, 1875. He preached for the last time Sept. 28, 1879.

While living in Waterville, in 1860, Mr. Leonard became editor of the Gospel Banner; but the arrangement was a temporary one, and continued but a few months. After he left Philadelphia, he also occupied the editorial chair of the Universalist for a season. In 1856, he published a volume of sermons, under the title of "A Sheaf from a Pastor's Field." The book was warmly received and commended, even beyond the circle of his friends and those of his own faith. In 1873, he published another delightful little book, called "Pigeon Cove and Vicinity." It gives glowing descriptions of the natural scenery of Cape Ann, graphic sketches of its early history and traditions, and complete accounts of its flora, fauna, and mineral productions. It is made attractive by numerous illustrations, and still more so by the author's vivid fancy, his quick appreciation of all that is beautiful in nature, and the bright glimpses it gives of his poetic soul.

Mr. Leonard was a frequent writer for the denominational press. In former years, many exquisite poems from his pen found a place in the Ladies' Repository. Everything he wrote gave evidence of his keen observation, his love for the pure and beautiful, the intensity of his affections, and the richness and vitality of his spiritual nature. Had he chosen literature for a profession, and cultivated more fully his rare poetic gifts, his name might have become prominent among the writers of the country. But it was in the private circle of his intimate friends that his nature unfolded itself most fully; there its hidden wealth was unconsciously poured out, and he lavished on them the fine gold of his deepest thought.

He had, too, many gifts that would have fitted him for a naturalist. He loved nature in all her visible forms. He was especially a close observer of the habits and songs of birds.

> The wood-thrush answered to his call.

The rarest wild-flowers, by a mystic spell, lured him to their secluded haunts; he heard the murmuring sound of waving trees, and turned it into song; the ocean, with its solemn voice, spoke words to him unheard by other ears.

If he was not pre-eminent as a logician or a theologian, his sermons were always interesting, and breathed a sweet and trustful spirit. He saw the bright side of life, he infused his own faith and hope into his teachings, and he threw over all a halo of the poetic imagery that his eye was quick to discern and his hand to paint. He had a sunny nature, and, wherever he lived, won hosts of friends by his geniality and the radiant joyousness of his heart. The truest, most cultivated and intelligent of all denominations welcomed him to their companionship, and recognized the purity of his life, the elevation of his thought, and his rare intellectual endowments.

Mr. Leonard was married Sept. 14, 1845, to Miss Adelia D. Norwood, of Pigeon Cove. She is left, with two daughters, to mourn the loss of him who was the light of their home.

VII. Rev. Wellington Sisson, eldest of the five children of Gideon and Mary (Couts) Sisson, was born in Friendship, N. Y., July 20, 1845, and died in Perry, N. Y., March 9, 1880.

Mr. Sisson was a studious, thoughtful, pure-minded, and conscientious boy. He entered Tufts College in 1864, and was graduated in 1868. His thoughts were, in boyhood, much occupied with the subject of religion, and, while he was obtaining his education, he formed his plans to enter the ministry, and soon after his graduation he began to preach. His first settlement, in 1868, was in Orland, Me. In 1870, he moved to Stockton in the same State; but, the climate proving unfavorable, he was obliged to close a very successful pastorate the following year, leaving behind him a circle of sincere and attached friends. He next settled in Farmington, Mich., where he was ordained Dec. 20, 1871. He remained there three years; then, after one year in Lansing, he spent nearly four years at Tecumseh, in the same State. He then accepted an invitation to Perry, N. Y., where he had been laboring eighteen months at the time of his death.

In all the parishes of which Mr. Sisson had charge, — in Maine, in Michigan and in New York, — he was a true, earnest, and successful pastor. His gentle courtesy, his kind and amiable disposition, his frankness, his constant devotion to religion and to the growth of his people in spiritual things, as well as to all moral and reformatory enterprises, won him very many warm friends, not only in his own parishes, but in the different communities where he lived. Though he was strongly denominational in his feelings, his love and sympathy were broad enough to embrace Christians of all sects. He was enthusiastic in his nature, his heart was in his work, and he was a forcible, persuasive, and popular preacher, who found his highest pleasure in serving his Master and laboring to advance his spiritual kingdom.

Mr. Sisson was married, in July, 1868, to Miss Sophronia King, of Friendship, N. Y. The wife and three young sons survive him.

VIII. Rev. Oliver Perry Kimmell, son of Jacob and Matilda Kimmell, was born at Johnsville, Montgomery Co., Ohio, June 3, 1854, and died of heart disease, at Eaton, Ohio, March 14, 1880.

Mr. Kimmell entered the Theological School at Canton, N. Y., in 1876, and was graduated in 1879. He was licensed in 1877, and received ordination at Sharon Centre, Medina Co., Ohio, Jan. 29, 1880. He had been preaching at Sharon Centre for a short time previous to his ordination, but he was then laboring under disease which was increased by his enthusiastic devotion to his work, and immediately after he returned to his father's house, where he rapidly declined and died a few weeks later.

Mr. Kimmel was a young man of unblemished reputation. He was endowed by nature with unusual talents, and to these were added a rare devotion and sincerity of spirit, an ardent love for the Gospel ministry, and a pure and lofty purpose to consecrate himself to his work. Though a bright and promising future seemed opening before him, his faith and loving confidence in the Father enabled him to welcome death with serenity. A circle of near and dear friends mourn his early departure and the blighting of many fondly-cherished hopes.

IX. Rev. Browning Nichols Wiles, son of Daniel and Myra (Nichols) Wiles, was born in Madison County, N. Y., Dec. 25, 1815, and died of typhoid fever at Macomb, Ill., May 6, 1880.

When Mr. Wiles was quite young, his parents moved to Perry, Genesee Co., N. Y., where he attended school, learned the trade of shoemaking, and grew to manhood. He was married, April 26, 1842, to Miss Isabella Conover who survives him. Soon after his marriage, he removed to Sandusky, N. Y., where he continued to work at his trade, devoting all his leisure to study. His early life was passed under Methodist influences; but when he grew to manhood, his vision became clearer, his faith was enlarged, and he became a Universalist. He was aided and encouraged by the late Rev. J. S. Brown, of Perry, to enter the ministry, and he fitted himself for that position while working daily at his trade for the support of his family. He was ordained Oct. 12, 1854, and his first pastorate was at Sandusky. He removed to Gainesville in 1855, and remained there six years, when he moved to Olcott. In 1862, he responded to the call of his distressed country, enlisted in Company K, 151st N. Y. Infantry, was elected Captain, and served for three years in the army. He was in sixteen hard-fought battles, and was three times wounded. When he left the army he returned to Olcott, and, after preaching there one year, removed to McHenry, Ill., where he was settled five years. He then went to Sycamore, DeKalb Co., where he preached till 1873, when he took charge of the parish at Macomb, which was his last settlement. At the time of his death, it was one of the best parishes in the State, — the fruit of his zealous and faithful labors.

Mr. Wiles was one of the prominent ministers in the West; ever faithful to his convictions, energetic and active, whether he was struggling in the field to save his beloved country, or engaged in the peaceful warfare of a Christian minister. He was successful both as pastor and preacher, and was an honorable, upright, and good man, and few are more esteemed and beloved than was he. His illness was severe and protracted. He knew he could not recover, and peacefully and quietly awaited death, and finally fell asleep, "sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust."

X. Rev. Norris Coleman Hodgdon, fifth of the nine children of Alexander and Betsey (Smith) Hodgdon, was born in Epping, N. H., Aug. 22, 1818, and died in Benton, Me., July 11, 1880.

Mr. Hodgdon's means of education in the beginning of life were somewhat limited, but he was fond of books and study, and was earnest and persevering in his search for knowledge. After he became a conscientious believer in the holy faith of Universalism, he bent all his energies to make himself acquainted with whatever would aid him in strengthening his own convictions, and in awakening the attention of others to its pre-eminent claims. He preached his first sermon July 23, 1841. In 1842 he preached four months in Baltimore, Md., and a few times in Philadelphia, New York, and Brooklyn. He went to Maine in 1843, and was ordained in Paris, December 28, of the same year. He preached in that vicinity for a short time, and removed June, 1844, to Ludlow Vt., where he remained a few months. He was afterwards settled in East Randolph, Chester, Jacksonville, and Vernon, Vt., in Kingston, N. H., Harvard, So. Dedham, Marlboro', and Foxboro', Mass. His last settlement was for one year in Pittsfield, Me., and began in January, 1875. While living in Vernon, Vt., he compiled and published a book called "A Denominational Offering; from the the Literature of Universalism." It contains extracts from different writers in exposition and enforcement of the doctrine and spirit of Universalism. The book was well received by the friends of our church.

While attending a conference meeting near Wilton, Me., Jan. 25, 1877, Mr. Hodgdon was stricken with paralysis of the left side; he rallied somewhat from the shock, and was afterwards able to read, and write and visit his friends. Though it was evident to others that his work was done, he was himself hopeful for a long time that he might again be able to preach. After his illness he moved on to a farm in Benton, where he passed the last years of his life, carefully watched over by his faithful and excellent wife.

Mr. Hodgdon was married to Miss Mahala A. Hadley, of Cavendish, Vt., Oct. 16, 1845. She died March 10, 1875. He married his second wife, Mrs. Sarah J. Farrington, of Pittsfield, Me., June 25, 1876. He left but one child, a daughter by the first wife.

XI. Rev. JOTHAM MELZAR PAINE, son of J. L. and Jerusha (Streeter) Paine, was born in Westmoreland, N. H., Oct. 25, 1842, and died in Hallowell, Me., Sept. 19, 1880.

Mr. Paine entered Tufts College in 1864, and after remaining there two years, he went to Canton Theological School, where he spent three years, and was graduated in 1869. He was ordained at Gardiner, Me., July 16, of the same year, and immediately settled over the parishes at Gardiner and Hallowell. He was married to Miss Persie M. Bodwell, Jan. 2, 1871. He continued his labors with these parishes for three years, and then accepted an invitation to Norwich, Conn., in January, 1872. In consequence of a serious accident to his ankle, he resigned at the close of a year, and returned to Hallowell, where he passed the remainder of his life, being in the employ of the Hallowell Granite Company while his health permitted. He was never afterwards strong enough to engage in the active work of the ministry; indeed, he never had a well day after the injury to his ankle. His whole system suffered from the shock, his health gradually declined, and his sufferings were at times so intense as to demand the use of the most powerful opiates. A few months before his death he had a hemorrhage of the lungs, and his life was terminated by consumption.

Mr. Paine was of modest and pleasing manners; his scholarly attainments secured him high rank in his class at Canton; he had fine literary abilities; his sermons were prepared with unusual care; he entered the ministry with bright hopes of future success and usefulness, and he might have won a prominent position among his brethern but for the loss of his health. When his laudable ambition was blighted, and he was no longer able to preach, he became a model layman, zealous in the support of public worship, generous in helping on every charitable enterprise, a most appreciative and indulgent hearer, and always manifesting the warmest and most loyal love for his faith. A wide circle of friends and associates hold him in loving memory, and a wife and little son mourn his early loss.

XII. Rev. Abel C. Thomas, third son of Dr. Abner and Esther Thomas, was born in Exeter, Berks Co., Penn., July 11, 1807, and died at his home in Tacony, Philadelphia, Sept. 27, 1880.

Mr. Thomas was of Quaker lineage, his grandfather, Abel Thomas, having been a distinguished preacher of the Society of Friends for a period of fifty-six years. His father was a physician, a man fond of books and scientific pursuits. In 1825, while teaching school in Marietta, Penn., he made the acquaintance of his life-long friend, Rev. A. B. Grosh, and then received his first knowledge of Universalism. Discussions of this new doctrine soon led to its joyous acceptance. Speaking of that time, he says: "What a realm of beauty, because of concord, was opened to us in the boundless universe of the God of love. Our visions were of the living bread and the living waters. We drank, and the spirit of prayer was satisfied; we ate, and hungered no more." The fire then kindled in his soul grew brighter and brighter until the mortal was lost in immortality.

His school having been broken up by sectarian prejudice, he learned the printer's craft, and in 1827 he went to Philadelphia as a printer. Encouraged by the resident pastors there, Revs. S. R. Smith and T. Fisk, he resolved to become a preacher of Universalism, and his first sermon was delivered in the Lombard Street Church, Philadelphia, in November, 1828. In January, 1829, he became publisher and co-editor with Mr. Fisk of the Gospel Herald and Universalist Review, in New York city, writing editorials, putting them in type, conducting the correspondence, and, as he says, "writing his sermons on a pine board by night"; for he had begun his ministerial labors April 5, 1829, preaching in a small frame meeting-house on Grand Street. The printing establishment was in the rear of the building, and became the headquarters of Universalism in New York. In less than a year from the delivery of his first sermon, Mr. Thomas responded to a cordial invitation to become pastor of the Lombard Street Church, Philadelphia, which connection continued under happiest conditions for ten years. In 1834 and 1835, the Ely and Thomas discussion took place, which was afterwards published in book form, and has probably been more widely circulated, and had a more permanent interest and usefulness than any other theological discussion in our country. Through this publication, Mr. Thomas's ability and fame were heralded far and wide, and when, soon after, he visited New England, immense crowds of people of all beliefs were drawn together wherever he preached, and hung entranced upon his eloquent utterances.

In the fall of 1839, Mr. Thomas removed to Lowell and took charge of the Second Church. While living there he established the Lowell Offering, which had so great and unexpected success, and attracted so much attention both in New and Old England. Here, too, he and his co-laborer, Rev. T. B. Thayer, started in 1841 the Star of Bethlehem, which was an efficient agency in building up the cause of truth in that city. After three years, his health being impaired by overwork, he left Lowell, intending to spend some months in travel, but was soon persuaded to accept an invitation to Brooklyn, N. Y., where he organized a society and was one of eight men who built the first Universalist church in that city. From Brooklyn he went to Cincinnati, in 1844; but his health was so broken by the climate and previous overwork, that he was obliged to resign his charge in 1847. After a year's rest he returned to his old parish in Philadelphia. Twelve years later, his ever-increasing feebleness led to a proposal from his friends that he should go out as a Missionary of Universalism to England and Scotland; the required funds were promptly raised, and, accompanied by his family, in May, 1852, he departed on his mission with unlimited leave of absence from his parish. He spent his time chiefly in London and Edinburgh, though he preached in all the principal cities of the United Kingdom and made careful investigation of the state of religious thought there. At the close of a year's labor, he was joined in London by his Lowell yoke-fellow, Rev. T. B. Thayer, and wife, and for six months they travelled together on the Continent. He then returned to Philadelphia and resumed his labors there.

The breaking out of the war, with its manifold excitements and fatigues, the visiting and caring for the sick and wounded in the hospitals, and his active interest in assisting the soldiers constantly passing to and fro, made serious inroads on his long enfeebled frame, so that he was obliged to resign his charge in 1863. He removed to Hightstown, N. J., where he preached for two years one sermon a Sunday, as a labor of love. He then spent two years in Bridgeport, Conn., preaching in Danbury and other places as his strength permitted. In the spring of 1867, he purchased a small farm at Tacony, Philadelphia, which was thenceforth his home.

Mr. Thomas was the author of several volumes besides the "Ely and Thomas Discussion,"— his "Autobiography," "The Gospel Liturgy," "The Songs of Zion," "A Century of Universalism," etc. He wrote also some very useful and popular Tracts; among them, "213 Questions without Answers," which has had a wider reading and attracted more attention than any other tract ever issued from our press. It has had a circulation of at least a million of copies.

As a preacher, Mr. Thomas was a man of wonderful gifts. His sermons were largely doctrinal, expository, and defensive, as the position of our church at the time he began preaching demanded. He was clear, terse, and logical, and original in the statement and discussion of his subject, with just enough of quaint Quaker phrase to give it spice, yet alive with the beauty and the glow of the poet's vision and illustration; and sometimes, when a sudden burst of feeling and inspiration came upon him, he rose to the highest demands of oratory, his eloquence became electric, and like a full-charged battery thrilled the entire congregation until every heart beat with the pulses of his own faith and fervor.

As a controversalist, he had few equals. He was thoroughly acquainted with the Scriptures, and his arguments from reason, justice, and divine goodness, always clear, concise, and convincing, were sure to be attested and sealed by a "Thus saith the Lord." His discussion with Dr. Ely, as an exhibition of the Universalist argument, was, and still is, the best and most persuasive work of the kind in our denominational history, and admirably displays the skill, logic, fairness, and manly courtesy of Mr. Thomas as a debater. The incident mentioned on pages 403–405 of his autobiography, shows with what tact and tenderness he could deal with the doubts and difficulties of those who were crushed and tortured by the terrors of the popular creeds.

As a Christian gentleman, he was distinguished for the grace and courtesy of his manners, for his thoughtful kindness towards all, for his remarkable conversational gifts, and for the personal magnetism by which he attracted to himself all with whom he came in contact, young and old, strangers and friends alike. He was always mindful of his younger brethren, and often in the height of his popularity, when it was considered a privilege to know him and to talk with him, we have seen him quietly slip away from the charmed circle of which he was the centre, to offer his hand and say a pleasant word to some one who seemed alone and neglected. He was positive in his opinions and in the expression of them; but at the same time so considerate of others, and so choice in his language, that he never wounded the feelings of those from whom he differed. In a word, he was the perfect type of the Christian gentle-man.

As a friend, he was devoted and constant in his attachments, generous in his sympathies, and always helpful in time of need. He never shrank from any service or sacrifice in behalf of those whom he had taken to his heart. In a strong personal friendship of more than forty years' continuance, during which the fires of memory and love have been kept bright by unbroken intercourse and correspondence, the writer has had abundant reason to appreciate his loyalty, trueness, and tenderness.

The disease which finally terminated his life on earth, completely shut him out for the last three years from all those activities of the preacher and writer which had been the joy of his life; and so he sat patiently by the "silent sea" and waited for the snowy sails which should bear him across to the Everlasting Home.

Mr. Thomas was married Feb. 14, 1843, to Miss M. Louise Palmer of Pottsville, Penn., who survives him. He also leaves two sons: Abner C., a lawyer in New York city; and Frank H., a physician in California.

XIII. Rev. Abraham Norwood was born in Gloucester, Mass., in 1806, and died in Meriden, Conn., Oct. 7, 1880.

Mr. Norwood was the eldest of fifteen children. His parents were both members of the Congregational church, and their son, during the excitement of a great revival, joined the same church; but his belief brought him no peace, and his suffering drove him to a careful examination of the Bible. He had a clear and vigorous mind, and, little by little, the fears and anguish which had troubled him fled, and in early manhood he became a firm believer in the doctrine of universal salvation, and through his agency his parents and other members of the family embraced the same faith. He soon began to feel that he must publicly teach the new doctrine which he had received, and during a visit to Boston he was introduced to Father Ballou, who strengthened his inclinations and advised him to devote his life to the ministry. In order to fit himself for such a work, he went to Malden and was for a time a student of the late Rev. Sylvanus Cobb. He began preaching in Annisquam, and in 1833 he was ordained. He was afterwards settled in South Dennis and Marblehead, Mass., in Fiskville, R. I., in Canton, Mass., and in Salisbury from 1845 to 1855. He then went to Meriden, Conn., and performed the duties of State missionary with rare fidelity for six years. Since then he has only preached occasionally, but has never lost his interest in the welfare of the church.

Mr. Norwood was widely known in Connecticut. Besides his work as a preacher and pastor, he wrote and published two books: "The Book of Abraham" and "The Pilgrimage of a Pilgrim." He was also for some years editor of the Connecticut Department of the Trumpet.

After the close of his regular ministerial labors, he served the town of Meriden in several positions of trust. He was warmly interested in education and a faithful and devoted laborer in the temperance cause. Many of his brethren and friends who have known and loved him for years, have borne eloquent witness to his truth, loyalty, and sincerity as a Universalist, to his tenderness and loving-kindness in his domestic relations and towards his friends, and to his genuineness and fervor as a man and a Christian.

Mr. Norwood was married Dec. 8, 1829, to Miss Ruth S. Penson, who is still living. Three of his four daughters also survive him.

XIV. Rev. Horace James Bradbury died in Standish, Me., Oct. 9, 1880. He was ordained in Hampton, Me., Feb. 26, 1840. He had then been preaching in that town about two years, and continued his pastoral relations there till 1844, when he removed to Yarmouth, where he was settled two years. He was afterwards pastor for several years at Saccarappa, and after he closed his ministerial labors there, continued to reside in the place while supplying the pulpits in Yarmouth and New Gloucester. He moved to Portland in 1871, and was Register of Probate for Cumberland Co., from 1875 to 1879. His health began to fail in 1878, and he thenceforth gradually declined.

Mr. Bradbury was an amiable, kind-hearted man, of pure morals, and his labors were very acceptable to the different parishes over which he was settled. He was a firm believer in the Gospel of the Grace of God which bringeth salvation, and he faithfully taught what he believed. While living in Saccarappa, he buried his first wife who left three sons who are still living. In 1864 he was married to his second wife who survives him.

XV. Rev. ORREN PERKINS was born at Savoy, Mass , Aug. 11, 1823, and died at Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30, 1880.

Mr. Perkins obtained his education at the common schools of his native town, and at the academy at Shelburne Falls. He preached his first sermon at So. Adams, and was ordained at Bernardston by the Winchester Association in June, 1847. He was settled at Bernardston four years. He afterwards had a short pastorate at Wilmington, Vt., and then moved to Winchester, N. H., where he remained twelve years. For five of those years he was a member of the State Legislature, being three years in the House and two in the Senate. He was also for ten years State Superintendent of Schools. Later, he took charge of the Academy at Cooperstown, N. Y., with which he was connected some years. He was settled at West Concord, Vt., the last two years of his life, and about the first of October left there for Chicago, where he was to be employed in editorial work on the Star and Covenant. It was a kind of work with which he was familiar, as he had been a regular correspondent or editorial contributor to the Gospel Banner at different times, and had also written a good deal for the New Covenant. Mr. Perkins had a peculiarly sensitive and nervous temperament, and during the last few years was subject to great depression of spirits caused by the loss of his property and the almost total failure of his voice. Infirm in health, discouraged by his misfortunes, a gloomy cloud hung over him; he felt that his usefulness was at an end; his mental anguish became insupportable, and, in a moment of frenzied despair, his mind, affected by hereditary insanity, gave way, and he freed himself from the burden which he no longer had the courage to bear.

Mr. Perkins was an accurate scholar, a .very successful teacher, and an able and interesting writer. He was much beloved as a pastor and friend, and his sermons were thoughtful, instructive, and elevating. His life was blameless; he was true to every trust, and was an honorable and upright man. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Sarah C. Perkins, and three daughters.

PREFACE.

The Register for 1882, the forty-seventh annual number, is now submitted to those friends who are interested in watching the growth of Universalism. Many brethren in different parts of the country have generously aided in giving as accurate reports as possible from their respective States, associations, and neighborhoods, and it is largely due to their kindness that our Year-Book contains so full statistical records. Very sincere and hearty thanks are their due and are most gratefully offered them. We cannot claim that our work is absolutely correct, for many ministers have neglected to fill out and return the blanks sent them; changes have occurred since the work was put to press, and some returns have been received too late to be used in this number; but we have done the best we could, and hope the work will be of some value to those who are accustomed to consult its pages.

Universalist Register for 1882.

The Universalist General Convention.

This body, embracing the United States and Canada, meets on Wednesday preceding the fourth Sunday in October. It consists of the Presidents (or in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the State Conventions, together with clerical and lay delegates from State Conventions, as follows; viz.: A Convention having an aggregate of less than 50 Parishes and Clergymen is entitled, besides its President and Secretary, to one clerical and two lay delegates; having 50, to two clerical and four lay; having 75, to three clerical and six lay; and so on, increasing upon each additional aggregate of 25; provided, however, that in order to be counted in this basis of representation, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship, and every minister must be actually engaged in the work of the ministry unless disabled by age or sickness.

The General Convention is the court of final appeal in cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions, and in all cases of discipline not provided for and settled by subordinate bodies. It has original jurisdiction in States and Territories where no conventions are organized. It was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to "hold real and personal estate to the value of $500,000, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies."

The debt of Convention to Murray Fund, Oct. 1, 1881, was $9,669.

THE MURRAY CENTENARY FUND, projected in 1869, in memory of John Murray, the first Universalist preacher in America, and designed to aid in the education of our theological students, the circulation of denominational literature and in church extension, amounted, Oct. 1, 1881, to $123,034.30.

THE THEOLOGICAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND consists of repaid scholarship loans from the income of the Murray Fund and this fund. The interest is lent to students. During the past year $5,040 were thus lent and $3,263.28 repaid. This fund amounted, Oct. 1, 1881, to $10,840.47.

THE JOHN G. GUNN MINISTERIAL RELIEF FUND was founded by the late John G. Gunn, of Nyack, N. Y., with a bequest of $8,000, "for the relief, support, and maintenance of needy Universalist clergymen and their widows and orphans, not coming within the scope of the Harsen Fund of New York." On Oct. 1, 1881, the Principal fund was $8,389.76; the income for the past year, $500.21; the surplus of the preceding year, $295.33; the expenditures, $600; and the unexpended balance of income, $195.54.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—This Society was organized in 1834, for the collection and preservation of facts, books and papers pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism. It is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts; has a library of about 2,300 volumes, valued at $5,000, now at Tufts College, and has been of great value in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times. Donations of books and money are earnestly solicited, that the library may be rendered as complete as possible.

President—Rev. R. Eddy; Secretary and Librarian—Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D.D., of College Hill, Mass.; Treasurer—Rev. E. Davis, of Canton, Mass.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION, of the Universalist Church, was organized in 1869 to assist in raising the Murray Fund, and was incorporated Sept. 18, 1873. It has since then enlarged and extended its sphere of operations. The objects of the Association are to set forth the claims of God as the Father of all created intelligences, and to save souls from the bondage of sin and error. It has already raised and expended in missionary work over $100,000. Of this, $35,000.53 was given to the Murray Fund. It has put in circulation during the past year, 438.200 pages of tracts, making a total since 1869 of 3,332,850. Its work has extended not only throughout the United States and Canada, but also to Scotland, Mexico, Central America, and Australia It is supported wholly by voluntary contributions and annual memberships.

President—Mrs. M. L. Thomas; Cor. Sec.—Mrs. O. E. Cantwell; N. W. Cor. Sec.—Mrs. E. R. Hanson; Rec. Sec.—Mrs. E. D. Browne, Honeoye Falls, N. Y.; Treasurer—Mrs. M. A. Adams; Committee of Publication—Mrs. M. L. Thomas. Total receipts for the year ending Oct. 1, 1881, $6,179.65. Total disbursements, $2,779.55. Balance in treasury, $3,558.39, of which $2,610 is the Permanent Fund.

THE CHAPIN HOME FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM was incorporated by an act of the Legislature of New York, May 1, 1869. The object of the institution is to provide a home and support for worthy aged and infirm men and women. By its charter, the corporation is empowered to own such real estate as is necessary for the convenient transaction of its business, not to exceed in value $100,000. It may also hold other property, not to exceed in value $500,000. Assets of the Chapin Home, May 1, 1881: in bonds and mortgages, $40,860.51; the buildings occupied by the Home, valued at $83,000; 37½ acres of land in Franklin Co., N. Y., and eight lots in Maple Grove Cemetery. Acting President—Mrs. N. L. Cort; Corresponding Secretary—Mrs D. D. Youmans, corner 18th Street and 4th Avenue, New York.

STATISTICS OF PARISHES BY STATES AND TERRITORIES.

[In the following tables the names in the first column indicate the P. O. address of parishes; a fraction, what part of the time stated services are held; (oc.) occasional preaching; (dor. dormant) no preaching in the past year; and the numerals, the number of families. In the Church and Sunday School columns, the numerals indicate the year of organization and the number of members respectively. In the property column, the date of dedication of churches is indicated; Un. denotes that the parish owns a share in a union house; br. (brick), st. (stone), w. (wood), the material; Prop. property other than in a church; and the valuation is of all property, deducting debts. The preacher's name in italics indicates a licenciate; and parallels (‖) that he is not in fellowship.]

South Carolina.

There is but one church reported in South Carolina—at Feasterville, Fairfield Co., organized in 1877, with 35 members; a S. school of 30 members; a church edifice worth $500. Rev. D. B. Clayton, of Georgia, preaches occasionally.

Tennessee.

Rev. Wm. Hale, M.D., of Free Hill, Washington Co., is the only preacher in the State. He organized a church (1880) of 15 members at Free Hill, where he preaches one-fourth of the time. He is also laboring as a missionary in other parts of the State, and distributing tracts and other documents. There is a Union church edifice at Glimpsville, West Tenn., owned in part by Universalists.

Scotland.

The Scottish Convention of Universalists (org. 1875) will meet in Glasgow, May, 1882. Pres.—Alexander Reid; V.-Pres.—Gilbert Garth; Treas.—John McMillen; Sec.—Rev. C. A. Soule; all of Glasgow. Trust.—George Ure, Robert Bennie, James McCutcheon, Thomas Kennedy, James McDonald. One church edifice only is owned by the Universalists of Scotland—that at Stenhousemuir, Larbert, built in 1875, of brick, and known as the Church of the Redeemer. It has been thoroughly repaired and painted during the past year. Rev. J. M. Cunningham preaches there one-half of the time. The church at Carluke and Braidwood (re-org. 1879), now called St. John's Universalist Church, has lost largely during the past year by emigrations to America. The church at Glasgow (re-org. 1879) is called St. Paul's Universalist Church. Rev. C. A. Soule preaches there regularly. They have a Bible class, Sunday school, and church library. They have established in connection with the church a Sunday School Association and The Soule Literary Association. Mrs. Soule has finished her third year of missionary work in Scotland. Besides her regular pastoral labors in Glasgow she distributes large quantities of denominational books, papers, and tracts, and visits the several missionary stations and scattered Universalists. During the year just closed she has distributed 140,000 pages of tracts.

The school is for both sexes, and offers three complete courses of study, viz., the College Preparatory, of three year; the Ladies' Collegiate, of four years; the English course, of four years.

Compositions, Declamations, and daily exercises in Spelling are required throughout each course.

Diplomas are given to those completing any one of the above courses. Students received at any time, and admitted to the classes for which they may be fitted.

The classical department is under a most successful instructor, and especial attention will be given to fitting young men for college.

The Seminary is well supplied with anatomical models, skeletons, charts, globes, stereopticon, table and gas microscope, and apparatus for the illustration of Physiology, Astronomy, Philosophy, and Chemistry. The cabinet contains an excellent collection of minerals, fossils, and Natural History specimens, and superior facilities are offered for the study of Natural Science.

Excellent advantages are offered for the study of Music, Elocution, Painting, Drawing, and Penmanship, which may be taken at pleasure.

Expenses. — Board, including room and washing, heat and light, per week, $3.50. Tuition averages about $9 per term.

Officers of the board of Trustees. — Rev. W. R. Shipman, A.M., College Hill, Mass., President; J. M. Haynes, St. Albans, Vice-President; George W. Tilden, Barre, Secretary and Treasurer.

Board of Instruction. — Henry Priest, A.M., Principal, Mental and Moral Philosophy and the Sciences; C. C. the Attleboro' Academy, but continued to some extent his pastoral work, and occasionally supplied at West Wrentham. In 1850, he accepted a call from the parish in Claremont, N. H., where he preached, teaching school also most of the time, for five years. By a unanimous invitation from the parish in North Attleboro', he was again settled there in June, 1855, and continued its pastor, actively engaged in the work of the ministry, during the continuous term of more than twenty-five years, and until his death.

For more than thirty years of manhood, he lived in North Attleboro'. His long pastorate there indicates the appreciation of his ministration by his parishioners. He was a patient, loving, hard-working pastor, giving his best exertions for the people of his charge. His great modesty prevented him from sounding his works abroad, but here, as everywhere, they were abundantly fruitful. The two parishes in Attleboro' owe their best characteristics, if not their existence, to him. An untiring student, and logical in thought and method, he was an effective preacher. He felt, as he expressed it, that he had a natural gift for preaching, yet he never sought for oratorical display or for controversy, but to educate the people into ways of right thinking, that their opinions and faith might constantly influence them to right living. He chose rather to win men than their applause. Believing in conversion as a process, he attached great importance to the Sunday school as an adjunct to the church, and worked incessantly for its growth and improvement.

His convictions of duty would not permit him to confine his labors to those of his own parish or faith, or even to the Christian Church, and he early became interested in the education of the young. Besides the years devoted to teaching, wherever he went, he showed his regard for our common schools as a concomitant in the propagation of Christian civilization. He was a member of the school committee in Claremont during his residence there, and discharged the duties of his office with such marked ability and benefit to the schools, that, upon hearing of his proposed return to Attleboro', a deacon of the Baptist church said, "We cannot get along without him." For nearly twenty years he held a similar position in the board of North Attleboro', of which he was chairman at the time of his death. In his report for 1857, he says, "The specific object of the district and thenceforth found his greatest pleasure in advancing the cause of God's universal and efficient grace.

At the end of his clerkship, while considering a project for going into business, he asked the advice of his pastor with whom he was intimate, and at the suggestion of Dr. Sawyer, abandoned his previous plans and determined to enter the ministry. After seventeen months preparatory study, he entered the New York University in Sept., 1842, upon a free scholarship, as sent by the Second Universalist Society. His books were presented by G. L. Demarest, D.D., then a member of the Orchard Street Church.

After graduating from college, in 1846, Dr. J. Smith Dodge, Sr., volunteered a loan of one hundred dollars a year, for three years, to Mr. Goodrich, and he began to study Divinity under the instruction of Dr. Sawyer, then Principal of the Clinton Liberal Institute, in the class with B. F. Bowles, G. H. Deere, C. H. Leonard, C. R. Moor, Bernard Peters, Nelson Snell and others.

After nearly three years at Clinton, Mr. Goodrich accepted a call to Concord, Mass., and was pastor of the church there until March, 1851, when failing health compelled him to resign his charge. His next settlement was at Eddington, Me., and while there he married Miss Nancy Downs, of Chelsea, Mass., in Sept., 1851. In June, 1854, he accepted a call of the society in Kenduskeag, where he remained two years. In 1855 he made an extended missionary tour through Aroostook Co., involving great labor and sacrifice, but yielding abundant fruits in that wilderness. He removed with his family, in 1856, to Minnesota, and in 1857 occupied a homestead in the Big-woods on Silver Creek, Wright Co., where by hard work he started a farm. In 1862, the Indian troubles necessitated the removal of his family to a place of greater safety, but he remained until 1863, when he sold his farm, and joining his family, moved to Richfield. In 1864, he bought a farm near Anoka, on which he lived three years, during the last preaching part of the time at Anoka. In 1867, he was invited to lead a movement to build a church, and removed to Anoka, where he resided until his death. As the result of his undertaking, a beautiful church edifice was erected there in 1872, and remains a fitting monument of his life and labors.

During the last ten years he was County Superintendent refused, and finally, in 1863, a commission was sent him, signed by Secretary of War Stanton, by which he was appointed Paymaster in the Army with the rank of Major. Mr. Austin was reluctant to relinquish his religious labors, but after much persuasion, accepted this appointment and entered upon the discharge of his duties, remaining in the service until 1866, when he was mustered out. After leaving the army, Mr. Austin resumed his labors in the ministry, preaching occasionally until 1875, when the disease began to develop which ultimately caused his death.

During a quarter of a century, Mr. Austin was perhaps the most prominent preacher in Central New York. He was well known through the country, and had at some time been heard in nearly every village from Auburn to Lake Erie. He was a profound theologian, and a preacher and debater of great power. One of the grandest successes of his life, was in a theological discussion at Genoa with Rev. Mr. Holmes, a Methodist preacher. It was so ably conducted on the part of Mr. Austin, that it was said many who heard him were converted to his views. He was a man of undaunted courage, with a cheerful disposition, faith and hope that never faltered, and a deep emotional nature; these qualities, combined with his logical arguments, made him very effective and often irresistible as a preacher.

Secretary Seward, at one time, began a life of John Quincy Adams, which was neglected, and finally abandoned for want of leisure, and, at the request of Mr. Seward, Mr. Austin undertook and finished the work. Besides this, he was the author of several books of merit; among them "Voice to the Young," "Austin on the Attributes," "Golden Steps for the Young" and "Voice to the Married."

He was of a social, affectionate nature which endeared him to a large circle of acquaintances, and, with his probity and honor, won the esteem of the entire community in which he dwelt. He was a kind husband and father, and leaves a wife, three daughters and one son.

V. Rev. Edwin Hubbell Chapin, D.D., LL.D., son of Alpheus and Beulah (Hubbell) Chapin, was born in Union Village, Washington Co., N. Y., Dec. 29, 1814, and died Dec. 26, 1880, in the City of New York. He descended from Deacon Samuel Chapin, a New England Puritan, and a

South Carolina.

There is but one church reported in South Carolina—at Feasterville, Fairfield Co., organized in 1877, with 35 members; a S. school of 30 members; a church edifice worth $500. Rev. D. B. Clayton, of Georgia, preaches occasionally.

Tennessee.

Rev. Wm. Hale, M.D., of Free Hill, Washington Co., is the only preacher in the State. He organized a church (1880) of 15 members at Free Hill, where he preaches one-fourth of the time. He is also laboring as a missionary in other parts of the State, and distributing tracts and other documents. There is a Union church edifice at Glimpsville, West Tenn., owned in part by Universalists.

TEXAS.

There are 2 churches in Texas,—Rock Dale, Milam Co., formed in 1875, of 45 members, and Williamson Co., formed in 1855, of 50 members. Each has a small edifice. Rev. J. Billings has recently settled at Beaver Valley, Anderson Co., and preaches as he has opportunity. Rev. G. M. Cade, of San Marcos, began to preach in 1880, and several other ministers in the State preach occasionally.

Scotland.

The Scottish Convention of Universalists (org. 1875) will meet in Glasgow, May, 1882. Pres.—Alexander Reid; V.-Pres.—Gilbert Garth; Treas.—John McMillen; Sec.—Rev. C. A. Soule; all of Glasgow. Trust.—George Ure, Robert Bennie, James McCutcheon, Thomas Kennedy, James McDonald. One church edifice only is owned by the Universalists of Scotland—that at Stenhousemuir, Larbert, built in 1875, of brick, and known as the Church of the Redeemer. It has been thoroughly repaired and painted during the past year. Rev. J. M. Cunningham preaches there one-half of the time. The church at Carluke and Braidwood (re-org. 1879), now called St. John's Universalist Church, has lost largely during the past year by emigrations to America. The church at Glasgow (re-org. 1879) is called St. Paul's Universalist Church. Rev. C. A. Soule preaches there regularly. They have a Bible class, Sunday school, and church library. They have established in connection with the church a Sunday School Association and The Soule Literary Association. Mrs. Soule has finished her third year of missionary work in Scotland. Besides her regular pastoral labors in Glasgow she distributes large quantities of denominational books, papers, and tracts, and visits the several missionary stations and scattered Universalists. During the year just closed she has distributed 140,000 pages of tracts.

THE UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE,

16 BROMFIELD STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

This House was incorporated in 1872, and holds all its property for the use and benefit of the Universalist Church. It is managed by a board of twenty-one Trustees, who hold office until their resignation, or removal from the State from which they were elected. Vacancies may be filled by the State convention which the Trustees represented; such State convention failing to fill said vacancies within one year, the Trustees shall do so at their next annual meeting thereafter. Fourteen of the Trustees belong in Massachusetts, two in Rhode Island, and one each in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, and New York.

The net assets of the House are about $35,000, consisting of periodicals, books, plates, etc. It publishes and owns the titles and copyrights of one hundred forty-one volumes, and five periodicals; viz., the Christian Leader, the Quarterly, the Sunday School Helper, the Myrtle, and the Universalist Register. Charles Caverly, Agent.

clerical and lay delegates from these Conventions, as follows: "Each State Convention shall be entitled to one clerical and two lay delegates; or, having an aggregate of fifty parishes and clergymen, to two clerical and four lay delegates; and for every additional twenty-five parishes and clergymen, to one clerical and two lay delegates. If there be organized Universalist parishes in any State or Territory which has no Convention, they may unite and choose one delegate; and if there be but one such parish it shall likewise be entitled to one delegate."

The General Convention was incorporated March 9, 1866, and empowered to hold real and personal estate to the value of five hundred thousand dollars, to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of missionaries, publications, and other agencies. For the accomplishment of this work the Convention holds in trust, by its Board of Trustees, the Murray Centenary Fund, amounting to about one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, the income of which is used to aid in the education of theological students, the circulation of denominational literature, and in church extension and missionary endeavors. Parish collections made annually, and missionary-box receipts, add to the Convention revenues, and enable it to perform its work.

The Convention also has a Theological Scholarship Fund amounting to fifteen thousand dollars, the income of which is specially set apart for loans to theological students. This fund is constantly increasing, as all repayments of scholarship loans are added to it.

The John G. Gunn Ministerial Relief Fund, amounting to about eight thousand six hundred dollars, is likewise held in trust by the Convention, the income of the fund being devoted, within certain restrictions, to the relief of needy Universalist clergymen and their families.

The Universalist General Convention exercises ecclesiastical jurisdiction throughout the United States and Canada.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION. — This Association, organized in 1869 to assist in raising the Murray Fund, was incorporated Sept. 18, 1873. It has since enlarged and extended its sphere of operations, and during last year (1882) the original board of incorporators secured a new charter under an act of the national legislature, extending its time for twenty years, and have also adopted a new Constitution and By-Laws for the government of the Association. The objects of the Association are to advance the interests of the Universalist Church by Home and Foreign Missionary Work.

It has already raised and expended in missionary work over $100,000. Of this, $35,000.53 was given to Murray Fund.

Its "Publication Department" is under the charge of a special committee, and is devoted mainly to the issue of tracts, of which it has distributed during the past year 425,300, making a total since 1869 of 3,758,150. Its work in this way has extended throughout the United States and Canada, and also to Scotland, Mexico, Central America, and Australia.

The Association has supported a missionary in Scotland (Rev. Mrs. C. A. Soule) for the last four years.

Rev. Marion Crosley is the present missionary. The Scottish mission, and all other work of the Association, is supported wholly by voluntary contributions, and the Annual, Life, and Patron memberships. Annual memberships, $1.00; life memberships, $25.00; patron, $100.00.

STATISTICS.

THE CONDITION OF UNIVERSALIST PARISHES, CHURCHES AND SUNDAY SCHOOLS IS INDICATED IN THE FOLLOWING CLASSIFICATION.

[In this arrangement by States and Territories the names in the first column designate the location of parishes according to post-office address; a fraction, what part of the time preaching services are held; (oc.) occasional preaching; and the figures under "Families" denote the number of families connected with the parishes. In the Church and Sunday-school columns, the figures indicate the year of organization and number of members respectively. In the column marked "Church Edifices," the date of dedication is given; Un. denotes that the parish owns a share in a union house of worship; the abbreviations br. (brick), st. (stone), w. (wood) indicate the material; Prop. denotes property held by the parish other than in a church. Under the head of "Values" appears the amount of all property after deducting indebtedness. The preacher's name in italics indicates a licentiate, and parallels (||) that he is not in fellowship.]

In the Collegiate department, the course of instruction is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The course for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy extends through four years, and the course for those students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineering extends through three years. A part of the studies for the junior and senior classes are elective. The location is elevated and healthy; retired and free from distraction, yet easily accessible, being four miles from Boston, on the Boston and Lowell Railroad.

Present number of students, sixty-four. Expenses from $250 to $300 per year. College charges, $100. Board in club, at cost, about $3 per week.

Calendar. — Spring Term begins March 22, 1882. Commencement June 28, 1882.

Number of scholars October 1, 1881, 100.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY AND FEMALE COLLEGE.

This is a boarding school for both sexes, 2½ miles from Portland, in Deering (P. O. Stevens Plains), Me. It was chartered in 1831 and opened in 1834.

Common and Higher English courses, a College Preparatory, and two Collegiate courses for ladies are provided. Diplomas are given to those completing satisfactorily any of the higher courses. Classes are formed each term for those not pursuing a regular course. Special attention is given to preparing pupils for College and for teaching. The instruction in Music, Drawing and Painting is exceptionally good.

The boarding-halls for the two sexes are in separate buildings, heated by steam and with all the modern conveniences. They are connected by a dining hall sufficient for two hundred boarders. The School-building contains the Chapel, Recitation-rooms, Library, Laboratory and Cabinet of Minerals.

Board, including fuel and lights, $3 per week. Tuition, from $7.50 to $9.50 per term of fifteen weeks.

Calendar. — Winter term begins first Tuesday in January; Spring term, last Monday in March; Fall term, first Tuesday in September. Commencement, last Thursday in June.

Board of Instruction. — James P. Weston, D.D., President and Professor of Mental and Moral Science; Silas B. Rawson, A.M., Professor of Greek and Instructor of Natural Sciences; H. N. Pearce, A.B., Instructor of Latin and Higher Mathematics; Miss Stella Lilly, Preceptress and Teacher of French and Rhetoric; Miss Mary E. Weston, Teacher of Drawing and Painting; Prof. G. Quinby, Teacher of Instrumental Music.

Candidates must bring testimonials as to character, and avow their purpose to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. Bachelors of Arts are admitted without examination. Other candidates are examined in the branches usually taught in the best High Schools and Academies. The full collegiate course, as preliminary, is recommended to those who contemplate theological studies; but, since the circumstances of many earnest and capable men forbid so extensive preparation, a four-years' theological course has been provided. This course permits the introduction of branches not strictly professional, and yet of a fundamental character, and of the highest disciplinary value. It is the policy of the school to encourage the judicious use of the important facilities which the proximity of the College to an intellectual centre like Boston, affords—libraries, cabinets, lectures, the teachings and methods of the most noted preachers of New England.

The degree of D.B. is conferred upon those who take the full course, which occupies three years for A.B.'s, and four years for others.

The necessary expenses will not exceed $200 a year. Tuition, room-rent, use of furniture, free. Students may add to their resources by preaching during the year and a half previous to graduation. The General Convention of Universalists aids students by a system of loans.

LOMBARD UNIVERSITY.

This institution, located at Galesburg, Ill., embraces a Preparatory department, in which are taught all the studies required to fit students for a Collegiate course, and also a Collegiate department, with three courses of study; viz., Classical, Scientific, and Literary. The preparation for the Classical course requires two years; for the Scientific, and the Literary, one year. Students may enter any class for which they are prepared. Ladies and gentlemen are admitted alike to all classes and all courses of study.

The university building is of brick, three stories high, and has spacious rooms for libraries, apparatus, recitations, etc. It has libraries of about 5,000 volumes; an extensive mineralogical cabinet, including a rare collection of shells; a valuable philosophical and chemical apparatus, and a permanent fund of about $100,000.

Officers of the Board of Trustees.—President, Rev. W. H. Ryder, D.D., of Chicago; Secretary, Hon. T. J. Hale, of Galesburg; Treasurer, David Sanborn, of Galesburg; Executive Committee, David Sanborn, Alfred Knowles, B. Lombard, Jr., A. Webster, T. J. Hale; General Agent, Rev. E. L. Conger.

Faculty.—Rev. N. White, Ph. D., President and Hall Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; J. V. N. Standish, Ph. D., Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy; Isaac A. Parker, A.M., Professor of Greek Language and Literature and Teacher of Latin; J. Y. Bergen, Jr., A.M., Conger Professor of Natural Science; Miss Mary J. Claycomb, A.M., Teacher of French and Assistant in Preparatory Department; Miss Flora A. Edwards, L.A., Teacher in the Art Department; Miss May Morse, Teacher of Instrumental Music; Miss Stella Hale, L.A., Teacher of Singing and Voice Culture.

Board has been reduced to $3 per week. Tuition from $3.75 to $8.25 per Term of ten weeks. Ornamental branches extra. Number of students in both Departments, sixty-five, of which 29 were in the regular college course.

Calendar.—Second term begins Monday, Jan. 2, 1882. Third term begins Monday, April 10, 1882.

LOMBARD THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

Instructors.— Rev. Nehemiah White, Ph. D., President, Professor of Biblical Languages and Exegesis; John V. N.

Standish, Ph.D., Professor of Moral Philosophy and Natural Theology; Isaac A. Parker, A.M., Professor of Greek; Rev. Charles W. W. Hanson, D.D., Lecturer on History of Doctrine and Eschatology.

Persons well recommended who have resolved to devote themselves to the Ministry are admitted on examination, and may pursue a course of study embracing one, two, three, or four years, according to their ability or need.

Students completing one of the partial courses will receive a certificate of actual attainments in the studies pursued. Those completing the full course will receive the degree of D.B.

All departments of the University are open to Students of Theology without charge. The only expense is for board and books, which may be so reduced by beneficiary funds as to place the advantages of the Theological School within the reach of all who desire them.

The calendar corresponds with that of other departments of the University.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.

This institution is located at Canton, St. Lawrence County, N.Y. It has two fully organized departments: 1. The Collegiate, comprising the usual four years' classical course, and a four years' scientific course. 2. The Theological.

K. Gaines, A.M., Professor of Greek; Clara Weaver, A.M., Tutor in Botany; Mrs. C. P. Gaines, Librarian; L. M. West, Steward.

The number of students now members of the College is sixty. Young men and young women are admitted to the institution on the same conditions. The University confers no degrees on a course of study less than four years. The courses are full, the instruction thorough, and the mental training practical and efficient.

Calendar.—Second term begins Feb. 8, 1882. Tree holiday, April 28. Examination of Seniors begins May 17 and ends May 26. Senior vacation begins May 29. Final examinations begin June 14 and end June 23. Commencement, June 27, 28, 29. First term of College begins Aug. 23, 1882. Total assets of the University, $227,500. The number graduated in 1881 was four. College fees, $30 per year. Board, $3 per week.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL, CANTON, N.Y.

Faculty.—Rev. I. M. Atwood, D.D., President and Professor of Theology and Ethics; Rev. H. P. Forbes, M.A., Professor of Biblical Languages and Literature; Rev. J. S. Lee, D.D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Biblical Archæology; Rev. A. B. Hervey, M.A., Non-resident Lecturer on Religion and Science; W. A. Poste, M.A., Resident Lecturer on Law and Religious Organization.

Applicants for admission must bring testimonials as to their moral and religious character, must be possessed of a good English education, and must avow their fixed intention to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. The full course of study requires three years; college graduates can complete it in two. There is also a course arranged for four years, on the completion of which students will receive the degree of D.B. Students can enter for a shorter term, and will be entitled to a certificate stating their attainments. There are excellent opportunities at Canton for studying French and German. There is a well selected library of 7,000 volumes, and easy access to several valuable private libraries. The location and surroundings of this School are favorable to uninterrupted study. There is no charge for tuition or for the use of the library. Board, in the College rooms and in private families, at $3 per week. The necessary expenses do not exceed $200 per year. When required, needy students receive aid from the Universalist General Convention, to the extent of $180 per year.

During two-thirds of a century Mr. Hitchcock's health was never good; he was often prostrated by severe sickness, and for more than a year was confined to his house, conscious that his end was approaching, and hoping each succeeding day might be his last. His sufferings were constant and often extreme, but he maintained his cheerfulness to the end, and died in the full assurance of a better life beyond the grave, leaving a wife and one daughter to mourn his loss.

III. Rev. Moses Goodrich, the son of Moses Goodrich, was born in the City of New York, Oct. 24, 1817, and died at Anoka, Minn., Dec. 18, 1880.

Upon the death of his father, in 1825, his mother was left with eight children and without means, and Moses was taken in 1827 to Stockbridge, Mass., where he received the careful training of a New England home in the family of his uncle, and a common school education. At the age of seventeen, he was sent to New York and was received into the family of his oldest brother, by whom he was employed for two years. In the Spring of 1836, through the aid of Cyrus W. Field, a Stockbridge schoolmate, he obtained a position in the store of A. T. Stewart, where he spent the next five years. He was a regular church-goer, sometimes with the Presbyterians, but more often with the Methodists, during the first year. He had never heard of Universalism until 1835, when he was induced by an acquaintance to attend a discussion in the church of the Second Society, Orchard Street, between the pastor, Rev. T. J. Sawyer, and a Limitarian preacher named Slocum. He perceived that Mr. Sawyer had the advantage in the argument, but his prejudices were too strong to admit his conclusions. After eighteen months, in which he heard the subject much discussed, he was brought to a personal examination of Scripture evidences, and after much diligent and prayerful study and reflection, he was convinced of his former error, and joyfully accepted the better faith. He became a member of the choir, the Sunday school, and the church in Orchard Street, and thenceforth found his greatest pleasure in a cause of God's universal and efficient grace.

IV. Rev. JOHN MATHER AUSTIN, the son of Benjamin Austin, on the side of his mother, Jerusha (Mather) Austin, descended from the family celebrated in early colonial times, of which Cotton Mather is best known to history. He was born in Redfield, Oswego Co., N. Y., Sept. 26, 1805, and died in Rochester, Dec. 20, 1880.

The parents of Mr. Austin moved to Watertown while he was an infant, and there he spent his first fifteen years and obtained such learning only as is common to all in the public schools. At the age of fifteen, he began to learn the art of printing, and he spent many subsequent years working at his trade in Albany, Buffalo, Lewiston, and Troy. He joined the Universalist Society in Troy while he was engaged in the office of the Gospel Anchor in 1830. His strong religious tendencies being here stimulated to activity by his new associations, he studied for the ministry, preached his first sermon in Albany on Feb. 5, 1832, and was fellowshipped by the Hudson River Association, Sept. 12, 1832. His first pastorate was in Montpelier, Vt., and he was ordained by the Vermont Convention, Jan. 17, 1833. From Montpelier he went to Peabody (then South Danvers), Mass., and was installed pastor of the church there April 9, 1835. After a nine years' pastorate in Peabody, he accepted a call from the parish in Auburn, N. Y., and settled there in 1844. In 1851, he resigned his pastorate at Auburn to accept the editorship of the Christian Ambassador, then published at Auburn.

Soon after the Republican party obtained control of the government, in 1861, William H. Seward, Secretary of State during the administration of President Lincoln, and a fast friend of Mr. Austin, tendered him the Consulship of the West Indies, which was declined. Afterwards the Consulship of the Prince Edward Islands was tendered him and refused, and finally, in 1863, a commission wa signed by Secretary of War Stanton, by which pointed Paymaster in the Army with the rank of Austin was reluctant to relinquish his religious after much persuasion, accepted this appointment upon the discharge of his duties, remaining in until 1866, when he was mustered out. After army, Mr. Austin resumed his labors in the mini ing occasionally until 1875, when the diseas develop which ultimately caused his death.

During a quarter of a century, Mr. Austin was most prominent preacher in Central New York. known through the country, and had at some tim in nearly every village from Auburn to Lake Er a profound theologian, and a preacher and debs power. One of the grandest successes of his l theological discussion at Genoa with Rev. Mr Methodist preacher. It was so ably conducted of Mr. Austin, that it was said many who hea converted to his views. He was a man of und age, with a cheerful disposition, faith and hope faltered, and a deep emotional nature; these qu bined with his logical arguments, made him v and often irresistible as a preacher.

Secretary Seward, at one time, began a life of Adams, which was neglected, and finally abando of leisure, and, at the request of Mr. Seward, undertook and finished the work. Besides this author of several books of merit; among them " Young," " Austin on the Attributes," " Golden S Young" and " Voice to the Married."

He was of a social, affectionate nature whi him to a large circle of acquaintances, and, wit and honor, won the esteem of the entire commun he dwelt. He was a kind husband and father a wife, three daughters and one son.

V. Rev. Edwin Hubbell Chapin, D.D., L Alpheus and Beulah (Hubbell) Chapin, was bo Village, Washington Co., N. Y., Dec. 29, 181 Dec. 26, 1880, in the City of New York. H from Deacon Samuel Chapin, a New England Pu leader among those who, in 1635, began at Springfield the first English settlement of Western Massachusetts. Samuel Chapin was the progenitor of several other men of note, among them John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Senator Solomon Foot, of Vermont, and Henry Ward Beecher.

At the age of six months, by the return of his parents to their native state, he became a resident of Vermont, where he spent his childhood and youth, receiving his academic course at the seminary in Bennington. His father, a rigid Calvinist, trained his son in the traditional theology of their ancestors; but the creed proved too narrow for such a heart and brain. As his intellect expanded he perceived more and more clearly a conflict between the tenets of Calvin, which he was taught to believe were scriptural, and the attributes of Deity revealed in Christ, and recognized by his disciples. This incongruity led him to inquire if the Bible were worthy of credence as the word of God. He examined with great care such theological works as fell in his way, but these, being of the Limitarian school, failed to help him, and only produced additional perplexity. In 1836, while with his father, who was an artist, on a professional visit to Utica, N. Y., he first had access to a collection of books teaching a more consistent interpretation of the Scriptures, which he read with avidity. He attended the church of our larger faith, and conversed with clergy and laymen concerning its teachings until order came out of chaos, through his full acceptance of the fundamental principles of Universalism, when he became a regular attendant of the church in Utica.

During his school-days his father had intended him for the bar, and while in Utica, he entered upon his preparation, but he soon abandoned the law and accepted the position of associate editor of the Evangelical Magazine and Gospel Advocate. About this time, in a discussion of slavery at the meeting of a literary association connected with the church, Mr. Chapin gave a foretaste of that wonderful native eloquence which in his riper years delighted so many audiences. His church friends now urged him to enter the ministry, but though of a deeply religious nature and strongly inclined to the study of divinity, the image of the country parson of the olden time with his solemn face, clerical robes and sanctimonious manners, impressed upon his youthful mind, seemed so incompatible with his own buoyant spirit, from

In 1856 Harvard College conferred upon Mr. Chapin the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, and Tufts College, that of Doctor of Laws, in 1878. On Oct. 15, 1838, he married Miss Hannah Neuland, of Utica, who survived him less than seven months, and leaves two sons, — Frederick H. Chapin and Sidney H. Chapin, one daughter, — Mrs. Marion G. Davison, and five grandchildren.

Of the life and character of Chapin, the pulpit has rung with praises since his death; and the press has done him no less honor. He was a power in our midst whose loss is deeply felt. From the time when he first attracted the public eye, his influence has been a growing force, first moving those who heard his words, and then spreading abroad through the avenues of the press, until it has reached every hamlet, almost every household in the land, and swayed the multitude of all classes. In the years of his vigorous health, his services upon the platform were perhaps more sought for than those of any other lecturer of the day. His advocacy of temperance was such as to place him at the head of those who sought, by appeals to the better elements in men, to turn them from the sin of selfish indulgence. Where he went he was sure of an audience such as no other secured. For many years, whenever he preached, the church was too small for his congregation. Several courses of Sunday evening lectures delivered in his own church were published in book form under the titles "A Token for the Sorrowing," "Characters in the Gospel," "Christianity the perfection of True Manliness," "Discourses on the Book of Proverbs," "Discourses on the Lord's Prayer," "Duties of Young Men," "Duties of Young Women," "Extemporaneous Discourses," "Hours of Communion," "Humanity in the City," "Lessons of Faith and Life," "Living Words," "Moral Aspects of City Life," "Providence and Life," "The Beatitudes," and "The Crown of Thorns." Some of these have a wide circulation.

The address of Chapin before the Peace Congress at Frankfort-on-the-Main in 1850, surpassing every other of the occasion in eloquence and power, made his name known through Europe, and placed him among the great orators of the world; while his unnumbered successes at home long since made him the first pulpit orator of America. VII. Rev. SETH WILLISTON REMINGTON was born in Bennington, Vt., Jan. 1, 1807, and died in Henderson, N. Y., April 18, 1881. His parents moved to Munroe Co., N. Y., while he was a child. He was brought up a Baptist, and fully accepted the tenets of that sect until, in mature years a passage in the Bible struck him with a new significance, and led him to reconsider the teachings of his youth. The result was his complete conversion to Universalism.

About 1835 he gave his attention to the study of divinity, and soon began preaching. He was ordained in the year 1839 while located at Smith's Mills. In 1840 he was settled in Boston, Erie Co., where he labored three years and established a prosperous society. He was pastor of the society in Churchville from 1844 to 1849, and from thence went to Geneva, where he was located from 1850 to 1852. During 1853 and 1854 he was at Binghamton. He was now invited to take up his residence at Canton. While here he undertook the raising of funds sufficient to secure the location of the Theological School, and having accomplished this was appointed a financial agent for procuring further funds, and obtained in all some $25,000. He remained in Canton until the death of his wife, about 1878, preaching meantime in Theresa, from 1862 to 1864, and at other places during other portions of his residence there. For several years he had ceased to preach regularly, but about two years before his decease he was settled at Henderson, and continued his pastorate there during the remainder of his life.

Mr. Remington was possessed of a logical mind, strong convictions and great general information. He was a preacher of considerable power, and his ministrations were acceptable to the last. He leaves two sons and two daughters.

VIII. Rev. O. WHISTON was born in Boston, Mass., in 1804, and died in Washington, D. C., April 21, 1881. His parents were Baptists, but in early manhood he was converted to Universalism. In 1843 he took possession of the old home caster, where he remained ten years without pastoral charge, meantime devoting himself to building up the cause in neighboring towns. Many societies in the vicinity owe much to his exertions during these years. Among others he was instrumental in establishing the society in Fitchburg, where a church was erected in 1848. He began an eight years pastorate in Norwich, Conn., in 1854, and at the end of that period returned to Lancaster, where not long after he became blind. In spite of this he continued to preach occasionally, repeating his hymns and scripture lessons from memory. He removed from Lancaster to the house of his son in Mattapan, where he passed the last four years of his life.

As a preacher and pastor, Mr. Whittemore was eminently successful. He possessed a personal magnetism which secured for him at once the attention of his hearers and won their good will before their judgment was appealed to. Added to this was a brilliant and powerful intellect which gave him a ready comprehension of his subject; and his logical method and aptness of illustration enabled him to express his convictions with great force. As a scripture expositor he possessed eminent ability. He knew all the ways of doubt and skepticism, and was ever ready to maintain the truths of Christianity with a skill and courage that insured success. In 1867 Tufts College conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology.

At the beginning of his ministry he married Mandana, the third daughter of Father Ballou, and she for nearly sixty years shared his fortunes and now sorrows for his loss. During his last sickness he bore his sufferings without a murmur. His intellect remained unclouded, and his faith grew brighter until his spirit took its flight.

X. Rev. Hosea Faxon Ballou, the eldest son of Rev. Hosea and Ruth (Washburne) Ballou, was born in Dana, Mass., April 4, 1799, and died in Wilmington, Vt., May 20, 1881. In March, 1816, he went to live with his father's brother Benjamin in Monroe, where he married the daughter of his uncle Nathan Ballou, became a farmer, teaching school in winter, and lived seventeen years. At the age of thirty he wished to become a preacher, but hesitated from anxiety as to the support of his growing family. He began the study of theology, however, and in February, 1832, after a few months

Weymouth from 1874 to 1877. In 1878 he assumed the pastorate of the parish in Augusta, Me., and remained there until the progress of his disease forced him to resign. He preached his last sermon Jan. 9, 1881.

If the quality of Mr. Whitney's ministry may be known by its fruits, it was abundantly successful. At Beverly, an organ was purchased and the parish largely increased in numbers. In Quincy, a parsonage was built, $2,500 were collected towards a building fund, and many were added to the church. At North Weymouth, a chapel was built and a church organized. At Augusta, a vestry was added to the church. He had inborn the elements of a preacher; he was logical and a ready and gifted speaker, but his great strength lay in his earnest, sympathetic nature which found out the best qualities in his hearers and roused them to action. When conscious that his life work was ended, he saw the approach of death with calmness; his sufferings seemed but to develop greater spirituality. In one of his last letters to a friend he says: "Never until these days of trial and sickness, has the spiritual and divine been so real or my faith in another life so strong." His parents, his wife, and several brothers, among them Rev. E. W. Whitney, survive.

XII. Rev. James Wood Eldridge, son of Isaac K. Eldridge, was born in Preble County, Ohio, Dec. 30, 1829, and died at Shell Rock, Iowa, June 9, 1881. He was educated in the common schools, taught school awhile, and began to study law at the age of twenty-one in Delphi, Ind. He went into practice at Winamac and continued it, at intervals engaging in insurance or acting as railroad conductor, living meantime at Chicago, Cincinnati and Valparaiso, until June, 1866, when he moved to Logansport. Here the sermon of a Baptist minister at the funeral of his mother, leaving the impression on his mind that she was irretrievably lost, roused him to religious reflections. He studied the Bible diligently until his fears were removed, and he found peace in believing in a God of love. He was received into the church then under the pastorate of Rev. N. S. Sage, and, by his influence, was led to enter the ministry, his first sermon being preached in Mr. Sage's church. He was licensed August 18, 1870. His first engagement was at Walton, where he preached in 1871, and was ordained August 15, 1872. From 1872 to 1875 he

Y., when, on account of the ill-health of his wife, he found it necessary to resign. In the midst of his strength and usefulness, he was stricken with disease at a grove meeting on Sunday, July 24, where although slightly indisposed he preached what proved his last sermon. After this he grew worse rapidly, and breathed his last on Wednesday. He leaves a widow and several children.

XIV. Rev. JOHN GREGORY was born at Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 18, 1810, and died at Northfield, Vt., Sept. 25, 1881. He was fellowshipped by the Central Association of New York June 6, 1832, ordained at Salisbury, Herkimer Co., N. Y., July 8, 1833, and installed at Woburn, Mass., Jan. 27, 1836. He was settled at Montpelier, Vt., in 1837; at Macon, Ga., in 1838; at Quincy, Mass., from 1839 to 1842; at Fall River in 1843 and 1844; at Williston, Vt., from 1846 to 1848; and lived in Northfield from 1849 until his death. He had for many years of his residence in Northfield no regular settlement, and devoted much of his time to farming, and especially to sheep raising, in which he was greatly interested; but in the meantime at different periods he supplied the parishes at East Montpelier, Ludlow, Cavendish and several other places regularly.

As a preacher of the faith, he was loyal, sound and strong, and possessed eloquence and considerable dramatic power. He was a warm advocate of temperance, anti-slavery and other reforms. He was twice married, and leaves a widow and two children.

XV. Rev. HENRY HACKETT BAKER was born in Minot, Me., Nov. 24, 1811, and died of paralysis in Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 28, 1881. He was aided by friends in obtaining an education with the expectation that he would become a Methodist preacher; but, being converted to Universalism in his school days, he was unable to comply with their wishes, and desired to enter the ministry of his newly-

Jerome Schneider, Ph. D., Professor of the Greek Language and Literature; H. A. Dearborn, A.M., Professor of the Latin Language and Literature; B. G. Brown, A.M., Walker Professor of Mathematics; Rev. W. R. Shipman, D.D., Professor of Rhetoric, Logic, and English Literature; A. E. Dolbear, A.M.B., A.M., Professor of Physics and Astronomy; Moses T. Brown, A.M., Professor of Oratory; C. E. Fay, A.M., Professor of Modern Languages; C. D. Bray, C.E., A.M., Professor of Civil and Mechanical Engineering; Arthur Michael, A.M., Professor of Chemistry; J. W. Klinghammer, A.M., Walker Special Instructor in Mathematics; W. R. Shipman, Librarian.

Finances. — The aggregate assets of the college at the present time, including the buildings and one hundred and twenty acres of land, are not less than $1,000,000.

Scholarships. — There are twenty-eight scholarships in the gift of the college; viz., three of $60; twenty-five of $100 each. Additional assistance, in the form of gratuities, is rendered from time to time, as circumstances may require.

In the Collegiate department, the course of instruction is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The course for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy extends through four years, and the course for those students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineer extends through three years. A part of the studies for the junior and senior classes are elective. The location is elevated and healthy; retired and free from distraction, yet easily accessible, being four miles from Boston, on the Boston & Lowell Railroad.

Expenses from $250 to $300 per year. College charges, $100. Board in club, at cost, about $3 per week.

Calendar. — Commencement for 1883, June 15. First examination for admission, June 16 and 17. Second examination, September 13 and 14. College year begins September 16. Summer vacation thirteen weeks.

Michigan, in which capacity he did excellent service for the State and nation until the close of the war, when he resumed his ministerial duties. He continued to reside in Manchester, preaching there part of the time, and also, at different periods, in Milan, Wolf Creek, Bradford, Fairfield, Liberty Mills, York and other places, and doing much missionary work at various points in the State until his death.

Besides his pastoral employment, he was for a long time actively engaged as Financial Agent of the North-western Conference, of Lombard University, and of Smithson College, and accomplished successful and satisfactory work for each. Few clergymen in the North-west have been more widely known or more highly esteemed. During the past year he has been preaching at Macomb, Ill. Although suffering for years past from a malady known to be incurable, he continued his labors with cheerfulness until his strength failed him, when he returned to his friends in Manchester, where they made his grave. Nature formed him for a Christian. He was genial, witty and companionable, and greatly enjoyed the intercourse of friends. He was especially fond of the young, over whom his exemplary life exerted a beneficent influence. He assisted several young men to an education, and helped to make them useful citizens. In brief, his life, like his teachings, was in imitation of his Master, who went about doing good.

XVII. Rev. JONATHAN E. FORRESTER, D.D., was born in Orange, Mass., Dec. 8, 1826, and died of Bright's disease of the kidneys at Warwick, Mass., Nov. 19, 1881. In 1846 he began to study for the ministry with Rev. Samuel C. Loveland, of Weston, Vt., one of our ablest men, and perhaps the ripest scholar of his time among us. Unfortunately Mr. Forrester remained here but a short time, and lost an invaluable aid in his preparation. He preached occasionally during 1846, and in the spring of 1847 was settled as pastor of the church in Reading. In June, 1847, he married Miss Julia Baldwin, of Weston, an excellent and educated lady whose aid and companionship were of great benefit to him in the early years of his ministry. He was ordained at Ludlow June 14, 1849, and remained at Reading until March, 1852, when he was called to East Randolph. His pastorate at Reading was successful, and he began his labors at East

Randolph under favorable auspices; but he remained there less than two years, and left Vermont under charges. He next went to Pennsylvania, settled in Erie, and returned his letter of fellowship to Vermont. About 1862 he received fellowship in Pennsylvania. After about ten years in Erie he went to Aurora, Ill., where he remained until 1872. He was installed over the Second Society of Chicago Jan. 5, 1873, and remained there until 1874, when he became pastor of the parish in Newark, N. J., and when his engagement here terminated in 1879, he formed an independent society.

Mr. Forrester's education in early life was very limited, and his attainments were never profound, but beginning his ministry at the early age of nineteen, and coming into contact with some of the best elements of our church during years of residence in or near our great centres of population and intelligence, he acquired a style of composition and delivery which commended him as an orator of no mean pretensions. While settled in Erie he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Springfield Academy, then existing at West Springfield, Pa.

Mr. Forrester's first wife died at Weston, Vt., while he was settled in Illinois, leaving one daughter. He leaves a widow and four small children.

XVIII. Rev. GERARD BUSHNELL was a native of Norwich, Conn., and began to preach there in December, 1839. He received a letter of fellowship from the Union Association of Massachusetts at Stockbridge, May 20, 1840, was ordained in Dana on the tenth of the following October, and thereafter lived in Massachusetts. He remained in Dana until 1843, when he went to Philipston. The following year he moved to Templeton, where he was settled until about 1850, when he located at Prescott. About 1854, after which time he was not actively engaged in the ministry, he returned to Templeton, where he continued to reside until his death.

For many years he held the office of Town Clerk. He was highly esteemed by the community in which he lived, and was a man of unblemished life and character.

PREFACE.

The present number of the REGISTER is the forty-eighth annual issue of this publication. It contains statistical reports of Universalist organizations and other information relating to denominational interests. These reports have been obtained from various sources; some of them are of an official, others of an unofficial character. Our endeavor has been to give accurate and complete reports, but the desired information has not in all cases been procurable. In a few cases the figures given are the same as last year, no later advices having been received. In some instances, when parishes and churches have been unreported, an estimate of membership has been made; but more frequently this has not been done, which will account for a considerable reduction in the footings of the several columns.

The aggregate number of parishes reported shows a slight falling off from last year. This is explained by the fact that a number of dormant organizations have been omitted, while mere preaching stations, where only occasional services are held under Universalist auspices, have not been counted in the list of parishes. There is a large amount of unorganized Universalism in the country, and it should be borne in mind that the figures given in the REGISTER do not by any means represent our full strength. In this connection we may say that several returns and notices of changes were received too late for insertion in the present number.

Looking backward over the years covered by the life of this publication, we see what a power the Universalist faith and church have been in the Christian world. Universalism has exerted an immense influence on sects and doctrines; and, though it may not have attained the large denominational growth desired, there is yet abundant cause for thanksgiving in view of the accomplishments within its communion and without.

Looking forward, the outlook is hopeful. We have an efficient organization, augmented resources, better methods and instruments of work than formerly, well endowed educational institutions, while the conditions of religious thought and the opportunities of the times are most favorable to the enlargement of our church. For this result we need to have a quickened sense of responsibility, a deeper love and loyalty for the truth, and a large infusion of that missionary spirit which stimulates earnest work and willing sacrifice.

Universalist Register for 1883.

The Universalist Church.

The system of ecclesiastical organization and government includes Parishes, State Conventions, and the General Convention.

The primary organization is the Parish, composed of persons who unite for religious improvement, and the support of public worship in any given locality. The parish manages its own financial interests, and may call or dismiss a pastor at will. It acknowledges allegiance, however, to both the State and General Conventions, and is bound to observe the laws they enact. Every parish in fellowship is entitled to representation in the State Convention.

A State Convention exercises authority in its jurisdiction, in conformity with the rules and limitations prescribed by the General Convention. No State Convention can be formed without a constituency of at least four parishes. When thus regularly constituted, it represents the Universalist people and parishes of a specified territory, who assemble by delegates in annual session to act upon the various matters of denominational concern. It is composed of all Universalist clergymen in fellowship, residing within its jurisdiction; of its officers, and lay delegates from the parishes in its fellowship.

The General Convention has jurisdiction over all Universalist clergymen and State Conventions. It is composed of the Presidents (or, in their absence, the Vice-Presidents) and Secretaries of the several State Conventions, together with erical and lay delegates from these Conventions, as follows : Each State Convention shall be entitled to one clerical and ;o lay delegates; or, having an aggregate of fifty parishes ıd clergymen, to two clerical and four lay delegates; and for 'ery additional twenty-five parishes and clergymen, to one erical and two lay delegates. If there be organized Univer- list parishes in any State or Territory which has no Con- ntion, they may unite and choose one delegate; and if there but one such parish it shall likewise be entitled to one legate."

The General Convention was incorporated March 9, 1866, d empowered to hold real and personal estate to the value five hundred thousand dollars, to be devoted exclusively the diffusion of Christian knowledge by means of mission- es, publications, and other agencies. For the accomplish- nt of this work the Convention holds in trust, by its Board Trustees, the Murray Centenary Fund, amounting to out one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, the in- me of which is used to aid in the education of theological ıdents, the circulation of denominational literature, and in urch extension and missionary endeavors. Parish collec- ns made annually, and missionary-box receipts, add to the nvention revenues, and enable it to perform its work.

The Convention also has a Theological Scholarship Fund ıounting to fifteen thousand dollars, the income of which is ecially set apart for loans to theological students. This ıd is constantly increasing, as all repayments of scholarship ns are added to it.

The John G. Gunn Ministerial Relief Fund, amounting to out eight thousand six hundred dollars, is likewise held in ıst by the Convention, the income of the fund being devoted, thin certain restrictions, to the relief of needy Universalist rgymen and their families.

The Universalist General Convention exercises ecclesiasti- jurisdiction throughout the United States and Canada.

Board of Instruction. — James P. Weston, D.D., President and Professor of Mental and Moral Science; Silas B. Rawson, A.M., Professor of Greek and Instructor of Natural Sciences; H. N. Pearce, A.B., Instructor of Latin and Higher Mathematics; Miss Stella L. Lilly, Preceptress and teacher of French and Rhetoric; Miss Mary E. Weston and Mrs. Annie Kimball, teachers of Drawing and Painting; Prof. G. A. Quinby and Miss A. Chenery, teachers of Instrumental Music; Prof. W. H. Stockbridge, teacher of Vocal Music.

Calendar. — Spring term begins March 26, 1883. Commencement, June 27, 1883.

DEAN ACADEMY.

This is a first-class boarding and day school for both sexes. It is situated in Franklin, Norfolk Co., Mass., twenty-seven miles from Boston, on the line of the New York and New England Railroad, and directly in communication with all parts of the country.

The Academy, which was incorporated in 1865, and which derives its name from the late Dr. Oliver Dean, of Franklin, owns a magnificent school edifice, with various out-buildings, valued at $240,000. The building is lighted with gas, and heated by steam. It has every modern improvement, and convenience for the comfort of the pupils.

Officers of the Board of Trustees. — Hon. L. W. Ballou, Woonsocket, R. I., President; Albert Dickerman, Boston, Vice-President; J. C. Wellington, No. Cambridge, Treasurer; Rev. H. I. Cushman, Providence, R. I., Secretary.

Board of Instruction. — Lester L. Burrington, A.M., Principal, Chase Professor of Latin and Greek; William Fuller, A.M., Goddard Professor of Mathematics and German; J. N. Darling, A.M., Professor of Sciences; Miss A. A.

THE WOMAN'S CENTENARY ASSOCIATION. — This Association, organized in 1869 to assist in raising the Murray Fund, was incorporated Sept. 18, 1873. It has since enlarged and extended its sphere of operations, and during last year (1882) the original board of incorporators secured a new charter under an act of the national legislature, extending its time for twenty years, and have also adopted a new Constitution and By-Laws for the government of the Association. The objects of the Association are to advance the interests of the Universalist Church by Home and Foreign Missionary Work.

It has already raised and expended in missionary work over $100,000. Of this, $35,000.53 was given to Murray Fund.

Its "Publication Department" is under the charge of a special committee, and is devoted mainly to the issue of tracts, of which it has distributed during the past year 425,300, making a total since 1869 of 3,758,150. Its work in this way has extended throughout the United States and Canada, and also to Scotland, Mexico, Central America, and Australia.

The Association has supported a missionary in Scotland (Rev. Mrs. C. A. Soule) for the last four years.

Rev. Marion Crosley is the present missionary. The Scottish mission, and all other work of the Association, is supported wholly by voluntary contributions, and the Annual, Life, and Patron memberships. Annual memberships, $1.00; life memberships, $25.00; patron, $100.00.

President—Mrs. M. L. Thomas, Tacony, Philadelphia, Pa.; Cor. Sec. — Mrs. O. E. Cantwell, North Attleboro', Mass; N. W. Cor. Sec.—Mrs. E. R. Hanson, Chicago, Ill.; Rec. Sec.—Mrs. E. D. Browne, Honeoye Falls, N. Y.; Treasurer—Mrs. M. A. Adams, Melrose Highlands, Mass.; Committee of Publication—Mrs. M. L. Thomas; and a Vice-President in each State. Total receipts for the year ending Oct. 1, 32, $6,354.42. Total disbursements, $2,915.04. Permanent Fund, $2,975.00.

The Association meets annually in connection with the General Convention of Universalists, and special meetings are held during the year in connection with the State Conventions, where the work of the Association is organized.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—This Society was organized in 1834 for the collection of facts, books and papers pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism. The Society is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. It has a library of about 2,400 volumes, besides important manuscripts and papers. This library has been of great help in tracing the history and fortunes of our distinguishing faith in other countries and times. Donations of books and money are earnestly solicited, that the library may be rendered as complete as possible and its usefulness augmented.

President—Rev. R. Eddy; Secretary and Librarian—Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D.D., of College Hill, Mass.; Treasurer—Rev. E. Davis, of Rockport, Mass.

THE CHAPIN HOME, NEW YORK.—This institution, incorporated by the Legislature of New York, May 1st, 1869, was established for the purpose of providing a home and support for aged and infirm men and women. It has a commodious and attractive edifice, situated on Sixty-sixth Street, near Lexington Avenue, New York, and well adapted for its beneficent work. By its charter the corporation is empowered to own real estate to the amount of $100,000. It may also hold other property to an amount not exceeding $500,000. The assets of the Chapin Home, May 1st, 1882, were as follows: Buildings occupied by the Home, estimated value, $83,000; bonds and mortgages, $42,864. The Home also owns thirty-seven acres of land in Franklin County, N. Y., and eight lots in Maple Grove Cemetery. President—Mrs. N. L. Cort; Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. E. R. Holden, 115 Seventy-ninth Street, New York.

STATISTICS.

THE CONDITION OF UNIVERSALIST PARISHES, CHURCHES AND SUNDAY SCHOOLS IS INDICATED IN THE FOLLOWING CLASSIFICATION.

[In this arrangement by States and Territories the names in the first column designate the location of parishes according to post-office address; a fraction, what part of the time preaching services are held; (oc.) occasional preaching; and the figures under "Families" denote the number of families connected with the parishes. In the Church and Sunday-school columns, the figures indicate the year of organization and number of members respectively. In the column marked "Church Edifices," the date of dedication is given; Un. denotes that the parish owns a share in a union house of worship; the abbreviations br. (brick), st. (stone), w. (wood) indicate the material; Prop. denotes property held by the parish other than in a church. Under the head of "Values" appears the amount of all property after deducting indebtedness. The preacher's name in italics indicates a licentiate, and parallels (||) that he is not in fellowship.]

DAKOTA TERRITORY.

A parish was organized at Yankton in 1878, but at present no regular services are maintained.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

At Washington there is a parish, org. 1869, with 95 families; a church, org. 1874, of 70 members; and a Sunday school, org. 1869, of 97 members. Rev. A. Kent, preacher.

This parish, aided by the church at large, as represented by the General Convention, is now engaged in building a church edifice, which is nearly completed. The cost of the building and lot will exceed $30,000.

FLORIDA.

There is a church edifice in Walton County, and a church of 49 members. There is also a church edifice in Volusia County. At McDade's Point, services are held one-fourth of the time by Rev. E. B. Arms. He also preaches at Lake View, where a parish of 24 families was organized in 1860, with a church of 30 members. They worship in a small chapel erected in 1879. Rev. W. C. Brooks, former State Missionary of Indiana, has lately removed to this State.

GEORGIA.

The State Convention, org. 1869, meets at the call of the President. Pres.—Rev. J. H. Park; Sec.—L. Y. Bradbury; Committee of Fellowship. — Rev. J. H. Park, H. Linch, T. Maguire, E. O. Linch.

Christ. His character was above reproach, and he was greatly esteemed by all who knew him. At the time of his death he was acting as special police-officer, assisting in the arrest of a desperado, by whom he was shot. He lived a few hours after receiving the fatal wound, his mind being calm and composed, and then his soul passed on to the blessed experiences of the immortal state.

Mississippi.

There are but few Universalist organizations in the State. A church of sixteen members was constituted at Vickland in 1881. Occasional services are held under its auspices. Parish organizations are reported at Sarepta, Water Valley, Webster and Winona; but these are for the most part in a dormant condition. Revs. W. T. Hicks and Wm. Lewellen preach occasionally in various portions of the State.

South Carolina.

There is but one organized church reported in this State—that at Feasterville, Fairfield Co., org. in 1877. It has 35 church members and a S. School of 30. Rev. D. B. Clayton, of Georgia, preaches there six or eight times during the year.

Tennessee.

Rev. Wm. Hale, M.D., of Free Hill, Washington Co., is the only preacher in the State. He organized a church (1880) of 15 members at Free Hill, where he preaches one-fourth of the time. He is also laboring as a missionary in other parts of the State, and distributing tracts and other documents. There is a Union church edifice at Glimpsville, West Tenn., owned in part by Universalists.

Texas.

There are 2 churches in Texas,—Rock Dale, Milam Co., formed in 1875, of 45 members, and Williamson Co., formed in 1855, of 50 members. Each has a small edifice. Rev. J. Billings has recently settled at Beaver Valley, Anderson Co., and preaches as he has opportunity. The Rev. Thomas Abbott has recently instituted a church at Audron Ranch, Brown

Co., of 12 members. Revs. A. Van Cleave, G. M. Cade, and several other ministers preach occasionally in the State.

VERMONT.

The State Convention, org. 1833, meets at Richmond, in 1883, on date fixed by the Executive Committee. Pres.—A. T. Foster; V.-Pres.—G. W. Tilden; Sec.—Rev. S. A. Parker, P.O. address, Bethel; Treas.—W. Chase; Com. of F.—Revs. B. M. Thlotson, Eli Ballou, D.D., and G. W. Barnes, H. Carpenter, J. W. Pierce; Trus.—E. J. Whitcomb, Rev. S. H. McCollester, D.D., and Rev. E. W. Whitney; Oc. Preacher—Rev. I. P. Booth; State Miss.—Rev. G. W. Jenkins.

Scotland.

The Universalists of Scotland organized a Convention in 1875, which meets annually. The officers reported for last year are as follows: Pres.—Alexander Reid; V.-Pres.—

Gilbert Garth; Treas.—John McMillen; Trus.—George Ure, Robert Bennie, James MacCutcheon, Thomas Kennedy and James McDonald.

There is a Universalist church edifice at Stenhousemuir, Larbert, builded in 1875, of brick, and known as the Church of the Redeemer. There is an organization at Glasgow, under the name of St. Paul's Universalist Church. Rev. C. A. Soule has been preaching there regularly for several years in addition to her missionary labors. Mrs. Soule has recently returned to this country, and has been succeeded by the Rev. Marion Crosley, whose P.O. address is Glasgow. There is much unorganized Universalism in Scotland, and occasional services are held at several missionary stations.

SUMMARY.—One General Convention; 23 State Conventions; 939 Parishes, with 86,528 families; 719 Churches, with 36,238 members; 633 Sunday Schools, with 51,793 members; 780 church edifices; $6,443,010 in Parish property above indebtedness; 713 clergymen and 10 licensed Lay Preachers.

[The above figures are somewhat reduced, as no attempt has been made to estimate membership in the case of a number of parishes, churches and Sunday schools from which no reports have been received. — Editor.]

THE UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE.

16 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

This House was incorporated in 1872, and holds all its property for the use and benefit of the Universalist Church. It is managed by a board of twenty-one Trustees, who hold office until their resignation, or removal from the State from which they were elected. Vacancies may be filled by the State Convention which the Trustees represented; such State Convention failing to fill said vacancies within one year, the Trustees shall do so at their next annual meeting thereafter. Fourteen of the Trustees belong in Massachusetts, two in Rhode Island, and one each in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, and New York.

The net assets of the House are about $35,000, consisting of periodicals, books, plates, etc. It publishes and owns the titles and copyrights of one hundred forty-five volumes, and five periodicals; viz., the Christian Leader, the Quarterly, the Sunday School Helper, the Myrtle and the Universalist Register.

Colleges, Theological Schools and Academies.

TUFTS COLLEGE.

This college is located on College Hill, Middlesex County, Mass. It was incorporated in 1852, and opened for students in 1855.

OFFICERS OF THE CORPORATION.—President, Hon. Israel Washburne, LL. D., Portland, Me.; Vice-President, Hon. Charles Robinson, Jr., West Newton; Secretary, Thomas H. Armstrong, A. M., Boston; Treasurer, William H. Finney, A.M., Boston; Executive Committee, Rev. A. A. Miner, D.D., Hon. Newton Talbot, Rev. J. Coleman Adams, Rev. E. H. Capen, D.D., Hon. T. T. Sawyer, T. H. Armstrong, W. H. Finney, A.M., J. D. W. Joy, H. D. Williams, A.M.

Faculty.—Rev. E. H. Capen, D D., President, and Professor of Moral Philosophy and Political Economy; John P. Marshall, A.M., Professor of Geology and Mineralogy;

Jerome Schneider, Ph. D., Professor of the Greek Language and Literature; H. A. Dearborn, A.M., Professor of the Latin Language and Literature; B. G. Brown, A.M., Walker Professor of Mathematics; Rev. W. R. Shipman, D.D., Professor of Rhetoric, Logic, and English Literature; A. E. Dolbear, A.M.B., A.M., Professor of Physics and Astronomy; Moses T. Brown, A.M., Professor of Oratory; C. E. Fay, A.M., Professor of Modern Languages; C. D. Bray, C.E., A.M., Professor of Civil and Mechanical Engineering; Arthur Michael, A.M., Professor of Chemistry; J. W. Klinghammer, A.M., Walker Special Instructor in Mathematics; W. R. Shipman, Librarian.

Finances. — The aggregate assets of the college at the present time, including the buildings and one hundred and twenty acres of land, are not less than $1,000,000.

Scholarships. — There are twenty-eight scholarships in the gift of the college; viz., three of $60; twenty-five of $100 each. Additional assistance, in the form of gratuities, is rendered from time to time, as circumstances may require.

In the Collegiate department, the course of instruction is similar to that of other first-class colleges. The course for those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy extends through four years, and the course for those students who enter for the degree of Civil Engineer extends through three years. A part of the studies for the junior and senior classes are elective. The location is elevated and healthy; retired and free from distraction, yet easily accessible, being four miles from Boston, on the Boston & Lowell Railroad.

Expenses from $250 to $300 per year. College charges, $100. Board in club, at cost, about $3 per week.

Calendar. — Commencement for 1883, June 15. First examination for admission, June 16 and 17. Second examination, September 13 and 14. College year begins September 16. Summer vacation thirteen weeks.

TUFTS DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty. — Rev. E. H. Capen, D.D., President; Rev. T. J. Sawyer, D.D., Packard Professor of Christian Theology; Rev. C. H. Leonard, D.D., Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; W. G. Tousey, A.M., D.B., Professor of Psychology and Natural Theology; Rev. G. T. Knight, A. M.,D.B., Instructor in Rhetoric and History; Moses T. Brown, A.M., Professor of Oratory; Rev. E. C. Bolles, D.D., Rev. A. A. Miner, D.D., Rev. Richard Eddy, Rev. H. W. Rugg, and Rev. G. H. Emerson, D.D., Lecturers.

Candidates must bring testimonials as to character, and avow their purpose to devote their lives to the Christian ministry. Bachelors of Art are admitted without examination. Other candidates are examined in the branches usually taught in the best High Schools and Academies. The full collegiate course, as preliminary, is recommended to those who contemplate theological studies; but, since the circumstances of many earnest and capable men forbid so extensive preparation, a four years' theological course has been provided. This course permits the introduction of branches not strictly professional, and yet of a fundamental character, and of the highest disciplinary value. It is the policy of the school to encourage the judicious use of the important facilities which the proximity of the College to an intellectual centre like Boston, affords — libraries, cabinets, lectures, the teachings and methods of the most noted preachers of New England.

The degree of D.B. is conferred upon those who take the full course, which occupies three years for A.B.'s, and four years for others.

The necessary expenses will not exceed $200 a year. Tuition, room-rent, use of furniture, free. Students may add to their resources by preaching during the year and a half previous to graduation. The General Convention of Universalists aids students by a system of loans.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.

This institution is located at Canton, St. Lawrence County, N. Y. It has two fully organized departments: 1. The Collegiate, comprising the usual four years' classical course, and a four years' scientific course. 2. The Theological.

Executive Committee of the Corporation. — J. S. Conkey, Chairman; Geo. Robinson, Treasurer; L. B. Storrs, Recorder; A. G. Gaines, W. A. Post, and I. M. Atwood.

College Faculty. — Rev. A. G. Gaines, D.D., President, and Craig Professor of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy; F. H. NECROLOGY.

The following-named Universalist clergymen have died since the date of last issue: Robert Bartlett, of New Hampshire; Robinson Breare, of Ohio; John Brookhart, of Missouri; Joab Clark, of Kentucky; Isaac George, of New York; Caleb P. Mallory, of Province of Quebec; Rufus S. Pope, of Massachusetts; Orrin Roberts, of New York; William P. Shockey, of Kansas; David Sires, of Oregon. Brief biographical sketches gathered from various sources are herewith appended.

Rev. ROBERT BARTLETT, died in Boston, Mass., January 20, 1882. He was born in New Hampshire in 1793, and was ordained in 1816. For many years he had suffered greatly by the infirmities of age, and had disappeared from public notice so that few among the present generation had knowledge of him. In his early and middle life he was a vigorous preacher, and his name was once familiar as a household word in the Universalist homes of New Hampshire and Vermont, where he labored as an evangelist for many years. Although he did not have the culture of the schools, being almost wholly self-taught, he was yet an ardent student of the Scriptures out of which he gathered a theological equipment of no mean order. Earnest and effective in the work of the ministry, he deserves to be classed among those pioneers of Universalism to whom is due the tribute of graceful recognition. "Other men have labored, and we are entered in to their labors."

Rev. ROBINSON BREARE, died at Vinton, Ohio, March 4, 1882, in his seventy-second year. He was born, June 17, 1810, at Addingham, in Yorkshire, England. He early showed a fondness for books and a desire for education. When only a lad he joined the Methodist Church, in whose communion he commenced preaching when he was but seventeen years old. In 1832 he was admitted to full fellowship as a preacher, and was sent out as a missionary to the Zetland Isles where he remained until 1836. After service at Edinburgh, Scotland, and at Manchester, England, he was sent by the Wesleyan Association of Scotland to Halifax, N. S.

While located at Halifax he experienced a change of faith and came to accept Universalist views. By reason of this change of sentiment he severed his connection with the Methodist Church, and entered at once upon the proclamation of his new faith at Halifax. This was in 1841. Three years later he dedicated in that city the first Universalist church erected in the British Provinces. Afterwards he was pastor at Marblehead, Mass., and at West Scituate, Mass. In 1853 he removed to Ohio and became connected with the "Star in the West," published by Rev. Mr. Gurley. He afterwards did missionary work in various parts of Ohio, residing at Gallipolis and at Vinton, respectively, for several years. From 1873 to 1879 he resided in Haverhill, Mass., preaching as opportunity was offered and as his health would permit. In the last-named year he returned to his Ohio home, resuming his labors in the circuit where his labors were always welcomed, and where he continued to preach until the second Sunday of February, 1882, on which date he preached his last earthly discourse at Middleport. His closing illness was brief; peacefully he passed on to the rewards of the higher life.

For more than half a century he had well sustained the character of a faithful Christian minister. For forty years he had preached the doctrine of Universal Salvation. He had a sympathetic and loving nature, was possessed of great zeal and determination, and gave himself in the spirit of a true consecration to the doing of his Master's work. He was a generous-hearted and true man, every way worthy of the many friends he gained who will long remember him both for love's sake and for his work's sake.

Rev. JOHN BROOKHART, died at Prospect Grove, Mo., December 4, 1881, aged seventy-nine years. For thirty-seven years he had been a Christian minister and honestly devoted to the work of his calling. He was a man of devout faith who was glad of every opportunity to make expression of his religious views. In a humble way and in a restricted field of effort he sought to do the work of a Christian evangelist. That he was measurably successful in such a work we cannot doubt. A few days before his death he gave his farewell sermon, speaking as one who knew that the end was near, and imparting loving advice to his neighbors and friends. He met death in the confident hope of another and better life.

Rev. JOAB CLARK, died in Christian County, Kentucky, Jan. 23, 1882. He was born in the same county July 23, 1807, and had, therefore, attained the age of 74 years and 6 months at the time of his death. He had passed his entire life, excepting a single year, in the county where he was born and died. He was ordained in 1835. Although he did not devote himself exclusively to the work of the ministry, he yet preached regularly to the people near his home and occasionally elsewhere. Well versed in the Scriptures, of logical mind, and more than average ability, his preaching was acceptable and attended with marked results of good. To his influence is largely due the growth of Universalist sentiment in Christian County and the adjoining region. Consolation Church, to which he regularly ministered, stands as a monument of his zeal and fidelity. This organization now numbers nearly two hundred members.

Mr. Clark occupied a conspicuous position in the community where he lived, being generally respected and loved. In public affairs he always manifested great interest, and his opinions had much influence with his fellow-citizens. As a member of the legislature, and in the discharge of various public duties, he made proof of an inflexible integrity joined with good sense and a keen regard for the best interests of the whole people. In the time of the nation's struggle for existence he was a "Union man," and he never faltered in his loyalty.

Thus among his neighbors and friends he won an excellent reputation, and those who knew him best gladly bear testimony to his noble character, his useful and unselfish life. Rev. T. Abbott, who was privileged to enjoy an intimate acquaintance with the deceased, writes to us in regard to his manifold virtues and accomplishments, closing with these words:—"And now his mission on earth is closed and a large sphere of honor and usefulness is left vacant. Especially does the cause of God's universal grace suffer serious loss by his absence. Who will take his place and try to fill his sphere in the church he loved so well? The vineyard is indeed large and inviting; the fruit opens for the vintage — who will go in and gather the rich clusters filled with the sweetness of their mature growth, and calling forth the joy and song of an everlasting life?"

Rev. Isaac George, born in Gainesville, Wyoming County, in 1818, died at Fredonia, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1882. He was early brought to accept the Universalist faith, and soon after attaining his majority became a preacher. He was not ordained, however, until 1843. His love for Christianity as presented in the Universalist interpretation was exceptionally strong and steadfast. He counted it all joy to do the work of a teacher and evangelist. His abilities were of no common order, and these, assisted by an intense enthusiasm, gave him a large measure of success. The greater part of his active life was spent in Western New York, where he made many friends and gained the respect of all who knew him. Of late years he has only preached occasionally, but his mental faculties were well preserved, and his love for his church and faith was not lessened by failing health. At the General Convention session in Detroit in 1881, he had a special part in the service of installation held at that time, and most earnestly and fittingly did he speak the word of exhortation on that occasion. Now the strong and faithful minister has finished his work on the earth, and passed on to life and light immortal.

Rev. C. P. MALLORY, died at Huntingville, P. Q., July 13, 1882, aged 72 years. Nearly his whole life was passed in the Province of Quebec. For more than forty years he preached the "Gospel of the grace of God, which bringeth salvation to all men," helping many souls to a larger light and liberty. He was ordained in Glover, Vermont, Sept. 19, 1843. For many years his home was at Huntingville, P. Q., where he had gathered a large church, of which he was pastor at the time of his death. In all the adjoining region he was known as a Christian teacher and reformer, ready for every good word and work. No man could have been taken from that community whose loss would have been more widely felt. He endured with resignation a long and painful illness, and was calm and hopeful to the end.

Rev. RUFUS S. POPE, born in Stoughton, Mass., April 2, 1809, died in Hyannis, Mass., June 5, 1882. Gifted with strong intellectual faculties, and having a desire for knowledge, he made the best use of the books and schools by means of which he obtained his early education. He was early led to examine and accept Christianity according to the faith which afterwards he proclaimed with so much ability. "He pursued a course of theological study with the late Rev. Sylvanus Cobb, D.D., and early in 1833 entered into the work of his chosen profession, preaching his first sermon at South Dedham that year. He was settled over the following parishes: South Dedham (now Norwood), Milford, Sterling, and Hardwick." In 1843, he removed to Hyannis, where he resided until the time of his death. His pastorate at that place continued for more than thirty years. After resigning his pastoral charge at Hyannis, Mr. Pope continued to preach at various points, supplying the church at Orleans for several years. He was an earnest and interesting preacher, accustomed to appeal to the understanding of his hearers, and given to a logical presentation of whatever subject engaged his thought and pen.

"Beside his ministerial labors, which have ever been faithfully and acceptably performed and fruitful of good, Mr. Pope served Barnstable for years very efficiently upon the board of school committee, and two years (1855 and 1856) as representative in the General Court, and filled for a considerable time the office of register of probate for Barnstable County, and was for several years postmaster of Hyannis."

He was a zealous member of the Masonic fraternity, and a steadfast worker for the advancement of its principles and prosperity. Genial and companionable, he found its communions acceptable to his social nature, and the ministries and associations of this brotherhood were always greatly esteemed.

Impressive funeral services were held at the church in Hyannis, on Thursday, June 8th, after which the Masons took charge of the remains and sent a delegation with the same, accompanied by the family, to Woodlawn Cemetery, near Boston, where the interment took place.

Rev. Owen Roberts, died at Montrose, N. Y., Jan. 22, 1882, in the 73d year of his age. He began preaching over fifty years ago. He was ordained in 1833, at Lakeville, N.Y., where he was pastor for seventeen years. Afterwards he removed to Illinois, and followed the work of his calling in different parts of that State. He was always loyal to his faith and church, ever anxious to bring men to see the truth as the gospel sets it forth. Both as a preacher and a writer he did good service for the cause which he loved. He had ability, energy, and consecration, whereby he was able to do good work in the years of his active ministry. By reason of bodily disability he had been without a pastorate and unable to preach regularly for nearly twenty years, but he continued to use his pen in the advocacy of the faith he cherished. He was an able preacher, a forcible writer, a faithful, true-hearted Christian man.

Rev. WILLIAM P. SHOCKEY, died at Ozark, Kansas, May 2, 1882, in the 68th year of his age. He commenced preaching when he was about thirty years old, being at first in the fellowship of the "Disciples," but, "finding his way into the larger hope," he preached the faith held by Universalists, in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. Rev. T. W. Woodrow testifies of the deceased that he was "a great and good man, an ardent lover and supporter of the Bible truth. His was a clear head and a warm heart; he was firm and true to his convictions of truth, and never flinched from expressing it." He reached the close of mortal life in great peace and hopefulness, being sustained by the power of that faith which he had so earnestly commended to others.

Rev. DAVID SIRES, died at Seattle, W. T., in the early part of the present year. He was about fifty years of age. He was formerly a preacher in the Methodist church, and was "set aside" by that denomination for heresy in 1874, having come to believe and advocate the doctrines of the Universalist faith. In the same year he was admitted to the fellowship of the Oregon Convention, and since that date he has been a faithful and worthy minister of the Gospel of Christ. His character was above reproach, and he was greatly esteemed by all who knew him. At the time of his death he was acting as special police-officer, assisting in the arrest of a desperado, by whom he was shot. He lived a few hours after receiving the fatal wound, his mind being calm and composed, and then his soul passed on to the blessed experiences of the immortal state.

DAYS OF SPECIAL OBSERVANCE.

Recommendations by the Universalist General Convention.

1. It is recommended that Christmas Sunday be observed by appropriate services.

2. It is recommended that on Easter Sunday a service of Recognition be held, at which time persons baptized in childhood, and others, may be welcomed by suitable rites to membership of the Church.

3. It is recommended that one Sunday be set apart in each year, to be denominated Children's Sunday, — in all cases, where practicable, the second Sunday in June, or as near thereto as possible; and parents and guardians shall be encouraged and invited to bring their children to the altar on that day for baptism or dedication to the service of the Lord.

4. It is recommended that the first Sunday of October, in each year, be set apart as Memorial Sunday, for commemorating those friends who, during the year, have been taken away by death.

5. It is recommended that the first Sunday of November, in each year, be set apart as All-Souls Sunday, for a special celebration of our distinguishing doctrine, the Scriptural truth that all souls are GOD'S children, and that finally, by His grace attending them, they will all be saved from the power of sin, and will live and reign with Him forever in holiness and happiness.

6. It is recommended that the third Sunday of May, in each year, be set apart as Educational Sunday, for the presentation to the people of the educational interests of our Church.

CONVENTION AID TO THEOLOGICAL STUDENTS.

The Universalist General Convention appropriates each year a certain amount to assist worthy young men, who may desire to enter the ministry of the Universalist Church, after a course of study in one of our theological schools. This aid is given, when needed, through the Trustees of the General Convention, and on the terms and conditions herewith indicated: —

I. He must well sustain an examination in the following branches of learning: Rhetoric, Mental and Moral Science, and English Prose Composition. It is desirable, also, that he be acquainted with the Greek of the New Testament and with Logic. He shall make declaration of his desire and purpose to devote his life to the ministry of the Universalist Church, and affirm his acceptance of the Winchester Profession of Faith. It is only in view of such a desire and purpose that he is aided.

II. Each beneficiary shall give his obligation to repay the sums received by him in five annual instalments, without interest, dating from his graduation. In case only a small amount is loaned, the Trustees may fix the time of payment otherwise. He shall also agree to repay, with interest, all moneys received from the Board, in case he fails to enter or continue in the Universalist ministry, or withdraws from study before the completion of the course, unless such failure or withdrawal be through no fault on his part. Such endorsements or securities for his faithful compliance with these rules shall be given, as shall be satisfactory to the Board.

III. The Committee of the Board of Trustees may discontinue aid to any student when, for any reason, it may seem doubtful that he will be useful in the ministry.

IV. The appropriation for each beneficiary shall not exceed $180 per year, dependent upon the sums voted for Scholarships by the General Convention, and also upon the conditions and needs of the beneficiary, as these shall become evident from time to time. This appropriation shall be payable on drafts regularly drawn by the student on the Secretary, and approved by the President or Principal of the school; one-third in November, one-third in February, and one-third in May of each year.

V. The Principal of the school shall, at the end of the year, report to the Board of Trustees the standing of each student receiving aid, as to piety, talents, diligence, scholarship, prudence, health, and general influence.

UNIVERSALIST BELIEF.

The bond of belief in the Universalist Church is more than a sentiment — more than a mere dogma affirming a certain result in regard to human destiny. The Universalist belief includes a system of religious thought broad as Christianity itself. In briefest form that belief is well set forth in the following definition:

"Universalism is a belief in one God, the Creator of all things, and the Father of mankind; in Jesus Christ, His Son, who is the true teacher, example and Saviour of men; in the Holy Spirit, the comforter; in the certainty of retribution; the forgiveness of sins; the resurrection of all men from the dead, and their final holiness and happiness in the immortal life."

This definition, brief as it is, does more than make expression of the great hope in the final deliverance of all souls from sin and death. The great ideas of the Gospel, relating to doctrines and to ethics, to moral culture and holy living, are as dear to us as to any people, and these various truths all have their place in the system that bears the Universalist name. It is none the less true, however, that it is our faith in the salvation of all souls which has most to do with fixing our place as a distinct body of believers.

This distinguishing doctrine in our system is signified, we think, by that primary and indestructible relation which God sustains to all souls. Being creator, ruler and judge of men, he is also Father. "There is one God, even the Father, of whom are all things, and we in Him." The parental relation of God to men is not changed by human ignorance or selfishness; God always maintains a parental disposition toward his children, and he will do the best that he can for their welfare. It is on this proposition, primarily, that we rest our large hope of final, universal good.

It is said, however, that there are conditions, and if men do not comply with the conditions they will be eternally lost. Many do not comply with the conditions here, they depart from this life in an unsaved condition; hence it is affirmed that they must sin and suffer forever. Our belief is that the freedom of moral choice is an abiding element of man's being, and that so long as man voluntarily remains in his sins he must suffer under the penalties of God's righteous law. Only as he chooses the right, repents, and becomes obedient to the truth — only as he becomes Christ-like in character — will he be recovered from his low condition and truly saved. Punishment cannot save, but it does a helpful work in bringing the sinner to consider how his sins burden him, and in moving him to say, "I will arise and go to my Father;" and so at last, by the exercise of the moral nature, and through the doors of repentance, faith, forgiveness, and obedience, all souls will enter into the kingdom of heaven. Man's freedom of choice abides, but outside of man there is a power that works for righteousness. The potential and free spirit of Almighty God is ever operating to reach the ends designed in the beginning. Therefore we have faith that Christ will finally draw all men unto himself, and God be all in all. By the inspiration of such a belief we are led and cheered, feeling none the less than do our brethren of other sects the responsibility that rests upon us to work out our own salvation.

UNIVERSALIST CREED,

COMMONLY KNOWN AS THE WINCHESTER PROFESSION.

ART. I. We believe that the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments contain a revelation of the character of God, and of the duty, interest and final destination of mankind.

ART. II. We believe that there is one God, whose nature is love, revealed in one Lord Jesus Christ, by one Holy Spirit of Grace, who will finally restore the whole family of mankind to holiness and happiness.

ART. III. We believe that holiness and true happiness are inseparably connected, and that believers ought to be careful to maintain order and practice good works, for these things are good and profitable unto men.

CHURCH COVENANT.

Cherishing these truths, we covenant and promise that we will, by study of the Scriptures, by prayer, and other available helps to Christian culture, earnestly endeavor to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour JESUS CHRIST, walking with the Church in love and helpfulness.
